McDuffie stricken;

SO WHAT?

By HALLEY HARDING

Dear Reader, bear with us this day as we lay down our hammer, for a brief moment. Not that everything's all right by any means. We've been using it so much lately that it needs re-heading for our summer anvil chorus. In the meanwhile, we'll hand out a few of those very rare "So What" bouquets, in commemoration of one more summer.

Our first bunch of posies go to those spirited Eastside citizens who raised money enough to send Edward Brent, of Jefferson high, the city sprint champion; Henry Williams, formerly of Belmont, the 880-yard star; and Sylvester Bell, high and broad jump ace of LACC, back to the National AAU in New York City. They left last week-end along with four other city trackmen. There was more than enough collected to see these boys go, so the remainder, through Herman Hill and J. Cullen Fentress, of the Pittsburgh Courier, and Eddie Burbidge, of the California Eagle, was turned over to Sgt. Don Barksdale, who is also on his way, now, to the track meet. As things go financially with servicemen, we think this was a fine gesture. Helping in getting the fund together was the Neighborhood News.

Harry Campbell, of LACC, was chosen as coach for the group. Some of the boys will try their luck in the junior competition this Friday, and some will get into the senior doings Saturday. We're sure all of them will make a showing to make us proud. And we think a couple of them may cop top honors. Anyway, we wish them Godspeed.

Then, Lee Young, one of the outstanding local musicians, who's made good beyond the city limits, has had a group of ball-playing kids for three years, over which time they have grown considerably. Just now they're waiting for the Legion playoffs that come off soon.

Lee Young deserves a lot of praise and thanks for all the time and money, out of his own pocket, that he's spent on them over at Ross Snyder playground. And a lot of parents owe him a gratitude that covers a good deal more than those items. He's turned a lot of that reckless energy kids abound with down innocent lanes.

If you want to see some whopping good games, just you go over to Ross Snyder and watch his boys romp. They play for all they're worth, are good sports, and respectful and mindful of his bidding. We remember when he started out it wasn't all peaches in the behavior department, but his patience and understanding was more than a match for the toughest kid on the lot. Take your bow, Lee, you've done a head-up job.

We have a very special award for L. M. Blodgett of the Liberty Savings and Loan Association. When local sportswriters, in a kindly moment, thought to honor the 1945 city champion tracksters of Jefferson high with a banquet, a sponsor was needed, for whoever heard of a sportswriter having an extra nickel in his jeans? Mr. Blodgett thought it a good idea, too, so the kids had a full course and trimmings at the toney Villa Arlington.

It was the first time we'd ever met the boys, and they turned out to be as nice a lot as you'd hope to run into anywhere. They have their faults, we hope, but we're just as glad they don't have [illegible]

It was the 14th meeting for these two fighters. Cocoa has won 9, Williams two, and two were draws.

The last time they met in New York, the Kid jabbed his way to a clear-cut decision; and on the strength of that, entered the ring here a 2-to-1 choice.

McDuffie stricken; Willie Wells quits as Eagle manager

NEWARK, N. J.—Ace twirler Terris "the great" McDuffie, of the Eagles was stricken while pitching a game in Portsmouth, Va., June 17, and was left behind under a doctor's care when the team moved on to New York. The scheduled pitching duel between him and Satchel Paige last Wednesday in Ruppert stadium has been postponed until later in the season.

Len Hooker, former number one righthander of the Eagles, is back with the team after a short try-out with the Mexican leagues. He was recalled by his local draft board, and is now taking a regular turn on the Eagle mound.

Willie Wells, all-time great shortstop, has given up his managership of the Eagles, saying it interferred with his playing. Wells, who is rated with Honus Wagner in the gallery of great shortstops, has been playing at sand-lot speed, batting a bust-out .143. The new manager is the first string Eagle catcher, Biz Mackey.

Hudson vs. Don Lee; Jackson vs. Sierra at Olympic tomorrow

Fast-punching Cecil Hudson, the Central ave. wildman, will give Don Lee the toughest test of his ring career at the Olympic auditorium tomorrow night, when the pair square off in one of the two 10-rounder main events.

In the second main event, lethal-fisted Bobby Jackson will take on Humberto Sierra, Cuban featherweight, undefeated in this country.

Toledo cubs play Ethiopian Clowns

TOLEDO — The first inter-league play between the newly formed United States and the veteran American Leagues is scheduled for June 29th, when the Toledo Cubs meet the Ethiopian Clowns.

It was the first time we'd ever met the boys, and they turned out to be as nice a lot as you'd hope to run into anywhere. They have their faults, we hope, but we're just as glad they don't happen to include bad public manners. For instance, take Edward Brent, the city sprint champion, he's a modest and well behaved youngster. We liked the way he wears his laurels. And so it was with the rest of them.

Yours truly gave an impromptu post-prandial speech, unaccustomed as we are to that sort of thing, on a 15-seconds notice from the chairman, and did right smart, if we do say so ourselves. Leastways the kids were nice enough to come up to us afterwards and say as much, and they looked like an honest lot, God bless 'em.

Their coach, Chuck Cascales, made us feel like worthwhile fellows, too, for having gone to the trouble for the team. It was pretty nice hearing him say we had bolstered the morale several hundred percents. The team was beginning to feel like a community-less child, he said. Well, we do forget sometimes to say so just when it most needs saying, but I can assure every one of those boys that the community is just as proud as punch of them. What the local sportswriters did for them was just a little thing, but it was from the heart. It wasn't any more than the rest of the community would have done, if it had just thought of it.

NOTES FROM OUR LITTLE BLACK BOOK

Bob Abernathy, local fly catcher who has been playing with the Pacific Pipeline Co., left here last week to join the Kansas City Monarchs, in New York City. He is one of the best semi-pro outfielders on the coast, and has an even-up chance of making the grade.

Chet Brewer, Olin Dials, B. Banks, and yours truly are playing with a Mexican team, Lupe's Inn, in the double "A" league. In the first game, the team beat Frank's Garagers 21-to-0. And, in case you are interested, our arm was so sore we had to eat left-handed the rest of the week; and we're only trying to get off some of the excess poundage, so don't smirk.

Jackie Robinson is hitting .360 in the National Negro League and is playing some fine shortstop. One wag has it that he's really only hitting .120 and is running .240. He has something there; Jackie can beat out a lot of balls.

Soon as Sgt. Don Barksdale returns from the National AAU in New York City, he's going to put his plans for a summertime basketball series in action. Along with some other interested souls, we will make the supreme effort, which is way beyond the call of duty, to get the Elk patriarchs to let him use their hall for a staging area. However, it would be right up the alley for a commando outfit, whereas these old bones may not make it.

A Preview: Next week, after a heart-to-heart talk with some of the friendlier bangtails out at Santa Anita, we intend to write about a few of them who take the racing business to heart and use a jockey in the races. Besides, we'll throw in for free the tale of a horse that never won a race.

A note to prexy Don Stewart of the Los Angeles ball club: An

Bowie Juniors win second in league play

After losing their first game in the 23rd American Legion Districts's league championship play, the Benjamin J. Bowie Juniors romped home for their second straight win June 17, humbling Huntington Park 11-3.

Battery for the game was Butler and Sanford, with W. Moore pitching relief in the last two and a half innings. The lineup was: Wells, lf; Oliver, 1b; Sherillf, rf; LaMoloth, cf; Duane, ss; Lee 3b; Wallace, 2b; George, cf; and Bennett, utility.

Playing with a make-shift lineup, the Bowie Juniors lost their first game to Inglewood. Organized, they took Southgate 8-4. Yesterday (Sunday) they played at Ross Snyder. (At press time the results were not known.)

The team was the first organized by the Bowie Legion post, and it is sponsored by Tupman Ford dealers. Edward Hawkins, chairman of the post's Youth activities, is team manager, and Lee Young, coach. Tupman's bought team suits and equipment, and the post pays all traveling and operating expenses.

Atlanta moves to first place in SNL with four wins

ATLANTA—The Atlanta Black Crackers, with a clean sweep last week of a four-game series with New Orleans, moved to the top of the Negro Southern League, while the Knoxville Grays dropped one out of four to Little Rock to fall back into second place.

Melvin (Slick) Coleman, unbeaten this year, figured strongly in the Black Crackers' four wins. The Atlanta hurler tops the league with five wins and no losses.

The four straight defeats dropped New Orleans to 6th place, lowest they have been all season, with 16 more games to be played before the first half of the sea-

Ewell, Peacock to try for AAU sprint titles June 29-30

NEW YORK — Barney Ewell, Eulace Peacock, Elmore Harris, Ed Conell, Herb Thompson, and Perry Samuels will be the main contenders for the National AAU sprint titles at Randall's Island here June 29-30.

This year's competition is of almost pre-war caliber, with veterans Ewell, Peacock, Thompson, and Harris having an edge, on paper, over the new crop of sprinters lead by Perry Samuels, the flying Texas schoolboy, who has turned in a 9.5 for the 100 yds. this year.

Harris, crack Shore A. C. dashman, ran the 220-yds. in 21.3 June 16, the best time made this season in competition.

Torpedo Reed, Joe Robleto in draw; A. Williams is kayoed

In a thrill-packed slugfest, Joe Robleto and Torpedo Reed went 10 pounding rounds to a draw last Thursday night at the Pasadena arena. Both fighters rocked each other repeatedly, but neither scored a knockdown.

190-pounder nears record in 220 dash

OAHU, T.H. (Delayed)—A five-yard handicap probably cost Marine Corporal Edward N. Greenridge a record for the 220-yard dash in the Hawaiian Amateur Athletic union's recent track and field meet.

The husky New Yorker came in a scant yard behind Robert Sovetts of the Navy, whom he granted a five-yard head start.

Greenridge was credited unofficially with lowering the Hawaiian mark of 22 seconds. Sovett's time for 215 yards was 21.8.

Greenridge won the 150-yard handicap in 14.5 seconds giving the Fleet Marine Force trackmen one of their six firsts and helping them cinch third place behind the Navy and the Honolulu Army-city-wide aggregation.

It was the first meet of the season for the Benedict College alumnus, who copped the national junior 220 in 1941 and ran second to Marine Harold Davis in the national 220 of 1943.

He packs 190 pounds on a 5-foot, 8-inch frame.

Cleveland Call - Post sends track team to National AAU meet

CLEVELAND — The Cleveland Call and Post sponsored an all-Ohio track team, led by state champions Ted Jackson, of Akron East, and Bill Wade, of Cleveland Glenville, which left last week-end to compete in the National AAU meet in New York, June 29-30.

Wade and Jackson won in the AAU district qualifying meet in Berea June 16. Wade jumped 22 feet, 4½ inches. Jackson won the century in 9.8 and broke Jesse Owens' nine-year-old record for the 220 yards, clipping it a tenth of a second, in 20.8.

All expenses and entry fees will be paid by Ohio business men and women, headed by the Call and Post.

Black Barons play Philly stars on home grounds

PHILADELPHIA—Birmingham's Black Barons, kingpins of the Negro American League for the past two years, will cross bats with the National League's Philadelphia Stars here today.

This will be the wind-up tilt of an inter-loop series that began last Sunday at Detroit, where the Black Barons met the New York Cubans in a double-header, followed by games by the same two teams in Indianapolis, Columbus, and New York.

The touring American League champs faced the Newark Eagles on Friday night at Newark, and the Cubans in a return twin bill yesterday at the Polo Grounds.

Following today's game, the Black Barons will return to the middle west and turn their attention to winning the American League's first-half laurel.

CHICAGO — The new Rube Foster League was dedicated here last Sunday at the Grand-Market, with prominent citizens participating in the ceremonies. A double-header was played: St. Louis Blue Sox vs. Commonwealth Steel, and Sports vs. Orange Crush.

League leading Orange Crush beat the Black Yankees at Tandy Park June 10, 7-to-4, with Clyde Jenkins pitching. Orange Crush showed blasting power, getting 12 hits off Perkins, ace Yankee pitcher. Every Crush player got at least one hit.

In other games, the Blue Sox dropped a 13-inning tilt to the St. Louis Eagles 7-6, at Harlem Park. And the St. Louis Sports were routed by Commonwealth Steel, 18-4.

in the 23rd American Legion Districts's league championship play, the Benjamin J. Bowie Juniors romped home for their second straight win June 17, humbling Huntington Park 11-3.

Battery for the game was Butler and Sanford, with W. Moore pitching relief in the last two and a half innings. The lineup was: Wells, lf; Oliver, 1b; Sherillf, rf; LaMoloth, cf; Duane, ss; Lee 3b; Wallace, 2b; George, cf; and Bennett, utility.

Playing with a make-shift lineup, the Bowie Juniors lost their first game to Inglewood. Organized, they took Southgate 8-4. Yesterday (Sunday) they played at Ross Snyder. (At press time the results were not known.)

The team was the first organized by the Bowie Legion post, and it is sponsored by Tupman Ford dealers. Edward Hawkins, chairman of the post's Youth activities, is team manager, and Lee Young, coach. Tupman's bought team suits and equipment, and the post pays all traveling and operating expenses.

Atlanta moves to first place in SNL with four wins

ATLANTA—The Atlanta Black Crackers, with a clean sweep last week of a four-game series with New Orleans, moved to the top of the Negro Southern League, while the Knoxville Grays dropped one out of four to Little Rock to fall back into second place.

Melvin (Slick) Coleman, unbeaten this year, figured strongly in the Black Crackers' four wins. The Atlanta hurler tops the league with five wins and no losses.

The four straight defeats dropped New Orleans to 6th place, lowest they have been all season, with 16 more games to be played before the first half of the season ends, and practically eliminated them from pennant contention.

Texas Open set for July 9-10

Plans are complete. The Texas Negro Open will be played July 9 and 10, according to Leon Williams, secretary, this week. There will be 54 holes of medal play: 36 on opening day, and 18 for the play-off on the 10th. The prizes will be the yearly championship trophy cup and 6 War Bond prizes for consolation.

An automobile was seen recently carrying a newly married couple through the streets and on the back was a sign reading: "This is the result of careless talk."

plump .471. Alex Radcliffe, who dropped even farther, .046, during the week, trailed in second place with a not so bad .426.

Cleveland's George Jefferson leads the league in pitching, with Eulace Peacock, Elmore Harris, Ed Conell, Herb Thompson, and Perry Samuels will be the main contenders for the National AAU sprint titles at Randall's Island here June 29-30.

This year's competition is of almost pre-war caliber, with veterans Ewell, Peacock, Thompson, and Harris having an edge, on paper, over the new crop of sprinters lead by Perry Samuels, the flying Texas schoolboy, who has turned in a 9.5 for the 100 yds. this year.

Harris, crack Shore A. C. dashman, ran the 220-yds. in 21.3 June 16, the best time made this season in competition.

Thursday night at the Pasadena arena. Both fighters rocked each other repeatedly, but neither scored a knockdown.

In the semi-windup, Ted Jamison knocked out Alonzo Williams in the fourth. Other bouts: Kid Lewis decisioned Martin O'Malley; Henry Rich stopped Tommy Anderson in the fourth; and Chuck Edwards kayoed Tippy Larson in the first.

"Red" Cochrane to defend title this summer—maybe

NEW YORK—Foxy "Red" Cochrane, world's welterweight champion, has earned a better reputation for ducking title bouts than he ever made ducking a jab, hook, or cross inside the ring. Now, as it was before he went into the service, there are more than a dozen challengers gunning for him. A few will be eliminated during Madison Square Gardens' summer cavalcade of welterweight bouts, but more will dog his heels for a shot at the title, which he has half promised to risk this summer.

The welters Cochrane is least apt to oblige, and who are hounding him most persistently, are: "Sugar" Ray Robinson, Tommy Bell, Jimmy Doyle, Tony Janiro, Johnny Greco, Freddie Archer, Bobby Ruffin, Jimmy McDaniels, and Tippy Larkin. Least likely to all to get the title shot is Robinson.

Next Friday night in the Garden, Cochrane will fight Rocky Gaziano a 10-round catchweight bout.

Zivic loses decisively to Harold Green in Madison Square

NEW YORK — Brooklyn's Harold Green, 151½, beat veteran Fritzie Zivic decisively here in Madison Square Garden last Friday in a 10-round catchweight bout. Zivic weighed 152 3/4.

Zivic scored a knockdown at the close of the sixth round with a short, inside right, and Green was saved by the bell at the count of nine. In the seventh, Zivic tried to follow up on his last round rally, but could not get a clear shot; the sixth and seventh were his best rounds. Green took the rest of the fight by a wide margin. Judges voted: Green 8-to-2; 7-to-8 and one even; and referee Eddie Joseph scored Green 6, Zivic 4. It was Zivic's 15th fight in the Garden.

Marine team beats Navy basketballers

CENTRAL PACIFIC (Delayed) —Finishing strong in the last few seconds of a five-minute overtime period, the Marine Wizards, basketball champions of this atoll, edged out a 30-28 victory over a strong Army five to close their season with 41 wins and one loss.

Around the Ring

Billy Smith is one of the better ones in our book now. He probably rated the honor way before this, but all we had on him was second-handed info. Tuesday night before a sell-out house, he thundered down the stretch, like a runaway freight, after taking all dished out, to win a unanimous 10-round decision over Watson Jones, the avenue playboy, and convinced local fans that his 11 round tko over him up north a couple of weeks ago was anything but a fluke.

In the early rounds when Jones still had something, he shook up Oakland's pride and joy every once and a while, only to have him bounce back like pre-war rubber. After each such rally, Jones had to cover fast like a burlesque queen during a police raid; Smith comes back with a vengeance.

From the opening bell, Smith kept his long left in Jones' face, occasionally mixing it with his thundering right cross. The action was fast throughout. Jones was in tip-top shape, at 174 and had sworn to do his best. We believe he did, but his best wasn't good enough by a long shot.

Smith looked better than the average fighter Tuesday night, but we'd caution anyone from going overboard about him too early. Against Jones, he may be fighting the best fight he has "on tap," if you get what we mean. We can see several faults he'll have to correct if he expects to get much farther along in the game. However, ther's no getting around it, he's a champion holder-on when he gets hurt. And we mean with both arms and all his might. Jones must have had a hard time even breathing a couple of times when Smith latched on to him.

We think the fans would pay top figures for the rafters for a chance to see Smith vs. Fitzpatrick. From here, it would be a hard one to call. If Smith could stay out from under the sledge-

In the 6 round semi-windup, Frankie Moore, stablemate of Billy Smith made an impression on the local fans by kayoing Jimmy Lewis, another newcomer, in the fourth of the scheduled 6 rounds. Portside Lewis befuddled him in the beginning, but Moore got the range, finally, and smacked over two rights to floor him. The second time Moore connected, Lewis took the 10-count without a struggle. Moore has heft in both gloves and a fair share of ring savvy; he should be showing up again soon.

Next week, Olympic fans get two 10-rounders for the price of one. In the number one bout, Cecil Hudson meets Don Lee, who has just graduated from Ocean Park's rank and file. Barring an upset, Hudson should send him right back to the beach for a post-graduate course in fisticuffs. The second 10-rounder will be between Bobby Jackson and Humberto Sierra. This bout was scheduled once before, but smelling a bad deal, Sierra pulled up lame. Evidently he's satisfied with the present arrangements and, as Babe McCoy says, and always says, it should be a humdinger.

LEFT JABS: Ray "Sugar" Robinson was cruel to our's and Watts' own Jimmy McDaniels last week. In short order, meaning the second of a scheduled 10 rounds, he disposed of the California boy who had been doing so good (he had won 9 straight bouts). The "Sugar" was sweeter than usual that night, and got down to business as soon as instructions were over. Five minutes later, Madison Square Gardens were emptying, and the departing fans were raving about how that Harlem kid could fight.

A lead-pipe cinch, a natural would be Freddy "Deacon" Dixon vs. "Sugar" Ray. Why, they could sell pick-a-back room for that one, at ringside prices.

Cabey Lewis, who lost by a country mile to Lute Gonzales recently, in Hollywood, blamed the

Jones must have had a hard time even breathing a couple of times when Smith latched on to him.

We think the fans would pay top figures for the rafters for a chance to see Smith vs. Fitzpatrick. From here, it would be a hard one to call. If Smith could stay out from under the sledgehammer for the first few rounds, we'd pick him to take Fitzy. We aren't too impressed with Smith's staying power. It struck us that if Watson could have sustained his spurts a little longer he would have turned the tables. That's one thing you can depend on Fitzie doing; he'll hammer until something breaks, drops, or melts away.

The second edition of Jones vs. Smith was a thriller, and for our money Smith proved himself the better man. We can see, now, Jones failing after the 10th round up north, but all the same the referee might have been a little hasty calling a stop to the shindig. Last Tuesday night, Jones failed again in the latter rounds, but he took all Smith threw his way, which was plenty, and was never in any danger of going out or down. Fans went home satisfied for the first time in weeks, and if Smith isn't a bashful boy, they'll get a chance to see a lot more of him.

They tell us Billy Smith is one of these rare birds who can look at his wrist in the middle of a jumping party, say along about 9:30 p.m., and say, "Well, fellows, I gotta fight next month, so I better beat it." And does, what's more. On the other hand, they tell us Watson trained faithfully for 10 days before this bout, which, while something of a record for him, isn't apt to get him by those 9:30 boys who have something on the ball.

The prelims Tuesday night were good, too. And, yes, "old faithful," Alonzo Williams was johnny-on-the-spot as usual, in the third bout, against Jimmy Edwards. It seems that in return for a promise of regular Tuesday night employment, Williams has had to accept a draw decision weekly and like it, whether or no. Incidently, he really won this particular bout. To our remembrance, he has now fought 6 times in the last two weeks, and that's working for a living.

Willie Collins fought in the second prelim and lost decively to newcomer Ralph Lee. Last Thursday, he lost to Alonzo Williams in Pasadena. Someone must have ad libbed on the script; it usually turns out a draw.

fourth of the scheduled 6 rounds. Portside Lewis befuddled him in the beginning, but Moore got the range, finally, and smacked over two rights to floor him. The second time Moore connected, Lewis took the 10-count without a struggle. Moore has heft in both gloves and a fair share of ring savvy; he should be showing up again soon.

Cabey Lewis, who lost by a country mile to Lute Gonzales recently, in Hollywood, blamed the weather. Said he felt drowsy and weak-like. We told you that our climate was getting next to those easterners. How else could you explain them losing so regular to these ranch boys out here? Page the Chamber of Commerce, and see if they can't do something about the weather.

Looks like no one wants to tie up with Bert Lewis and George Tolson's crack middleweight, Kenny Watkins. One fight mag says he wants some of Louis Wise, but that's hardly likely, since they both are in the same stable. But we know from him that he would like to fight Paulie Peters, conqueror of Wise, at his convenience, Manager Lewis is trying to whip up a bout for him with Jack Chase here in Oakland. If and when, it should be a whizzer: boxer vs. deadly puncher.

Roy Miller was finally matched in his own class last week in Portland, Ore., and came through like a champion with a K.O. over Powder Proctor, whoever that may be. He fought again last Friday, against Leo Turner. At press time we hadn't gotten the results, but we hope he won. It's been so long since he tasted victory, that a couple should make him as happy as a three headed cat in a fish market.

P. S. Paulie Peters and Fitzie Fitzpatrick have just signed to fight, they say. So, before the ink is dry we'll go on the limb to say it won't go 2 rounds. Peters, even if he is winning 'em, can't fight a lick in the world.

Our turn to rape the weak

The University of Chicago's distinguished scholar and intellectually independent president, Robert Hutchins, is under fire by the demagogically-inclined press for his remarks this week in which he suggested that Hitler might really have won the war, judging by America's present state of fervent obeisance to superior force.

President Hutchins' statements are quoted at length under the column heading "Viewpoints" and need not be repeated here. Suffice to say we are in hearty endorsement of them, that they give voice to what we had been aware of only as a sick feeling in the pit of our stomachs when we saw the newsreel shots of our Italian allies making a hideous carnival of the execution of Mussolini, and when we read the news stories of the capture of German war criminals, the slanted, insinuating accounts aimed at arousing the morbid and beastly lynch spirit lurking in American breasts, even as in the Nazi-German.

When we stop to think that originally we went to war, not in a hollow clash of arms to test the superiority of American tanks, airplanes, guns and men over the German same, but to put to death the ideas sent abroad by Hitler and his kind, these self-same ideas we now promulgate, of impure, corrupt racial strains, of national superiority, of the panacean attributes of force; in truth it may appear to us that President Hutchins is right, that Hitler has won the war, has won the peace, even though he lost the battles.

of so frightful mein
As to be hated needs but to be seen;
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace".

America now embraces force; it worships it. Negro problem: discussion

Reprinted from a series of interviews by Dorothea Kahn, staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

CIVIC LEADER

My Mississippi friend remembers, when a small boy, his southern grandfather solemnly declaring that slavery was all wrong, always had been.

"Then the South was wrong to fight the North?" the lad would say with a twinkle in his eye, making for the door. He knew what would happen. At any hint of a slur on the Confederacy, grandpa would grab his cane and start after the youngster on a punitive expedition. Grandpa was a loyal Confederate veteran.

My friend, who is chairman of a local Interracial Cooperative Committee tells the story now to give a northern visitor like me an understanding of the southern white's attitude toward the race relations problem.

North Can't Tell South

He isn't at all satisfied (if he is a socially minded person) with things as they are, but if the North is going to try to tell the South what to do, the southerners will stick together in a defensive attitude.

But, quietly, committees in many southern cities are working to improve the status of the Negro. Some of their members are conservative white citizens who would oppose any change in the patterns of segregation, but who want to see the Negro get equal opportunities for education, equal recognition for his war service and so on.

"The trouble comes from the politicians," the committee chairman told me. "They stir up fear and prejudice to get votes. Without the politicians we could handle the situation all right."

Educational Phase

The educational problem is a difficult one as southerners see it. In Mississippi, this student of social problems explained to me, funds are inadequate for a single system of schools, yet effort is made to operate a dual system with separate schools for the two races from first grade through graduate work. The result is that white schools are none too good, but Negro schools are substandard.

He is keenly interested in the work of the Southern Regional Council, a group working on interracial co-operation, with headquarters in Atlanta. He gave me a copy of "The Southern Frontier," published by the Council. In an editorial I read this: "Our treatment of the Negroes at all times is such a national disgrace it threatens our country's effectiveness in its international relations. People must be educated to the realization that no race is universally inferior to another, and that all races are entitled to an equal chance in this world."

The University of Chicago's distinguished scholar and intellectually independent president, Robert Hutchins, is under fire by the demagogically-inclined press for his remarks this week in which he suggested that Hitler might really have won the war, judging by America's present state of fervent obeisance to superior force.

President Hutchins' statements are quoted at length under the column heading "Viewpoints" and need not be repeated here. Suffice to say we are in hearty endorsement of them, that they give voice to what we had been aware of only as a sick feeling in the pit of our stomachs when we saw the newsreel shots of our Italian allies making a hideous carnival of the execution of Mussolini, and when we read the news stories of the capture of German war criminals, the slanted, insinuating accounts aimed at arousing the morbid and beastly lynch spirit lurking in American breasts, even as in the Nazi-German.

When we stop to think that originally we went to war, not in a hollow clash of arms to test the superiority of American tanks, airplanes, guns and men over the German same, but to put to death the ideas sent abroad by Hitler and his kind, these self-same ideas we now promulgate, of impure, corrupt racial strains, of national superiority, of the panacean attributes of force; in truth it may appear to us that President Hutchins is right, that Hitler has won the war, has won the peace, even though he lost the battles.

As to be hated needs but to be seen;
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace".

America now embraces force; it worships it. It is in the act of making gods of war heroes, not for past bravery alone but for preserved and vigorous ruthlessness, for remaining reservoirs of pitilessness. America is in a heat, induced by the newspaper peep show at Nazi obscenities, perpetrated on the once prone body of Europe.

Our generals, good-intentioned, our metropolitan press, which should and probably does, know better, our politicians, who selfishly don't care, feed our lust. It's easy that way to get a response from the crowd, to turn the revival into a rousing emotional spree, in which everyone "gets religion", gets the spirit of America-British-Russia, the Big Five — Uber Alles. Heil, the B-25! Annihilate all who disbelieve its greatness!

The war with Germany is at an end, and now it's our turn to rape the vanquished. What matter that we fought to put down rape; our blood is hot. What matter that we fought to uphold the dignity of man; we'll slake our lust, then bathe and shave and be dignified again. What matter that we fought against enslavement, man does not enslave when he puts beasts to labor; what are Germans?

The virus has us in its toils. We died by the sword, the .45, the rifle, let us live by them; at least we carry our fate in our hands. President Hutchins' way is too cool, too calm, too unexciting, too long-ranged. And in the end, it's in the hands of God, whether we shall have peace or again have war.

We have not yet learned that man wills the goodness of God into being when he subdues the flesh and the ego to their rightful place before the reasoning mind and the kindly heart.

"The wealth of statistics and the poverty of conclusion, assurance floundering in a sea of propositions true and false — this is a dilemma of modern man, so well informed, so far from sure." — From the Talk of the Town, the New Yorker magazine, 6/16/45.

Wal--doggone!

BITTER ENDER — In Atlanta, Ga., 22-year-old Denice Harris, World War II veteran, was shot to death as he drove Charles Jones, white, to a rendezvous with a young married white woman. The bullet, fired by the husband of the woman from a gun supplied by the chief of police of College Park, was intended for Jones, who escaped death by dropping to the ground. Last week when the coroner's jury met, the verdict in Harris' death was "justifiable homicide."

IT'S ABOUT TIME — In Cleveland, Ernest Stewart, 42, after 66 arrests, was jailed for a year.

MAN ALIVE! — In Morristown, N. J., Raymond Smith was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of James Jesse, 36, whom he struck with a hammer, then buried, while still alive, in a dumping ground.

HARD EARNINGS — In Washington, the Treasury Dept. revealed it had just lopped $18,000 in taxes off $39,000 won by an Army corporal somewhere in Australia, who had a remarkable talent for shooting dice.

TOUCH SYSTEM—In Chicago, police arrested a blind women who had shot her husband to death in a quarrel over the state's refusal to pension her and its insistence that her husband support her. Police said, the sightless murderer fired two shots, one of them going straight to its mark.

SMALL TALK . . .

By HISAYE YAMAMOTO

It must have been during the Manchurian "incident". I was in the fifth grade, and Mr. Ward, the teacher, asked us to write a composition. The theme was to be, he said, "What I can do if a war breaks out between the United States and Japan."

I was young and war was something immense and horrible that I had only vaguely heard about. It was something that had happened long ago that made people come around every year selling crushed, red-paper poppies. It was something that Hashimoto-san, one of my father's hired men, had been in over in France. And the only things that distinguished Hashimoto--san from the other seasonal workers who picked strawberries for us, were that he boasted about getting a pension from the U. S. government, that he cussed more fluently in English and got drunk oftener (although in a wonderfully gentle fashion), and that he had once lived in Norwalk, Connecticut.

That was about all I knew of war. But I happened to come from a Japanese family, and the title of the composition probably impressed me more than the other kids, a few of whom were Mexican, most of whom were Caucasian. The idea of a war between the country of my parents and this one in which I was born was rather frightening. But I thought about it awhile, and I assured myself that such a thing was impossible, at least in my time.

But Mr. Ward had asked for a composition on this theme—fantastic though it was—and I began to write. Suddenly Mr. Ward changed his mind. "No", he said, "write this. Write, 'What I WILL do if a war breaks out between the United States and Japan. What I WILL do'." He emphasized the word, asking us to underline it. It was as if he wanted us to take a vow, almost sacred, and the occasion suddenly became more solemn. After awhile (as nearly as I can remember), this is how I began, "If war breaks out between the United States and Japan, I WILL write to Emperor Hirohito and ask him to stop the war . . ."

(Ah, that youth's sweet-scented manuscript should close!) Almost 10 years later there came an early December day when I remembered the composition for the first time and laughed, without feeling much like laughing. Well, if Emperor Hirohito ever got a letter from anybody asking him to stop the war, it wasn't from me. I never did get around to it.

But I think I would like to try a letter to him now:

Emperor Hirohito

Dear Sir:

For almost three years I have lived in a relocation center in Arizona, isolated from "normal" American community life. I have recently come back to California to live and work, still afflicted with a pretty serious case of barbed-wire fever. Its symptoms, all of which are pretty uncomfortable, include fear and sharp awareness of being pitied, susected, even hated. But you, who are probably having the same sort of illness 24 hours a day now, to an aggravated degree, must know the feeling well. I, myself am hopeful of an early cure.

When we were first evacuated from our West Coast homes, all of us were pretty bitter. I am surprised to find that so many still want to pursue their happiness here rather than anywhere else. I still do. Somebody must have done a good job on us when we were young.

Once I made a childish promise to write to you in case of a war between the United States and Japan, asking you to stop the fighting. Being skeptical now of the power you hold in your trembling hands, I do not ask you this. I just want to tell you a few things, Japanese-American to Japanese-Japanese.

Recently there was a beautiful portrait of you by Artzybasheff (American artists have done several nice ones of you with Mussolini and Hitler, but I doubt that you would really appreciate them) on a Time magazine cover. Under the picture, the caption called you an anachromism and wondered how long you could last.

I wonder, too. I don't know what they're planning to do with you after all the shooting and dying are done. Whatever it is, you probably won't like it. But brother, you sure stuck your neck out for it.

You may have heard of the late untimely demises suffered by Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini. You, yourself may yet escape camparatively unscathed. For strange as it may seem to you, there are those over here who ask forgiveness for you—as to how much you are deserving of that forgiveness, you ought to be able to judge—against those who cry out for more blood and absolute vengeance.

Well, I have learned a few

MONTGOMERY, ALA. — The famed Golden Gate quartet and a 40-voice chorus of white and Negro patients at Northington General Hospital in Tuscaloosa, Ala., were participants in a state-wide broadcast that officially opened the Seventh War Loan drive in Alabama.

Between 35 and 40 per cent of Alabama's population is Negro. Recently a field representative of the Treasury Department's War Finance division visited 19 of the state's 72 counties where well-organized bond drive organizations were found. Reports from the other 53 counties of Alabama indicate the Negro citizens are well organized to support the present war loan drive.

Alabama is now third among the states in the percentages of sales of E bonds against state quota. Each Alabama county has over-subscribed its war bond quota in every previous drive, a record held by no other state.

The recording business seems to be back on its feet again. New labels are coming out every day and more records of local groups are now available. If you like him, you'll be happy to know Illinois Jacquet and his All Stars have waxed "Flying Home" for one of the small companies. Two sides of a 10 inch disc are used to display the Jacquet talents on this tune that is so closely associated with his name. Part one contains the music, and part two holds the squeaks and squawks. The first side has some fine tenor, and the background has that lively bounce that's so rare in large orchestras, and happily so common in small groups. Jacquet's tenor solo follows the same pattern as the Hampton version, but adds a few new ideas. Up to the last half of the second side it's a better than average recording. However, the ending is a waste of wax.

One of the biggest kicks is the new Benny Goodman recording, "Gotta Be This or That". Slam Stewart is featured on bass. This is also a two-part project, and like "Flying Home", the last half of the second part knocks the score down. Benny takes the vocal chorus, and Slam does his quiet vocal and bowed bass duet. It's another one of them things (jump tunes) but the individual artist's make it more than interesting. The second side is too full of cute commercial tricks, and near the end even Slam's solo gives way to musical punning. But Slam's backing for a vibrapone clarinet work, are the out-sounds quite Ellingtonish. Its a slow moody number with a kick to it. Carter's alto is not the languid, dazed tone of Johnny Hodges, but he turns out a solo that adequately fits the mood of the tune. If you're partial to technique, this is the record to buy. The other two are for persons of lesser demands.

Alberta Hunter entertains Eisenhower

FRANKLIN, Germany — Just before Five-Star General Dwight D. Eisenhower left Europe for the United States, six Negro entertainers led by blues singer Alberta Hunter, entertained him at a party. Among his guests was Russian Field Marshall Gregory K. Zhukov.

In addition to Miss Hunter, the entertainers included: Ollie Crawford, Leonard Carter, and Alfred Elkins. During the entertainment, the General joined in the singing of "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

Vincent Sheean plumps for Marian Anderson in opera

Mr. Sheean, whose book "Personal History" was a best seller of several years back, is an opera lover, regarded as one of the country's foremost authorities on the subject. He devoted the column to a discussion of what he would tremulous and heart-breaking performance of this unique masterpiece. She could do it. I once told her so (after a concert at Carnegie Hall in which she had sung the "Habanera" better than I have ever heard it), and she told me that Stanislavsky had had the same idea, had asked her to study it with him and had offered to teach her every word and movement of the dramatic part. She was obliged to leave the Soviet Union in order to give concerts,

Great Combination In A Thrilling Stage Show

One Week Only!

ANXIOUSLY AWAITED — Pretty Marva Louis has visited the Coast many times, but not in her present capacity as a professional singer. Keenly anticipated by Coast music lovers who have heard divers reports on the singing voice of the former wife of the heavyweight champion, Mrs. Louis has critics agreed on one point, however; she's 'as pretty as a picture'.

Mr. Sheean, whose book "Personal History" was a best seller of several years back, is an opera lover, regarded as one of the country's foremost authorities on the subject. He devoted the column to a discussion of what he would do if he had control of the Metropolitan Opera co. for a few years.

"I would bring the great singers of the world to sing there," Mr. Sheean said. "Miss Marian Anderson, the greatest American singer of our time or perhaps of any time, ought to be singing Carmen at the Metropolitan in a vivid, tremulous and heart-breaking performance of this unique masterpiece. She could do it. I once told her so (after a concert at Carnegie Hall in which she had sung the "Habanera" better than I have ever heard it), and she told me that Stanislavsky had had the same idea, had asked her to study it with him and had offered to teach her every word and movement of the dramatic part. She was obliged to leave the Soviet Union in order to give concerts, make money and come home; and as a result she has never actually learned the part. I would arrange for her to study it here with Eva Gauthier (who, of course, never sang it, but knows all about it through and through) or in Scotland with Mary Garden (who had glimpses)."

Report 'Rochester' planning to produce stage show

According to publicity sent out this week by Columbia studios, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson is planning to become a theatrical impresario in Hollywood next season.

Between scenes of "I Love a Bandleader" at Columbia, "Rochester" worked on plans for an all-colored musical revue in which he will appear, with other top-line Negro names, the report said, adding:

"Sketches are already being planned, and Rochester is selecting them with an eye to utilizing the taletns of Ethel Waters and Bill Robinson. Anderson has had several long distance telephone chats with Duke Ellington about composing the songs.

"The tentative title for the show is 'Steppin' Along'."

Phil Moore, Lena Horne reunited on Victor record

NEW YORK — Lena Horne and her former accompanist, Phil Moore, are reunited on a Victor record, to go on sale July 1. The disc is "I Want A Little Doggie," backed by "How Long Has This Been Going On."

Moore and Miss Horne are paired on the lyrics of "Doggie," the backing of the Phil Moore Four providing the accompaniment.

The reverse is an Ira-George Gershwin blues, sung by Miss Horne with special piano accompaniment by Moore.

Eddie Heywood to appear in court on marihuana charge

Eddie Heywood, orchestra leader who won fame with his recording of "Begin the Beguine," will appear in Division 4 of the Municipal Court July 7 for preliminary hearing on charges of smoking marihuana cigarettes.

Heywood was arrested this week while sitting in his car, allegedly smoking a marihuana cigarette. Police said he dropped the "reefer" on the floor when they approached.

The radio week . . .

Paul Whiteman, who now functions as director of music for the American Broadcasting Co., will make his only "Saturday Symphony" appearance this season next Saturday when he conducts a Gershwin memorial program over the American from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m., PWT.

Whiteman, who was closely identified with George Gershwin and who commissioned his most popular score, "Rhapsody in Blue", will feature this number on the program. Gershwin wrote the work for Whiteman, who premiered it in 1924 with the composer at the piano. Earl Wilde will be the soloist assisted by "Her Nibs", Georgia Gibbs, Bob Johnston, baritone, the Merry Macs and a special chorus.

Gershwin, whether deservedly or not, has been credited with "uniting Broadway and Carnegie Hall", as a New York music critic once phrased it.

SUMMER REPLACEMENTS ON NBC

Big name radio, motion pictures and the stage folk will be heard on NBC during the summer months, replacing vacation-bound shows.

Following is the list of programs which have gone off or which will depart soon, and the artists replacing them:

Rise Stevens, star of opera and screen, will be heard on NBC Mondays at 6:30 p.m. (PWT) taking the place of "Information Please".

"The Victor Borge Show", starring Danish pianist-comedian, begins Tues., July 3, at 6:30 p.m. (PWT), retaining most of the "Fibber McGee and Molly" cast which it replaces.

With the Bob Hope show (NBC, Tues., 7:00 p.m., PWT), off the air, that spot is filled by "The Man Called X", starring Herbert Marshall.

Hildegarde has been replaced for the summer by "The Sigmund Romberg Show", with an orchestra under Romberg, heard Tues., at 7:30 p.m.

"The Eddie Cantor Show" (NBC, Wed., 6:00 p.m., PWT) will be replaced for the summer beginning this week by "Wednesday with You", all music, a guest star and [illegible] bowed out of his Sunday night show (NBC, 5:30 p.m., PWT) and the spot now features Tommy Dorsey and company.

"Meet Me at Parky's", starring the comedian Parkyakarkus, takes over the Harold Lloyd "Comedy Theatre' 'time (NBC, Sun., 7:30 p.m., PWT).

American Network to carry Truman conference address

The American Broadcasting Company and its affiliated stations will carry the address of President Harry S. Truman before the closing session of the United Nations Conference Tuesday, at 4:00 p.m., PWT. The President's talk, which will be broadcast to its conclusion, is expected to run from 15 to 25 minutes.

Duke Ellington on Spotlight Band show Wednesday

Duke Ellington, together with his orchestra, move into "The Victory Parade of Spotlight Bands" for the KHJ-Mutual Don Lee broadcast of Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:00 p.m., PWT.

Featuring Ellington himself at the piano, Joya Sherrill and Al Hibbler as vocalists, and the alto sax of Johnny Hodges, the entire Ellington aggregation will be heard from Convention Hall in Atlantic City, while entertaining the men of the U. S. Coast Guard Training Station there.

"I do not know the method of drawing up an indictment against an whole people."—Edmund Burke.

Pianist heads overseas unit

NEW YORK — Laurence "88" Keyes, singing swing and boogie-woogie pianist from Kansas City, is overseas with an entertainment unit, according to his manager, Cliff Martinez.

He heads the unit, which includes Freddie and Flo, dance team; Lora Pierre, singer, and the Three Spencer Sister, instrumentalist and singers. Before leaving, they signed a two-year contract for Decca with Mayo "Ink" Williams, and made several appearances on Gloom Dodgers, over WHN, a New York station.

The Onyx club, Kelly's Stable, Tony Pastor's, all in New York, and the Hotel Sherman in Chicago have made use of his talents, which include arranging for voice and orchestra, and dancing while playing the piano. He has recorded for Decca "Keep That Off Your Mind" and "The Up-to-date Blues."

Summer replacement for Dinah Shore ought to be good. It's the "Adventures of Topper" (NBC, Thurs., 9:00 p.m., PWT). The program features Roland Young, the wistful comedian, and will be based on original scripts taken from the novels of the late Thorne Smith.

"The Dunninger Show" fills for Amos 'n' Andy (NBC, Fri., 7:00 p.m., PWT) — and thank the Lord for summer.

Replacement for "Duffy's Tavern" (NBC, Fri., 8:30 p.m., PWT) is "Correction Please" starring J. C. Flippen.

Wayne King and his orchestra, with three singers, have replaced the Jack Benny show (NBC, Sun., 4:00 p.m., PWT).

"Fitch Bandwagon" makes way for "Rogue's Gallery", in which Dick Powell remains, but in the role of a tough detective, Sundays, beginning June 17 (NBC, 4:30 p.m., PWT). This sounds much more interesting than the Bandwagon.

The "Frances Langford Show", with Spike Jones' orchestra and a weekly guest, is subbing for the Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy program (NBC, Sun., 5:00 p.m., PWT).

Eddie Bracken a while back

"Meet Me at Parky's", starring the comedian Parkyakarkus, takes over the Harold Lloyd "Comedy Theatre' 'time (NBC, Sun., 7:30 p.m., PWT).

Dot Dandridge film role marks her as grownup

By PHIL CARTER

If you've been following show business for a few years, don't look now, but little Dorothy Dandridge has grown up!

Seeing her in Warner Bros.' "Pillow to Post", you find out she's no longer the younger member of the kid sister act, the Dandridge sisters, which played the Cotton Club in 1937.

As a matter of fact she's no longer Dorothy Dandridge. In private life she is Mrs. Harold Nicholas, wife of another junior member of an equally famous family act, the Nicholas brothers. And if you still don't want to admit that time has flown—they have a two-year old baby girl, Harolyn.

Yes, sir. The little girl who a short time ago was running around on a stage in pigtails, is now a full fledged performer. In "Pillow to Post" she appears as featured singer with Louis Armstrong and his band. Tempus fugit, and how's your rheumatism?

One doesn't quite have to be an octagenarian to remember the Dandridge sisters. The act was formed when Dorothy, Vivian and a playmate, Etta Jones, were in their teens. Dorothy had been on the stage since she was 6 years old in an act which included, her mother, Ruby, her aunt, and Vivian.

Dorothy did acrobatics, ballet, and played the violin; while Vivian danced and played the piano. The two girls learned their music from their mother who is now a successful radio player.

When the Dandridge sisters went into the Cotton Club, it had just been moved from Harlem to Broadway. The show, headed by Cab Calloway, also included, June Richmond, Dynamite Hooker, the Berry Brothers, Sister Tharpe, and the Nicholas Brothers.

That's right, there's where Dorothy met Harold Nicholas. However, it wasn't until the Dandridge sisters had gone to England on a vaudeville tour, which was cut short by the war, that the merger of the two was planned. They were married in Los Angeles in September, 1942.

Dorothy's appearance in "Pillow to Post" with Louis Armstrong was somewhat of a reunion. Old Satchmo headed one of the Cotton Club shows on Broadway in which the Dandridge sisters were featured.

So you can imagine, if you feel a little surprised at the sudden maturity of Dottie Dandridge, think how Louis Armstrong feels. While they were playing the Cotton Club, he probably had to take her her milk backstage between shows.

Story of state FEPC demise reveals powerful opposition

SACRAMENTO—Constantly a target for opposing interests and a chosen battle-battleground all session, Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins' AB 3, the Fair Employment Practices act, died automatically at the stroke of midnight last Saturday in the lower house after facing filibuster tactics all day long.

A coalition of 33 Republics and 9 Democrats doomed the legislation, while 24 democrats fought in vain for consideration on the floor. The main maneuver that stalled action on the Hawkins measure was a motion to suspend the rules and give consideration first to Senator Jack Tenny's "Little Dies Committee," ahead of AB 3. The motion carried. Thereafter time ebbed slowly until the deadline set for consideration of Assembly bills.

From its introduction, Jan. 9, the Hawkins bill, banning employer firing and refusal to hire, on grounds of race, creed, color, national origin or ancestry, and setting up a State commission to insure fair employment practices, has been considered "dynamite." One of the "hot" bills of the session, it has met with every type of opposition, yet it survived until the final moment of possible consideration. One of the half dozen main objectives outlined by the liberal elements in labor, it met its death in a legislative session that will go down in history for opposition to social legislation.

"KISS OF DEATH"

AB 3 was sent first to the Committee on Government Efficiency, which refused to let it be passed out until a floor vote of 46 to 31 re-referred it to the Ways and Means committee. This committee gave it the famous "kiss of death" by voting to "take it under submission." By dint of much floor work, Assemblyman Hawkins, representing Los Angeles' 62nd district, higher brackets and money spent for special privileged groups ate up the available state surplus until even the State Finance Department has been forced to cry for mercy. AB 3 may be dead temporarily, but the lesson of this legislature will be present in the minds of voters and taxpayers at next years' statewide elections. At that time we can take the matter up again."

Fiend to die

ST LOUIS — Buford Cole, 29-year-old convicted assault slayer of a six-year-old girl, will die July 7 in the gas chamber at Jefferson City. Cole was captured in Tennessee in 1941, two weeks after the crime. He was first convicted in April, 1942, but was granted a new trial by the State Supreme Court. He was again convicted in April, 1944, and the Supreme Court last week affirmed the conviction.

"KISS OF DEATH"

AB 3 was sent first to the Committee on Government Efficiency, which refused to let it be passed out until a floor vote of 46 to 31 re-referred it to the Ways and Means committee. This committee gave it the famous "kiss of death" by voting to "take it under submission." By dint of much floor work, Assemblyman Hawkins, representing Los Angeles' 62nd district, mustered 46 votes to withdraw it from Ways and Means.

On the final day for consideration of Assembly bills Saturday, Hawkins got the measure on the floor. In a ding-dong, all-day fight, it was plastered with amendment after amendment until it was hardly recognizable. It finally worked up toward a vote and was then jockeyed out of position by the opposition which had superior voting strength. The opposition was led by floor leaders Dickey, of Alameda, Johnson, of Berkeley and Field, of Glendale.

"This session has been almost completely impotent so far as social legislation is concerned," the Los Angeles assemblyman said today. "We had high hopes early in the year, believing that there might be many legislators who would look at California's post-war adjustment problems with an eye to the greatest good for the greatest number. We hoped for the development of some additional voting strength that would join with the known liberals to throw a legislative life line to the several millions of workers who may be faced with job problems sooner than we like to think about. But padded department pay-rolls in the for special privileged groups ate up the available state surplus until even the State Finance Department has been forced to cry for mercy. AB 3 may be dead temporarily, but the lesson of this legislature will be present in the minds of voters and taxpayers at next years' statewide elections. At that time we can take the matter up again."

things about war myself, the most important of which is that it is an unnecessary evil. What makes me hopping mad is the man (or woman, or it) who complacently urges that a little war, every once in awhile, is essential for keeping the world's population in check, and that human nature being what it is, war will come along anyway, every two decades or so, as long as man inhabits the earth. I happen to believe that this is the attitude that acts as the richest fertilizer around the roots of war.

Whenever I meet this attitude, I will try to kill it, to leave in its stead the faith that the heart of man is big enough, is possessed of enough dignity, love and charity to live amicably with every other man on earth, whatever the shape, size, color or texture of his nose.

I guess that's about all I wanted to say. — HISAYE.

The 761st Tank Battalion fought in six European countries — France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, and Austria — with the Third, Seventh, and Ninth Armies. It worked with the 17th Airborne Division in "The Battle of the Bulge," and has supported the 26th, 71st, 87th, 79th, and 103rd Infantry Divisions, operating as a "separate" battalion.

VETERANS OF 14TH ARMORED
HELPED TO SMASH LUCHENWALD

NEW YORK PORT OF EMBARKATION, CAMP SHANKS, New York---Three Negro members of the famed 14th Armored Division who aided in the liberation of more than 30,000 prisoners of war in the Luchenwald and Mooseburg areas, recently passed through Camp Shanks. With a combined total of 336 points to their credit, they anticipated discharges and the pleasure of home coming.

Private First Class Gregory B. Jones, 28, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, holds a Bronze Star Medal for brave and courageous assault against German Panzer units in the battle preceding the Mooseburg liberation, in which action he was wounded. He has a total of five battle stars---three to commemorate his fighting passage across Africa, Corsica, France, and two for action in Germany, one of these gained in the crossing of the Siegfried Line.

Veteran of 37 months of overseas service, Jones has 111 points to his credit and wears the Combat Infantryman Badge. He lives at 1326 18th Street, Philadelphia.

MORE

Private First Class Arthur Wadell, 26, of Lilesville, North Carolina, remembers clearly, as he puts it, "the almost hysterical joy," with which the prisoners at Luchenwald greeted his outfit as it crashed the last barrier of desperately fighting Storm Troopers.

With six battle stars, gained in 35 months of overseas combat duty during which he fought from Africa to and across the Rhine, Wadell had only this to say, as he fingered his Combat Infantryman Badge, "Anyone who gets one of these, earned it." His points total 117.

Private Clarence Wright, of Lee Hall, Virginia, 26, has five battle stars, wears a Combat Infantryman's Badge and has 36 months of overseas service. With a total of 108 points, he too looks forward to possible civilian life in the near future.

He served in France, Italy, Africa and Germany. He saw a great deal of action with the 14th Armored Division, participated in the liberation of thousands of Americans from the hands of the Nazis.

A fourth fighting Negro GI passing through Camp Shanks today was Corporal Ernest L. Williams, of 18 Maiden Lane, York, South Carolina. Twenty-seven years of age, he has 43 month's of overseas service behind him, 104 points and five battle stars to his credit.

Williams is a veteran of the deadly fighting in and about the Kasserine Pass where for a time his outfit were surrounded by General Rommel's Panzer hordes. He still vividly remembers the occasion. As a member of the 12th Air Force he saw considerable action in his role of truck driver. Often strafed and nearly bombed to bits on many occasions, he still retains his cherry grin and happy smile.

SURVIVOR OF "DO OR DIE"
REAR GUARD BROUGHT HOME

NEW YORK PORT OF EMBARKATION, CAMP SHANKS, New York——Veteran of 172 days of continuous front-line action, and survivor of a desperate rear guard whose orders were to stand or die, Sergeant Joseph W. Hawkins, of 72 Mill Road, Hempstead, Long Island, recently passed through Camp Shanks with a group of liberated American prisoners.

From the Omaha beachhead in France, his outfit, the 333rd Field Artillery Battalion of the First Army, was in every action up to and including the Belgian Bulge. It was in Belgium as a member of a 155-mm howitzer battery that Sergeant Hawkins came face to face with the full fury of Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt's desperate Panzer hordes.

He was left behind with a small holding force to cover the hurried withdrawal of his battalion with only small arms and a few hastily placed mines to block the enemy's advance. After holding out for considerable time, the little group was overwhelmed by sheer weight of numbers early on the morning of December 17, 1944, near the fortified town of Sharenburg, on the Siegfried line.

In sub-zero weather, while suffering from exposure and the pain of broken fingers and bruised hands, he was imprisoned at Bonn. Nine days and three skimpy meals later he was moved to Hamleburg, still without medical attention and under constant strafing by raiding allied planes.

German civilians reviled, spat and threw stones at him and the group he was with. Men froze and died from the cold. Frost bite was common.

A daring spearhead of the 4th Armored Division, smashing through and 60 miles behind the German lines to Hamleburg, liberated Sergeant Hawkins and his buddies. For 15 brief hours they were free before the fiercely pursuing and counterattacking Nazis were able to disperse and nearly annihilate the rescue column.

The Panzer columns rolled on. The prisoners were recaptured. "It was," Sergeant Hawkins said, "like something in the movies."

Finally, on April 29, the 14th Armored Division of General Patton's 3rd Army battered the Germans into submission and once again liberated Sergeant Hawkins and his stricken companions.

At Camp Shanks Sergeant Hawkins tore into some really fine American chow. He had a steak, fresh milk, fruit and ice cream. It went good. But better yet goes the 60-day furlough he is spending in Hempstead.

HEROIC BRONX SOLDIER WINS
SOLDIER'S MEDAL IN FRANCE

NORMANDY BASE SECTION, FRANCE---For heroism in saving the lives of several soldiers from drowning on June 7, 1944, Private Herbert R. Brooks, 1533 Southern Boulevard, Bronx, New York, recently was awarded the Soldier's Medal.

The official citation recognizing Private Brooks' deed reads, in part:

" . . . When a line upon which men were working their way ashore through deep water suddenly snapped, it threw about 15 into the water..... disregarding his own safety, Brooks plunged into the water and rescued several of the men."

Private Brooks is now a member of a Transportation Corps unit at a major Communications Zone port in this Base Section. His mother, Mrs. Cora Brooks, lives at the Southern Boulevard address.

VETERAN PORT COMPANY NOW
REDEPLOYING TROOPS TO STATES

WITH U.S. FORCES IN FRANCE---One of the oldest Transportation Corps units of the Army, the 657th Port Company, is aiding in the redeployment of troops to the United States at a staging area near Le Havre.

Organized early in 1942, the 657th was first sent to Excursion Inlet in the southern part of Alaska to aid in the construction work of the Alcan highway until January 1944. After a few months in the United States, the men left for England for a brief stay, and a few days after D-Day landed in France where they unloaded supplies from boats to Omaha Beach. When the Port of Cherbourg was opened to Allied shipping, the men of the 657th worked on the docks handling incoming war supplies until the cessation of hostilities. They have carried out their work under enemy artillery fire and strafing and bombing.

The 657th was assigned its present mission late in May.

Among the 657th members are:

FOUR MPs HOME AFTER TOUR OF DUTY IN AFRICA

MIAMI, Florida——The greatest aerial troop movement in history has brought four Negro military policemen back from their Liberian station in record time.

Under the Army's redeployment plan, the Air Transport Command is called upon to fly 50,000 returnees to the states each month. The majority will be landed at ATC's Miami Army Air Field.

Private First Class Jesse Jennings, 35, Pamplin, Virginia, Private Lott P. Westmoreland, 27, son of Hudson and Ada Jennings, E. 15623 Wright Court, Cleveland, Ohio; Private First Class Thomas Branch, 26, son of Tom Branch Sr., Stockton, Alabama, and Private First Class Norman Henderson, 40, 3136 Pine Street., St. Louis, Missouri, are among the lucky veterans already landed at ATC's Miami Army Air Field, after being flown together from their base in Liberia by an ocean-spanning ATC plane. They will be reassigned or released under the Army point system.

FOR THREE ETO CAMPAIGNS

LIEGE, Belgium——Men of the 262nd Quartermaster Battalion Headquarters, who have been supervising shipment of war supplies to combat troops since the early days of the Normandy campaign, having been awarded Bronze Service Stars for the battles of Normandy, Northern France and Germany.

For several months before VE-Day, men of the battalion headquarters, a Negro unit, operated a gasoline and oil depot at Huy, near Liege. The operation of the depot, part of the vast 58th Quartermaster Base Depot, was carried out under German V-bomb attack and continued at full speed during the German counter-offensive last winter.

The headquarters unit landed in Normandy three days after D-Day as part of the first Engineer Special Brigade, the first unit of its type to reach the Utah beachhead. Its "office" was an apple orchard and ration boxes served as desks as the headquarters unit coordinated the operations of six service companies forwarding supplies to U.S. First Army units. German 88-mm shells and occasional Luftwaffe attacks kept the men running from typewriters to foxholes, but the supply lines were kept intact.

On the third day, an ammunition dump operated by the headquarters unit was hit by German shells. The dump blew up, showering the men with shell fragments and inflicting casualties. A new dump was immediately established and for two months the Quartermaster troops continued their work.

For its part in the beachhead operation, the 262nd has been listed with other troops of the engineer brigade on a special stone monument built over the first German pillbox captured by brigade troops.

Similar operations were carried out at other depots in France before the unit was assigned to the Liege area.

Members of the unit are:

FIVE LAND AT MIAMI FIELD
UNDER REDEPLOYMENT PLAN

MIAMI, Florida---Five more Negro veterans have landed here at Air Transport Command's Miami Army Air Field via the famous "Green Project" which is returning American soldiers from Africa, Europe, the Middle East and South America by air at the rate of 50,000 a month.

Happy at their luck in being chosen to fly back from overseas by ocean-spanning ATC planes are: Technical Sergeant Raymond Anderson, 32, of New York City; Sergeant David C. Lindsay, 30, of Staunton, Virginia; Sergeant Freddie Winchester, 26, of New Orleans, Louisiana; Private First Class Oscar C. Pierce, 35, also of New Orleans; Technician Fourth Grade Eddie Russ, 33, of Chicago, Illinois. Sergeant Anderson has completed 29 months with the headquarters detachment of the USAF in Liberia, and wears the American theater ribbon, American defense ribbon, European-African-Middle-East ribbon and Good Conduct Medal. He lives with his wife, Wilhelmina, at 213 W. 140th Street, Apt. 4E, New York.

Sergeant Lindsay, also back from 28 months in Liberia, was a truck driver in civilian life and lived at 1109 W. Stewart Street, Staunton, Virginia.

Sergeant Winchester and Private First Class Pierce completed 28 months service with an M.P. unit in Africa. Sergeant Winchester, a porter before entering the service, is the son of Mrs. Alphonsine Winchester of St. James Parish, Louisiana, but himself resides at 8920 Pear Street, New Orleans. Private First Class Pierce, a presser in civilian life, is the son of Mrs. Louisa Anderson, of 2222 St. Philips Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Technician Fourth Grade Russ, husband of Mrs. Magnolia Russ, 4310 Vincennes Avenue, Chicago, completed a total of 21 months overseas with a unit of the Corps of Engineers. He was a cook before entering the service.

All five veterans will be sent to Camp Blanding, Florida, and from there to separation centers near their respective homes, from which they will be granted furloughs.

AWARDED BRONZE STAR MEDAL
FOR WORK ON "VICTORY BRIDGE"

WITH THE U.S. FORCES IN GERMANY---For meritorious service in connection with the building of the "Victory" railway bridge over the Rhine river between Duisberg and Rheinhausen, Staff Sergeant Frank L. Galbreath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Galbreath of 609 North 16th Street, Mayfield, Kentucky, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

As a construction foreman in the 371st Engineer Construction Battalion, Sergeant Galbreath contributed greatly to the speedy construction of the bridge built across the Rhine by Engineer troops of Advance Section Communications Zone and was officially opened May 12. Sergeant Galbreath was among 19 enlisted men decorated in a ceremony dedicating the structure in the name of "Victory".

Sergeant Galbreath entered the Army April 16, 1942, at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, and received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. He came overseas to England with the 371st Engineers November 26, 1943, and landed in France August 2, 1944. He has two bronze service stars for participation in the campaigns of Normandy and Northern France.

SERVICE COMPANY OPERATES
SOAP FACTORY IN GERMANY

WITH ADVANCE TROOPS IN GERMANY---Members of the 4179th Quartermaster Service Company, a Negro unit assigned to the Continental Advance Section, find themselves at the end of the war in Europe as custodians of one of the major soap and toilet articles factories captured from the Germans in the Rhine Valley.

Working two shifts daily, the 4179th is now in the process of assorting, packing, and checking the materials, as well as cleaning and preparing the machinery for future production.

The plant is located at Rheinau, a surburban town of the large industrial city of Mannheim with a pre-war capital of approximately three million dollars. It is estimated that some five per cent of the buildings were damaged by bombing, but none of the operating machinery was lost.

"It is hoped that the plant can be put into operation as soon as possible, in order to supply the occupational troops with soaps and toilet articles, which would cut down the shipping space from America to this theater," said lieutenant Colonel R. G. Norman, supply officer, 59th Quartermaster Base Depot, who lives at 205 Matoaka Road, Richmond, Virginia.

At the present time, 1000 tons of crude soap can be produced weekly for issue to over 400,000 prisoners of war. At a later date, the production of soaps for use by the Army will probably take place.

"It is a gigantic factory with very modern equipment, and requires the skill of every man in the company to put the factory back in shape again," said Captain Carl P. Nelson, commanding officer of the 4179th, who lives at 1987 29th Avenue, San Francisco, California.

The company is composed of men who have served in Africa, Italy, France, and now in Germany. In addition to the commanding officer, there are three other officers and men from all sections of the country.

GIs ARE IMPRESSED WITH FRENCH RIVIERA

WITH U.S. TROOPS ON FRENCH RIVIERA——Negro soldiers from all over America now visiting the Riviera on seven-day furloughs as guests of U.S. Riviera Recreational Area, are unanimous in saying it's the finest vacation in their lives.

Nice, capital of the French Riviera, has an international reputation as a fashionable pleasure resort, and most of its palace hotels, night clubs and other attractions, formerly reserved for wealthy visitors, have been taken by USRRA for the exclusive use of soldiers on leave from former battle fronts.

Troops coming here from Holland, Belgium and Germany and having their homes in very different surroundings from those they enjoy here, all agree that USRRA has done a magnificent job in providing first-class accommodation and entertainment.

Led by officers like the above who have risen from the ranks, the 761st Tank Battalion spearheaded the 465-mile drive of the 71st Division from the Rhine to the Enn River in Austria.

On May 15, the Commanding Officer of the 761st received the following commendation from Major General Willard G. Wyman, Commanding General of the 71st Infantry Division:

"Now that the end of this great war in Europe has been reached, it is appropriate that recognition be given to the superior manner in which you and the members of your battalion have performed during the period of March 29, 1945 to May 15, 1945, the time you were closely affiliated with the 71st Infantry Division.

"The combat missions which were assigned your battalion were performed magnificently which unquestionably made possible the rapid advance of the entire division, and you share generously in the honors which are ours through the phenomenal progress which was made across Germany and Austria. The splendid way in which you and the members of your command responded to the tasks assigned you is worthy of high praise.

"The excellent combat record of your unit as veterans has been further sustained while operating closely with this command. Please extend to all members of your battalion my congratulations and my sincere thanks for a job well done."

GI WHO IGNORED NIPS' FIRE
TO SAVE BUDDY IS DECORATED

WITH THE 839th ENGINEIR AVIATION BATTALION IN THE PHILIPPINES---Technician Fourth Grade Charlie H. Wall, 5127 Vinewood Street, Detroit, Michigan, has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action on Leyte, Philippine Islands, on December 8, 1944.

The official citation reads in part as follows:

"---when an enlisted man lay wounded in a machinegun emplacement, Technician Fourth Grade Charlie H. Wall, as a medical aid man, made his way across approximately one hundred yards of open ground in the face of enemy small arms fire to the place where the wounded man lay. He administered medical aid to the wounded man and then assisted in removing him back to the company aid station. Technician Fourth Grade Wall's courageous action and utter disregard for his own safety helped to save the life of a fellow soldier."

Wall entered the service in October 1841, at Fort Custer, Michigan and later trained at Will Rogers and Tinker Fields in Oklahoma and at Eglin Field, Florida. A veteran of 23 months' overseas service, Wall has seen service in Australia, New Guinea, and the Philippines. In addition to the Silver Star, he is eligible for the Good Conduct Medal and is entitled to wear a battle star on his Asiatic-Pacific and Philippine Liberation Campaign Ribbons.

A brother, Sergeant Buford St. Clair, is serving with the Marines in the Southwest Pacific.

57 HIGH-POINT VETERANS
RETURN HOME FROM PACIFIC

SAN FRANCISCO PORT OF EMBARKATION, Fort Mason, California---The month of July 1945, will live long in the memories of 57 Negro veterans of the Pacific war as one of the highlights of their Army careers.

For one day this month an Army Transportation Corps troop ship nosed through the threads of fog shrouding the famed Golden Gate and delivered them at a San Francisco Port of Embarkation pier for the mainland phase of their journey toward separation centers and return to civilian life.

The Negro veterans comprised 10 per cent of the high-point men aboard the transport, which carried 585 dischargees in all, coming from General of the Army Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific Theater.

The Negro group represented many arms and branches of service, with Infantry predominating. There were husky Port company men wearing Transportation Corps insignia who had helped unload ships in a hurry and under fire, from Moresby to Leyte. There were "Fighting Quartermasters" who had helped move supplies to the front.

There were Field Artillerymen, Chemical Warfare Service specialists, a Cavalryman (Private Richard A. Irving, 308 W. 154th Street, New York City), and a Medical Department man (Technician Fifth Grade Louis Douglas, of Theodore, Alabama).

Many of them had, like Technician Fifth Grade Sam Heike of Boulder, Colorado, followed the American drive from the time the Yanks were backed up against Australia to the liberation of the Philippines and the slicing apart of Japan's stolen empire. Heike had been 39 months down there in a Quartermaster unit. He went all the way from Australia to Milne Bay, then the length of New Guinea to Hollandia, and finally to Palawan in the Philippines. He accumulated 103 points, 18 more than he needed for discharge.

And what is he going to do after he gets out of the Army?

"First off, I'll go home and rest, and rest some more," said this tan GI. Many of his mates expressed the same idea - rest at home first, then back to civilian jobs.

One officer among them, Captain William P. Hurd, 4213 Champlain Avenue, Chicago, had 95 points, after 17 months service with a well known Infantry outfit. But he wasn't certain, despite his presence in the discharge group, whether he was going out of the Army. His last station was on Morotai.

As the transport, which also carried rotation furlough men and patients, pulled into the pier, the Fort Mason Band greeted them with the traditional "California Here I Come" and with other music, service and swing, that set feet to dancing as the men marched off the ship. They boarded a harbor boat on the other side of the pier and went to Fort McDowell, where further welcoming awaited them.

At McDowell they were given medical examination, clothing checkup with provision for replacement, transportation orders and a super-meal. The meal, as much as anything else, brought them to the realization they were back in the States. For placed before them, with seconds if desired, were those things they had not been able to get very often if at all on the other side of the world -- such things as steaks and fresh fruits and fresh vegetables and creamy milk and homemade ice cream.

But best of all at McDowell was Colonel James Hogan's promise that their stay there would be not more than 24 hours and before another day ended they would be speeding eastward by train to the separation stations which mark their last stop on the road to return to civilian life.

Others to whom the Transportation Corps and the Port, on the behalf of the Army, said "well done" were:

NEGRO VETERANS RETURN
IN INCREASING NUMBERS

MIAMI, Florida---Negro overseas returnees are landing at Air Transport Command's Miami Army Air Field in increasing numbers as the Army's R-day plan to return 50,000 men a month to the states by air picks up momentum.

Most of the air-traveling overseas veterans land at Miami Air Field which has become one of the world's greatest and busiest air terminals, with a huge transport from Europe, Asia, Africa or South America landing every 45 minutes of a 24-hour day.

From here the returnees are sent to Camp Blanding, Florida, from which they go on to separation centers near their homes before being given furloughs. When their furloughs are over they return for either reassignment or separation from the service.

Among the most recent returnees to land here are:

Mississippi: Pfc. Thomas B. Harris, 24, whose wife and two sisters live in Liberty, 26 months with the engineers in Italy; Pvt. Shedrac S. Spears, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Spears of Saltillo, 35 months with the Quartermaster Corps in Italy; Pvt. James M. Felton, 31, husband of Mrs. Willie M. Felton and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Felton of P.O. Box 596, Shaw, 26 months with the engineers in Italy.

Maryland: Pvt. James W. Scott, 26, husband of Mrs. Mary A. Scott of 1723 Baker St., Baltimore, 25 months in Italy; Pfc. Joseph S. Edwards, 31, husband of Mrs. Geneva Edwards of 738 George St., Baltimore, 31 months in Italy; Pfc. Robert E. Johnson, 33, of 206 E. 23rd St., Baltimore, 25 months in Italy.

Virginia: Staff Sgt. Thomas E. Jarratt, 33, of 115 South Main St., Emporia, 25 months in Italy; Sgt. James E. Jackson, 28, whose wife, Ethel, lives at 2005 North Ave., Richmond, 32 months in Italy.

South Carolina: Cpl. Richard J. Johnson, 27, whose mother and wife live in Eastover, 34 months in Africa.

BAND CHEERS THOUSANDS
AT REDEPLOYMENT CAMP

ASSEMBLY AREA COMMAND, France---Musical entertainment at its best is the keynote of the 432nd Army Service Forces band, which provides troops of Camp Boston, a redeployment center of the Assembly Area Command, with dance and band numbers.

Camp Boston, one of 17 redeployment camps of the AAC in Northeastern France, accomodates 15,000 troops. Through it an average of 8000 troops a day are sped on to staging and port areas for redeployment to the Pacific or the United States.

Directed by Master Sergeant Lester G. Patterson, 825 Porter Street, Beaumont, Texas, the band plays for all formations and special programs at the camp. Sergeant Patterson joined the band when it was activated in November 1942, at Camp Maxie, Texas.

TRACE CAREERS OF OFFICERS
IN ALL-NEGRO ACK ACK UNIT

WITH THE 14th AA COMMAND, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC AREA---Among the many officers recently assigned to 207th Antiaircraft Artillery (Automatic Weapons) Battalion, an all-Negro organization, are Chaplain (Captain) Milner L. Darnell, Wyone, Arkansas, Second Lieutenants Orion J. Seabrook, Warren, Ohio; Charles D. Branch, Willow Grove, Pennsylvania; Clarence West, Cincinnati, Ohio; Floyd L. Tomlinson, Wilmington, Delaware; Ethanier W. Willis, Jr., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and James Spencer of Tallahassee, Florida.

The battalion, which is under the command of Major Cato L. Baskerville of New York City, a former officer of the disbanded 369th Coast Artillery Regiment, is a part of the 14th AA Command, commanded by Major General William F. Marquat.

Chaplain Darnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Darnell of Wyone, was formerly pastor of the Elizabeth C and E Church, Dallas, Texas, prior to entering the Chaplain Corps in September 1943.

Married to the former Miss H.G. Goldstein, the chaplain has been overseas since June of last year, having been first assigned to another Ack Ack battalion, now inactivated, prior to his assignment to the 207th in March of this year.

A graduate of Haygood Institute, Pine Bluff, Arkansas, he holds the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Paine College, Augusta, Georgia, and that of Bachelor of Divinity from Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia.

Lieutenant Seabrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Seabrook, 1804 Wich Street, Warren, Ohio, has been in the Army since July 1942, and took his basic training at Fort Eustis, Virginia. Commissioned at Camp Davis, North Carolina in December 1942, Lieutenant Seabrook has been overseas less than six months, and prior to his being assigned to this battalion was at a replacement center in the Philippines.

A graduate of Warren High School, Lieutenant Seabrook was attending South Carolina State College at the time of his induction, and was then the student manager of the football team.

Lieutenant Branch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Branch, Jr., 230 Glendale Avenue, Willow Grove, Pennsylvania, has been in the Army since 1942, and received his commission at Brisbane, Australia on January 29, 1945.

Son of Mrs. Hattie W. Dyer, 3207 Fredonia Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio, and a former member of the 24th Infantry, Lieutenant West has been in the Army since 1942. He received his commission at Camp Davis in 1943.

Lieutenant Tomlinson, son of Mrs. Julia A. Tomlinson, 510 Taylor Street, Wilmington, Delaware, has been in the Army since June 1942, and took his basic training at Fort Eustis, Virginia, later being commissioned at Camp Davis, North Carolina, in October 1942. A graduate of Princess Ann College, Maryland, he majored in Agriculture, and is a graduate also of Howard High, Wilmington, Delaware.

Lieutenant Tomlinson has two brothers in the service, Technician 4th Grade William G. in Europe and Charles B., a member of the Merchant Marine since 1943.

Lieutenant Willis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Willis, Sr., 617 Larnier Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania entered the service in July 1942, and was inducted at Fort Meade, Maryland. Taking his basic training at Bradley Field, Connecticut, Lieutenant Willis was commissioned at Camp Davis, North Carolina in April the following year, and has had assignments at Camp Davis, Camp Tyson,

TRUCKER KNEW EVERY TREE,
ROCK ON INDIA-BURMA RUN

ATLANTIC CITY, New Jersey---Corporal Claude Conyero, of Atlanta, Georgia, drove an Army truck over the same 60-mile stretch 500 times or more.

"Got so," the Negro AAF engineer said at the AAF Redistribution Station No. 1 here, "I knew every tree and rock between our base in Burma, and Ledo, Assam."

He made the trip almost every day during his 19 months in the India-Burma theater, regardless of weather, or road conditions, neither of which was ever quite right for driving. During dry season the road was so dusty the driver could hardly see the truck in front of him, and often times found himself driving off the side of the road. During rainy season it was so muddy and slippdry he had to take precautions against sliding off the side.

"All of which added up to a pretty boring time," he says. "That's why it's so good to be back in the U.S.A., where you can drive all day and all night, and never see the same scenery."

Corporal Conyero is now awaiting his next assignment at this station, where he will be examined by doctors and interviewed by personnel specialists to determine his new job in the AAF. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Conyero, 998 Mayson Turner Road, Atlanta, Georgia.

41st ENGINEERS' CHAPLAIN
WINS PROMOTION IN FRANCE

WITH U.S. FORCES IN FRANCE---Chaplain Wesley B. Nash of Washington, D.C., assigned to the 41st Engineer Regiment, has been promoted to captain, Headquarters, U.S. Forces, European Theater, reported today.

The 41st Engineers, first Negro Engineer Regiment assigned to overseas duty in this war, is now located at the Delta Base in Marseille, France.

Chaplain Nash has been with the unit since July 1944, when he joined the outfit which had not had a chaplain in 18 months. The 41st has been overseas three years,with service in North Africa, Corsica and France.

A former minister of the Weston Chapel A.M.E. Church, Greenwood, South Carolina, Chaplain Nash is a graduate of Allen University, Columbia, South Carolina and Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia.

His wife, Mrs. Eloise Nash, lives at 1520 3rd Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

46th QM GROUP HAULS
33,776 TONS IN WEEK

WITH U.S. FORCES IN GERMANY---For moving more than 33,776 tons of food and ammunition to the Seventh Army within a seven-day period in the closing offensive of the war in Europe, the 46th Quartermaster Group, a Negro unit, has been commended by Brigadier General Ralph M. Immell, acting as Commanding General of the Continental Advance Section.

The transportation units of the 46th Quartermaster Group hauled 5,867 tons of supplies in the 24-hour period of May 5-6, two days before the armistice was signed at Reims, France. These supplies consisted chiefly of ammunition.

The group is composed of from 25 to 30 separate truck companies. Three are gasoline companies using 10-ton semi-trailer trucks and skid tanks to transport gasoline. Since coming to Germany the group has been in support of the Sixth Army Group, supplying directly the American Seventh and the First French Armies. The group was charged with getting the supplies from the many transfer points to the front lines, using the famed Yellow Diamond line as the main route.

Before coming to Germany the group operated motor trucks during the height of the Ardennes break-through. Over this line many tons of supplies were transported to the Seventh Army, preparing it for the thrust across the Rhine River. After the Ardennes pocket had been cleared, trucks of the 46th aided in clearing out prisoners, and then transported them to prisoner of war camps.

Today, with the end of the war in Europe, the 46th is establishing supply dumps for occupational forces in the American zones of occupation, and transporting thousands of troops to redeployment centers.

"Although the war in Europe is over, there has been no decrease in our work, as we are handling all sorts of cargo and are working yet on 24-hour schedule," said Captain Robert C. Crane, 815 Salem Avenue, Elizabeth, New Jersey, adjutant of the group.

The group has three Negro officers, a chaplain and two medics. Captain Lincoln C. McGhee, 1807 West Berks Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, group chaplain, was recently awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service with the group. Captain Thomas W. Edwards, 358 Pacific Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, is the dental officer for the group with Captain William H. Pitts, 87 Dixwell Avenue, New Haven, Connecticut, as his assistant.

GI WHO ONCE BEAT SCHMELING
LEAVES EUROPE FOR PACIFIC

MARSEILLE, FRANCE---A six-foot, rugged-looking sergeant who fought the Germans, and who knocked out Max Schmeling--but that was before the war--was spotted at a redeployment camp near here recently. The GIs call him "Battling Sam."

Nelson Morgan is his name and he was here with a group of engineers being redeployed to the Japanese war. He fought for seven years around Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in civilian life.

Now about Schmeling. Sergeant Nelson won over the German pugilist by a KO in the fourth round during an exhibition at the YM and WHA Gymnasium in Pittsburgh.

But Nelson does not intend to get back into the boxing business after the war because of his age--he is 36 now. He intends to spend his time coaching promising fighters as he has done in the Army, where he says he has picked up a lot of good points. Nelson tips the scale at 227, and has been overseas eight months.

ON SAIPAN, CHOW TIME WAS TIME TO "DUCK"

ATLANTIC CITY, New Jersey---On Saipan, driving a truck loaded with high explosive and incendiary bombs or high test gasoline was safer than sitting in a mess hall eating chow, according to Corporal Harris Kearse of 890-A Halsey Street, Brooklyn, New York.

"I never saw a Jap plane while I was hauling a dangerous cargo, but every time I went in the mess hall for noon chow the Japs would bomb the place," recalled the returnee at AAF Redistribution Station No. 1, where he is awaiting a new Air Force assignment after 30 months in the Mariana Islands.

The corporal, who was a member of the all-Negro 388th Aviation Squadron, said that the Japs came over promptly each noon at 12:15. He reflected:

"Aside from being a nuisance and interrupting our digestion they became dangerous. Our closest call came the day 14 Zekes and Ikes raided the field and blew up the mess tent and all our hot food while we dug into our fox holes."

Corporal Kearse entered the service on July 9, 1941 and was sent overseas on November 6, 1942. He is the son of Mrs. Hamie Kearse who lives at the Brooklyn address.

1500 NEGRO SOLDIERS
THRONG RIVIERA WEEKLY

WITH U.S. FORCES ON THE RIVIERA---Each week more than 1500 Negro troops of the European Theater arrive at Nice, capital of the Riviera, for a seven-day vacation as guests of the U.S. Army.

Coming straight from bomb-shattered buildings and scenes of reconstruction in Berlin's suburbs, Belgium, Holland and France, these soldiers find that the United States Riviera Recreational Area offers all that is best in accomodation and entertainment to visiting troops.

Famed as a rendevous of royalty and world celebrities, the French Riviera, with its dazzling white palace hotels and palm-tree promenades, is now at the complete disposal of soldier vacationers.

They enjoy sleeping in the fine hotels, visiting the gay spots and going on interesting sight-seeing tours of historical interest.

A city most GIs have seen on tour is Grasse, a sweet-scented town known for its perfune industry. It is situated high in the hills, with a breath-taking panorama of natural beauty. Over 62,000 acres of the countryside are devoted to the cultivation of violets, tuberoses, mignonettes, jonquils and carnations. Each year the flower fields yield 3,000,000 pounds of roses, and 4,400,000 pounds of orange blossoms.

Typically French on the Riviera is the dinner meal, where dinner music is played in the main diningrooms. Most of the tunes are of a South American sentimentality. After meals, soldiers perch themselves under beach umbrellas and watch the crashing waves of the Mediterranean, take evening rides through the city's boulevards in horse-drawn taxi-carriages, or paddle down the avenues on French bicycles.

Many troops here on vacation were among U.S. soldiers who liberated the district, on August 28, 1944, and are astonished by the excellent work done by USRRA in clearing up and re-fitting the city after four years of Nazi occupation.

Friday, June 29, 1945

Under Secretary of War Patterson today was asked the following question at his news conference:

"Are these statements (Senator Eastland's)—attributed to unnamed generals—representative of the Army's views of the performance of Negro troops?"

Mr. Patterson replied as follows:

"No. If any high ranking general has made such a statement, I have no knowledge of it. You have already heard views of our leading commanders—General Eisenhower, General McArthur, General Eaker and others—which do not support any such conclusion.

"The War Department is proud of its troops, and that includes Negroes as well as all other groups.

"There have been a number of press releases in the last few months commending the behaviour of a number of units made up of Negro troops. General Eisenhower spoke of the good performance of the volunteer platoons used in the European Theater. The Inspector General commented favorably, went out of his way to comment favorably, on the performance of the 24th Infantry Regiment in the Marianas, and there have been a number of similar commendations."

Senator Eastland's Eruption

The speech of Senator Eastland of Mississippi in the Senate the other day, in support of his colleague Bilbo's filibuster against the Federal Employment Practices Committee, was a disgraceful performance that ought to shock, sadden and make ashamed every Southerner who loves his country and believes in fair treatment for all its citizens.

The speech was a gratuitous and slanderous attack on the performance of Negroes in this war. The Negro soldier, the senator said, has been "an utter and abysmal failure" in the war. Negro officers could not be trusted, he declared, and added that Negro divisions could not be placed in important positions in battle lines, because Negro soldiers "had no initiative, no sense of responsibility, and very low intelligence." Also, he said, criminal conduct of Negro soldiers all over Europe had "disgraced the flag of their country."

The senator made no exceptions. As Marquis Childs characterized it, it was the most shocking speech ever heard on the floor of the Senate, slandering whole races and armies and damning them down to the last individual.

The Mississipian's authority for these outrageous defamations, he said, were "high-ranking generals" with whom he talked on a recent junket to Europe; but, significantly enough, he refrained from identifying a single such officer, being content to particularize the helpless victims of his own slanders, but careful not to name as the

No doubt the percentage of Negro soldiers who have distinguished themselves, or served well in the war, is not as high as the like percentage of white soldiers. As Mellett suggests, this may be an indictment of the South for its treatment of the Negro, which has hardly been conducive to the development of initiative, or a sense of responsibility, or a high degree of intelligence—a fact, however, in which it would seem that even Senator Eastland could find little comfort.

Nevertheless Negroes have done many things in this war of which they themselves and their country may well be proud, a few of which we cite for the benefit of Senator Eastland and others like him who are ready to damn a man for the color of his skin, however valorous and devoted he may be.

Thus this year Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, one of the Negro officers of whom Senator Eastland speaks with unmeasured contempt, was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for outstanding work in the field of soldier morale and troop discipline which the citation says, "has been of material assistance to the War Department and responsible commanders in the field."

In March, 1945, Negro Capt. Charles L. Thomas, commander of a tank destroyer company in France, was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism in action."

Misrepresenting the South

IF MISSISSIPPI wants to send to the United States Senate such men as THEODORE BILBO and JAMES EASTLAND, there is little the rest of the country can do about it, but the people of the other Southern States certainly do not have to remain silent under the possible imputation that these spreaders of interracial hate speak for anyone but themselves.

The tirades which BILBO and EASTLAND have loosed on the Senate floor of late against the whole colored race are not approved or condoned by the rank and file of Southern whites. The average Southerner is fairminded and tolerant, and he believes in giving credit where credit is due. The blanket denunciations of all Negro soldiers which SENATOR EASTLAND has just issued do not appeal to the Southern people as either accurate or just. Furthermore, they stir up strife at the very time when the efforts of responsible people are in the opposite direction.

The fact that the Mississippian quotes unnamed "generals" as having said this or that, means little. High-ranking American commanders have said exactly the opposite, and with their names signed. GENERAL EISENHOWER is one who has praised Negro troops. Admittedly the Ninety-second Negro Division did not acquit itself well in Italy, but this does not justify the sweeping generalizations of SENATOR EASTLAND.

There have been individual Negro heroes in this war. DORIE MILLER, the colored mess boy who grabbed a machine gun at Pearl Harbor and won the Navy Cross, was the first. Others have won the Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit, and so on. When GENERAL JOHN LEE called in March for Negro volunteers for front line service against the Germans, the quota of 2,300 was quickly exceeded. They acquitted themselves well in the drive of the First and Seventh Armies into and across Germany. Many were killed, many others

A Cowardly Injustice To Negro Soldiers

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare has requested President TRUMAN and Secretaries STIMSON and FORRESTAL to correct the record on Negro service men which was so cruelly distorted by Senator EASTLAND of Mississippi during his filibustering speech against the Fair Employment Practices Committee last Friday. The truth should be told, and promptly, for there is no more cowardly device than that of attacking, under Congressional immunity, the courage and the Americanism of an entire race. Quoting only unnamed generals, and other anonymous individuals who obviously shared the Senator's virulent prejudice, the Mississippian declared that the Negro's war record is a bad one, that he has been a cowardly soldier and has "disgraced his flag."

There is no justification for such statements, and for the sake of morale among the thousands of Negro fighting men who are going with their white companions from the European battlefronts to the Pacific, it is to be hoped that the Secretaries of War and Navy issue an official repudiation of Senator EASTLAND's charges at once. It will not be difficult to do. The names of Negro naval heroes of battles following Pearl Harbor stand high upon the Navy's list. The first Armored Force soldier killed in this war was a Negro, for whom Fort Knox's BROOKS Field is named. It was not by the Negro's choice that his greatest value in this war has been in the service of supply and maintenance, where he has given an excellent account of himself. But whenever volunteers for front-line tasks have been sought far more Negro soldiers than could be used have stepped forward, and General EISENHOWER has warmly com-

Sad Statesmanship

We have regarded Senator Eastland as a man of more character and substance than his more renowned colleague. He should watch his step lest he become equally famous. For all publicity is not advertising.

His declaration that the Negro soldiers in Europe won't fight, won't work, are guilty of more than half the crimes in the Army, and have lowered American prestige all over the Continent, was based, he claimed, on information allegedly furnished by "American officers." But it was promptly denied with equal emphasis by American officers, giving their names, who are in the best position to know, including General Eisenhower himself.

The Mississippi statesman follows that by an intrinsically unlikely thriller to the effect that French-African troops locked 5000 German girls in a Stuttgart subway and raped them. This also, he said, was reported by "American officers"—again unnamed. It is likewise denied with equal promptitude by our Sixth Army Headquarters in Paris, in these terms:

"All United States liason officers with the French army corps, and with lower units, which could have been in or near that city at any time, have submitted written reports to this headquarters that, to their knowledge and belief, incidents such as alleged did not take place."

"The Negro soldier was an utter and dismal failure in combat in Europe... He has disgraced the flag of his country. He will not fight. He will not work."

The speech of Senator Eastland of Mississippi in the Senate the other day, in support of his colleague Bilbo's filibuster against the Federal Employment Practices Committee, was a disgraceful performance that ought to shock, sadden and make ashamed every Southerner who loves his country and believes in fair treatment for all its citizens.

The speech was a gratuitous and slanderous attack on the performance of Negroes in this war. The Negro soldier, the senator said, has been "an utter and abysmal failure" in the war. Negro officers could not be trusted, he declared, and added that Negro divisions could not be placed in important positions in battle lines, because Negro soldiers "had no initiative, no sense of responsibility, and very low intelligence." Also, he said, criminal conduct of Negro soldiers all over Europe had "disgraced the flag of their country."

The senator made no exceptions. As Marquis Childs characterized it, it was the most shocking speech ever heard on the floor of the Senate, slandering whole races and armies and damning them down to the last individual.

The Mississipian's authority for these outrageous defamations, he said, were "high-ranking generals" with whom he talked on a recent junket to Europe; but, significantly enough, he refrained from identifying a single such officer, being content to particularize the helpless victims of his own slanders, but careful not to name as the original authors of them high Army officers who might bring him to book for his recklessness.

The point of the speech was that the appropriation for the agency ought to be defeated because the FEPC would grant "unfair preference" to these unworthy Negro soldiers—an untrue statement itself, because the FEPC never was authorized to grant any preferences to anybody, its only function being to prevent discrimination in employment on account of race and religion.

We don't believe a single word the senator said; we don't see how he can believe it himself. It is physically impossible that such a blanket indictment of the 700,000 Negroes in the Army and the 170,000 in the Navy can be true.

No doubt there are bad and stupid and untrustworthy Negroes in the Army and Navy, as there are also bad and stupid and untrustworthy white men. But that they are all like that, none except a simpleton or a villain would suggest and none except a moron would believe.

Moreover, if the Senator's charges had any basis in fact, or were anything except the creatures of his own poisonous fancy, he would not allow the sources of his information to remain unrevealed. No man, senator or not, damning in good faith a whole race of his fellow citizens would hide behind the anonymity of un-named "high-ranking generals." In sheer self-defense, he would bring these generals out in the open to speak for themselves. In fact there are no such generals; Under-Secretary of War Patterson told his press conference Friday that he never heard of any.

Aside from the facts that were available to Senator Eastland in the public records, it is beyond all reason that his sweeping charges can be true.

And the records prove them false. As Lowell Mellett points out in his column published elsewhere on this page today, General Eisenhower, the highest-ranking general, who can be named, himself has praised the courage and the competency of his Negro soldiers.

In his Friday press conference above referred to Under-Secretary Patterson says that not only General Eisenhower, but also Generals MacArthur, Eaker and others have praised the performance of Negro troops. He might have named in particular also Generals Patton and Clark. And Mr. Patterson added on his own account: "The War Department is proud of its troops, and that includes Negroes as well as all other groups."

No doubt the percentage of Negro soldiers who have distinguished themselves, or served well in the war, is not as high as the like percentage of white soldiers. As Mellett suggests, this may be an indictment of the South for its treatment of the Negro, which has hardly been conducive to the development of initiative, or a sense of responsibility, or a high degree of intelligence—a fact, however, in which it would seem that even Senator Eastland could find little comfort.

Nevertheless Negroes have done many things in this war of which they themselves and their country may well be proud, a few of which we cite for the benefit of Senator Eastland and others like him who are ready to damn a man for the color of his skin, however valorous and devoted he may be.

Thus this year Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, one of the Negro officers of whom Senator Eastland speaks with unmeasured contempt, was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for outstanding work in the field of soldier morale and troop discipline which the citation says, "has been of material assistance to the War Department and responsible commanders in the field."

In March, 1945, Negro Capt. Charles L. Thomas, commander of a tank destroyer company in France, was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism in action."

In an editorial published on April 11, 1945, we noted the fact that Sgt. Jerry B. Davis, a Macon Negro, had been decorated with the Legion of Merit, the fourth highest decoration of the American Army, for conspicuous bravery in carrying rations to his gun crews engaged in Italy in the Battle of the Arno River.

In the same editorial we noted a Reuters dispatch giving an account of one day's activities of our Middle East Air Force over Austria in which American Negro pilots in fierce combat had shot down 12 German planes.

Negroes have made such records also in the Navy, a number having been decorated for extraordinary heroism in naval engagements, the latest of these being two Negro seamen aboard the aircraft carrier Bunker Hill, which was turned into a blazing death trap by the attack of a Japanese suicide plane.

We could go on with this recital if space permitted, but these instances are enough to prove the point and expose Senator Eastland. Stripped of the habiliments of statesmanship, worn by virtue only of his membership in the Senate of the United States, the senator is thus revealed to be an ordinary demagogue of the type which has too often disgraced the South and humiliated her people both at home and in the councils of the nation.

We do not question Senator Eastland's right to oppose the FEPC, but his opposition ought to be grounded on something more than blind prejudice and racial hatred. There are Southerners who do oppose it for reasons which may be wrong but yet are honest. We can respect them, but not this tail to Bilbo's kite in his illicit appeal to the illiterate hillbilly vote.

We hold no brief for the Negro beyond insisting that he receive fair treatment and due credit for his loyalty and patriotism. And this we think, is the right of every citizen, white or black, Jew or Gentile, Protestant or Catholic.

We conceive it to be the duty of every Southerner to repudiate every appeal to racial prejudice. The white people of the South cannot live on terms of enmity and hostility with a racial minority constituting one-third of the population. Persons who fan the flames of racial hatred are enemies of the people and their free institutions.

This speech of Senator Eastland's is one of the basest appeals to such prejudice and hatred we have ever read. We hope that the entire South will repudiate it and that the senator's own state at the first opportunity will return him to the obscurity from which he came.

IF MISSISSIPPI wants to send to the United States Senate such men as THEODORE BILBO and JAMES EASTLAND, there is little the rest of the country can do about it, but the people of the other Southern States certainly do not have to remain silent under the possible imputation that these spreaders of interracial hate speak for anyone but themselves.

The permanent Fair Employment Practice Committee, against which SENATORS EASTLAND and BILBO have been filibustering, should be discussed on its merits. The record made in the war by colored troops has nothing whatever to do with the case. It is humiliating to the South for two Mississippi demagogues to misrepresent the Southern people with their unfair diatribes.

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare has requested President TRUMAN and Secretaries STIMSON and FORRESTAL to correct the record on Negro service men which was so cruelly distorted by Senator EASTLAND of Mississippi during his filibustering speech against the Fair Employment Practices Committee last Friday. The all-Negro 92d Division shared all the hardships of the long Italian campaign as creditably as any of its companion white divisions and many of the Negro flyers who distinguished themselves with that division are now at Godman Field under a noted Negro air hero, son of the only Army general of his race, Col. BENJAMIN O. DAVIS, JR.

The record refutes Senator EASTLAND and his mysterious informants, and the crime record of Negro soldiers also discountenances his effort to smear American Negroes with the alleged excesses of Senegalese soldiers in Stuttgart. The Senator himself is branded as a dangerous enemy of national unity in his cowardly use of sweeping assertions designed only to discredit a loyal American minority.

Bilbo's recent reversion in the Senate to characteristic indecencies for inciting racial and religious hates has not surprised anybody who knows "The Man." But they have again aroused disgust all over the country, which is not confined to The Man himself. This summary of one typical view of him comes from a comment by The Milwaukee Journal:

"Truly there is no worse influence in high life than Senator Bilbo. He is a disgrace to Juniper Grove, where he was born; to Mississippi, which he represents; and to the nation, of which, unfortunately, he is a citizen."

Mr. Eastland should take counsel with himself; unless he is courting a national reputation which reflects itself in such terms as those. Such repute is too high a price for a few votes that could be won by more respectable means than coon-shouting, on infirm and silly canards. Unless the junior senator takes himself in hand betimes, he is likely to fall a hopeless victim to the ancient aphorism, "Evil Associations Corrupt Good Manners."

Lowell Mellett Says:

Southern Statesmen Should Not Leave Fate to Bilbos-Eastlands

In the course of a raw filibuster against taking any vote on the FEPC bill, Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi made a frank effort the other day to indict the whole Negro race. He succeeded instead in indicting a whole section of the United States. That is to say, if the premise on which he sought to indict the American Negro were true, the senator made a completely convincing case against the South's treatment of the Negro.

THE SENATOR dwelt at length on what he called the history of the Negro soldier in the American Army. He reported that he had talked with "numerous highranking generals," whom he did not name, and that he found them to be in agreement with his opinion that as soldiers the Negroes are just no good. Composing as they do one-twelfth of the whole Army, that statement goes for them all, according to the senator. The fact that General Eisenhower, who also no doubt has talked to numerous "high-ranking generals," holds an entirely different view, was not mentioned by the senator.

He established to his own satisfaction that the Negro soldiers "had no initiative, no sense of responsibility very low intelligence, and were a failure." Whether he established this to the satisfaction of the two or three weary fellow-senators who composed his entire audience on the floor, there was no indication. But he obviously did not persuade the well-filled galleries, for a spontaneous outburst of laughter greeted his assertion, "I am not prejudiced against the Negro."

ASSUMING that Senator Eastland states the truth, that General Eisenhower does not, and that the Negro soldier has no initiative and no sense of responsibility, can the blame be placed entirely on the soldier? Can the South, which has determined to a large degree the conditions of the Negro's life, the extent to which he has been permitted to develop initiative and responsibility, escape a considerable share of the blame? Has not the senator actually brought in an indictment against the manner in which he and his neighbors have handled the great problem that came to this country aboard the slave ships, a problem not solved by the bloodiest civil war in history?

AND IF THIS IS SO, is it not time that the best men in the South begin to recognize the fact, to recognize that the course that has been followed is not the one that will bring a solution? Southern statesmanship is not confined to the Bilbos and Eastlands, yet one might easily believe it is all of one piece if he reads the list of senators voting to support the position taken by the Mississippi spokesmen.

Under the stress of war's necessity a small beginning has been made toward solving this problem, serious now and likely to become desperate soon. It was decreed at the war's outset that there should be no discrimination against any war worker because of his color or race or religion. One must believe either that this is right or that there should be discrimination. The Bilbos and Eastlands and other frightened little men definitely do believe there should be discrimination, but it is hard to conceive that this is true of the Georges, the Connallys and others who are, right at this time, contributing their full share to an enlightened world policy; hard to believe that they share in this wretched distortion of our own democratic ideal here at home.

THE MOST tragic period in American history was brought on by the stubborn conviction held by some people in the South that this nation could exist half slave and half free. Another tragic period is bearing down upon us as surely as the sun rises and sets, unless Southern statesmanship opens its mind to this problem. If it will put in some of the same good thinking it has given recently to our world problems (and some of the same ingenuity it has given to the circumvention of the U. S. Constitution during the past 80 years), Southern statesmanship should be able to provide a solution that will forestall another period of bloody civil strife.

.... THOU SHALT NOT BEAR FALSE WITNESS AGAINST THY NEIGHBOR.

WAC CROWNED QUEEN
OF PORTMEN'S BALL

ROUEN, FRANCE---Winsome Private First Class Alberta Willis, 1229 North 56th Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, a member of the 6888th Central Postal Directory, all-Negro Wac Postal Battalion in Rouen, was recently crowned queen of a carnation ball given by the 215th Port Company here.

Her throne, bedecked with carnations, lillies, roses and fern, was attractively arranged in a room which was decorated with 4,000 assorted flowers. Queen Willis was crowned and presented a bouquet of pink mums and roses by Sergeant Leonardo D. Long, Jr., 5726 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, who was her escort the remainder of the evening.

The queen's ladies in waiting were Sergeant Dorothy Tabb, 1015 Adelanta Circle, Bakersville, California, and Private First Class Marion G. Davis, 814 South 9th Street, Wilmington, North Carolina.

Given in honor of the newly arrived WAC unit, 150 girls from the various companies were guests. The Wacs who competed for this honor were selected from this group after their arrival at the flower festival.

Music was furnished by the 490th Port Company Orchestra, and Private Julia C. Harris Webb, 1635 McCouley Street, Augusta, Georgia, sang several selections.

NEGRO QUARTERMASTERS RUN
CONTINENT'S LARGEST DEPOT

WITH THE 555th QUARTERMASTER BATTALION, France---Negro soldiers of the Quartermaster Corps are operating the largest supply depot on the European Continent. They have supplied clothing and equipment to the front-line fighting troops during the war against Germany.

On an average day the members of the depot handled from 1,000 to 1,400 tons of clothing and equipment. Twenty thousand tons of materiel were unloaded from the trucks and trains after just twelve days of operation when the depot personnel began their huge task. Supplies included overcoats, raincoats, combat uniforms, shoes, blankets, jackets, socks, mittens, caps, underwear, field equipment, mops, brooms,insecticide and thousands of other items.

The Germans had made use of the depot for the same purpose and left in hasty retreat. Trains were standing in the depot loaded with supplies that the German army would never receive. The warehouses had to be cleared for the arrival of trainloads of American equipment before the 555th Quartermaster Battalion could begin to operate.

Use was made of thousands of German prisoners of war to load and unload supplies for the troops on the Continent. Negro soldiers stood guard over the prisoners, some of whom are used to cultivate the large vegetable farm near the depot. The products of the farm will supplement the canned food diet of our troops stationed on the Continent.

The depot's personnel maintain a food ration dump from which troops stationed in the area draw their nutritions. A large gasoline supply dump is also run by the battalion to furnish fuel for vehicles.

The huge depot was bombed and strafed by German aircraft several times but the scheduled movement of supplies never ceased.

The unit is a part of the U. S. Army Supply Forces and has done an immense job in keeping the vital materiel flowing to the fighting men in the front-lines. The manner in which American ingenuity overcame the problem of supplying its forces is without parallel in the history of warfare. Attention is now focused to the war in the Pacific. New problems will have to be faced, but much has been learned from the European Theater of Operations that will aid in the supplying of our troops.

The 555th Quartermaster Battalion is now packaging equipment for the Pacific Theater and at the same time supplying food, clothing and other equipment to the troops stationed on the Continent.

Some of the members of the unit include:

CALIFORNIA: San Francisco--Cpl. Frederick Jones, 1129 Buchanon Ave.

STORY OF A FAITHFUL
SOLDIER ON MINDANAO

WITH THE 24th INFANTRY (VICTORY) DIVISION ON MINDANAO—His day's work done, a rifle slung over one shoulder and a shovel on the other, Private Clifford Otis, 134 North Lincoln Boulevard, Centralia, Illinois, attached to the 34th Infantry Regiment, trod back to the command post.

Detailed to bury Japanese bodies strewn along the road, he had put in his day and now with hot chow on his mind, Otis was musing of civilian days when he spotted a live Jap sitting by a row of spider holes 30 yards away. A burst from his carbine finished off the Jap.

Nudging him with his toe, Otis thought, "I sure made more work for myself, but if I don't do it now, I'll have to in the morning."

Resigned to the job, he dug another hole.

VETERAN PORTMEN AIDING REDEPLOYMENT OF TROOPS

NORMANDY BASE SECTION, France—One of the oldest Transportation Corps units of the Army, the 657th Port Company, currently aiding in the redeployment of troops to the United States at a staging area near Le Havre, France, has a long and meritorious record to its credit.

Organized early in 1942, they were first sent to Excursion Inlet in the southern part of Alaska to aid in the construction work of the Alcan highway until January 1944. After a few months in the United States they left for England for a brief stay and, a few days after D-Day, landed in France, where they unloaded the supplies of war from boats to Omaha Beach.

When the port of Cherbourg was opened to Allied shipping, the men of the 647th worked on the docks handling incoming war supplies until the cessation of hostilities. They have carried out their work under enemy artillery fire and strafing and bombing.

Among the 657th's personnel are:

ALABAMA: Calhoun—Cpl. R. C. Caldwell, RFD.
Evergreen—Cpl. Claude Allen, RFD.

VERSATILE ENGINEERS
GOING TO THE PACIFIC

MARSEILLE, France—A combination of operations in the Belgian sector was carried on by Company B, 1326th Engineers Regiment which recently reported at Delta Base Section staging area and port of embarkation here for redeployment to the Pacific.

Most outstanding was the delivering of pontoon bridges to Allies crossing the Rhine River on the eve of German capitulation.

Road construction, hospital and camp operations, and a half dozen other jobs kept technicians of this Negro regiment on the move as they opened up routes for movement of troops and supplies.

Troops of the 1326th relax in a huge beer garden, attend good movies in the 10,000-seat outdoor theater; participate in boxing, baseball and volley ball.

Among personnel of the unit are:

AMPHIBIAN ENGINEERS
REAL ISLAND HOPPERS

WITH THE AMPHIBIAN ENGINEERS ON LUZON—The 4188th Quartermaster Company landed on Lingayen Gulf on D-Day to set up and operate the Q. M. distribution points right on the beachhead under enemy fire. As the tactical troops moved on, the 4188th followed doggedly, for they knew that supplies, the life blood of mobile warfare, must be kept flowing.

Now overseas for more than 18 months, the 4188th has seen service in Australia, at Goodenough Island, Saidor, Sansipor, Morotai, and now Luzon. In all of the latter places they have gone in with the fighting troops to keep food, ammunition and petroleum products moving to the men in the foxholes.

The quality of the work they have performed in large quantity—hard, long, sweaty work—has brought to the outfit the commendations of high ranking officers. Commanded by Captain Paul H. Betts, of 986 Todd Road, Atlanta, Georgia, the 4188th was the only Negro unit to participate in one New Guinea invasion where they were under fire for 21 consecutive days, and in the Morotai landing the unit was farther forward than any other unit in the theatre at the time.

In the Lingayen Gulf landing the unit was attached to the 543rd Boat and Shore Regiment of the amphibian engineers, the all-purpose soldiers charged with running the beachhead and operating the lighterage crafts. Immediately upon landing they moved to the spot designated for the QM dump, setting it up, receiving supplies, classifying them and scattering them into dispersal areas to minimize the effect of the enemy air and artillery shelling.

First Sergeant of the outfit is Montclair N. Storey, 9 West 110th Street, New York City. The foremen are platoon Staff Sergeants Clifton Valentine, 202 South Pasadena Ave., Pasadena, California, and Derris Jones, of 4719 St. Lawrence Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. Handling a squad of workers on the stockpiles and issue centres is the responsibility of Corporal James McDaniels, Jr., of 5332 Haverford Avenue., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

UNIT AWARDED PLAQUE
FOR EFFORTS ON SAIPAN

CAMP CROWDER, Missouri--Like a tale from a story book is the battle-front achievement of the Crowder-trained 539th Signal Construction Company (Heavy), in far-away Saipan, where it completed in record time a telephone system comparable to that installed in Akron, Ohio.

Because of its superior performance and devotion to duty while in the Marianas, in the face of overwhelming handicaps, this signal company of 186 Negro enlisted men commanded by Captain Marcus C. Long and his staff of five officers, has been awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque.

The citation, presented July 3, reads:

"The 539th Signal Construction Company (H), after arriving on Saipan, Mariana Islands, in December 1944 with only seven months Army Service and no pratical experience in the construction of fixed telephone cable plant, was given the responsibility of completing an island wire system comparable to one required by an American city of 250,000 population.

"The Unit worked day and night for months, without relief or time off, to successfully master the technique of line construction, sub-terranean cable work and splicing to such a high degree of proficiency that they accomplished their mission ahead of schedule and in a manner that reflected ability measured in years of experience.

"The personnel of this unit, in cheerfully accepting their responsibility, in maintaining a superior standard of discipline, in enthusiastically and skillfully executing all orders, in displaying extra-ordinary attention to duty, materially contributed to the successful development of the island and reflect great credit to themselves, their country and the Armed Forces of the United States."

From the very beginning, the history of the 539th has been one of overcoming many obstacles. It was activated at Camp Crowder in April 1944, when orders were received to organize another heavy signal construction company to handle open wire pole line construction.

It was necessary to use surplus men from several other outfits to secure the needed strength for the new company. The men came from all over the Nation amd were largely unskilled in the field of communication construction. Under the leadership of Captain Long, the outfit began to tick like a well-oiled machine, and after seven months at Crowder it was on the high seas headed for the Mariana Islands.

One of the highest tributes to a unit leaving Crowder was paid the 539th when it entrained for the Port of Embarkation. Because of the outfit's record and close knit spirit of comradeship, a large number of Negro troops of other companies went down to the train to see it off--bringing with them their own packed barracks bags and equipment. They hoped to be added to the shipping list should one of the original members be scratched at the last moment.

It was an unusual scene, one that has seldom been duplicated.

TRUCKERS DROVE NON-STOP
FROM NAPLES TO PO RIVER

ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Italy--"We don't get much glory, but we sure catch plenty of work." That was the way the first sergeant of the 3587th Quartermaster Truck Company, an all-Negro outfit, summed up 16 months of overseas service by the men of his outfit at the time it was "sweating out" transportation for return to the States.

Their work materially aided in the defeat of the German forces at Rome, Futa Pass, Southern France, and at the Po.

Air attacks at the ports, bumper to bumper driving under blackout conditions, non-stop driving from ports to dumps hundreds of miles away, more than 1,000 tons of urgent military supplies carried each day, equipment worth more than 20 million dollars hauled without a loss, bouncing 50,000 miles each month over Italian dirt roads wrecked by shell fire and demolitions, carrying tanks in preparation for the invasion of Southern France, are part of the record of the 358th.

The best haul made by the 358th as a convoy was a non-stop drive from port of Naples in bringing full bridging equipment to the Po River for the final crossings which cracked the enemy in Italy's last arena of combat.

The 358th was not activated until after it arrived overseas, though its personnel had been working as a unit back in the States. Originally at Camp Lockett, California, as Headquarters Troop of the 28th Cavalry, 2nd Cavalry Division, they left their port of embarkation to arrive in Oran, Algeria, March 1944.

Not until shortly after they came to Naples, on Easter Sunday morning, did the 358th assume its name and come under the command of Peninsular Base Section, Mediterranean Theater of Operations, to begin the work for which it had been trained. From that time on it operated out of the port of Naples carrying everything from rations to bridging equipment, from barge and freighter to rear and front-line dumps.

Naples Harbor, once restored to operations by the Allies, took more tonnage into its port during the war than at anytime during the pead of its peace-time business. Work done by the 358th in no small way contributed to this remarkable record.

At Anzio, where these truckers came under strafing from German planes they were hauling gas to a dump 20 miles back of the infantry. Asked what type of planes were zooming in to throw lead at their highly combustible cargo the answer was:

"Brother, when that happens a guy ain't got time to play games of aircraft identification. You just get your cargo under cover in a great big hurry."

Their "weapons" against the enemy were the 4-ton Diamond "T", the 75-ton Tank Transporter Diamons "T" and White models, the 60-foot Federal Trailer with 4-ton tractor and the 5-ton tractor carrying 10-ton trailers.

SERGEANT IN 93rd DIVISION

WITH THE 93rd INFANTRY DIVISION IN THE PHILIPPINES——Holder os two Battle Stars, and a veteran of twenty-five front-line patrols, Staff Sergeant Clarence Gardner, 505 Hill Street, Pierce, Florida, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for "meritorious service in action against the enemy at Bougainville, British Soloman Islands."

As a platoon sergeant with the 93rd Reconnaissance Troops, Sergeant Gardner, overseas for eighteen months, is credited with the capture of the only Jap brought back alive in a recent operation on Morotai. He and members of his platoon killed the other enemy Japs when they refused to surrender. He and four of his platoon successfully out-maneuvered and out-fired the enemy after having been pinned down by enemy machinegun and small arms fire in still another engagement.

Sergeant Gardner has two brothers also in the serivce, Staff Sergeant Sammy D. Gardner, with the Bomber Command of the Air Forces in West Palm Beach, Florida, and Private James J. Gardner, a mail clerk at Fort Benning, Georgia.

10 NEGRO NURSES REPORT TO UTAH DEPOT FOR DUTY

UTAH ASF DEPOT, Ogden, Utah---Ten Negro nurses recently reported to the Utah Army Service Forces Depot here for duty at the station hospital. They are:

Second Lieutenant Catherine E. Randle, daughter of Mr. D. E. Randle, Jr., 1651-11th Street, Oakland, California. She has been a member of the Army Nurse Corps since July 1944. Prior to her assignment here, she was stationed at Camp Callan, California. Lieutenant Randle attended Central High School, Galveston, Texas, and graduated from the Prairie View College Hospital, Prairie View, Texas, as a registered nurse. At the time of her enlistment she was a nurse at the Prairie View State College Hospital.

Second Lieutenant Evelyn Decker, daughter of Mrs. Stella Decker, Box 56, Washingtonville, New York. She received her commission in the Army Nurse Corps in October 1944, and reported for active duty in November 1944. She came to Utah from Camp Beale, California.

A registered nurse, having graduated from the Harlem School of Nursing, Lieutenant Decker also is a graduate of Washingtonville Central School. Prior to entering the ANC she worked for the Department of Hospitals in New York City.

Second Lieutenant Lydia C. Wiles, daughter of Mrs. Rhods Wiles, 258 West 117th Street, New York, New York. She received her commission in October 1944 and reported here from Camp Beale. Lieutenant Wiles is a registered nurse, having graduated from the Harlem School for Nursing in New York City. She also is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School, Brooklyn, New York, and worked for the Department of Hospitals in New York City prior to entering the Army Nurse Corps.

Second Lieutenant Ida M. Murray, of 1708 Race Path Street, Conway, South Carolina. She has been a member of the Army Nurse Corps since July 1944. Prior to her assignment at the Utah Depot she was stationed at Camp Callan. Lieutenant Murray graduated from Whittemore High School, Conway, and from St. Agnes Training School for Nurses, Raleigh, North Carolina, as a registered nurse.

First Lieutenant Volma Leonard Washington, daughter of Mrs. Mattie L. Catley, 1915 Hamilton Avenue, Austin, Texas, has been a member of the Army Nurse Corps since November 1943 when she was commissioned as a second lieutenant. She reported here from Camp Beale, California.

Lieutenant Washington attended Prairie View College, Prairie View, Texas, Los Angeles City College, and Los Angeles County General Hospital School of Nursing. She was employed as a nurse at the Los Angeles County General Hospital prior to entering the army.

Second Lieutenant Virginia L. Smith, daughter of Mrs. Rosa L. Lee, 215 South Allen Avenue, Richmond, Virginia, received her commission in August 1944 and came to the Utah Depot from Camp Beale. Lieutenant Smith attended nursing school at St. Agnes Hospital, Raleigh, North Carolina, and was once employed at the Kinwood Hospital, Detroit, Michigan.

Second Lieutenant Julia L. Kelly, daughter of Reverend and Mrs. John C. Kelly, 2043 North Stillman Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. A member of the Army Nurse Corps since July 1944, she came to Utah from Camp Callan. Lieutenant Kelly graduated from Simon Gratz High School, Philadelphia, and received one term nursing education at Columbia University, New York City. Prior to enlistment she was a registered nurse in the Department of Hospitals, New York City.

Second Lieutenant Ola Mae Bland, daughter of Mrs. Maggie Bland, West Avenue, Blackstone, Virginia, entered the Nurse Corps in July 1944 and came to Utah from Camp Beale. Lieutenant Bland graduated from Nottoway Training School, Blackstone, and received her nursing education at Piedmont School of Nursing, Burkeville, Virginia and St. Phillips School of Nursing, Richmond, Virginia, graduating as a registered nurse. Prior to entering the service she was operating room supervisor at Piedmont Sanatorium, Burkeville.

First Lieutenant Ethel C. Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Clara Johnson, 302 Robert Street, Baltimore, Maryland, came to the Utah Depot from Camp Callan, San Diego, California, where she was assigned to the station hospital.

Lieutenant Johnson graduated from Bordentown Industrial School, Bordentown, New Jersey before entering nurse's training. She attended the school of nursing at Provident Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland, and prior to enlisting in the Army Nurse Corps was employed in the Department of Hospitals, Harlem Hospital, New York City.

First Lieutenant Willie M. Taylor, Army Nurse Corps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Taylor, RFD 1, Midway, Kentucky. Commissioned as a second lieutenant in January 1943, she was promoted to first lieutenant in March of this year. She came to the Utah Depot from the Prisoner of War Camp at Papago Park, Phoenix, Arizona.

Lieutenant Taylor graduated from Lincoln Institute, Lincoln Ridge, Kentucky, and Municipal Hospital No. 2, Kansas City, Missouri. Prior to entering the army she was a nurse at John A. Andrew Memorial Hospital, Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

PILOTS COMPLETE B-25
TRAINING IN ARIZONA

DOUGLAS ARMY AIR FIELD, Arizona---Two veterans of the famed 332nd Fighter Group, First Lieutenant Allen Lane, Demopolis, Alabama and First Lieutenant John Gibson, Chicago, Illinois graduated recently with Douglas Army Air Field's B-25 Transition Class, 445. Their course here consisted of training in the North American "Billy Mitchell" as a prelude to further overseas duty in these medium bombers.

Lieutenant Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Lane of 205 Cheery Street, Demopolis, participated in the Italian and Sicilian campaigns, with the 99th Fighter Squadron, as well as raids on Southeastern European oil fields with the 332nd. In recognition of his eleven months of combat duty, he received the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the European Theatre of Operations ribbon with three battle stars, and the Distinguished Unit Citation. A student in civilian life, he attended Tuskegee Institute in Tuskegee, Alabama, before entering the service.

Lieutenant Gibson spent 14 months in the European and Middle Eastern Theatres and chalked up 86 combat missions. He also has been awarded the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster, three battle stars for his ETO ribbon, and the Distinguished Unit Citation. A student at Hampton Institute, Virginia before the war, Lieutenant Gibson majored in building construction. He is a native of Chicago, where his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Truman K. Gibson, Sr., make their home at 3501 South Parkway.

WACs CONTRIBUTE $4,500
TO NEGRO COLLEGE FUND

ROUEN, France---The 6888th Central Postal Directory, composed of Negro Wacs under the command of Major Charity Adams, of Columbia, South Carolina, recently mailed a check in the sum of $4,504.72 to the United Negro College Fund, as their contribution to the national campaign.

At the suggestion of Corporal Ernestine E. Hughes, 2509 Bryan Street, Dallas, Texas, an assistant to the Public Relations Officer, the Wacs sponsored a two-week drive for the donation through its Public Relations Office.

First Lieutenant Margaret E. Barnes, the Public Relations Officer, reported that the women felt that they could use portions of their money for this really worthwhile and timely cause since a national drive was being carried on in the States.

"We as Americans," Lieutenant Barnes said, "realizing the importance of education, felt that this was our chance to make the future more promising for Negro youth. Our only hope is that the masses of our people back in the States recognize the need for our youth acquiring an educational background, for our progress as a race depends upon it. We hope the masses will contribute to the cause."

There are 851 Negro members of the Women's Army Corps in the European Theater.

"PATTON'S WHEELS" --

STORY OF GALLANT TRUCKERS
OF THE FAMED U.S.THIRD ARMY

WITH THE U.S.THIRD ARMY IN GERMANY---Shot next to the heart by a 20-mm shell, Technician Fifth Grade James D. White, of Monticello, Arkansas, a member of the 3910th Quartermaster Truck Company, courageously brought his vehicle to a halt by the side of the road--before dying at the wheel.

This gallant trucker's story is typical of the heroism and sacrifice in the ranks of the Negro drivers who gave mobility to the most mobile army in the world --the rolling U.S. Third. During the 281 days that General George S. Patton's Third Army was in combat, it advanced farther in less time than any other army in history, while liberating more than 82,000 square miles of territory, including 1,500 cities and towns and some 12,000 inhabited places.

On May 10,1945, the fast-moving Patton paused long enough to commend the officers and men of the 514th Quartermaster Group, which was built around the all-Negro 514th Quartermaster Regiment, in the following words:

"May 9, 1945 saw the final triumph of our arms in the European Theater of Operations. On this glorious occasion I take the opportunity to thank and commend....every officer and enlisted man in the Quartermaster Truck Units of the Third Army, for your enviable achievement in helping to make our great victory possible.

"The tasks which have been placed upon your shoulders during this history making campaign have been almost superhuman. You have rolled your trucks through mud and snow and sleet and rain. You have operated around the clock for days on end. You have fought side by side with the Infantry, and rolled side by side with the Armor. But no matter what the obstacles, roll you must and roll you did. You never failed me."

Motor transportation in the Third Army was so organized and so set up that it would provide General Patton with a maximum amount of mobility in a minimum amount of time. The 514th QM Group commanded by Colonel Theodore J. Krokus, was the parent organization to all QM motor transport units in the Third Army.

Early in the campaign it was found that each Armored Division would require two truck companies to handle its requirements and each Corps would need certain truck units under its control to handle Corps necessities.

As Patton's troops spread out east, south and west the bottle-neck road through Avaranches became the most traveled road in France. The bridges there were vital to the success of the offensive and the Germans knew it. Each night, as regular as clock work, the Luftwaffe paid the bridges at Avaranches a visit. There was a strong rumor circulating that it was here "Bed-Check Charlie" got his start. But despite the bombings, Patton's wheels rolled on and on.

As every truck unit of the Group got its share of bombs while passing through the much bombed city of Avaranches the old myths concerning the tranquil life led by the Quartermaster Corps were rapidly put aside and instead deeds of heroism and sacrifice in the ranks of the Quartermaster began to take their places.

HARNIST'S COMMANDOS

When the fighting around Brest reached its peak, Lieutenant William A. Harnist, with ten trucks and drivers from the 3909th QM Truck Company, was sent out on a "top secret" dispatch deep into the Brest Peninsula. The lieutenant carried with him 26 extra truck drivers who had just been flown in from England. The mission of this small unit was the hazardous one of assisting in the opening of an unsecured beachhead.

Such a beachhead was made imperative by the continued overwhelming demand for supplies of all kinds in the battle for Brest. This little band fulfilled its mission well enough to be unofficially designated "Harnist's Commandos" from that time on.

The extra drivers were used to drive 26 loaded trucks which landed on the beach in LSTs. For nearly a month Lieutenant Harnist and his small band operated on the the unsecured beachhead, supported only by a small escorting cavalry unit. During the first two or three days of operation, in which the escorting cavalry unit cleaned out more than three thousand German troops, two trucks hit mines and were immobilized.

Technician Fifth Grade Horace C. Harris, the Lieutenant's Jeep Driver, cannibilized these two vehicles for parts to keep the rest rolling. The only maintenance equipment available was the small tool kits in the trucks; yet at the end of the Commandos' stay on the unsecured beachhead all the trucks except the two knocked out by mines were in operation. They were battered, muddy and shot up but still running. Practically all the drivers could point proudly at bullet holes in the cabs, windshields and other parts of their vehicles which were acquired during their nightly runs through the avenues between the German snipers and our own armor a few miles away.

COMBAT QUARTERMASTERS

• Third Army infantry took so many towns that the taking of another town by the infantry got to be routine news, but at Chateaudun on the road to France the Quartermaster broke into the news by taking a town and turning it over to the infantry.

When elements of the 35th Infantry Division entered the important town of Chateaudun, they advanced cautiously, expecting strong opposition. Instead, they found Lieutenant Colonel Charles W. Ketterman, Pasadena, California, of the 176th QM Battalion, then a major, and Technician Fifth Grade Ernest A. Jenkins, of New York City, his driver, standing beside the Mayor of the town, ready to hand the advancing infantry units the city of Chateaudun as a 16th of August present.

The taking of the town was not easy. General Patton personally awarded both men the Silver Star for "gallantry in action against the enemy."

Colonel Ketterman and Corporal Jenkins entered Chateaudun believing that it had been liberated, but a hail of machinegun fire soon changed their minds. Withdrawing momentarily, the colonel and his driver worked around to locate the enemy gun and opened fire on it with a .45 pistol and .30 caliber rifle, killing three of the gun crew, wounding others and putting the position out of action after a private eight hour war of their own. Next morning to apply the finishing touch, they captured fifteen of the enemy hiding in a cave.

As August drew to a close, Patton's truck columns were stretched almost from one end of France to another and the strain on men and equipment became terrific. The spearheads surged further and further and the shortage of gas began to pinch where the shoe was tightest.

As ~~each day~~ passed this critical situation became more and more acute until finally the QM trucks themselves, the vehicles that were supposed to haul the gas, ran dry of the precious fluid.

The 4010th QM Truck Company has particular reason to remember the gas shortage, for it provided Technician Fifth Grade Earl Gordon, of Selma, Alabama, with his most exciting experience of the war.

Gordon was a jeep driver for Second Lieutenant George C. Jennings who commanded a convoy hauling ammunition to the front. While enroute some of their vehicles ran out of gas near Tours, France. The lieutenant and his driver proceed to look for a gas dump. When only a few miles down the road their own Jeep began to sputter indicating that the gas shortage had come home to roost.

At 2300 hours Gordon heard guttural voices behind him. Turning to investigate he found himself looking down the wrong end of two Heinie automatic rifles. Gordon was ordered to dismount and turn over his carbine, gas mask and field jacket.

After he had been thoroughly searched and the Germans found themselves unable to start the Jeep, he was ordered down the road in front of them.

The trio walked about five miles when there was a sudden burst of machinegun fire over their heads. The Germans ran for cover and this was Gordon's cue to do likewise---but being a combat-wise driver he ran in the opposite direction. When the firing ceased the Germans searched the side of the road Gordon was on but under cover of darkness he managed to elude them.

THE BELGIAN BULGE

The "Battle of the Bulge" was a major crisis. An immediate change of strategy was necessary and the Third Army was called upon to ease the pressure of the break-through by attacking the Bulge from the south. In this, as in so many emergencies in the Third Army, a tremendous job of moving men and armor, together with their supplies fell on the QM trucking team.

Patton's entire Army had to be moved and the supplies had to go along with it. Hauls had to be made in almost every direction in line with strategic requirements. It was a monumental assignment and every QM truck in the Third was mustered to move the fighting forces from the Saar River front to the Bastogne sector. Elements of the 514th had just moved the 26th Division to a rest camp when this unit and others who were supposed to be resting were called back into the fray. Some of the supplies had to be moved back to avoid their falling into German hands. The 3910th QM Truck Company moved 15,000 gallons of gas in 24 hours in evacuating a gas dump.

In less than a week's time 16 Infantry Divisions, two Armored Divisions and two Airborne Divisions were loaded on and off the QM trucks.

Trucks of the 444th QM truck Company moved the 4th Armored Division from the Saar to Belgium in 17 hours. In their usual fashion the 4th Armored fought its way through to relieve the heroic bastion of Bastogne and the tide began to turn in our favor.

Two officers and 50 enlisted men of the 3989th QM Truck Company were also in the Battle of the Bulge. The detachment was split in groups. One group was first attached to the 9th Armored Division and later to the 193rd Glider Infantry Regiment of the 17th Airborne Division. The other group attached to the 101st Airborne Division, stayed in Bastogne during the entire siege of that city and were doubly happy to see one of their own trucks in the lead of the first convoy coming to relieve the plucky garrison.

During and immediately following the "Battle of the Bulge" and almost constant shuffle of divisions took place. It is interesting to note that at this time, General Patton commanded the largest army in history.

A total of 23 divisions were moved during the peroid of January 16 to February 13. Most of these were either moved entirely or were assisted in moving by Patton's QM trucks, a gigantic operation representing probably the largest mass movement of troops by motor in the history of warfare.

From January 1 to January 7, the 642nd QM Truck Company attached to the 6th Armored Division dispatched 339 trucks, travelled 10,342 miles and hauled 1,912 tons including 62,491 rounds of artillery ammunition. During this period the 6th Armored fired more ammunition than has ever previously been fired by any armored outfit anywhere. With the pressure being applied in this manner the truck drivers had to load and unload ammunition and gas themselves.

At the Rhine, where the Third Army astounded the world by slipping across the Germans' mightiest water barrier with the greatest of ease, Third Army trucks were on the spot every inch of the way---streaming across the Rhine with their usual overload of men, ammunition and supplies——then pouring back with the record catches of Prisoners of War, disarmed and left behind by the onrushing Patton men.

The trucks of the Third were knee deep in action right up to the last moment of the struggle.

The story of the 514th QM Truck Regiment is the story of hundreds of other trucking units of the Quartermaster Corps.

Activated on March 19, 1943 at Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, it consisted of three battalions and twelve truck companies. The first convoy ever made by the unit was to haul troops to Leonardstown, Maryland to combat a large forest fire.

On July 31, 1943 the 514th moved to Camp Pickett, Virginia, travelling by convoy. During the next months the organization underwent extensive training and in December was alerted for overseas movement.

By the end of February the entire unit was on the high seas. Landing at Gurock, Scotland, the 514th travelled by rail to Teddesley Hall, Staffordshire, England, arriving there on March 11.

On the 18th of July the 514th went over the side at Utah Beach, Normandy, and travelled by motor convoy to Bricquebec. This was the final move before the outfit became operational.

POSTHUMOUS AWARD OF SILVER STAR
MADE TO TANK, INFANTRY OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, D.C.---Posthumous awards of the Silver Star have been presented to Mrs. Rosie L. Madison, 1909 Rosedale Street, N. E., and Mrs. Juanita G. Coleman, 4241 Meade Street, N. E., both of Washington, D. C., on behalf of their husbands who were killed in gallant exploits overseas, the War Department reported today.

Lieutenant John W. Madison, a member of the 92nd Infantry Division, was killed in Italy on April 5. His Silver Star was presented to Mrs. Madison on August 2, at ceremonies held in the Pentagon Building, by Brigadier General Robert N. Young, Commanding General of the Military District of Washington.

General Young had presented the Silver Star earlier, on July 27, to Mrs. Coleman, widow of Second Lieutenant Kenneth W. Coleman, at the Coleman residence. Lieutenant Coleman was a platoon leader in the 761st Tank Battalion and met his death while his unit was supporting the 26th Infantry Division in the European campaign.

"For gallantry in action on February 8 and 10,1945 in Italy. The company of which First Lieutenant Madison was a member, had taken its objectives against light enemy resistance. Immediately thereafter, the enemy subjected the position to terrific artillery and mortar fire which killed or wounded all officers except First Lieutenant Madison. Extremely heavy casualties and the loss of leadership disorganized the company and it sought to withdraw.

"First Lieutenant Madison quickly gathered the remaining fifteen men and, regardless of continuing enemy fire, put them into positions to hold the hill. By sheer personal courage and disregard for his own life, First Lieutenant Madison inspired his men to repel three separate enemy counterattacks aimed exclusively at their position. He withdrew only upon orders.

"Two days later, he captured seven enemy soldiers while leading his company in an attack routed through an extensive unmarked minefield. First Lieutenant Madison's outstanding bravery in a situation of extreme combat hazard exemplifies the gallant heroism of the American Soldier."

The following is Lieutenant Coleman's citation:

"For gallantry in action near * on November 9, 1944. Second Lieutenant Coleman, a tank platoon leader, was leading his platoon in the attack on * when his tank was disabled by enemy antitank fire thereby halting the advance. He immediately dismounted and courageously led his crew on foot under the heavy artillery and small arm fire against a much larger enemy force, driving them from their positions, and thus enabling his platoon to proceed on its mission.

"During the performance of this outstanding feat, Lieutenant Coleman was killed by enemy small arms fire. His brilliant display of leadership, initiative and devotion to duty exemplifies the highest traditions of the service and reflects the highest credit upon Lieutenant Coleman and the Armed Forces of the United States."

NO RESPITE FROM WORK FOR DUMP TRUCK OUTFIT

MARSEILLES, France---With nine months in Europe, the 1371st Engineer Dump Truck Company, an all-Negro unit which serviced the 101st Airborne Division after that division's first jump in Holland, is now servicing engineers in Southern France.

Having served in England, France, and parts of Holland, the 1371st now helps keep engineer construction at a high peak in Delta Base Section, Southern France. Its most outstanding job was dumping tons and tons of gravel and lumber materials into the staging area of a redeployment camp near Marseilles, France, where thousands of troops, who are on their way to the United States and to the Pacific are processed daily.

Under the command of Captain Auroloculus Herald, Houston, Texas, and former professor at Prairie View University of Texas, the unit has three other officers: First Lieutenant Cyril L. Evans, Baltimore, Maryland; First Lieutenant Claude White, Chicago, Illinois; and First Lieutenant James B. Shaw, New York City.

LONE NEGRO CREW HELD
16 GERMAN TANKS AT BAY

WITH THE 761st TANK BATTALION IN EUROPE---The war is over now, and slowly the stories of the exploits of the members of the 761st Tank Battalion, pioneer Negro armored unit, are coming into the light. Chief among them is the recounting of the act of Staff Sergeant, then Sergeant Henry H. Conway, husband of Mrs. Lucille Conway, 4733 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

When the 761st went with other units of General George S. Patton's Third Army to the "Battle of the Bulge" last winter, it had one of its toughest encounters at Tillet, Belgium, above Bastogne.

It was here that Sergeant Conway, with his tank standing alone, crept up a hill, and held 16 German tanks at bay, while the enemy shelled him from all sides. He held the hill against their onslaughts, until other tanks of the 761st reached his position.

Even after the rear compartment door grill had been shot off his tank, Sergeant Conway continued to hold on for another hour, firing at the enemy. The Germans did not take that hill.

"BUFFALOES" WIN NINE
OF 13 TRACK EVENTS

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy---Athletes of the 92nd Infantry Division won nine out of 13 events in the 5th Army track and field championship meet held recently in Milan.

The "Buffaloes" took the track title with a total of sixty-five points. GIs of the 10th Mountain Division finished second with 22 points, winning only the 3000-meter walk which John M. Huber, 39-year-old heel-and-toe specialist from East Orange, New Jersey, captured in 16:41.5 time.

The 92nd Division champs were paced by Private First Class William Dillard, Cleveland,Ohio, who took the 100-meter high hurdles in 0:15.35 and the 200-meter low hurdles in 0:25.2.

Other "Buffalo" Division winners were Private First Class Russell Jones, Lawnside, New Jersey, and Sergeant Lloyd Grable, Cleveland, who deadlocked at 6' 1" in the high jump; Sergeant Thenlo Knowles, Santa Monica, California, who won the 800-meter run in 2:02.1, and Sergeant Mose Ellerbe, Tuskegee Institute's former NCAA spring champ, who won the 100-meter dash in 0:11.6.

MONTHS ON THE LEDO ROAD

ATLANTIC CITY, New Jersey---His Ledo Road dispensary reminded Corporal Fred Powell of one of the old time travelling medicine shows. The only difference, claims the Jackson Mississippi Negro medical technician, was the absence of quack doctors and entertainment.

"Now that I think of it," he said at the AAF Redistribution Station No. 1 here where he is awaiting reassignment, "the only similarity was that we also travelled. We just travelled along with the engineer outfit that was doing the building, from start to finish."

Powell's dispensary was a tent that contained a folding cot and two litters, Powell and a doctor, all of which could be easily transported to a new location as work on the road advanced. Whenever one of the GI or native workers was injured, the dispensary was right there to give him first aid, treat him, or send him back to the hospital.

"It turned out to be pretty handy," he says. "On a construction job like that there were always plenty of injuries, no matter how many precautions were taken, and probably the dispensary's being right on the spot was responsible for saving plenty of lives and limbs."

Having completed 33 months service in the India-Burma Theater, the corporal is now undergoing examinations by doctors and interviews by personnel specialists to determine where he can best fit into the AAF set-up and continue to aid the war effort.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Powell, who live on Route 2, Zaboo, Mississippi. His wife is the former Miss Eula E. Luckett, of 129 E. Ash Street, Jackson, Mississippi.

CIVILIAN LIFE BEGINS
AT 40 FOR PACIFIC GIs

WITH U.S. ARMY FORCES, Middle Pacific---Under the War Department's policy of discharging enlisted men over 40 years of age, several men, all members of an Infantry Regiment commanded by Colonel Edward O. Gourdin of Jacksonville, Florida, have been transferred to Separation Centers for discharge from the Army. Older men are being released from the Army as rapidly as the exigencies of the war in the Pacific will permit.

Names and addresses of the dischargees follow:

Technical Sergeant Daniel S. Matthews, 210 22nd St., North, Seattle, Washington.
Technician Fourth Grade Moses S. Lewis, 354 Franklin Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Staff Sergeant Albert Smith, 550 St. Marys St., Baltimore, Maryland.
Sergeant George W. Coleman, P. O. Beaver Dam, Virginia
Corporal Lawrence H. Davis, General Delivery, Odessa, Florida.
Corporal Herman Harris, P. O., Clarksville, Pennsylvania.

SERGEANT MAJOR DECORATED WITH BRONZE STAR MEDAL

WITH THE 93rd INFANTRY DIVISION IN THE PHILIPPINES——For meritorious service in the support of military operations against the enemy at Finschhafen, New Guinea, Master Sergeant William E. McKoy, who already wears the Good Conduct Medal, the Pre-Pearl Harbor Ribbon, and the Asiatic-Pacific Theater Ribbon with two Battle Stars, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

The award was presented to Sergeant McKoy while the 93rd Division was on Morotai.

Following is the official citation in part:

"Assigned to the principle duty of coordinating his battalion's numerous details to assist with the movement of supplies, with a minimum of commissioned supervision, his (Sergeant McKoy's) devoted attention to duty at all hours of the day and night resulted in prompt and efficient dispatching of all battalion details and their timely arrival and departure at the appointed place of duty."

Sergeant McKoy is sergeant major of the 596th Field Artillery Battalion. He was inducted April, 1941 at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, received his basic training at Camp Livingston, Louisiana, and joined the division in April, 1942.

The sergeant's nearest relative, Miss Christabell, his sister, lives at Box 233, Maxton, North Carolina. Two brothers, Corporal Lawrence McKoy, formerly of a Quartermaster Trucking Company, and Corporal Daniel McKoy, formerly of the Chemical Warfare Service have been honorably discharged from the Army. Another brother, Corporal Fred McKoy, is still in the service in the Pacific, while a fourth saw service with the Merchant Marine.

QM UNIT FEEDS 35000 DAILY
IN FRENCH RIVIERA DISTRICT

WITH U.S. FORCES IN SOUTHERN FRANCE——Despite the fact that the war is over in Europe, the 4136 Quartermaster Depot Company still has to perform the Herculean task of issuing 35,000 rations daily to troops stationed in the Riviera District in Nice, France.

Versatile and thoroughly trained, this unit has the capacity for handling 400 to 600 tons of weekly rations taken from the coasters in the depot yard. The operating proficiency of the unit is largely attrubuted to the non-commissioned officers and other key enlisted men of the unit.

In the depot are: Private First Class Hacy Jones, of Washington, D. C., who is in charge of issuing and breakdown departments; Private First Class Rober N. Stubbs, of Shepherd's Town, West Virginia, who supervises a French civilian staff of laborers; and Private First Class Otto Charles, of Montgomery, West Virginia, who keeps track of all over and under issues and makes proper adjustments.

Nine warehouses, housing juices, beverages, fruits, hard rations, vegetables, condiments, pastes, cereals, accessory packs, toiletries, canned meats, sack goods, diary products and biscuits cover the depot yard.

The unit also maintains a railhead group which supervises rations en route from ship to dump. Sergeant Solomon Barnes, of Atlanta, Georgia, and Corporal Wade W. Black, of Wichita, Kansas, are the key men behind this detail.

Staff Sergeant Silas Preston, of Omaha, Nebraska, runs operations and warehousing and civilian labour, while Sergeant Leonard V. Perry, of Atchison, Kentucky, performs the job of receiving and storing items coming into the dump.

Corporal Tommy B. Phelps, the construction foreman, is commonly called the one-man platoon, because of his ability to construct and maintain the housing facilities for the men of his unit. He is from Rome, Georgia. He has charge of welding, electrical wiring, bricklaying and numerous other construction jobs.

First Sergeant William H. Burns, of Whiteville, North Carolina, has the overall job of running the company and seeing that all its departments function smoothly.

MEDICAL OFFICER WINS
SILVER STAR IN ITALY

WASHINGTON, D. C.---Captain Royall B. Fleming of 2548 The Paseo, Kansas City, Missouri, has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action against the enemy in Italy last February, the War Department announced today.

A medical officer with a task force of Infantry, Armor and Engineers, Captain Fleming won the award for his devotion to duty and care of the wounded while heavy enemy artillery and mortar fire during the period from February 8 to 11.

The official citation reads in part:

"He exposed himself to hostile artillery, mortar, small arms fire and anti-personnel mines by personally reconnoitering for a suitable position for a battalion aid station. Locating the position, Captain Fleming again exposed himself by returning to the medical section and guiding it to the position selected.

"Immediately setting up the aid station, he quickly and efficiently administered first aid, comforted the wounded and supervised transfusions in the midst of very heavy artillery and mortar fire concentration in the immediate area. He worked during the entire period from February 8 to 11, 1945.

The husband of Mrs. Maizie Fleming of the Paseo address, Captain Fleming was born in Elizabeth City, North Carolina and graduated from Shaw University at Raleigh, North Carolina in 1926. In 1930 he graduated from the Medical School of Howard University, Washington, D. C.

Commissioned a captain in the Medical Corps in June of 1942, he went overseas in April of 1944.

NEGROES MADE UP 58 PER CENT OF QUARTERMASTERS IN EUROPE

HEADQUARTERS, U.S. Forces, European Theater---The Office of the Chief Quartermaster of the European Theater of Operations today reported that total quartermaster personnel in the theater on March 31, had reached 133,354, and of this total 77,348 were Negro troops.

These Negro QM troops served in nearly all categories of units in the Quartermaster Corps. Large numbers of the personnel were in mobile and non-mobile QM battalion headquarters units which control, administer, train and supply QM companies of various types.

There were 27 Negro mobile QM bakery companies serving at one time or another in the theater between D-Day and V-E Day. Their function was to bake fresh bread under field conditions, and also to roast coffee.

There were 252 Negro QM service companies which provided "general labor for all arms and services."

There also were three QM base depot companies, one QM depot supply company, 16 QM fumigation and bath companies, 45 QM gas supply companies, 22 QM laundry companies, 13 QM railhead companies, 11 QM salvage collecting companies, 10 QM salvage repair companies, 10 QM laundry sections, and one QM refrigeration company.

Three Negro QM units, the 309th QM Railhead Company, the 3168th and 3279th QM Service Companies landed in Normandy on D-plus-1.

One QM bakery company, the 4351st, baked over 4,000,000 pounds of bread, and roasted and ground half a million pounds of coffee for consumption by U.S. Troops in France, Belgium and Holland. The unit landed in France on August 3, 1944.

sprints from Jesse Owens at 60 meters and 60 yards. He is co-holder of world's records at 40 meters, 60 yards and 70 yards. He has equalled the world's records for 100 meters and 100 yards with 10.2 and 9.4 respectively. He once did 200 meters in 20.5 and broad jumped 25.3 feet.

Lieutenant Johnson has toured Europe twice as a member of an American track team. He visited Paris and Strasbourg in 1937 and a year later went to every European country but three. He ran in Cologne in 1938. His last race was in Chicago in 1941 when he ran the 100 yards in 9.7.

Lieutenant Johnson entered the service in December, 1942 at Fort Dix, New Jersey, as a private. After becoming a warrant officer in April, 1943, he went to OCS at Camp Davis, North Carolina, and was graduated as a second lieutenant in September, 1943. He joined the 846th Antiaircraft Automatic Weapons Battalion and later the 4253rd Quartermaster Truck Company. He joined the 3985th in January, 1945.

Before entering the service, Lieutenant Johnson was track coach at the Manual Training High School at Bordentown, New Jersey. His wife, Mrs. Hannabel Johnson, lives at 500 York Street, Burlington, New Jersey, while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Johnson live at 307 East Main Street, Plymouth, Pennsylvania.

ENGINEERS WHO PUSHED ACROSS
THREE RIVERS, ALPS DECORATED

NORMANDY BASE SECTION, France---At its first and last formation, 12 members of the 549th Engineer Light Ponton Company were decorated with the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with the successful crossing of three rivers in Germany and the Alps mountains with the Seventh Army.

The company, one of two Negro Ponton Bridge units in the ETO, has established a remarkable record during its three months of action. Operating as platoons, the unit's first operation, seven days after their initial landing in France, was to furnish 75 assault boats to the 70th and 63rd Infantry Divisions to ferry troops across the Saar River.

After getting the Doughboys across, the men of the 549th followed them into Saarbrucken and there, along with elements of the 69th Division, helped to take that town. During that month they erected 1,084 feet of Bailey Bridge and Infantry foot bridge, over the Saar River.

From Sarrbrucken, the 549th moved on to Wurzburg and on April 3 helped in its capture with the 42nd Division. The drive swung south from here and during April they threw up 1,400 feet of bridge over the Main and Danube Rivers. Once again, on April 22, near Louingen, Bavaria, the 12th Armored Division called upon the 549th to ferry the second and third waves of the assaulting troops across the Danube.

After the ferrying job, the company was assigned the task of bridging the river at Wurzburg. To get the Wurzburg bridge up to the site and in place, the pontooners worked three days and nights, under constant fire. They erected a 570-foot Triple bridge, strong enough to handle the heaviest train load.

Before General Patton reached the climax of his drive to Berchtesgaden, the German redoubt, the pontoneers were attached to the 12th Armored Division. They were in the vanguard of the 101st Airborne Division's drive into Berchtesgaden through the Alps. On V-E Day, the company finished a 190-foot bridge near Ba Reichenthal, Germany, that proved to be the gateway for the French First Army and the 101st. One platoon, then commanded by First Lieutenant George A. Grier, white, of Forest Hills, Maryland was in Hitler's mountain home only a few hours after the redoubt was taken.

During the three campaigns which brought the unit three battle stars, the company lost only one man, Technical Sergeant Elmer Barrett of 2208 Dickinson Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal and the Purple Heart posthumously.

The work of First Sergeant Leon Wilburn of Florenceville, Florida, who served as Liaison Officer for the motor boat assault crossings, received special praise from the Commanding General of the 12th Armored Division. The Division also initiated a formal commendation to the unit. Another to receive commendations was Sergeant Milton Green of Panama City, Florida, the company crane operator, who lifted into place the thousands of bridge parts from the seventy trucks, plus over 12,000 feet of bridging the unit hauled and turned over to combat engineers for construction.

At the declaration of peace, the unit was reassigned to the communication zone and sent to Normandy Base for redeployment.

The three officers and nine enlisted men who received the Bronze Star from Colonel E.J. Dowing of the 1150th Engineer Combat Group were:

First Sergeant Leon Wilburn, Box 112, Florence Villa, Florida
Sergeant Evan T. Guess, 711 Elm Street, Madison, Indiana
Staff Sergeant Weldon D. Bryant, 78 East 127th Street, New York, New York
Staff Sergeant Wilson R. Forney, Cornelius, North Carolina
Private First Class Johnnie D. Townsend, 1235 East 8th Street, Chattanooga, Tennessee
Technician Fourth Grade Milton Green, Route 1, Box 125, Panama City, Florida
Staff Sergeant Stanley J. Short, 7036 Kedron Street, Pittsburgh Pennsylvania
Corporal Lawrence C. Cooke, Palatka, Florida
Sergeant Daniel I. Poe, 2231 Fort Street, Detroit, Michigan
First Lieutenant John R. Hopkins, Florence, Alabama
First Lieutenant Robert A. Flynn, New York, New York
First Lieutenant George Grier, Forrest Hill, Maryland

SERGEANT'S WORK AT BASTOGNE
WINS HIM BRONZE STAR MEDAL

HEADQUARTERS, UNITED KINGDOM BASE, London, England---For meritorious service while working in operations under fire, Technical Sergeant Isiah Robins, 22, Box 468, Marianna, Arkansas, recently was awarded the Bronze Star Medal at his station in France.

A dispatcher in the operations section of Headquarters Detachment, 122nd Quartermaster Battalion (Mobile), serving with General George S. Patton's U.S. Third Army, Sergeant Robins was commended and cited by Major Ludwig O. Zelt of New York for his efficiency and exemplary behavior under fire in connection with operations in the Bastogne area during the period of November 4, 1944 to April 30, 1945, when the American forces west of the Rhine were desperately trying to relieve the beleaguered forces in Bastogne.

The Arkansas sergeant was in charge of an advanced command post engaged in dispatching supply vehicles into the surrounded city.

Sergeant Robins, who also possesses three battle stars for participation in the campaigns in the Ardennes, the Rhineland and in Central Germany, was inducted into the service in June, 1942, and received his basic training at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Maryland. In November, 1943, he was transferred and assigned to duty with the 122nd Quartermaster Battalion (Mobile) with which he came overseas.

Before entering the Army, Sergeant Robins was a student at Philander Smith College, Little Rock, Arkansas. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Robins, lives in Marianna.

TROOPS ENJOY REST
CAMP IN BELGIUM

HEADQUARTERS, Bremen Port Command---A rest camp in Eisden, Belgium, is now being used by troops of this command. The first contingent of 150 Negro soldiers left for Eisden July 7, on 72-hour passes.

Transportation by truck has been provided for the 10-hour trip, which will be made every four days. It is hoped to have a 72-hour pass every month for each of the 2,000 Negro troops in the Bremen Port Command.

Lieutenant Colonel William Bailey is the commanding officer of the rest camp, which can accomodate better than 350 men. The camp is under the jurisdiction of the XIX Corps.

Recreational facilities of all types are offered to the troops, including bathing in the two swimming poole, USO shows, and movies. Hostesses are expected in the near future, and dances will be held.

The 4276th Signal Service Company band has been sent from this command to provide music.

Troops are quartered in hotels, which are staffed by Belgian civilians.

"JUST ANOTHER DAY SCRAPING AWAY--"

ATLANTIC CITY, New Jersey---Corporal Harvey Chalmers of 518 South Jefferson Street, Petersburg, Virginia, is one soldier who literally scraped his way through 19 months of overseas duty.

"The Army discovered I was a pretty good truck driver in civilian life so they put me to operating a road grader in New Guinea," explained the corporal at AAF Redistribution Station No. 1 where he is awaiting a new Air Force assignment.

"The jungle roads certainly kept me busy, especially during the rainy reason. Every time it rained I leveled off some of the roads and it rained every day for six months," recalled the former member of the 868th Aviation Engineers.

"We managed to lick the mud, me and my road scraper, but we never could get around to solving the dust problem during the dry season. The more dust I'd scrape the more my grader would produce, so they put me to work levelling off airstrips in the jungle."

Corporal Chalmers, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Chalmers, of Halifax, Virginia, entered the service December 11, 1942 and was sent overseas on October 27, 1943.

BECAUSE HE WAS KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS, PILOT LIVES

ATLANTIC CITY, New Jersey---Second Lieutenant Richard D. Macon, of Birmingham, Alabama, a P-51 pilot with the famous all-Negro 332nd Fighter Group, owes his life to a succession of miracles that favored him in one of the strangest aerial sagas to take place over Southern France.

"Maybe it was fortunate that I was unconscious when the miracles happened," said the pilot at AAF Redistribution Station No. 1 "or else I might have done something wrong and been killed."

It started when Lieutenant Macon and his outfit roared over Sete in a strafing effort to knock out German radar equipment two days before D-Day in Southern France.

"I was skimming along at 300 feet when I ran head-on into a cloud of flak. The burst sliced my aileron controls and flipped my plane over as neatly and quickly as you flip a magazine page. While fighting to right the Mustang I suddenly felt a terrific blast of heat and saw my entire engine smothered out in flames. I passed out.".

Folding up in the cockpit the lieutenant's body slumped against the control stick--pushing it forward. This action threw the fire dripping Mustang into an outside loop and tossed the Birmingham pilot into space, only 300 feet from the ground.

That's very little space for a parachute to function, but in some unexplainable manner Lieutenant Macon's silk opened just in time to partly break his plummeting body's terrific impact into a ploughed field,

"When I came to 45 minutes later I found myself looking at three German soldiers who took me to a field hospital where I was found to have a broken shoulder and a broken neck. They set the shoulder but didn't have time to fix my neck due to the fact that we were hurriedly evacuated to escape the Americans," the pilot explained.

"Two weeks later I arrived in a Sagan, Germany, hospital staffed by French personnel. My neck was X-rayed and set and again I was moved, this time because the Russians were closing in. I landed in Nuremburg with my neck in a cast and several days later was on my way to Mooseburg because the Americans were closing in on Nuremburg. I was finally liberated at Mooseburg by the Seventh Army," said the lieutenant who is now fully recovered.

The returnee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Macon, of 524 South 63rd Street, Birmingham. He entered the service on March 9, 1943 after training at Tuskegee, Alabama, was sent overseas on July 15, 1944. He wears the Air Medal, Purple Heart and European Theater ribbon. Prior to enlistment he was an instructor in the Fayette, Alabama County Board of Education.

PILOTS LEARN FUEL-SAVING TECHNIQUE AT MIAMI FIELD

MIAMI, Florida---Probing ever deeper into scientific long-range bombing three Negro pilots are learning at Air Transport Command's Miami Army Air Field how to fly their bombers farther and to carry a larger bomb load while using the same amount of gasoline.

Captain James Wiley, North Apollo, Pennsylvania; Second Lieutenant Charles W. Diggs, Boston, Massachusetts and First Lieutenant Richard B. Highbaugh, Indianapolis, Indiana, are the first three pilots of their race to attend the Long Range Cruise Control School. About a dozen selected pilots from the Army Air Forces attend the ten-day school each session.

The trio are B-25 medium bomber pilots in the 477th Composite Group at Godman Field, Kentucky, the only Negro bombardment group in the Army Air Forces. The group flies both bomb-carrying P-47 fighter planes and the fast B-25s.

After finishing the course here, they will return to their group and instruct other pilots in the new fuel-saving technique.

The only school of its kind in the country, the Range Cruise Control school was designed to instruct officers of the Army Air Forces in the technique of flying so as to insure the most economical use of fuel.

"Civilians think that they have to ration out their gas," asserted Lieutenant Diggs, "but they have nothing on the Long Range Cruise Control School where we practically use eye-droppers to put gasoline in the gas tanks."

"We'll be able to fly farther and drop more bombs now," interposed Captain Wiley, combat veteran of 85 sorties in the Mediterranean theater. "Long range cruise increases our radius against the widely scattered Pacific islands. It will be a big help to us."

"Long Range Cruise Control will enable me to fly on longer missions with a safer feeling. It gives a pilot confidence," Lieutenant Highbaugh reflected.

Part of the school includes a long flight from Miami to Puerto Rico and back, quite a flight, because it is more than equal to flying across the Atlantic ocean.

Captain Wiley saw action with the all-Negro 99th Fighter Squadron, which made a fine record in the Mediterranean Theater. Credited with two German fighters, probably destroyed, he flew his P-40 fighter in North Africa, Sicily, and Italy. Before entering the Army, he attended the University of Pittsburgh for five years, graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree. His wife, Mrs. Ruby E. Wiley, lives in North Apollo, Pennsylvania.

Lieutenant Diggs' parents live at 86 Harold Street, Boston, Massachusetts.

Lieutenant Highbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude S. Castleman, 540 Udell Street, Indianapolis, Indiana, was attending Indiana University before entering the Army.

NEW YORK CORPORAL NAMED TO PUBLIC RELATIONS POST

HEADQUARTERS, PUBLIC RELATIONS SECTION, London, England---Corporal Joseph T. Threadgill, Jr., formerly Unit Correspondent for the 552nd General Hospital Complementary Unit attached to the 22nd General Hospital now stationed in Blandford, England, has recently been appointed to assume the duties of Staff Sergeant Raynell E. Sloan as head of the Negro Interest Branch of the Army Public Relations Section's London Office.

A resident of the Bronx, New York City, Corporal Threadgill is a graduate of Theodore Roosevelt High School and a former student at the Agricultural & Technical College in Greensboro, North Carolina where he majored in biological science and chemistry.

Corporal Threadgill entered the Army in April, 1943, at Camp Upton, New York and was assigned to the Medical Department, receiving his basic training at Camp Pickett, Virginia. In October, 1943, he was assigned to duty with the 522nd GHCU where he served as a laboratory technician. He was assigned to public relations work in March, 1945, at the 802nd Hospital Center in England.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Threadgill, Sr., live at 582 East 165th Street, New York City.

THREE ANTIAIRCRAFT OFFICERS
WIN CAPTAINCY IN NEW GUINEA

WITH THE 14TH AA COMMAND IN THE PACIFIC--Three battery commanders of the 207th Antiaircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion, one of the Pacific's all-Negro antiaircraft units, have been promoted to captain, the War Department reported this week.

The three officers receiving promotions were: First Lieutenants Orlando Flowers, Chicago, Illinois; Luther Evans, Jr., New York City and Marcellus W. Evans of Peoria, Illinois. All of them have more than 18 months' service in the Pacific.

A student at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin, when he was inducted, Captain Flowers, whose residence is at 6226 South Parkway, Chicago, is married to the former Miss Othelie L. Watson of Chicago.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Flowers, II, Chicago, Illinois, Captain Flowers was inducted at Fort Custer, Michigan, August, 1941, and took his basic training at Camp Davis, North Carolina, where he later went to Officer Candidate School there, and was commissioned a second lieutenant on June 19, 1942.

His mother, Mrs. Katherine F. Flowers, is physical education teacher at the Douglas High School in Chicago, while his father is a defense worker in Los Angeles.

Captain Flowers' sister, the former Miss Posie L. Flowers, is well known on the American stage, having danced with Katherine Dunham. She is now on tour in California with "Carmen Jones."

Captain Luther Evans, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Evans, Sr., 160-49 Claude Avenue, Cedar Manor, Long Island, New York, prior to his joining the 207th Battalion in 1943, was a member of the 369th AAA AW Battalion when it was stationed in Hawaii.

A former sergeant in one of the batteries of the 369th, the Captain has been in the service since 1937, when the organization was then an Infantry unit of the New York National Guard.

Commissioned a second lieutenant at Camp Davis, in May, 1942, his first assignment as an officer was with the 207th at Camp Stewart, Georgia, he came overseas with his organization in September, 1943.

While with the 369th Captain Evans saw service at Fort Ontario, New York, Camp Edwards, Massachusetts and in Hawaii, under the command of Colonel Chauncey Hooper of New York.

Married to the former Miss Myrtle Alta Nunn of Los Angeles, he graduated from Jamaica, Long Island, and was taking a course in electrical engineering at City College, New York at the time he was called into active service.

Captain Evans was promoted to first lieutenant in June 1943.

Captain Marcelius W. Evans, the son of Mrs. John W. Evans, 116 West Elliott Street, Paris, Illinois, no relation to Captain Luther Evans, Jr., entered the military service in October 1941, and had his basic training at Fort Eustis, Virginia.

Before going to Officer Candidate School at Camp Davis, North Carolina, he served as a battery clerk with the 77th Coast Artillery at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and later at Hartford, Connecticut.

After receiving his commission as a second lieutenant in July, 1942, he was assigned to the 100th Coast Artillery at Saulte Sainte Marie, Canada as a platoon commander, and later transferred to the 207th at Camp Stewart, Georgia.

A former bookkeeper at Paris, Illinois, he is a graduate of Paris High School of that city.

Captain Evans was promoted to first lieutenant in June, 1943.

All three officers are entitled to wear the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with a battle star for participation in the New Guinea campaign.

Major Cato L. Baskerville of New York City is commanding officer of the battalion which is a part of the 14th AA Command, under Major General William H. Marquat.

FIGHTING PILOT PLANS TO FLY "JUST FOR FUN"

ATLANTIC CITY, New Jersey--Man of perseverance is P-51 pilot, Lieutenant Robert W. Williams, 728 North Cooper Avenue. Ottumwa, Iowa, who flew 35 missions before running into German fighters and then celebrated his introduction by shooting down at least two of the enemy.

A member of the 15th Air Force's famed Negro 100th "Red Tail" Fighter Squadron, Lieutenant Williams, who is being processed for a new assignment at the AAF Redistribution Station No. 1, Atlantic City, met 15 Germans after he and two comrades became separated from their outfit.

Recalling the uneven battle, the 22-year-old flyer said: "You're silly to take on odds like that unless you have some advantages. We had surprise on our side. We dove on their formation, each selected a man, gave him a burst, and then yo-yoed back upstairs.

"I got my guy and zoomed up, only one of the Jerries followed me. I got him, sprinkled a few others and then ran out of ammunition. I headed for home after my two buddies and left the Germans like they were sitting still. It sure took me a long time to get in my game of tag, though."

This was the only air-to-air meeting with the enemy Lieutenant Williams had. But before he ran out his string of 48 combat flights, he shot up trains, escorted bombers, and did all kinds of ground strafing. For these assorted activities, Lieutenant Williams wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with six oak leaf clusters and the European Theater ribbon with four battle stars.

The young flyer admits there aren't many things you can laugh at when you're flying a Mustang, but the thing that amused him most was locomotive busting. "You always know when a train spots you. It picks up speed, tries to run away. The engineer may think he's getting away but he's not going anywhere," he remarked.

Lieutenant Williams, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams, also of the Cooper Avenue address, really feels at home in the air. His father, brother and he owned their own plane before the war. After the war, the family will get another plane, a faster one, according to Lieutenant Williams, who added that his post-war flying "will be just for fun."

RAILHEAD UNIT CONTROLLED FOOD
SHIPMENTS DURING FINAL OFFENSIVE

LIEGE, BELGIUM---Men of a Negro Quartermaster Railhead Company controlled the shipment of thousands of tons of rations to U.S. Armies in Germany during the final offensive in the west.

On one day alone, at the height of the offensive, 249 boxcars containing 3,000 tons of rations were unloaded. The 573rd arranged for distribution of rations to various breakdown points;from there they were shipped to the frontline and at the same time, also loaded a special freight train each day for high priority food shipments to the Ninth U.S. Army.

V-E Day in Europe meant more responsibilities for the 573rd. They were assigned to supervision of all outgoing shipments of rations for occupation troops and for residents of liberated areas. A peak day of 4,300 tons was reached.

Presently stationed at Liege, Belgium, the unit, commanded by Captain Milton Rudo, of Baltimore, Maryland, arrived in France last summer, and was assigned to the Eighth Corps to support the Brest campaigns. A depot for ammunition issue was established and operated. This operation was expanded to include shipments of rations and fuel and in one 24-hour period, the railhead unit controlled the shipment of 500,000 gallons of gasoline to front-line units.

DETAILS OF SHIP SINKING IN 1943, WITHHELD FOR SECURITY, REVEALED

AN AMERICAN BASE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC--(Delayed)--In a drizzling rain at dusk the U.S.S. McCalla, a destroyer, edged up to the docks heavily laden with exhausted men. They were survivors of the torpedoed U.S.A.T. Cape San Juan, hit in the vicinity of the Fiji Islands in mid-November, 1943.

Their faces showed the stress of the nightmarish hours just passed. Officers and enlisted personnel alike were garbed in blankets and nondescript pieces of clothing. They were mostly members of the 855th Aviation Engineer Battalion, a Negro unit now stationed in Manila. All were weary, but the sight of land after tossing about in the sea for interminable hours, was a welcome one for them.

U. S. Medical units were ready at the docks. Stretcher cases and those needing care were taken at once from the destroyer and whisked to one of two general hospitals. Under the watchful eyes of Colonel George Finney, Commanding Officer of the 18th General Hospital, and Lieutenant Colonel Murray M. Copeland, Commanding Officer of the 142nd General Hospital, the survivors had immediate attention.

Both Negro and white troops, but more of the former, were among the survivors and, although haggard and worn, many smiled broadly as they stepped onto the dock. Representatives of the Army Special Service Office and the American Red Cross were on hand with cigarettes as they left the McCalla.

In the quiet of the hospitals, the more serious cases were handled at once, while those less affected discovered the luxury of a hot bath, a glass of cold ice water, a hot meal, clean hospital clothing and a comfortable bed.

After rest, the men had plenty to talk about as they exchanged experiences and located friends lost in the confusion.

Those unharmed were transported to a military camp. After food and rest they were taken to the Quartermaster warehouse and issued complete sets of clothing. Three hundred and four members of the 855th were later presented with the Purple Heart.

It had been a wild and nerve-racking experience - but they were again ready to settle scores with the little men from Nippon.

only directs the delivery of mail to some 30,000 troops, but commands the small city of Beuern, Germany.

The postal unit of eleven men now handles three times the normal volume of mail required for such a unit and, in addition, it has to solve civilian problems of food and lodging for the inhabitants of Beuern.

Two men, Staff Sergeant Otis Preston of Vicksberg, Mississippi and Sergeant Virgil J. Dansby of Santa Monica, Calfiornia were presented with the Certificate of Merit by Brigadier General Ewart G. Plank for devotion to duty during operations in Trier, Germany. They also have earned five battle stars.

The unit arrived overseas in December, 1943 and has served in Scotland, England, France, Belgium and Germany.

FIRST NEGRO COMBAT UNIT
TO REACH REICH DISSOLVED

MARSEILLE, France---Elements of the first Negro combat outfit to reach Germany, the 777th Field Artillery Battalion, recently rolled into a redeployment camp on the outskirts of Marseille where it was disbanded. The 777th Field Artillery Battalion, whose former members are now being redeployed to the United States was the only unit of its kind to participate in one of the largest mass field artillery barrages in the history of warfare.

An outfit of 400 men who spent seven months on the line were assigned to waiting Pacific-bound convoys of Signal heavy construction, Quartermaster, Engineer, Ordnance and Transportation Corps battalions, which were ready for immediate shipment to the Pacific Operations Area.

In proportion to the time that the 777th was in action, it fired more rounds than any other battalion in the XVI Corps.

They were commanded by Brigadier General C. C. Brown, who pulled the lanyard when the first shot was fired across the Rhine river last March 25. The unit was one of the 104 Field Artillery battalions of 1,248 guns which fired 200,000 rounds in the first assault on the Rhine.

The 777th's gun crews fired seven rounds in 36 seconds. These men fired so fast and their pieces became so hot that guns fired automatically. The guns had to be pulled back as a precautionary measure.

During the battalion's participation in the Rhineland and Central European campaigns, two officers and no men were killed. Eight Bronze Stars, 24 Air Medals, 23 Certificates of Merit and eight Purple Heart Medals were awarded to the individual members of the unit. The unit's heaviest battle was during the crossing of the Rhine river with the 9th Army.

In the Wiesel pocket, elements of the 777th were under constant observation by the enemy and were encircled several times while the unit launched its attack to cross the Rhine. It was during this mission that a 24-hour barrage of heavy Allied field artillery fire leveled portions of Krupp Works, Inc. in Essen, Germany. This resulted in an exchange of counterattacking blows between the 777th and the enemy which finally resulted in the enemy's surrender.

COMBAT UNIT CITED BY KING GEORGE IS CONVERTED INTO SERVICE OUTFITS

WITH DELTA BASE TROOPS, Marseille, France--Inactive elements of the first two Negro combat units to arrive in Europe are now in Delta Base Section in Southern France. Dissolved a few months before the end of the war in Europe and converted into service units, the former combat outfits are linked up in an all-out push to speed redeployment of Pacific-bound troops.

The former fighting men of the 450th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion which was cited four times by King George VI and General Mark W. Clark, when he was the Fifth Army's Commanding General, have been regrouped into different service units.

One hundred men of the two units were recently organized into engineers and designated as the 1083rd Engineer Maintenance Company. This is the only Negro unit of its kind in Europe and one of 32 such units in the United States Army. Other anti-aircraft units have been given similar positions.

The 450th, a unit of more than 800 officers and men, has formed the 3668th and the 3831st Quartermaster Truck Companies in Germany and the 3832nd Truck Company in Nice, France, on the Riviera, and also the 496th Signal Heavy Construction Company which is in Germany.

The 90th AA Battalion has been converted into the 4177th, 4156th, 4157th, 4158th, 4159th and the 4168th Quartermaster Trucking Companies. They operated the first cap-over engine trucks to reach Southern France.

The 1083rd has been organized into skilled welders, machinists and electricians who can repair anything from roller skates to cranes and bulldozers.

Most of the men have served in two theatres, with assignments in England, North Africa, Italy and France. Many of the soldiers have more than 90 points but have volunteered to remain in the service.

General Clark, when commanding Negro troops, cited the contribution of the 450th upon three occasions. Their latest citation came in August, 1944, after King VI, inspected the troops in Italy. The outfit was praised for "neat and soldierly appearance, for clean and polished looks of equipment, denoting pride of all concerned."

PORTMEN SUBDUE FIRE
TO SAVE AMMUNITION

WITH U.S. FORCES, European Theater--Speedy action by more than 100 Negro soldiers of the 485th Transportation Corps Port Battalion (6th Port) put out a raging brush fire at Port DeBouc, and prevented a two-acre ammunition dump from blowing up.

Men of the 222nd and 223rd Port Companies jumped on board trailer-trucks sent out to pick up volunteer fire fighters, and rushed to the dangerous inferno.

There was no water available, and the men tried desperately to beat down the flames with shovels, axes and brooms. Two wheel-barrow fire extinguishers arrived just as the wind shifted, and three of the men took an extinguisher up the open path the wind had made into the inner circle of fire.

Their purpose was to start a new controlled wall of fire from the inside, burn all conbustible material next to the dump, and then entinguish the blaze. The outer ring of fire would then be stopped by lack of fuel before it reached the ammunition.

The three men, Technician Fourth Grade Purcell Bailey, Surry, Virginia, Technician Fourth Grade Eric Smith, 476 Nostrand Avenue, Brooklyn, New York, and Staff Sergeant James Porter, 576 Lindley Street, N. W., Atlanta Georgia, were caught in the inner ring of fire when the wind suddenly shifted. They managed to stave off disaster until the wind changed again, and the second fire extinguisher was brought forward to rescue them. After five hours of fighting the fire was brought under control and the ammunition dump was saved.

900 HIGH POINT MEN
SHIPPED HOME BY AIR

WITH DELTA BASE TROOPS, Marseille, France--At least 900 high-point Negro soldiers were processed and cleared for shipment by air to the United States for discharge, between June 15 and July 15, by a unit designated as the Green Plan at Camp Calas in Delta Base Section.

The Green Plan unit serves several replacement depots which receives troops coming from all parts of the European Theater, headed homeward, and from three staging areas in Delta Base Section. Others with high points are separated from their units and reprocessed for air shipment to the United States.

Here, Negro troops have their baggage checked, currency exchanged and records adjusted. Then they are picked up and flown by the 8th Air Force from Paris to New York.

GENERAL SERVICE ENGINEERS
WIN COMMENDATIONS IN FRANCE

WITH U.S. TROOPS, Southern France--Speed, facility and thoroughness of job performed brought five commendations from high ranking officials in Europe to the 163 men of Company E, 1318th Engineer General Service Regiment, it was disclosed today.

Highest among the commendations was that which came from Major General M. W. Miley, Commanding General of the 17th Airborne Division, who said:

"I wish to congratulate the men of your unit for speed, facility and thoroughness with which these operations (construction of a landing strip) were completed...These can be attributed to a high order of planning and cooperation.. The high spirit and superior morale with which this division embarked on the operation, are due in no small part to you and your command."

The unit, commanded by Captain Wilbur W. Sewell of 2147 East 24th Street, Kansas City, Missouri, landed in England eight months ago. They were assigned to the task of moving tons of cement blocks from a camp area, building disciplinary centers for American garrison prisoners, working on air strips, operating saw-mills and building warehouses through England and sections of Northern France.

Men of the unit efficiently operated a saw-mill leased from the French to process timber for the construction of warehouses, runways, and depots for storage of critical supplies until they were ordered convoyed to the front-lines. Carpenters cut approximately 7,000 board-feet on day and night shifts. More than 100 German prisoners of war were used to take care of details.

The unit's prize assignment was its share in the construction of Camp San Antonio--one of the ETO's vast redeployment camps in France which has the capacity of handling more than 75,000 troops at a time.

Three jobs of winterizing tents for wounded troops sent from front-lines to be hospitalized were completed. The unit's work crews also built and repaired three roads with gravel and asphalt.

The record-time laying of a landing strip last winter in France for the 17th Airborne troops just before they jumped on the Rhine brought highest praise for a job "most excellently and most quickly done."

Crews of riggermen, carpenters, electricians, demolition men, air compressor operators, bulldozer operators and water purification experts make up the unit's teams of highly technical and skilled sections of men.

First Lieutenants, Frank Walker, 1721 Worms Street, Houston, Texas; Earnest L. Phillips, Medford, Massachusetts; and James K. McCain, Staunton, Virginia; and Kermit G. Graves of Reidville, North Carolina, are officers.

TIME FOR DARING FIGHTER PILOT

ATLANTIC CITY, New Jersey——A short jump climaxed a long combat career when First Lieutenant Carrol S. Woods, Route 4, Valdosta, Georgia, parachuted from 600 feet as his P-51 went down in flames on his 107th mission, a strafing run over Athens.

The 26-year old 15th Air Force officer, who is being processed for a new assignment at the AAF Redistribution Station No. 1 in Atlantic City, was paying his second visit to Athens when flak ripped his craft.

Recounting the mission, Lieutenant Woods said: "I was helping to rip up a German airfield flying at 50 feet when they got me. I managed to get up to 600 feet then jumped. You can bet I had anxious moments."

Lieutenant Woods' 'chute bellied out, made one swing, and thumped him on the ground, with a sprained ankle, only yards away from the flak battery which had downed him. He was rushed immediately out of town by his captors, because the British were coming into Athens.

On his way north through Yugoslavia he had visions of a quick release, as the Russians had cut the railroads ahead. But he was flown to Vienna and sent from there to the German prisoner-of-war camp, Stalag Luft III. In the closing days of the war he was forced to march to Moosberg, where he was finally freed by Third Army units which overran the compound. He had been a prisoner for six months.

Prior to his misfortune over Athens, Lieutenant Woods went with his unit, the Negro 332nd Fighter Group, on escort and strafing missions over Ploesti, Munich, Vienna, Budapest, Southern France, where he covered the D-Day invasion, and northern Italy. This aerial tour was prefaced by 67 missions with the 12th Air Force Coastal Command.

He holds the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the American Defense ribbon and the European Theater ribbon with eight battle stars.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton Woods, of the Valdosta, Georgia address, the young fighter pilot hopes to continue his flying in civilian life.

He entered the service on March 21, 1941, and received flight training at the AAF training field at Tuskegee, Alabama. He was shipped overseas on January 1, 1944.

3078th ORDNANCE UNIT JOINS OCCUPATION FORCE IN GERMANY

WITH U.S. Ordnance Troops, Marseille, France——After fourteen months in Europe, members of the 3078th Ordnance Motor Vehicle Distribution Company, have been assigned to the American Army of Occupation in Germany.

During hostilities, these Ordnance troops delivered vehicles from ports of debarkation to soldiers in Normandy, Belgium, Holland and German battle zones. Their most recent task was guarding 70,000 pieces of general service and armored equipment for troops in three great staging areas near Marseille, France, where men are prepared for movement to Pacific Operations Area.

Captain Frank C. Sokolik, Jersey City, New Jersey, Company Commander, reported that the 3078th is one of three Negro units of its kind in the European Theater.

In addition to the ETO ribbon and two battle participation stars awarded soldiers in the company, Sergeant Irvin Groce, 303 East Grand Avenue, Valdosta, Georgia, has been awarded the Purple Heart.

Under ETO policy of giving a rest to as many battle-weary soldiers as possible, the entire company was permitted to visit Paris on three-day-passes. Twenty five percent of them also visited Nice, famous French Riviera pleasure resort.

100 GIs COMPLETE STUDIES AT UNIT SCHOOL IN ITALY

PENINSULAR BASE HEADQUARTERS, Italy——The 98th Engineer General Service Regiment held graduation ceremonies last month for one hundred soldiers who had successfully completed the Unit Technical School.

Conceived and backed by the 98th's Commanding Officer, Colonel Guy F. Maple, as a method of effectively training men for employment opportunities after discharge, the Unit Technical School included courses in blueprint reading, blacksmithing, engineer drawing, mechanical drawing, carpentry, plumbing, surveying, auto mechanics, gas and arc welding, electricity, water purification, photography, machine tool operation, in addition to the operation of various heavy construction machinery.

Some of the courses were for five weeks' duration; others were for ten weeks. The August graduates represented those completing the five-week courses. The total enrollment of the school, however, is 280, many of whom came from the 92nd Infantry Division and other Negro units in this area.

Twenty officers conducted the school with the able assistance of the following qualified enlisted men: Private Ben Stallworth, Brewton, Alabama, blacksmithing; Master Sergeant Commer K. McGowan, Miami, Florida, auto mechanics; Master Sergeant Ernest E. Choyce, Marshall, Texas, water purification; First Sergeant Samuel J. Harriday, Baltimore, Maryland, driver training; Technician Fifth Grade Odis Norris, Marlin, Texas, arc welding; Technician Fourth Grade William C. Hill, Miami, Florida, carpentry; Technician Fourth Grade Lovest A. Hinderman, Houston, Texas, electricity.

JOE LOUIS SEES ALASKAN CHAMP AS POTENTIAL THREAT TO HEAVIES

FORT RICHARDSON, Alaska——"Willie Brown is a name worth remembering when you're thinking in terms of heavyweight fighters in post-war America," Technical Sergeant Joe Louis remarked here recently.

When the Brown Bomber made his tour of Alaska and the Aleutians, he boxed exhibitions at ten of the posts with Private Willie Brown, and at the completion of his tour, flatly said that the Negro heavyweight's left hand was practically unstoppable.

Brown, who gives his home as 1542 Jones Street, San Francisco, California, has been stationed at an Aleutian base with a Quartermaster unit for two years. He was presented with a huge sportsmanship trophy by Yank, the Army Weekly, for winning the Alaskan Department heavyweight championship.

MORE

At the completion of Louis' tour of the Alaskan Department, he was asked if Willie Brown held any promise, and if he thought Brown was a good enough boxer to enter the professional field. "One year of amateur boxing under a good trainer with proper handling, and Willie could be a contender for the heavyweight crown. He's a fine boxer, and has a natural left hand." the Brown Bomber replied.

While Louis' bouts with Brown were, of course, strictly exhibition, Joe threw a few of his well-known left hooks at Willie during the last one. It was, he said, to find out whether or not Willie could take it. After the fight, he told the Alaskan Department champion that he had "taken a punch that knocked plenty of others out," explaining at the same time that he had thrown it hard because of his personal interest in the 21-year-old ring promise.

UNIT WENT ALL OUT IN CHEERING
GIs IN MEDITERRANEAN THEATER

CASERTA, Italy——The 37th Special Service Company of the Mediterranean Theater of Operations, larger of two all-Negro units in the Army, has recently completed a 17-month tour of duty entertaining the troops in Africa and Italy.

Trained both in Infantry and Special Service work, the 37th, formed at Fort Huachuca, Arizona, brought its talents first to Casablanca and Oran in North Africa before coming to Italy.

Playing hospitals at forward assembly areas, on ships riding at anchor, to small units in isolated sections, as well as outfits in rear areas handling supply and administration, the 37th went through the entire "circuit."

Two live shows a day, spot jobs on the radio, driving a mobile library unit to isolated outfits, packing and unpacking instruments for two dance jobs a night, and setting up athletic programs for tournament and exhibition performances, have made its job a steady grind.

The men worked just as hard when they played before small groups in hospital wards, as they did when performing for an open air audience of 10,000, such as the capacity crowd of soldiers and guests who came to Easter Sunrise Services at Naples-Vomero Stadium, for which the 37th supplied the instrumental and choral background music.

Their own musicals "Good and Crazy," "Relaxing in Rhythm," and "Harlem Cavalcade," were played to almost all Mediterranean Theater units.

Christmas morning, at Augusteo Theater in Naples, men of this company were Santa Claus to local orphans, giving them their first such holiday party since war came to Italy.

On ships riding at anchor prior to invasion of southern France, the 37th, under secret orders, came aboard to entertain the beachhead makers and ease the tension that always exists before operations get under way.

Visiting USO shows needing music to accompany their entertainers called on the 37th to supply "jive and jump" music. On the first program from Leghorn over Army Expeditionary radio station, they did a musical variety show.

When Billy Conn was putting on a series of exhibition bouts in the MTO the 37th was the outfit called in to set up the ring, promote the tour, and stage the show. In Corsica one night, in addition to supplying the referee they had to get one of their own men to go into the ring with Conn as a sparring partner.

WACS HAVE MERRY-GO-ROUND OF REUNIONS IN FRANCE

ROUEN, France---The members of the 6888th Central Postal Directory, all-Negro Wac Battalion in Rouen, are a happy group of people since landing in France, for it has been a merry-go-round of hundreds of reunions between brothers and sisters, husbands and wives, cousins, fiances, and a father and daughter.

From the time the first Wac stepped across the gangplank in Le Havre, it has been, "Hello Brother," and "Am I glad to see you." In one case it had been nine years since a trio of cousins had last seen each other.

Ninety percent of the Wacs in the Army volunteered because they had relatives in the service, and believed that their bit of duty would expedite the winning of the war. It has been a welcoming scene to witness these reunions and the thrill of the first reactions when these relatives have met.

Among the first Wacs to meet their relatives were:

ALABAMA

Corporal Mary F. Smith was visited by her brother, Private Edward L. Smith, 549th Port Battalion. They are the children of Mrs. Frances McQueen and grandchildren of Mrs. Mary Dinkins, all of whom are from Montgomery, Alabama. Corporal Smith was stationed at Fort Bragg, North Carolina before coming overseas.

Private Mary Rose Maniece met her brother, Private Livingston Rose, 1310th Engineers. Their sister, Miss Ruby Rose, lives at 253 Cleveland Court, Montgomery.

ARKANSAS

First Lieutenant Ella B. Tatum met her husband, Second Lieutenant James E. Tatum, 377th Engineer Regiment. She is the daughter of Mrs. Pearl Gafford, 722 Raymond Street, El Dorado, Arkansas, and her husband comes from Waxachachie, Texas. It had been sixteen months since she had seen her husband. Mrs. Tatum taught school in El Dorado before entering the service.

CALIFORNIA

Private Jessie B. Hall met her brother-in-law, Sergeant Peter H. Le Bauve, 675th Port Company. Private Hall is the daughter of Mrs. Roberta Wyble, 921 E. Jefferson Boulevard, Los Angeles, and the wife of Leo C. Hall, of the Merchant Marine. Sergeant Le Bauve comes from New Orleans, Louisiana.

Private First Class Polly C. Frazier met her brother Sergeant Henry Clay, Jr., Conroe, Texas. Private First Class Frazier lives at 1373 East 48th Place, Los Angeles, although she is a native Texan, having lived in Conroe, Dallas and Houston, Texas. One of their relatives, Cleo N. Williams, lives at 1518 Gregg Street, Houston, Texas.

CONNECTICUT

Captain Mary F. Kearney, chief of the directory service at the 6888th Central Postal Battalion, met her brother, Private Douglas Warren Kearney, 12th Armored Infantry Battalion who came over from Germany to see her. Their mother is Mrs. R. E. Kearney, 406 Newfield Avenue, Bridgeport.

FLORIDA

Private Florida B. Jackson met her brother, Private First Class A. C. Jackson, 1310th Engineers. They are the children of Mrs. Clifford Jackson, Homestead, Florida. She was stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas, before coming overseas.

Sergeant Lucia M. Pitts met her nephew, First Lieutenant Thomas L. Pitts, 17th Special Service Company. Sergeant Pitts is the sister of Mr. Royal E. Pitts, 5156 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, and was acting sergeant major in the Provost Marshal's office, Fort Huachuca, Arizona, before coming overseas.

Just before donning the WAC uniform Sergeant Pitts was the first Negro official in the personnel office of the United States Treasury's Bureau of Public Debt in Chicago.

Private Delois G. Miller was reunited with her husband, Staff Sergeant Malou L. Miller, 335th QM Truck Company, after three years of separation because of their military service. The Millers live at 312 E. 49th Street, Chicago.

Private First Class Geraldine Beaumont met her husband, First Sergeant Paul F. Beaumont, 463rd Amphibious Truck Company. She is the daughter of Mrs. Rose Walker, 4717 Calumet Avenue, Chicago.

KANSAS

Corporal Luella E. Holbert met her brother, Private First Class Vernon T. Holbert, 829th Engineers. They are the son and daughter of Mrs. Jesse R. Holber 908 Pott Street, Leavenworth, and it had been since 1927 that they last saw each other.

Private First Class Thelma Alvin met her brother, Staff Sergeant James A. Nicholas, Jr., 365th Engineers Company. Another brother, Sergeant Vernon Nicholas is in a nearby hospital. They are the children of Mr. A. Nicholas, Sr., 436 South 3rd Street, Sterling.

LOUISIANA

Sergeant Lyden M. Duncan met her brother, Private Foster Williams, 522nd General Hospital. They are the children of Mr. Foster Williams, Sr., Route 4, Box 255, Counschatta.

MISSISSIPPI

Private Minnie S. Sibble met her cousin, Sergeant Delmon Smith, 1310th Engineers. Private Sibble, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, Route 1, Box 88, Pinola, has a husband, Luis S., in the South Pacific.

NEBRASKA

A trio of cousins who were lucky enough to meet in the European Theater are Corporal Alberta Bradley, Private Dolly Woods and Warrant Officer (JG) George Starns, 1313th Engineers. This reunion was the first meeting in nine years.

Corporal Bradley is the daughter of Mrs. Eva Starnes, 2817 "R" Avenue, Omaha, and Private Woods is the daughter of Mrs. Lilian Payne, 1319 S. Barr Street, Fort Wayne, Indiana. All three are natives of Omaha.

NEW JERSEY

Private Breda V. Williams was visited by her brother Corporal Merrill Williams, 309th Port Company, 509th Port Battalion. They are the children of Mr. George E. Williams, 25 Warwick Road, Lawnside, New Jersey.

Sergeant Edith M. Linzey was visited by her brother Lieutenant (JG) Henry Linzey, Merchant Marine, who was passing through France. They are the children of Mrs. Rose Linzey, 713 S. 11th Street, Newark. Sergeant Linzey was stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington, before coming overseas. Prior to that time she was at Fort Huachuca, Arizona.

Corporal Bernice A. Augustine met her brother Private First Class Kermit E. Augustine, 366th Port Battalion. They are the children of Mrs. Mary E. Augustine, 122 Macon Street, Brooklyn. Corporal Augustine was stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky, before coming overseas.

NORTH CAROLINA

Private Catherine R. Hinton, RFD 6, Raleigh, North Carolina met her cousin, Staff Sergeant James Hinton, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hinton of Philadelphia.

Private Hinton, who was teaching home economics at Elizabethtown, North Carolina, before entering the service, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burke Hinton, of the Raleigh address. It had been three years since she last saw her cousin.

Private Nannie Pearl Jones met her father, Corporal Willie Porter, 580th Port Company. She is the daughter of Mrs. Rosa C. Jones, 506 East St. James Street, Tarbow, North Carolina.

OHIO

Sergeant Bessie L. Robinson, 3070 Gilbert Avenue, Cincinnati, met her brother, Staff Sergeant Joseph Busson, after not having seen him in four years. Their sister, Mrs. Allie Ayers, lives at 718 Orchard Street, Newport, Kentucky. Sergeant Robinson was a school teacher in civilian life.

During the next two days the 2nd Battalion, 25th Infantry operated against the enemy along the Numa-Numa Trail, Blue Ridge, and the Laruma River. At 2:30 P.M., April 2, Private First Class Isaac Moore, of Brooklyn, New York, pulled the lanyard on the No. 2 gun of Battery A, 593rd FA, which sent the first round fired by the 93rd Division into enemy positions.

APRIL 3--25th CT continued its operations against the enemy along the Numa-Numa Trail, Blue Ridge and Laruma River. The 2nd Battalion crossed the Laruma River in a flanking movement to the north bank and proceeded up the river. Jap snipers infested the immediate jungle terrain. The Nip force, a rear guard protecting the withdrawal of the main body, was entrenched on the opposite side of the river. After laying down a terrific and devastating mortar barrage, the Second Battalion crossed the Laruma River to the south bank and annihilated the enemy. The 593rd fired 11 missions, including four concentrations, effect in all was reported good. Men of the 318th Combat Engineers completed plans for two new roads.

APRIL 4--The 2nd Battalion continued its operations along the Numa-Numa Trail. During this operation, the battalion closed with the enemy and killed approximately 25 Nips. Four men were lost by the A and P Platoon while it was returning from a supply mission to the Americal Division on Hill 500; Privates First Class Hugh Carrol, Oginal I. Ryan, William W. Ash, and Joseph C. Mallory. These were the first men of the 93rd to be killed in action in this war. The 593rd FA fired four concentrations and consumed 208 rounds of ammunitions. Engineers of 318th moved out fully equipped for combat road construction. The morale of all men was praise-worthy, and comments were made by members of the 37th Division that elements of the 25th CT committed to the push were the best "green" troops they had ever seen in action.

APRIL 5--The 2nd Battalion withdrew from the Numa-Numa Trail and was released from assignment to the 37th Division. The 3rd Battalion occupied Hill 600 and 250. Men of the 593rd received a commendation from Brigadier General W. C. Dunckle, Commanding Americal Division Artillery, for firing six excellent concentrations. Engineers continued combat road construction.

APRIL 6--Company E left Hill 250 to establish an ambush along a Jap trail to the east. The 3rd Battalion conducted intensive patrolling to the north and east of Hill 250. Ordnancemen inspected first captured Jap equipment. This is the day that will niver be forgotten by those men of the battalion who had set up the 25th CT Clearing Station at the Americal unit. It was about 11:30 P.M. that a period of emergency began, which, before its termination, was to tax the skill and ability of the men and officers to the utmost. Throughout the night and all the next day the men worked diligently and untiringly. Eighteen surgical operations were performed, and officers and men, without regard for their personal safety, carried the wounded to ambulances over difficult and steep terrain at the base of Hill 250.

APRIL 7--Company K contacted the enemy before an ambush could be established and in the fire fight that resulted one officer and seventeen men were killed and seven were wounded. Our forces withdrew about 100 yards and called for artillery fire. All bodies were recovered and internment made in the Bougainville cemetery. The 593 fired 745 rounds in support of the Americal Division artillery.

APRIL 11--A patrol from Company K sighted five Japs 2,000 yards north of Hill 250, along the west branch of the Torokina River, and killed two of them. A patrol from Company I located a 70-mm Jap field piece and destroyed it. During the night the 25th CT was subjected to Jap artillery fire (15-cm) for the first time.

APRIL 14--A patrol from Company E, operating northeast of the East-West Trail, made contact with an estimated 15 Nips and killed three of them. The 593rd fired concentrations on enemy gun positions.

APRIL 15--Litterbearers were subjected to enemy fire during the night, and fought with as much vigor as the infantrymen. On one such occasion, Technician Fifth Grade Mose Wheeler of Company A, 318th Medical Battalion, became the first casualty of his unit. Detachments from the 793rd Ordnance, 93rd Quartermaster Company and 318th Medical Battalion were ordered to report to Bougainville from Guadalcanal.

MORE

APRIL 16--Companies E and G were attacked by an enemy force but our troops were successful in repelling the assault which also was aimed at the Fiji battalion on Company G's right. Thirty-five Nips were killed by men of Company G. The 593rd Field Artillery fired 1,216 rounds.

APRIL 18--The 25th's 1st Battalion continued its operations with the 3rd Battalion, 132nd Infantry, in occupying and organizing Hills 165, 500 and 501

APRIL 27--Company A moved to occupy Hill 150, encountered no opposition and left one platoon there as an outpost.

APRIL 29--25th CT relieved from attachment to XIV Corps and placed under operational control of the Commanding General, Americal Division. Brigadier General Leonard R. Boyd assumed command of the Provisional Brigade, 93rd Infantry Division.

MAY 6--Company B moved out to Hill 150, with the mission of conducting a reconnaissance in force and around Hill 350, then to occupy Hill 350. 93rd Reconnaissance Troop completed its mapping mission of the Kuma Road; Engineer work routine, also 593rd Field Artillery.

MAY 11--Company B on Hill 350 was relieved by a platoon of Company L. The platoon of Company I, operating east of Hill 150, returned to the Outpost Line of Resistance after destroying much enemy ammunition. Another platoon of Company I moved east of the Saua River with the mission of reconnoitering the East-West Trail between the Saua River and the Reini River.

MAY 15--Cannon Company, 25th Infantry, fired on two check points. Malarial control functioning in an excellent manner.

MAY 16--The 593rd Field Artillery scored direct hits on a Jap pill box. Men of 93rd Reconnaissance Troop, operating between the Saua and Reini Rivers, made contact with the enemy three times during the morning. The patrol withdrew and called for artillery fire.

MAY 17--The 93rd Reconnaissance Troop, in continuing on mission to Reini River, was ambushed in the morning by an unestimated number of Japs 600 yards west of the river, who used machine guns and mortars. Three men of the troop were killed and three were wounded. In addition, seven men and one officer were missing.

MAY 18--Company I moved out in the morning, with the mission to proceed to the area where the Reconnaissance Troop had made contact, clear out all Jap opposition west of the Reini River along the East-West Trail, recover the bodies of those men killed in action the preceding day, and locate those missing in action.

MAY 19--Company I continued on its assigned mission. The 1st Platoon and Headquarters Detachment, 318th Combat Engineers alerted to move from Bougainville immediately. During its operation on Bougainville, Company A of the 318th completed 10.4 miles of road, constructed four bridges, 500 feet of corduroy road, eight barrel culverts, four wooden culverts, in addition to two water-tank towers and shelter for the 318th Medical Battalion.

The 2nd Battalion, 25th Infantry also was relieved and ordered to a staging area for movement to Green Island. Other units of the 25th CT also were alerted for early shipment.

WACS PLAN HOME IMPROVEMENT
CAREERS WHEN WAR JOB ENDS

CAMP JOHN T. KNIGHT, Oakland, California---Uncle Sam's 180 Negro nieces here in Oakland, who were at his side when he emerged victorious over his foes in May and August, are now planning to improve conditions within the family circle once their final war job is finished.

Members of the 106th WAC Detachment at Camp John T. Knight, Oakland Army Base, an installation of the San Francisco Port of Embarkation, work at t desks in the Overseas Supply Division, operating therapeutic equipment in the post dispensaries, and serve in many other capacities on the Base. They are materially aiding the mission of the Port that had the tremendous job of supplying men and materiel for the Pacific war and will not relax its activity until America's fighting men are home again.

Looking toward that day, approximately 90 per cent of the members of the 106th WAC Detachment already have plans for the future that will utilize the technical skills they have developed as members of the Women's Army Corps. Approximately one-third of them expect to take advantage of the educational provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

The majority of the women of the 106th WAC Detachment are anticipating their discharge from the service with concrete plans for the future and expect to go into social service.

The typical attitude of these women is expressed by Private Ola Walton, of 531 West 143rd Street, New York City. Private Walton, a general clerk for a dress manufactuer before she went into the service, studied social service at Spellman College in Atlanta.

"I am very race conscious," she says. "I think there is a lot that can be done along social lines, and that will be my work when I leave the WAC.

If Sergeant Frances G. Hebron, of 1661 32nd Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., avails herself of the provisions of the Bill, she will study nursing. She has received medical training in the WAC.

"I believe that by combining this technical knowledge with further medical training and drawing on the executive experience I have had at the Port of Embarkation, I can build a very useful career," she says. At present Sergeant Hebron is supervising a group of typists who translate messages.

Corporal Arrean Flakes of Longview, Texas, will enter a field relatively new to women, just as she did nearly three years ago when she joined the WAC. She will become a mortician, either through a course of study under the GI Bill of Rights or as a mortician's apprentice. At present she is aiding the work of the Port as a file clerk in the Overseas Supply Division.

MORE

The company has a fine example of foresightedness and ambition for the advancement and well being of their fellowmen in their Commanding Officer, First Lieutenant Victoria Poole, who is herself planning to spend the first two years following her release from the Army taking additional training for social service.

Lieutenant Poole, formerly an art and physical training instructor at Xavier University in New Orleans, Louisiana, will combine her new career with that of a housewife, for since enlisting in the WAC she has married First Lieutenant Charles W. Poole, of Sandusky, Ohio.

Lieutenant Poole's company is made up of WAC units assembled at Oakland from all over the country during the last few months as the need for additional clerical help at the Base became urgent. Detachments arrived from Fort Riley, Kansas; Des Moines, Iowa; Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia; Camp Maxie, Texas, and, more recently, from the New York Port of Embarkation.

Personnel of the company includes forty-five Wacs who received the Meritorious Award last May for their utter selflessness in treating victims of the tornado that struck Antlers, Oklahoma, in April. These were the Camp Maxie Wacs. On duty at the Army Regional hospital 25 miles north of Antlers, the women remained at their posts for 24 hours and then returned to duty after a five-hour rest.

On the recommendation of the commanding officer of the post, the "medics" received the honorary wreath to wear on their shirts and blouses.

First Lieutenant Gladys Gould, then commanding officer of the unit and now executive officer to Lieutenant Poole, received a letter of commendation.

SERGEANT WINS BRONZE STAR
FOR MOTOR MAINTENANCE WORK

WITH THE 93rd INFANTRY DIVISION ON MOROTAI---At a recent ceremony, the Bronze Star Medal was awarded to Technical Sergeant William E. Conway of 1214 Ozan Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, for meritorious service in direct support of combat operations.

The citation from the Commanding General of the 93rd Infantry Division, Major General Harry H. Johnson, read as follows:

"For meritorious service in direct support of military operations against the enemy from November 7, 1944 to June 1, 1945 at Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea and Morotai, Netherlands East Indies. As Shop Foreman of an Ordnance Light Maintenance Company of an Infantry division, Sergeant Conway, by his unselfish attention to duty and his technical knowledge and skill set up and put into operation the Ordnance Automotive 3rd Echelon Shop in a minimum of time and without delay in commencing repairs on critically needed vehicles; and, as a result, delay in loading of combat troops and supplies due to deadlined vehicles was reduced to a minimun. The actions of Technical Sergeant Conway are of great credit to himself and are in keeping with the high traditions of the United States Military Service.

Sergeant Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Conway of the Ozan Street address. In civilian life he was employed as a tire vulcanizer and retreader.

QUARTERMASTERS PUSH 10-TON
VEHICLES ALL OVER CONTINENT

WITH THE 3793rd QUARTERMASTER TRUCK COMPANY, Reims, France---Each driver in this unit has driven his 10-ton truck and trailer more than 24,000 miles, nearly the distance around the earth's equator, hauling personnel, supplies and equipment in Europe.

The members of the unit have convoyed material in England, France, Luxemburg, Belgium and Germany during the critical and final Allied offensive of the war in Durope.

The men drive five-ton tractors that pull 10-ton trailers. Frequently the hauls are hundreds of miles long and there is no relief for the drivers. Hauling 400 tons of supplies is a daily average for the unit.

The unit maintains a repair shop for its vehicles employing German prisoner of war help to aid the company's mechanics.

Staff Sergeant Claude Nichols of 1442 North Calhoun Street, Decatur, Illinois, is the company truck master. It is his job to dispatch drivers and trucks to the many hauling missions and to keep the records of repairs on each truck and trailer. Said Sergeant Nichols, "I am kept busy, here in this tent dispatching trucks and don't get around much to see what Europe is really like."

Sergeant Elijah G. Ingram of Warrenton, North Carolina, one of the mechanics, was trained in an Army automotive school. He regards the trucks on the line waiting repairs as patients. "Each truck has it's own personality," said Sergeant Ingram. "The fellows get used to one truck and don't like to change it for another."

Trucks of the unit sport such names as: Oooh, La, La! Mademoiselle, Sally, Mary and Jean. They are names given by the drivers in memory of a sweetheart back home or a catching French expression.

The 101st Airborne Division was transported into the vicinity of Coblentz during the Allied drive across Germany toward Berlin. These huge trucks rolled day and night hauling rations, individual equipment and machinery in support of the fighting men.

American and British soldiers liberated from German prison of war camps were transported from air bases to processing camps. The liberated soldiers later took plane or boat transportation to England or the United States.

Drivers of the company say that the concrete highways (Autobahn) built in Germany by the Hitler regime, are the best in Europe. "They are nearly as good as the roads back home," said Corporal P. G. Hampton of 2244 Columbia Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana.

The company is at present located in the vicinity of Reims, France, where thousands of U.S. Army troops are being processed for shipment to the United States.

NEGRO MPs HELP SMOOTH
MARSEILLE TRAFFIC SNARLS

WITH U.S. TROOPS AT MARSEILLE, France—Keeping smooth traffic in a city of a million people is quite a job these days for Company C of the 780th Military Police Battalion, now on duty in Southern France with Delta Base Section commanded by Brigadier General John P. Ratay. Only recently the outfit was commended by the Commanding General for efficiency and meritorious service---first Negro outfit of its kind ever given such praise in this section.

An interview with Staff Sergeant David W. Millis, 2228 East 21st treet, Oakland, California, revealed that language is the chief barrier in regulating and directing traffic through the boulevards and avenues, leading into the heart of Marseille, ancient port capital to the Mediterranean world of commerce. Sergeant Millis, who acts as a company patrol sergeant, pointed out that his men patrol from post to post cautioning violators, issuing tickets and accident reports.

Assisting him is Sergeant Augustus Holland, 276 West 115th treet, New York City, who tours the intersectional routes, escorting incoming and outgoing convoys, and providing pedestrians and travelers with information. They work together with French policemen.

Men of the unit serve as static guards at finance offices, posts, headquarters, post offices, post exchanges and parking lots and as radio operators, artificers and gunners.

Public Health and the Doctors

HON. CLAUDE PEPPER

OF FLORIDA

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

Wednesday, March 7 (legislative day of Monday, February 26), 1945

Mr. PEPPER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the Appendix of the RECORD an address entitled "Public Health and the Doctors," which I delivered at the New York Times Hall in New York City on February 7, 1945.

There being no objection, the address was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

First I want to read a story that appeared recently in the columns of the illustrious newspaper that is sponsoring this forum:

"DONATIONS MAY SAVE EYESIGHT OF GIRL, 4

"ASHTABULA, OHIO, December 25.—Because of the generosity of friends, neighbors, and total strangers who read of her plight, 4-year-old Barbara Ann Rigo will have a chance this Christmas for one of the greatest of all gifts—normal sight.

"For the past year Barbara has been losing the sight of her right eye as the result of a growth which, doctors said, could be removed only by surgery. To be successful the operation must be performed within the next 5 or 6 months.

"The little girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rigo, Jr., have been saving and scrimping during the year from her father's salary as a railroad employee to raise money for the operation.

"Recently, when they had just about reached their goal Mrs. Rigo lost her purse, containing all their savings, in Pittsburgh, where she was visiting relatives.

"Readers of a Pittsburgh paper which printed a story on her loss contributed $150 toward replacing the savings, and friends and neighbors of the Rigos chipped in to make up the difference.

"The happy parents completed arrangements yesterday to have the operation performed at a hospital in Pontiac, Mich., as soon as possible."

Now, when I first read this story, I was filled with a sense of shame. Shame that such a thing should happen in this country where we have the best medical skill and equipment in the world. Shame that the Rigo family should have to skimp and save for a year before they could afford the operation to save their little girl's eyesight. Shame because, when misfortune befell them, they had to depend upon the charity of friends, neighbors, and total strangers.

In its broader outlines, the story of the Rigo family is not unusual. Inability to secure medical care when needed is characteristic of many American families.

The results of this tragic deficiency in American life are to be seen in the selective service rejection rates which were revealed last July to the Senate Subcommittee on Wartime Health and Education, of which I am chairman.

We discovered, at the July hearings, that four and one-half million young men in the prime of life had been found unfit to serve their country as soldiers because of physical and mental defects. In all, between eight and nine million men—about 40 percent of the 22,000,000 men of military age—are unfit for general military duty.

Moreover, and this is the most telling fact—at least one-sixth of the rejected men had defects which could be easily remedied. This in itself is a serious indictment. But additional evidence of neglect is afforded by a study which compared the selective service medical records of men in Hagerstown, Md., with the school health records obtained by examination of the same individuals during their childhood. The comparison showed that many of the defects for which men were rejected had been discovered as much as 15 years earlier while the registrants were studdents in high school and grade school. In the intervening years, nothing had been done about them.

Authoritative and conservative estimates show that the average cost of good medical care today is about $150 per family per year. This would be 5 percent of the income of a family that receives $3,000 a year. Seventy percent of the families in the United States, however, have incomes of less than $3,000, and 50 percent have less than $2,000. Even if we leave out of consideration entirely the fact that many families have need of medical services costing much more than the average figure of $150 a year, it is evident that a majority of the population cannot meet the costs of proper medical attention.

Seemingly, the only solution of this problem is a method of payment by which the risks may be distributed among a substantial proportion of the people and the costs of illness over a long period of time.

Today there is general agreement on this score among all serious and open-minded students of the subject. All except a few die-hards who refuse to be moved by facts now accept the principle of prepayment, and I believe this represents real progress over the unenlightened invective that pervaded the atmosphere in such discussions at this not very many years ago. There is still sharp disagreement, however, over the form that the prepayment system and the group financing shall take.

Advocates of voluntary insurance claim that such plans will eventually meet the needs of most of the people. Others assert that voluntary systems can never reach a really significant proportion of the population, and that compulsory health insurance and tax-supported services must be provided if anything like full coverage is to be achieved.

You have heard arguments on both sides of this question tonight. The Senate committee, of which I am chairman, has not yet decided which of these alternatives combines the most advantages and promises the most in terms of greater health, happiness, productivity, and longevity. We do not feel that, as far as we are concerned, all the evidence is in. We have listened receptively to all who have shown a sincere desire to solve this perplexing problem in a way that will benefit the people and make America a stronger, more vigorous nation. We shall continue to conduct our inquiry in this spirit,, and we are willing to try to reconcile opposing viewpoints in a way that will be fair to all groups concerned.

But we are not going to settle for half-way measures or patchwork proposals. If the voluntary systems offered are to gain our approval, they must meet certain conditions.

First, the medical care given must be complete care. By that I mean hospitalization, general medical care, including all modern diagnostic and preventive services, and dental care. Insurance against so-called catastrophic illness, or aganist a portion of the medical bill, will not suffice, because we do not want people to wait until a catastrophe strikes before they see the doctor.

Secondly, the cost of the service to the individual must be low enough so that most of the people can be included in the system. Unless we achieve full employment at high wages, this will require governmental subsidies.

Thirdly, the service rendered must be of high quality and so organized that it can be provided economically. This means additional facilities, more and better-trained doctors, and group practice. We cannot accept pill-bag medicine or a fee-for-service system in which every specialist to whom a patient is referred during the course of an illness gets a separate fee. Such an arrangement would be prohibitively expensive. Also, it would be unsatisfactory from the standpoint of coordination of the various doctors' findings.

It is because of the obvious lack of modern clinical facilities in many parts of the country that the committee has recommended a hospital and health center planning and construction program to cover the entire Nation. We propose networks of facilities integrated on a regional or State basis so as to make high-quality care available to every citizen regardless of where he may live. This recommendation has been embodied in a bill, S. 191, upon which we expect to hold hearings soon.

We have made this recommendation first because the need is obvious and agreement in the need is general. But facilities alone are not enough. We must also see to it that people will be able to use the facilities. This will require health insurance and tax-supported services for those ineligible for insurance or unable to afford it.

We must also have more trained personnel to staff our medical facilities. We propose Federal loans or scholarships to medical and dental students, with special incentives to induce young practitioners to settle in rural and other shortage areas. We believe that returning medical officers should also be encouraged to take up rural practice.

Finally, we propose that the Government continue in peace, as it has in war, to aid medical research.

Achievement of a national health program rests, in the last analysis, with the people themselves. They must want it and they must work for it. I sincerely believe that the people do want such a program, and that they are willing to work for it. But they must have something definite to mobilize for—they must have a program to rally around. The mapping of the broad outlines of such a program is the job of Government in consultation with the representatives of the American Medical Association and other professional societies, the trade union, business and consumer organizations, leaders of enlightened public opinion, like the New York Times, and far-sighted citizens like our gracious hostess, Mrs. A. H. Sulzberger, who organized this forum.

The program I have just described has been evolved in this manner—the democratic manner. We do not intend to regiment doctors or to interfere with the right of any patient to choose his physician.

It is admittedly a program that is broad in outline, and many of the details are lacking. But at least we are on our way. With the marvelous resources at our disposal there is no reason why we should not develop the finest health program the world has ever known.

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 3, 1941

Mr. RABAUT. Mr. Speaker, among the major accomplishments of this administration in the field of foreign policy has been the constant improvement and strengthening of the relations of the United States with the 20 other American republics to the south of us. During the first few years of what has come to be felicitously termed the "good-neighbor policy," the emphasis was primarily upon removing from our political relations with certain of these republics some of the conditions which have been sources of friction in the past. More recently the attention, both of the Government and of the public in general, has been directed toward the desirability of broadening the basis of mutual understanding and sympathy through approaches along certain nonpolitical lines. I refer particularly to the matter of cultural relations, and to the undertaking in conjunction with the other American republics of certain cooperative projects.

The cooperation of American companies engaged in radio broadcasting has been enlisted and progress has been made toward the development of radio programs which will not only be of interest to the people of the other American republics but which will bring to the masses of these people an understanding of the American way of life and of our genuine feeling of friendliness toward them.

The Division of Cultural Relations has also endeavored to promote the establishment of more and more generous scholarships and fellowships by our private institutions. Gratifying results have been obtained in this direction. Progress has also been made in encouraging greater attention to the study of Spanish and Portuguese which are the languages used in the other American republics. It is possible to report that the study of English has been at the same time intensified in the other American republics. In many of our universities and colleges special institutes and summer schools have been held devoted to subjects of inter-American interest.

At about the same time the Division of Cultural Relations was established, that is to say in the summer of 1938, there was established at the initiative of the

the conservation of flora and fauna, tidal investigations, cooperation in the fields of maternal and child health, and the social and economic welfare of working women, and a number of others having similar objectives.

Generally speaking, the majority of these projects will, if approved, mean that to a greater or lesser degree officials of our Government will be working in close collaboration with officials of the governments of the other American republics in fields of mutual interest. The projects themselves will lead to specific advantages, but I would like to stress at this moment my own belief in the long- and short-range value which this personal association has for the cause of international understanding. Our whole experience over the past 8 years, during which time numerous inter-American conferences have been held, leads to the conviction that particularly in the case of the countries with which we are now concerned, personal friendship and sympathy based upon first-hand knowledge is invaluable.

And in leaving this phase of the program may I add that the projects and undertakings that have been approved and for which funds are recommended in each instance involve a mutuality of interest between this country and the other American republics and that the amounts recommended have been restricted to those amounts which are not only modest, but which experience has

Thursday, April 3, 1941

Mr. RABAUT. Mr. Speaker, among the major accomplishments of this administration in the field of foreign policy has been the constant improvement and strengthening of the relations of the United States with the 20 other American republics to the south of us. During the first few years of what has come to be felicitously termed the "good-neighbor policy," the emphasis was primarily upon removing from our political relations with certain of these republics some of the conditions which have been sources of friction in the past. More recently the attention, both of the Government and of the public in general, has been directed toward the desirability of broadening the basis of mutual understanding and sympathy through approaches along certain nonpolitical lines. I refer particularly to the matter of cultural relations, and to the undertaking in conjunction with the other American republics of certain cooperative projects.

In the summer of 1938 the Department of State, responsive to growing demands, established a Division of Cultural Relations for the purpose of taking charge of the official activities of the Department in this direction. These activities are directed in part at assisting and advising the private initiative in this field. There has been a tremendous growth of interest, particularly in the past few years, on the part of institutions and individuals in this country in making contact with similar institutions and individuals in the other American republics. The Division of Cultural Relations has endeavored to guide and direct such activities into the most fruitful channels.

The Division of Cultural Relations has also engaged upon a certain number of activities of its own. Distinguished intellectual leaders have been brought from the other American republics to the United States for the purpose of meeting with and consulting with officials of this Government and private individuals and institutions. Similarly, some of our own leaders have been able to make extensive and highly valuable visits to the south. The exchange of students and professors is growing from year to year, with the result that there is a steadily increasing group both in the United States and in the other American republics having detailed knowledge of and appreciation for the cultural life of the continent as a whole.

The Division of Cultural Relations has promoted an exchange of educational motion pictures and is endeavoring to stimulate the production for exhibition in the other American republics the type of motion pictures that will accurately picture the life of Americans and its ideals. The cooperation of American companies engaged in radio broadcasting has been enlisted and progress has been made toward the development of radio programs which will not only be of interest to the people of the other American republics but which will bring to the masses of these people an understanding of the American way of life and of our genuine feeling of friendliness toward them.

The Division of Cultural Relations has also endeavored to promote the establishment of more and more generous scholarships and fellowships by our private institutions. Gratifying results have been obtained in this direction. Progress has also been made in encouraging greater attention to the study of Spanish and Portuguese which are the languages used in the other American republics. It is possible to report that the study of English has been at the same time intensified in the other American republics. In many of our universities and colleges special institutes and summer schools have been held devoted to subjects of inter-American interest.

At about the same time the Division of Cultural Relations was established, that is to say in the summer of 1938, there was established at the initiative of the President, the Interdepartmental Committee on Cooperation With the American Republics. This is a body upon which some 17 or 18 United States Government agencies are represented. Its obvious objective, as its name indicates, is to examine the subject of cooperation with our neighbors and to work out a definitive program of projects which is then submitted to Congress with requests for the necessary appropriations.

These projects cover a range of mutual interests carefully selected from this Government's broad range of activities and facilities, and the Congress has implemented the work of the interdepartmental committee by the passage of legislation which authorizes the detail of officials of this Government to assist the governments of the other American republics when requests for such assistance may be received, and also to authorize appropriations to make use of the facilities of the different services of this Government whenever it appears that by so doing substantial and welcome assistance can be rendered to any of our sister American republics to the south.

The projects now submitted for your approval cover the same general fields of economic, scientific, and cultural endeavor as those which are already being carried forward successfully on the basis of appropriations granted for the present fiscal year. Included in this program are fellowships for public-health experts, surveys of strategic minerals, studies for the conservation of flora and fauna, tidal investigations, cooperation in the fields of maternal and child health, and the social and economic welfare of working women, and a number of others having similar objectives.

Generally speaking, the majority of these projects will, if approved, mean that to a greater or lesser degree officials of our Government will be working in close collaboration with officials of the governments of the other American republics in fields of mutual interest. The projects themselves will lead to specific advantages, but I would like to stress at this moment my own belief in the long- and short-range value which this personal association has for the cause of international understanding. Our whole experience over the past 8 years, during which time numerous inter-American conferences have been held, leads to the conviction that particularly in the case of the countries with which we are now concerned, personal friendship and sympathy based upon first-hand knowledge is invaluable.

And in leaving this phase of the program may I add that the projects and undertakings that have been approved and for which funds are recommended in each instance involve a mutuality of interest between this country and the other American republics and that the amounts recommended have been restricted to those amounts which are not only modest, but which experience has shown may be successfully and effectively employed under present circumstances. We probably all agree that many of these steps should have been taken years ago, but we are not allowing this to tempt us into an overzealous and hastily conceived plan. On the contrary, we are undertaking only what can be done well and with due regard to the viewpoint and the wishes of the people of the other American republics.

The time is past when there is any further controversy with regard to the correctness of the so-called good-neighbor policy. It may now be regarded as a permanent and accepted policy of this Government. Not only is this true, but there is a general realization throughout this country that the time has come when this policy must be developed in a concrete rather than in an abstract form. The activities for which funds are recommended for the Division of Cultural Relations and for the cooperative projects which I have described, represent a truly American approach to the carrying out of this policy. They are in keeping with all the ideals and practices of this Government. I mean by this that we are offering to the American republics, not a program based upon propaganda for the purely selfish interests of the United States, but a program which is adapted to the needs of solidarity in this hemisphere based on mutual respect and mutual helpfulness in the light of our respective resources and facilities.

H. R. 3293

MAY 24, 1945

Mr. DINGELL introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means

A BILL

To provide for the national security, health, and public welfare.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That this Act may be cited as the "Social Security Amendments of 1945".

GRANTS AND LOANS FOR CONSTRUCTION OF HEALTH FACILITIES

SEC. 2. The Public Health Service Act (consisting of titles I to V, inclusive, of the Act of July 1, 1944, 58 Stat. 682) is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following new title:

1 "TITLE VI—GRANTS AND LOANS FOR HOSPITAL
2 AND HEALTH-CENTER CONSTRUCTION
3 "PART A—SURVEYS AND PLANNING
4 "APPROPRIATIONS FOR SURVEY GRANTS TO STATES
5 "SEC. 601. To enable the States to make necessary 6 studies in carrying out the purposes of this title, there is 7 hereby authorized to be appropriated the sum of $5,000,000
8 to remain available until expended: Provided, That any por-9 tion of this sum nonobligated and nonexpended on June 30, 10 1955, shall cease to be available for disbursement or expendi-11 ture from the Treasury. The sums appropriated under this 12 section shall be used exclusively for making grants to 13 States which have submitted, and had approved by the 14 Surgeon General, plans for studies, surveys, or investigations 15 to evaluate existing hospitals and their adequacy and to 16 develop and administer programs for such hospital projects 17 as will, in conjunction with existing hospitals, be reasonably 18 adequate to provide hospital services to all the people of each 19 such State.
20 "APPROVAL OF STATE SURVEY PLANS
21 "SEC. 602. (a) To be approved a State plan for carry-22 ing out the purposes of section 601 must—23 "(1) provide for financial participation by the 24 State;
25 "(2) designate a single State agency as the sole

1 agency for carrying out such purposes: Provided, That 2 such State agency shall be the State agency designated 3 in section 613 (a) (2) after the State has submitted
4 and had approved a State plan for the purposes of sec-
5 tions 611 and 612;
6 "(3) provide for the designation of a State advisory 7 council, which shall include representatives of State
8 agencies, and of nongovernment organizations or groups, 9 concerned with the need for hospitals and with profes-10 sional standards and the operation, construction, or 11 utilization of hospitals, to consult with the State agency 12 in carrying out such purposes; 13 "(4) provide for carrying out such purposes in 14 accordance with standards prescribed by the Surgeon
15 General after consultation with the Federal Advisory 16 Council; and
17 "(5) provide that the State agency will make such 18 reports, in such form and containing such information,
19 as the Surgeon General may from time to time require, 20 and comply with such provisions as he may from time to 21 time find necessary to assure the correctness and verifica-22 tion of such reports.
23 "(b) The Surgeon General shall approve any State 24 plan which complies with the provisions of subsection (a).

1 "ALLOTMENTS TO STATES FOR SURVEYS

2 "SEC. 603. Preliminary to making grants from the sums 3 appropriated pursuant to the authorization contained in sec-
4 tion 601, and in accordance with regulations previously 5 issued after consultation with the Council and with the 6 approval of the Administrator, the Surgeon General shall, 7 from time to time, make allotments or reallotments to the 8 several States on the basis of plans submitted by the several 9 States and, with respect to States which have not submitted 10 plans, on the basis of his own estimates and taking into 11 account such factors as he finds relevant. Upon making such 12 allotments or reallotments, the Surgeon General shall notify 13 the Secretary of the Treasury of the amounts thereof.

14 "PAYMENTS TO STATES FOR SURVEYS

15 "SEC. 604. (a) From the sums appropriated pursuant to 16 the authorization contained in section 601, and from its 17 allotment under section 603, each State which has made 18 application for grants in accordance with the plan which it 19 has submitted under section 602 and had approved, shall be 20 entitled to receive 50 per centum of its expenditures in carry-21 ing out the purposes of section 601 in accordance with such 22 application. The Surgeon General shall from time to time 23 estimate the sum to which each such State will be entitled 24 under this section, during such ensuing period as he may 25 determine, and shall thereupon certify to the Secretary of the

1 Treasury the amount so estimated, reduced or increased, as
2 the case may be, by any sum by which the Surgeon General
3 finds that his estimate for any prior period was greater or 4 less than the amount to which the State was entitled for 5 such period. The Secretary of the Treasury shall thereupon,
6 and prior to audit or settlement by the General Accounting 7 Office, pay to the State, at the time or times fixed by the 8 Surgeon General, the amount so certified.

9 "(b) The sums paid to a State under subsection (a) 10 shall be used solely for carrying out the purposes of section 11 601.

14 "APPROPRIATIONS FOR CONSTRUCTION GRANTS AND LOANS

15 "SEC. 611. To enable the Surgeon General to assist 16 through grants or through grants and loans, as provided in 17 this title, States, counties, health or hospital districts, and other 18 political subdivisions of the States, or nonprofit organizations 19 in providing better health and medical services through the 20 construction, improvement, or enlargement of needed hos-
21 pitals, especially in rural communities, in economically de-22 pressed areas, and in areas in which existing hospitals are 23 overtaxed as a consequence of the war and the need for addi-24 tional hospitals is likely to continue, there is hereby 25 authorized to be appropriated for the fiscal year end-26 ing June 30, 1946, the sum of $50,000,000; and there

1 is hereby authorized to be appropriated for each of 2 the nine succeeding fiscal years the sum of $100,000,000.
3 The amounts appropriated under this section shall be 4 used exclusively for making grants or grants and loans 5 for hospital projects which have been submitted to the 6 Surgeon General for constructing, improving, or enlarg-
7 ing needed hospitals, and which have been approved by him
8 and by the Federal Security Administrator as provided in this 9 title. Loans for hospital projects under this title shall be lim-10 ited to those hospitals for the construction, improvement, or 11 enlargement of which grants are or have been made under 12 the provisions of this title. All amounts appropriated pur-13 suant to the authorizations contained in this section shall be 14 available until expended as grants or loans, except that the 15 nonobligated and nonexpended balances existing on June 30, 16 1955, shall thereupon cease to be available for disbursement 17 or expenditure from the Treasury. Each loan made under 18 the provisions of this title shall bear interest at a rate of one-19 eighth per centum higher than the rate of interest on the most 20 recent Treasury intermediate-term borrowing preceding the 21 date when such loan is approved by the Administrator, and 22 such loans shall be repayable according to a schedule or sched-23 ules determined by the Surgeon General and approved by the 24 Administrator: Provided, That the period of repayment 25 shall not extend beyond twenty years from the date when

1 the loan is approved. The repayments of loans made under 2 the provisions of this title shall revert to the Treasury of 3 the United States and shall become part of the unallocated
4 funds of the Treasury.

5 "APPROPRIATIONS FOR ADMINISTRATION GRANTS TO THE 6 STATES

7 "SEC. 612. To enable the States to administer ap-8 proved State construction plans, there is hereby authorized
9 to be appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, 10 the sum of $5,000,000; and there is hereby authorized to 11 be appropriated for each of the nine succeeding fiscal years 12 a sum sufficient to carry out the purposes of this section.
13 The sums appropriated under this section shall be used 14 exclusively for making payments for administrative expenses 15 to States which have submitted, and had approved by the 16 Surgeon General and by the Federal Security Administrator, 17 State plans for carrying out the purposes of section 611.

18 "APPROVAL OF STATE PLANS FOR CONSTRUCTION AND 19 ADMINISTRATION

20 "SEC. 613. (a) To be approved a State plan for carry-21 ing out the purposes of sections 611 and 612 must—

23 State;

24 "(2) designate a single State agency as the sole
25 agency for the administration of the plan in the State,

1 or designate such agency as the sole agency for super-2 vising the administration of such plan;
3 "(3) contain satisfactory evidence that the State
4 agency designated in accordance with paragraph (2) 5 hereof will have authority to carry out such plan in 6 conformity with this title;
7 "(4) provide for the designation of a State ad-8 visory council, which shall include representatives of 9 State agencies, and of nongovernmental organizations 10 or groups, concerned with the need for hospitals and 11 with professional standards and the operation, con-12 struction, or utilization of hospitals, to consult with 13 the State agency in carrying out such purposes;
14 "(5) set forth a hospital construction program (A) 15 which the Surgeon General, after consultation with the 16 Federal Advisory Council, finds to be in accord with 17 standards prescribed by him after consultation with the 18 Council, and to be sufficient, in conjunction with existing 19 hospitals, to provide the necessary hospitals for furnishing 20 adequate hospital services to all the people of the State, 21 and (B) which, in the case of a State which has sub-22 mitted and had approved a plan under section 602 of this 23 title, conforms to the approved plan, unless modification 24 thereof is found necessary, by the Surgeon General after 25 consultation with the Council, in order to comply with 26 clause (A) of this paragraph, or is otherwise approved

1 by him after consultation with the Council;

2 "(6) set forth the relative need, determined in 3 accordance with standards prescribed by the Surgeon
4 General after consultation with the Council, for the 5 several hospital projects included in such program, and 6 provide for construction, insofar as financial resources
7 available therefor and for maintenance and operation 8 make possible, in the order of such relative need;

9 "(7) provide such methods of administration of 10 the plan as the Surgeon General finds necessary for its 11 proper and efficient operation, including provision for 12 affording to an applicant for a hospital project an oppor-
13 tunity for a public hearing before the State agency;

14 "(8) provide that the State agency will make such 15 reports, in such form and containing such information,
16 as the Surgeon General may from time to time require,
17 and comply with such provisions as the Surgeon General 18 may from time to time find necessary to assure the 19 correctness and verification of such reports; and

20 "(9) provide that the State agency will from time 21 to time review its hospital construction program and 22 submit to the Surgeon General and to the Council any 23 necessary modifications thereof.

24 "(b) The Surgeon General and the Federal Security
25 Administrator shall approve any State plan which complies 26 with the provisions of subsection (a).

1 "ALLOTMENTS TO STATES FOR CONSTRUCTION AND
2 ADMINISTRATION

3 "SEC. 614. (a) Preliminary to making grants and 4 loans from the sums appropriated pursuant to the authoriza-5 tions contained in sections 611 and 612, and in accordance 6 with regulations previously issued after consultation with 7 the Council and with the approval of the Administrator, the 8 Surgeon General shall allot to the States prior to the be-9 ginning of each fiscal year, and at such time or times there-10 after as may be necessary, the sums appropriated pursuant 11 to sections 611 and 612, respectively, for such year and the 12 sums available for allotment under subsection (b) of this 13 section. In determining the allotments under this section, 14 the following factors for each State shall be taken into 15 consideration: With respect to section 611, (1) the esti-
16 mated total cost of needed hospital projects in the State, 17 (2) the Federal grant percentage applicable to the State 18 on the basis of its financial resources, in accordance with 19 section 627, and (3) the estimated total amount to be loaned 20 for needed hospital projects in the State; and with respect to 21 section 612, these factors and, in addition, (4) the special 22 administrative problems of the State in carrying out the pur-23 poses of section 612: Provided, That if funds available in 24 any fiscal year for allotment to the States under section 611
25 are less than the aggregate estimated total grants and loans

1 for needed hospital projects in all the States, the amount first 2 allotted to any State shall not exceed three times the amount 3 which is the same proportion of the total amount available
4 for allotment as the State population is of the total population 5 of the States, except that this limitation shall not prohibit 6 such reallotments, from time to time and after consultation
7 with the Council, as are intended to ensure that allotments, 8 or portions thereof, not likely to be utilized in the fiscal year 9 will be available for hospital projects in States fully utilizing 10 their allotments: Provided further, That if, following observ-11 ance of such limitation, funds available in any fiscal year for 12 allotment to the States under section 611 are less than the 13 aggregate estimated total grants and loans for needed hospital
14 projects in all the States, the allotments for the several States 15 shall be reduced on a pro rata basis so that the total of allot-16 ments for all States is equal to the funds available for allot-17 ment.

18 "(b) (1) With respect to appropriations pursuant to 19 section 611, the amount of an allotment to any State under 20 subsection (a) of this section for any fiscal year remaining 21 unobligated and unexpended at the end of the following 22 fiscal year shall be available for allotment to States under 23 subsection (a) for the succeeding fiscal year, in addition 24 to, and in the same manner as, the amount appropriated 25 for such year; and (2) with respect to appropriations pur-

1 suant to section 612, the amount of an allotment to any 2 State under subsection (a) of this section remaining un-
3 obligated and unexpended at the end of the fiscal year
4 shall be available for allotment to States under subsection 5 (a) for the succeeding fiscal year, in addition to, and in 6 the same manner as, the amount appropriated for such year.
7 "(c) In determining the estimated total cost of needed 8 hospital projects: (1) With respect to States which have 9 plans approved under section 613, the estimates shall be 10 based upon information furnished in accordance with the 11 approved State plans; and (2) with respect to other States, 12 the estimates shall be prepared by the Surgeon General 13 on the basis of surveys made by him or under his direction.
14 "(d) Upon making allotments or reallotments to a 15 State for a fiscal year under this section, and after their ap-16 proval by the Federal Security Administrator, the Surgeon
17 General shall notify the Secretary of the Treasury of the 18 amounts thereof.
19 "APPLICATION FOR CONSTRUCTION GRANTS AND LOANS; 20 APPROVAL; PAYMENTS
21 "SEC. 615. (a) Any State, county, health, or hospital 22 district, or other political subdivisions of a State, or any 23 nonprofit organization, alone or in combination, which de-24 sires to receive a grant or a grant and loan from ap-25 propriations made pursuant to section 611 shall make

1 application therefor to the Surgeon General. Each such 2 application shall contain information necessary to establish 3 the need (in addition to existing public and private hospi-4 tals) for the hospital project to which such application re-5 lates and shall give assurance acceptable to the Surgeon
6 General that such hospital (a) will be made available, 7 under appropriate conditions and to the extent of the hospital 8 facilities, to every person residing in the territorial area of 9 the applicant for such hospital, without discrimination on 10 account of race, creed, or color: Provided, That wherever 11 separate health facilities are required by law for 12 separate population groups, equitable provisions upon the 13 basis of need will be made for facilities and services of like 14 quality for each such group; and (b) will be utilized in 15 furnishing services of satisfactory quality, in accordance 16 with standards prescribed by the State in which the hospital 17 is located or, in the absence of such standards, in accordance 18 with standards established or approved by the Surgeon
19 General after consultation with the Council.

20 "(b) Each application, except as provided in subsec-21 tion (c) of this section, shall be submitted by or with the 22 approval of the State agency authorized by the State to 23 administer the State plan previously approved under section 24 613 of this title, and shall be certified by such State agency
25 as being in conformity with and according to such State

1 plan. Each application so submitted shall bear a priority
2 rating from the State agency, indicating the relative urgency
3 of the hospital project in carrying out the State plan. Such 4 priority rating shall be made by the State agency with 5 regard for the purposes expressed in section 611.

6 "(c) Prior to the submittal and approval of a State 7 plan for carrying out the purposes of this title, and during 8 that period when such a plan previously approved has been 9 disapproved because it has been so modified or has other-10 wise failed to meet the requirements of an approved plan, 11 each application for a hospital project in a State without 12 an approved State plan shall be required to be in accord 13 and consistent with the need for hospital projects in such 14 States as determined by surveys made by or under the 15 direction of the Surgeon General. Prior to December 31, 16 1947, no application for a hospital project in a State that 17 does not have a State plan previously approved under 18 section 613 shall be approved by the Surgeon General 19 unless such application is for a hospital project (1) located 20 in a rural community urgently in need of the hospital 21 project; or (2) intended to furnish services to the popula-22 tion of a rural community and the urban centers of a rural 23 community urgently in need of the hospital project; or 24 (3) located in an area in which existing hospitals are so 25 grossly inadequate as a consequence of the war, and in

1 which the need for additional hospitals is likely to con-
2 tinue, that the continued inadequacy is likely to seriously 3 endanger the health and welfare of the area; or (4) is 4 essential to the continued maintenance or operation of a 5 needed existing hospital; or (5) is for the construction 6 of a public-health center recommended or approved by the 7 State health agency. Each application made in accord-
8 ance with this subsection shall be given a priority rating
9 by the Surgeon General, indicating the relative urgency
10 of the hospital project for the State in which it is located, 11 after consultation with the State health agency. Such 12 priority rating shall be made by the Surgeon General with 13 regard for the purposes expressed in section 611.

14 "(d) No application shall be approved by the Surgeon
15 General unless he finds it to be in conformity with (1)
16 the approved State plan, if the application is for a hospital
17 project in a State which has an approved plan, or (2)
18 his determination of needed hospital projects, if the applica-19 tion is for a hospital project in a State which does not have 20 an approved plan.

21 "(e) Each application for a hospital project out of 22 funds appropriated under section 611 shall contain, in addi-
23 tion to the requirements of section 623—

24 "(1) a description of the site for such project;

25 "(2) preliminary plans and specifications therefor;

1 "(3) assurances satisfactory to the Surgeon General 2 that title to such site is, or will be, vested solely in the 3 applicant; and
4 "(4) assurances satisfactory to the Surgeon Gen-5 eral that the Treasury of the United States will be 6 entitled to recover an equitable share (A) in the pro-
7 ceeds from the sale or transfer of the aided hospital 8 to other than an agency or organization qualified to be 9 an applicant for such grant, and (B) in the value of the 10 hospital the use or operation of which the Surgeon 11 General finds has been diverted from the purposes for 12 which a grant is authorized to be made under this title, 13 whether or not such diversion is accompanied by change
14 of ownership. Such equitable share shall be determined, 15 in accordance with regulations, by taking into account 16 the amount of such grant, the time elapsed between 17 the date of such grant and the date of such sale, transfer, 18 or diversion, and the normal rate of obsolescence of a 19 hospital project of the same kind.
20 "(f) On the basis of such application and such other 21 information as the Surgeon General may require, and after 22 affording an applicant whose application has been in whole 23 or in part disapproved an opportunity to be heard as to the 24 need for a hospital project, its size, and the amount of the 25 Federal grant or grant and loan requested, and—

1 "(1) if the applicant is a State, after taking into 2 consideration the financial resources of the State (as 3 specified in section 627), and, with respect to a loan 4 requested by such an applicant, its ability to borrow 5 the requested loan in the open market; or 6 "(2) if the applicant is a political subdivision of a 7 State, after taking into consideration the financial re-8 sources of the State (as specified in section 627) in 9 which the applicant is located and, with respect to a 10 loan requested by such an applicant, its financial condi-
11 tion and ability to borrow the requested loan in the open 12 market; or 13 "(3) if the applicant is a nonprofit organization, 14 after taking into consideration the financial resources of 15 the State (as specified in section 627) in which the 16 applicant is located, and, with respect to a loan requested 17 by such an applicant, its financial condition and ability 18 to borrow the requested loan in the open market—
19 the Surgeon General shall refer the application to the Council 20 for review and recommendation and shall then determine 21 whether to approve the application. A grant, if approved 22 by the Surgeon General, shall not be less than 25 per centum 23 nor more than 50 per centum of the cost of the hospital 24 project, and with respect to each hospital project shall be

1 the amount computed by applying the percentage determined
2 as specified in section 627 to the cost of such hospital project
3 and equipment therefor: Provided, That each such grantee 4 may qualify for a supplementary loan of an amount which 5 shall not exceed 25 per centum of the cost of such hospital 6 project and equipment therefor.

7 "(g) In determining whether to approve a project, in 8 determining whether to certify any installment, and in any 9 inspection under this section, the Surgeon General shall so 10 far as practicable utilize, in accordance with section 623, 11 the services and advice of the Federal Works Agency in 12 reviewing the title, working drawings, and specifications 13 of any project, supervising the awarding of contracts, and 14 inspecting the performance of the work.

15 "(h) After receiving proof satisfactory to him that the 16 applicant will have available sufficient funds to pay when 17 due its share of the cost of such project and equipment there-18 for, the Surgeon General shall recommend to the Federal 19 Security Administrator the amount of the grant or of the 20 grant and loan to be made pursuant to such application.
21 The Federal Security Administrator shall notify the Surgeon
22 General, the Federal Works Administrator, and the appli-23 cant of his approval or disapproval of such recommendation.

24 "(i) If the Federal Security Administrator approves
25 such recommendation, the Surgeon General shall from time

1 to time certify to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment
2 to the applicant such installments of the grant or of the grant 3 and loan as the Surgeon General may determine, having 4 regard for recommendations as to such installments made 5 by the Federal Works Administrator: Provided, That in 6 each fiscal year the cumulative total of amounts certified to 7 the Secretary of the Treasury for payments to applicants in 8 a State shall not exceed the amount of the allotment to the 9 State for construction in accordance with section 614 (d).
10 "(j) The Federal Security Administrator shall transfer 11 to the Federal Works Agency or to the head of any executive 12 department utilized in accordance with section 623, out of 13 the funds appropriated pursuant to the authorization con-14 tained in section 624, such amounts as may be necessary to 15 reimburse the Federal Works Administrator or the head of 16 such other executive department for necessary expenditures 17 made by him under this section.
18 "(k) Amendment of any approved application shall be 19 subject to approval in the same manner as an original appli-
20 cation. Certification under subsection (d) of this section 21 may be amended, either upon approval of an amendment of 22 the application or upon revision of the estimated cost of a 23 project. An amended certification may direct that an addi-24 tional payment be made from the applicable allotment for 25 the fiscal year in which such amended certification is made.

1 "(l) The funds paid under this section for the construc-2 tion of an approved hospital project shall be used solely for 3 carrying out such project as so approved.
4 "(m) From the allotments under section 614 for ad-
5 ministrative expenses, each State which has a plan approved 6 under section 613 and which has one or more hospital 7 projects approved under this section, shall be entitled to 8 receive an administration grant, equal to a percentage of 9 the amount which the Surgeon General determines to be 10 necessary for the proper and efficient administration of the 11 plan, such percentage to be the same as the percentage 12 determined for the construction grant to the same State
13 under subsection (f) of this section. The Surgeon General
14 shall recommend to the Federal Security Administrator 15 the amount of the administration grant to each State and,
16 after approval by the Administrator, the Surgeon General 17 shall from time to time certify to the Secretary of the 18 Treasury for payment to each State such installments of 19 the administration grant as the Surgeon General shall certify: 20 Provided, That in each fiscal year the cumulative total of 21 amounts certified to the Secretary of the Treasury for pay-22 ments to applicants in a State shall not exceed the amount of 23 the allotment to the State for administration made in accord-24 ance with section 614 (d).
25 "(n) Upon receiving any certification under this section

1 the Secretary of the Treasury shall, prior to audit or settle-
2 ment by the General Accounting Office, pay to the payee 3 named in such certification the amount so certified.

4 "PART C—MISCELLANEOUS

5 "DEFINITIONS

6 "SEC. 621. When used in this title—

7 "(a) The term 'State' includes Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto 8 Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the District of Columbia.

9 "(b) The term 'nonprofit organization' means any pri-10 vate agency owning and operating, or owning, constructing, 11 and operating, a hospital, no part of the net earnings of 12 which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or 13 individual.

14 "(c) The term 'hospital' includes public-health centers
15 and general, tuberculosis, mental, chronic disease, convales-
16 cent, and other types of hospitals, diagnostic and treatment 17 centers, institutions for the care of the chronic sick, the 18 equipment thereof, and facilities relating thereto such as 19 laboratories, out-patient departments, nurses' homes and 20 training facilities, and central service facilities operated in 21 connection with hospitals, but shall not include any hospital 22 furnishing primarily domiciliary care.

23 "(d) The term 'public-health center' means a publicly 24 owned facility for the provision of public-health services and 25 medical care, including related facilities such as laboratories,

1 clinics, and administrative offices operated in connection with 2 public-health centers.
3 "(e) The term 'hospital project' includes the construc-
4 tion, improvement, or enlargement of a hospital.
5 "(f) The term 'construction' includes construction of 6 new buildings, expansion, remodeling, and alteration of ex-7 isting buildings, initial equipment of any such buildings, and 8 landscaping the site thereof; including architects' fees, legal 9 counsel, and all other expenses incidental to construction, 10 but excluding the cost of off-site improvements and, except 11 with respect to public-health centers, the cost of the acquisi-12 tion of land.
13 "WITHHOLDING OF CERTIFICATION
14 "SEC. 622. Whenever the Surgeon General, after rea-
15 sonable notice and opportunity for hearing to a State agency 16 (designated in accordance with sections 602 (a) (2) or 17 613 (a) (2)) or to any other applicant for funds appro-18 priated under sections 601, 611, or 612 finds that there 19 is a failure to comply substantially either with any pro-20 vision required to be included in the application for a 21 grant or loan from funds available under any such section 22 or with regulations under this title applicable to such appli-23 cation or to such grant or loan, the Surgeon General shall 24 notify such State agency or other applicant that further 25 payments will not be made to the State or to such other

1 applicant with respect to funds available under the relevant
2 section of this title until he is satisfied that there is no
3 longer any such failure to comply. Until he is so satisfied, 4 he shall make no further recommendation to the Federal 5 Security Administrator for grants or loans, and the Ad-
6 ministrator and the Surgeon General shall make no further 7 certification to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment, 8 to such State or other applicant with respect to funds appro-
9 priated under the relevant section of this title.

10 "ADMINISTRATION BY THE SURGEON GENERAL

11 "SEC. 623. In carrying out the purposes of this title, 12 the Surgeon General shall consult with other Federal health 13 and welfare agencies and with departments or agencies
14 having special interest in the health needs of population 15 groups, regions, areas, or types of communities, and shall 16 cooperate with them to the fullest practicable extent. With 17 the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, the 18 Surgeon General is authorized to utilize the services and 19 facilities of any executive department in accordance with 20 an agreement with the head thereof. The Surgeon General 21 is authorized, after consultation with the Council as to 22 general policies—

23 "(a) To conduct, assist, and foster studies, surveys, 24 and investigations with respect to need for hospitals and 25 hospital projects;

1 "(b) To cooperate with State and local health and 2 welfare authorities and with professional and other agencies
3 concerned with the need for and the utilization of hospitals,
4 and, upon request, to assist States in making studies, surveys, 5 and investigations and in developing State-wide plans with 6 respect to need for hospitals and hospital projects; 7 "(c) To carry out the duties and functions assigned to 8 him in this title;
9 "(d) To procure insurance on any hospital or equipment 10 constructed or provided with loans pursuant to this title.
11 Such insurance shall be in such amounts, against such risks, 12 and with such insurers as the Surgeon General may deem 13 necessary to safeguard the amount loaned under the pro-14 vision of this title, such insurance costs to be paid by the 15 agency or the organization receiving the loan; 16 "(e) To require, in addition to insurance, such additional 17 security against a loan made under the provisions of this 18 title as he deems necessary and reasonable, taking into ac-19 count the legal authorization of the applicant for a loan to 20 give such security;
21 "(f) From time to time, to make, with the approval of 22 the Administrator, such rules and regulations as may be 23 necessary to carry out the purposes of, and as are not 24 inconsistent with other provisions of, this title, including

1 rules and regulations prescribing forms and procedures in 2 connection with applications for grants and loans.

3 "APPROPRIATIONS FOR ADMINISTRATION BY THE SURGEON
4 GENERAL

5 "SEC. 624. To enable the Surgeon General to carry out 6 the purposes of this title, there is hereby authorized to be ap-7 propriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, the sum 8 of $2,000,000, and there is hereby authorized to be appro-
9 priated for each year thereafter a sum sufficient to enable him
10 to carry out the purposes of this title, including the printing 11 of forms and reports, the making of studies with respect to 12 need for hospitals, for the pay, allowances, and traveling ex-13 penses of commissioned officers and other personnel of the 14 Public Health Service detailed to assist in carrying out the 15 purposes of this title in the District of Columbia and else-16 where, and for making reimbursements authorized in this 17 title to the Federal Works Administrator and to the heads of 18 other executive departments.

19 "NATIONAL ADVISORY HOSPITAL CONSTRUCTION COUNCIL

20 "SEC. 625. (a) There is hereby established a National 21 Advisory Hospital Construction Council (referred to in this 22 title as the 'Council') to consist of the Surgeon General ex 23 officio, who shall be Chairman, and of eight members to be 24 appointed without regard to the civil-service laws by the Sur-

1 geon General, after consultation with the National Advisory 2 Medical Policy Council established in accordance with the 3 provisions of section 204 of the Social Security Amendments
4 of 1945 and with the approval of the Federal Security Admin-5 istrator. The eight appointed members of the Council shall 6 be selected from leading medical or other authorities who are 7 outstanding in matters pertaining to hospitals, public health, 8 and other health services, and from among other persons who 9 are concerned with the need for hospitals in urban and rural 10 areas. Each appointed member shall hold office for a term 11 of four years, except that any member appointed to fill a va-12 cancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which 13 his predecessor was appointed shall be appointed for the re-
14 mainder of such term, and the terms of office of the members
15 first taking office shall expire, as designated by the Surgeon
16 General at the time of appointment, two at the end of the 17 first year, two at the end of the second year, two at the end 18 of the third year, and two at the end of the fourth year after 19 the date of appointment. Each appointed member shall re-20 ceive compensation at the rate of $25 per day while serving 21 on business of the Council; and actual and necessary traveling 22 and subsistence expenses while so serving away from his 23 place of residence.

24 "(b) The Council shall advise the Surgeon General 25 with reference to carrying out the provisions of this title,

1 including the formulation and use of (1) standards which 2 are necessary to insure the construction of proper buildings
3 and the securing of proper equipment; and (2) standards
4 to be considered in determining the need for hospital proj-
5 ects with respect to which surveys are made or applications
6 are submitted in carrying out the purposes of sections 601
7 and 611, and in determining whether hospitals constructed 8 through such projects will be adequately maintained and 9 will otherwise fulfill the requirements of this title.

10 "(c) The Council is authorized and directed to review 11 and to make recommendations to the Surgeon General with 12 respect to all applications for survey grants to States and 13 grants for hospital projects on which the Surgeon General 14 may act pursuant to the provisions of this title.

15 "(d) The Council is authorized to establish such special 16 advisory or technical committees as may be useful in carry-
17 ing out its functions.

18 "(e) The Council shall meet as frequently as the Sur-19 geon General deems necessary, but not less than twice each 20 year. Upon request by three or more members, it shall be 21 the duty of the Surgeon General to call a meeting of the 22 Council.

23 "CONFERENCES OF STATE AGENCIES

24 "SEC. 626. Whenever in his opinion the purposes of 25 this title would be promoted by a conference, the Surgeon

1 General may invite representatives of as many State agencies
2 (designated in accordance with sections 602 (a) (2) 3 and/or 613 (a) (2)) and other persons expert with re-4 spect to hospitals and related matters to confer as he deems 5 necessary and proper. Upon the application of five or more 6 of such States agencies, it shall be the duty of the Surgeon
7 General to call a conference of representatives of all State
8 agencies joining in the request. A conference of the repre-
9 sentatives of all State agencies shall be called annually and 10 the Surgeon General shall invite thereto other persons, expert
11 with respect to hospitals and related matters, from States 12 which do not have approved plans under section 613.
13 Insofar as practicable, the Surgeon General shall obtain 14 the agreement of representatives of State agencies (desig-15 nated in accordance with section 602 (a) (2) or 613 (a) 16 (2)) on proposed policies and regulations, or amendments 17 thereto, prior to their adoption or promulgation with respect 18 to carrying out the purposes of section 601 and of sections 19 611 and 612, respectively.

20 "GENERAL PROVISIONS

21 "SEC. 627. (a) The 'financial resources' of the several 22 States shall be measured by per capita income accruing to 23 the inhabitants thereof.

24 "(b) Allotments made under section 614 and payments 25 made under section 615, from funds appropriated under

1 section 611 or 612, shall represent not less than 25 per 2 centum and not more than 50 per centum of the cost of 3 hospital projects or of administration, respectively, in any 4 State. For each State whose per capita income is greater 5 than or equal to the per capita income of the continental
6 United States, and for the District of Columbia, Alaska, and 7 Hawaii, the allotments and the payments shall represent 25
8 per centum of such cost. For each State whose per capita 9 income is less than the per capita income of the continental 10 United States, the allotments and the payments shall repre-
11 sent a percentage of the cost of hospital projects or of ad-12 ministration such that the proportion of the cost not covered 13 by the allotments and the payments bears the same ratio
14 to 75 per centum as the per capita income of the State 15 bears to the per capita income of the continental United 16 States, except that such percentage shall be rounded to the 17 nearest whole per centum. The payments to Puerto Rico 18 and the Virgin Islands shall represent 50 per centum of such 19 cost.

20 "(c) The Federal grant percentages representing the 21 proportions of the total cost of hospital projects or of admin-22 istration, respectively, for which Federal allotments will be 23 made or for which Federal payments will be available shall 24 be promulgated by the Surgeon General between July 1 and 25 August 31 of each even-numbered year, on the basis of the

1 average of the per capita incomes of the States and of the 2 continental United States for the three most recent consecu-3 tive years for which satisfactory data are available from the 4 Department of Commerce. Such promulgation shall for the 5 purposes of this section be conclusive for each of the two 6 fiscal years in the period beginning July 1 next succeeding 7 such promulgation: Provided, That the Surgeon General 8 shall promulgate such percentages as soon as possible after 9 the enactment of this Act, which promulgation shall be con-10 clusive for the purposes of this section for each of the two 11 fiscal years in the period beginning July 1, 1945, and ending
12 June 30, 1947.

13 "SEC. 628. Upon the recommendation of the Surgeon 14 General, the Federal Security Administrator shall submit to 15 the Bureau of the Budget each year cost estimates of hos-16 pital construction under this title for the ensuing fiscal year, 17 together with such other data as may be necessary for 18 the preparation of the Budget estimates.

19 "SEC. 629. This title shall not be construed as limiting 20 (a) the functions or authority of the Surgeon General or 21 the Public Health Service, or of any other officer or agency
22 of the United States, relating to the study or the prevention, 23 diagnosis, and treatment of disease, or (b) the expenditure 24 of money therefor.

25 "SEC. 630. Appointment is hereby authorized in the 1 Public Health Service of such personnel and in such grades

2 as may be necessary for the proper and efficient adminis-
3 tration of this title, without regard to limitations otherwise 4 specified in this Act.

5 "SEC. 631. The Surgeon General shall include in his 6 annual report for transmission to Congress a full report of 7 the administration of this title, including a detailed statement 8 of appropriations and disbursements. Such report shall in-9 clude a record of consultations with the Council, recom-
10 mendations of the Council, and comments thereon.

11 "SEC. 632. Any contract for any hospital project to 12 be undertaken with funds appropriated pursuant to this 13 title shall provide that the wages paid or to be paid to 14 laborers and mechanics employed in connection with such 15 hospital project shall not be less than the wages prevailing 16 in the locality for work of a similar nature, as determined 17 or adopted (subsequent to a determination under applicable 18 State or local law) by the Secretary of Labor.

19 "SHORT TITLE

20 "SEC. 633. This title may be cited as the 'Hospital and 21 Health Center Construction Act'."

22 SEC. 3. The Act of July 1, 1944 (58 Stat. 682), is 23 hereby further amended by changing the number of title 24 VI to VII and by changing the numbers of section 601 to 25 612, inclusive, to 701 to 712, respectively.

1 GRANTS TO STATES FOR PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

2 SEC. 4. Section 314 of the Public Health Service Act 3 (Act of July 1, 1944, 58 Stat. 682) is hereby amended to 4 read as follows:

5 "GRANTS AND SERVICES TO STATES

6 "SEC. 314. (a) To enable the Surgeon General to 7 carry out the purposes of section 301 with respect to de-
8 veloping more effective measures for the prevention, treat-
9 ment, and control of venereal diseases, and to assist, through 10 grants and as otherwise provided in this section, States, 11 counties, health districts, and other political subdivisions of 12 the States in establishing and maintaining adequate measures
13 for the prevention, treatment, and control of such diseases,
14 including the training of personnel for State and local health
15 work, and to enable him to prevent and control the spread
16 of the venereal diseases in interstate traffic, and to meet
17 the cost of pay, allowances, and traveling expenses of com-
18 missioned officers and other personnel of the Service detailed 19 to assist in carrying out the purposes of this section with 20 respect to the venereal diseases, and to administer this sec-
21 tion with respect to such diseases, there is hereby authorized 22 to be appropriated for each fiscal year a sum sufficient to 23 carry out the purposes of this subsection.

24 "(b) To enable the Surgeon General to carry out the 25 purposes of section 301 with respect to developing more

1 effective measures for the prevention, treatment, and control
2 of tuberculosis, and to assist, through grants and as other-
3 wise provided in this section, States, counties, health districts,
4 and other political subdivisions of the States in establishing 5 and maintaining adequate measures for the prevention, treat-
6 ment, and control of such disease, including the provision of 7 appropriate facilities for care and treatment and including 8 the training of personnel for State and local health work, and 9 to enable him to prevent and control the spread of tubercu-
10 losis in interstate traffic, and to meet the cost of pay, allow-11 ances, and traveling expenses of commissioned officers and 12 other personnel of the Service detailed to assist in carrying 13 out the purposes of this section with respect to tuberculosis,
14 and to administer this section with respect to such disease, 15 there is hereby authorized to be appropriated for the fiscal 16 year ending June 30, 1945, the sum of $10,000,000, and 17 for each fiscal year thereafter a sum sufficient to carry out 18 the purposes of this subsection.

19 "(c) For each fiscal year, the Surgeon General, with 20 the approval of the Administrator, shall determine the total 21 sum from the appropriation under subsection (a) and the 22 total sum from the appropriation under subsection (b)
23 which shall be available for allotment among the several 24 States. He shall, in accordance with regulations, from time

1 to time make allotments from such sums to the several States
2 on the basis of (1) the population, (2) the size of the 3 venereal-disease problem, and the size of the tuberculosis
4 problem, respectively, and (3) the financial need of the 5 respective States. Upon making such allotments the Surgeon
6 General shall notify the Secretary of the Treasury of the 7 amounts thereof.

8 "(d) The Surgeon General, with the approval of the 9 Administrator, shall from time to time determine the amounts
10 to be paid to each State from the allotments to such State
11 under subsection (c), and shall certify to the Secretary of 12 the Treasury the amounts so determined, reduced or in-13 creased, as the case may be, by the amounts by which he 14 finds that estimates of required expenditures with respect to 15 any prior period were greater or less than the actual expendi-
16 tures for such period. Upon receipt of such certification, the 17 Secretary of the Treasury shall, through the Division of 18 Disbursement of the Treasury Department and prior to audit
19 or settlement by the General Accounting Office, pay in 20 accordance with such certification.

21 "(e) Money so paid under subsection (d) shall be paid
22 upon the condition that there shall be spent in such State
23 for the same general purpose from funds of such State and 24 its political subdivisions an amount determined in accordance 25 with regulations.

1 "(f) (1) To enable the Surgeon General to assist,
2 through grants and as otherwise provided in this section,
3 States, counties, health districts, and other political sub-
4 divisions of the States to extend and improve public-health
5 work by establishing and maintaining adequate public-health
6 services as rapidly as may be practicable under the conditions
7 in the States, especially by improving such services in rural 8 communities, in economically depressed areas, and in other
9 communities or areas where such services are below nationally
10 accepted standards of adequate public-health services, includ-
11 ing grants for demonstrations and for the training of per-12 sonnel for State and local public-health work, there is hereby 13 authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year, beginning
14 with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient
15 to carry out the purposes of this section. Of the sum appro-
16 priated for each fiscal year pursuant to this subsection there 17 shall be available an amount, not to exceed $5,000,000, to 18 enable the Surgeon General to provide demonstrations and 19 to train personnel for State and local health work and to 20 meet the cost of pay, allowances, and traveling expenses of 21 commissioned officers and other personnel of the Service
22 detailed to assist States in carrying out the purposes of this 23 subsection.

24 "(2) A State plan to be approved under this sub-25 section must (A) provide for financial participation by

1 the State; (B) provide for a State-wide program or for 2 extension of the program each year so that it shall be in 3 effect in all political subdivisions of the State in need of 4 services not later than the beginning of the fiscal year 5 ending June 30, 1950; (C) provide for extension and 6 improvement of public-health work in the State, in accord-7 ance with the purposes of paragraph (1) of this subsection; 8 (D) provide for the administration of the plan by the 9 State health agency or the supervision by the State health 10 agency of the administration of any part of the plan ad-
11 ministered by another State agency or by a political sub-12 division of the State; (E) provide such methods of 13 administration (including methods relating to the estab-
14 lishment and maintenance of personnel standards on a merit
15 basis, except that the Surgeon General shall exercise no 16 authority with respect to the selection, tenure of office, and 17 compensation of any individual employed in accordance 18 with such methods) as are found by the Surgeon General 19 to be necessary for the proper and efficient operation of the 20 plan; (F) provide for an advisory council or councils, com-21 posed of members of the professions and agencies, public 22 and private, that furnish services under the State plan, 23 and other persons informed on the need for, or provision
24 of, public-health services; (G) provide that the State health 25 agency will make such reports, in such form and containing

1 such information, as the Surgeon General may from time
2 to time require, and comply with such provisions as the 3 Surgeon General may from time to time find necessary to 4 assure the correctness and verification of such reports; (H)
5 provide for cooperation and, when necessary, for working 6 agreements between the State health agency and any public 7 agency or agencies administering services related to the 8 public-health services furnished under the State plan, in-9 cluding public agencies concerned with welfare, assistance, 10 social insurance, workmen's compensation, labor, industrial 11 hygiene, education, or medical care; (I) provide that the 12 State health agency (or other State agency administering 13 public-health services under this plan) shall have authority 14 to make and publish such rules and regulations as are neces-15 sary for the efficient operation of such services, having special 16 regard for the quality and economy of service.

17 "(3) The Surgeon General shall approve any plan 18 which fulfills the conditions specified in paragraph (2) of 19 this subsection.

20 "(4) From the sums appropriated therefor under this 21 subsection, the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay to each
22 State which has an approved plan under this subsection,
23 for each year or part thereof covered by such plan, amounts 24 which shall be used exclusively for carrying out the purposes
25 of this subsection. These payments shall be in such propor-

1 tion to the total amount of public funds expended under the 2 State plan, during each year or part thereof covered by such 3 plan, as is determined in accordance with paragraph (5) of 4 this subsection upon the basis of the financial resources of 5 the State, not counting so much of such total expenditures 6 by the State as are included in any other State plan aided by 7 grants under any other subsection of this Act or any other 8 Act of Congress.

9 "(5) (A) The financial resources of the several States
10 shall be measured by per capita income accruing to the in-11 habitants thereof. (B) The proportion of total expendi-
12 tures under each State plan, with respect to which payments 13 are provided under paragraph (4) of this subsection, shall 14 not be less than 25 per centum and not more than 75 per 15 centum. The proportion for each State shall be such that 16 the percentage of total expenditures in a year, or part there-
17 of, which is not covered by the Federal payment bears 18 the same ratio to 50 per centum as the per capita income 19 of the State bears to the per capita income of the continental 20 United States, except that such proportion shall be rounded
21 to the nearest whole per centum: Provided, That the pro-
22 portion for Alaska and Hawaii shall be 50 per centum,
23 and for Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands shall be 75
24 per centum. (C) The percentages representing the pro-25 portion of total expenditures under this program for which

1 Federal payments will be available shall be promulgated by 2 the Surgeon General between July 1 and August 31 of 3 each even-numbered year, on the basis of the average of 4 the per capita incomes of the States and of the continental 5 United States for the three most recent consecutive years
6 for which satisfactory data are available from the Department 7 of Commerce. Such promulgation shall for the purposes of 8 this section be conclusive for each of the eight quarters in 9 the period beginning July 1 next succeeding such promulga-
10 tion: Provided, That the Surgeon General shall promulgate 11 such percentages as soon as possible after the enactment of 12 this Act, which promulgation shall be conclusive for the 13 purposes of this subsection for each of the two fiscal years
14 in the period beginning July 1, 1945, and ending June 30, 15 1947.

16 "(6) The Surgeon General shall, from time to time
17 but not less often than semiannually, estimate the amount
18 to be paid to each State for each year or part thereof under 19 the provisions of paragraph (4), such estimate to be based 20 on (A) a report filed by the State containing its estimate 21 of the total sum to be expended in such period in accordance 22 with the provisions of paragraph (4), and (B) such other
23 data as to such estimated expenditures and such other inves-
24 tigations as the Surgeon General may find necessary. The 25 Surgeon General shall then certify to the Secretary of the

1 Treasury the amount so estimated, reduced or increased, as
2 the case may be, by any sum by which the Surgeon General
3 finds that his estimate for any prior period was greater or 4 less than the amount which should have been paid to the 5 State under paragraph (4) for such period; except that such 6 increases or reductions shall not be made to the extent that 7 such sum has been applied to make the amount certified for 8 any prior period greater or less than the amount estimated
9 by the Surgeon General for such prior period. The Secre-
10 tary of the Treasury shall, prior to audit or settlement by the 11 General Accounting Office, pay to the State, at the time or 12 times fixed by the Surgeon General, the amount so certified.
13 "(g) The moneys so paid to any State under subsections
14 (d) and (f) shall be expended solely in carrying out the 15 purposes specified in subsection (a), or subsection (b), or 16 subsection (f) of this section, as the case may be, and in 17 accordance with plans presented by the health authority of 18 such State and approved by the Surgeon General.
19 "(h) Whenever the Surgeon General, after reasonable 20 notice and opportunity for hearing to the health authority of 21 the State, finds that, with respect to money paid to the State
22 out of appropriations under subsection (a), or subsection
23 (b), or subsection (f), as the case may be, there is a failure
24 to comply substantially with either—
25 "(1) the provisions of this section;

1 "(2) the plan submitted under subsection (f) or 2 subsection (g), as may be pertinent; or
3 "(3) the regulations;
4 the Surgeon General shall notify such State health authority
5 either that further payments will not be made to the State
6 from appropriations under such subsection (or in his dis-
7 cretion that further payments will not be made to the State
8 from such appropriations for activities in which there is 9 such failure), until he is satisfied that there will no longer
10 be any such failure. Until he is so satisfied the Surgeon
11 General shall make no further certification for payment to 12 such State from appropriations under such subsection, or 13 shall limit payment to activities in which there is no such 14 failure.
15 "(i) All regulations and amendments thereto with re-
16 spect to grants to States under this section shall be made
17 after consultation with a conference of the State health
18 authorities. Insofar as practicable, the Surgeon General
19 shall obtain the agreement of the State health authorities
20 prior to the issuance of any such regulations or amendments.
21 "(j) Funds appropriated under subsection (a) and 22 funds appropriated under subsection (b), in addition to
23 being available for payments to States, shall also be available
24 for expenditure by the Surgeon General in otherwise carry-25 ing out the respective subsections, including expenditures for

1 printing and binding of the findings of investigations, and 2 for pay and allowances and traveling expenses of personnel
3 of the Service engaged in activities authorized by the respec-
4 tive subsections.

5 "(k) When used in subsection (f) of this section, the 6 term 'public-health work' includes customary and accepted
7 functions, services and activities of public-health agencies
8 with respect to: public-health administration; training of per-9 sonnel; vital statistics; sanitation of the human environment;
10 control of communicable and preventable diseases; labo-
11 ratory services; protection of health in maternity, infancy,
12 and childhood; public-health education; public-health nurs-
13 ing; research and the performance of demonstrations; medi-
14 cal and related services for prevention or mitigation of sick-
15 ness or disability and for the prevention of premature
16 death; planning and coordination of health services and 17 activities; enactment and enforcement of necessary standards
18 and regulations; production or procurement, and distribu-
19 tion, of therapeutic and prophylactic preparations; and 20 related matters. The term does not include: construction
21 of hospitals, water supplies, sewerage or other waste-dis-
22 posal systems, or of other facilities; operation or mainte-
23 nance of hospitals (except hospitals for persons afflicted with 24 infectious diseases), water supplies, sewerage or other 25 waste-disposal systems; and related matters."

1 GRANTS TO STATES FOR MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH

2 SEC. 5. Effective July 1, 1945, title V of the Social 3 Security Act, as amended, is amended to read as follows:

4 "GRANTS TO STATES FOR MATERNAL AND CHILD
5 HEALTH AND WELFARE SERVICES

6 "PART 1—MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH SERVICES

7 "APPROPRIATION

8 "SEC. 501. For the purpose of enabling each State to 9 extend and improve, as far as practicable under the conditions
10 in such State, services and facilities for promoting the health 11 of mothers and children, by establishing and maintaining ade-12 quate maternal and child-health services, and to develop more 13 effective measures for carrying out the purposes of this part 14 of this title, including demonstrations and the training of per-15 sonnel for State and local maternal and child-health work, 16 there is hereby authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal 17 year, beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, a 18 sum sufficient to carry out the purposes of this part of this title.
19 The sums made available under this section shall be used for 20 making payments to States which have submitted, and had 21 approved by the Chief of the Children's Bureau, State plans 22 for establishing and maintaining adequate maternal and child-
23 health services.

24 "APPROVAL OF STATE PLANS

25 "SEC. 502. (a) A State plan for maternal and child-

1 health services to be approved under this section must (1)
2 provide for financial participation by the State; (2) provide 3 for the administration of the plan by the State health agency 4 or the supervision of the administration of the plan by the 5 State health agency; (3) provide such methods of adminis-
6 tration (including methods relating to the establishment 7 and maintenance of personnel standards on a merit basis,
8 except that the Chief of the Children's Bureau shall exercise
9 no authority with respect to the selection, tenure of office, 10 and compensation of any individual employed in accordance 11 with such methods) as are necessary for the proper and 12 efficient operation of the plan; (4) provide that the State 13 agency will make such reports, in such form and containing 14 such information, as the Secretary of Labor may from time 15 to time require, and comply with such provisions as he may 16 from time to time find necessary to assure the correctness
17 and verification of such reports; (5) provide for the exten-
18 sion and improvement of local maternal- and child-health 19 services and facilities administered by local health units
20 so that the plan will be in effect in all political subdivisions 21 of the State not later than July 1, 1955; (6) provide for 22 cooperation with medical, health, nursing, education, and 23 welfare groups and organizations and, when necessary, for 24 working agreements with any public agency or agencies
25 administering or providing services related to the services

1 furnished under the State plan, including public agencies 2 concerned with nursing, education, welfare, assistance, social 3 insurance, workmen's compensation, labor, industrial hy-4 giene, or medical care; (7) provide for the development of 5 demonstration services and for the training of personnel;
6 (8) provide that as services and facilities are furnished 7 under the plan they shall be available to all mothers and 8 children in the State or locality who elect to participate 9 in the benefits of the program; and (9) provide that the 10 State agency shall have authority to make and publish such 11 rules and regulations as are necessary for the efficient oper-12 ation of such services, having special regard for the quality 13 and economy of service.

14 "(b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau shall approve
15 any plan for maternal and child-health services which ful-16 fills the conditions specified in subsection (a) and shall 17 thereupon notify the Secretary of Labor and the State 18 agency of his approval.

19 "PART 2—SERVICES FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

20 "APPROPRIATION

21 "SEC. 511. For the purpose of enabling each State to 22 extend and improve, as far as practicable under the condi-
23 tions in such State, services for locating crippled or otherwise 24 physically handicapped children, and for providing medical, 25 surgical, corrective, and other services and care, and facili-

1 ties for diagnosis, hospitalization, and aftercare, for children 2 who are crippled or otherwise physically handicapped or 3 who are suffering from conditions which lead to crippling, 4 and to develop more effective measures for carrying out the 5 purposes of this part of this title, including demonstrations
6 and the training of personnel for State and local crippled 7 children's services, there is hereby authorized to be appro-
8 priated for each fiscal year, beginning with the fiscal year 9 ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient to carry out the 10 purposes of this part of this title. The sums made available 11 under this section shall be used for making payments to 12 States which have submitted, and had approved by the 13 Chief of the Children's Bureau, State plans for establishing 14 and maintaining adequate crippled children's service.

16 "SEC. 512. (a) A State plan for services for crippled
17 and other handicapped children to be approved under this 18 section must (1) provide for financial participation by the 19 State; (2) provide for the administration of the plan by 20 a single State agency or the supervision of the administra-
21 tion of the plan by a single State agency, and for appro-
22 priate coordination of the plan with the maternal and child-23 health program of the State health agency; (3) provide 24 such methods of administration (including methods relating 25 to the establishment and maintenance of personnel stand-

1 ards on a merit basis, except that the Chief of the Children's 2 Bureau shall exercise no authority with respect to the selec-
3 tion, tenure of office, and compensation of any individual 4 employed in accordance with such methods) as are neces-
5 sary for the proper and efficient operation of the plan; (4) 6 provide that the State agency will make such reports, in 7 such form and containing such information, as the Secretary 8 of Labor may from time to time require, and comply with 9 such provisions as he may from time to time find necessary
10 to assure the correctness and verification of such reports;
11 (5) provide for carrying out the purposes specified in sec-12 tion 511 so that the program will be in effect in all political 13 subdivisions of the State, and the services and facilities 14 available to all crippled children; (6) provide for coopera-
15 tion with medical, health, nursing, education and welfare 16 groups and organizations and, when necessary, for working 17 agreements with any public agency or agencies administer-18 ing or providing services related to the services furnished 19 under the State plan, including public agencies concerned 20 with nursing, education, welfare, assistance, social insurance, 21 workmen's compensation, labor, industrial hygiene, or med-22 ical care; (7) provide that as services and facilities are 23 furnished under the plan they shall be available to all crip-24 pled children in the State who elect to participate in the 25 benefits of the program; and (8) provide that the State

1 agency shall have authority to make and publish such rules
2 and regulations as are necessary for the efficient operation 3 of such services, having special regard for the quality and 4 economy of service.

5 "(b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau shall approve
6 any plan for crippled children's services which fulfills the 7 conditions specified in subsection (a) and shall thereupon
8 notify the Secretary of Labor and the State agency of his 9 approval.

10 "PART 3—CHILD-WELFARE SERVICES

11 "APPROPRIATIONS

12 "SEC. 521. For the purpose of enabling each State to 13 establish new and to extend and strengthen existing child-14 welfare services needed for the prevention and control of 15 child dependency, neglect, and delinquency and of conditions 16 leading thereto, and in providing suitable care and protection 17 for children without parental care and supervision, and to 18 develop more effective measures for carrying out the purposes
19 of this title, including demonstrations and the training of per-20 sonnel, there is hereby authorized to be appropriated for each 21 of the fiscal years ending June 30, 1946, and June 30, 1947, 22 the sum of $15,000,000, and for each year thereafter a sum 23 sufficient to carry out the purposes of this part of this title.
24 The sums made available under this section shall be used for 25 making payments to States which have submitted, and had

1 approved by the Chief of the Children's Bureau, State plans
2 for establishing and maintaining adequate child-welfare 3 services.

5 "SEC. 522. (a) A State plan for child-welfare services
6 must (1) provide for financial participation by the State;
7 (2) provide for the administration of the plan by the State
8 public-welfare agency or the supervision of the administra-
9 tion of the plan by the State public-welfare agency; (3) 10 provide such methods of administration (including methods 11 relating to the establishment and maintenance of personnel 12 standards on a merit-basis, except that the Chief of the 13 Children's Bureau shall exercise no authority with respect 14 to the selection, tenure of office, and compensation of any 15 individual employed in accordance with such methods) as 16 are necessary for the proper and efficient administration of 17 the plan; (4) provide that the State public-welfare agency 18 will make such reports, in such form and containing such 19 information, as the Secretary of Labor may from time to 20 time require, and comply with such provisions as he may 21 from time to time find necessary to assure the correctness 22 and verification of such reports; (5) provide for carrying 23 out the purposes specified in section 521 so that such services 24 or services similar thereto will be available to all children

1 in need thereof in every part of the State not later than July 2 1, 1955; (6) provide for cooperation with health, education,
3 and welfare groups and organizations, and, when necessary,
4 for working agreements with any public agency or agencies
5 administering or providing services related to the services
6 furnished under the State plan; (7) provide that as services 7 are furnished under the plan, they shall be available to all 8 children in need of such services; and (8) provide for the 9 training of personnel.

10 "(b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau shall approve
11 any plan for child-welfare services which fulfills the condi-
12 tions specified in subsection (a) and shall thereupon notify 13 the Secretary of Labor and the State public-welfare agency 14 of his approval.

15 "PART 4—ADMINISTRATION

16 "PAYMENT TO STATES

17 "SEC. 531. (a) From the sums appropriated therefor
18 under section 501, 511, or 521, the Secretary of the Treas-19 ury shall pay to each State which has an approved plan for 20 maternal and child-health services, or for services to crippled 21 children, or for child-welfare services, respectively, for each 22 year or part thereof covered by such plan commencing July 23 1, 1945, amounts which shall be used exclusively for carry-24 ing out the purposes of the respective parts of this title.

1 These payments shall be in such proportion to the total
2 amount of public funds expended under the respective State 3 plan, during each year or part thereof covered by such plan, 4 as is determined in accordance with section 533 of this title
5 upon the basis of the financial resources of the State, not 6 counting so much of such total expenditures by the State as 7 are included in any other State plan aided by grants under 8 any other part of this title, or any other section of this 9 Act, or any other Act of Congress.

10 "(b) The method of computing and paying such 11 amounts shall be as follows:

12 "(1) The Secretary of Labor shall, from time to 13 time but not less often than semiannually, estimate the 14 amount to be paid to the State with respect to each
15 State plan for each year or part thereof under the pro-
16 visions of subsection (a) of this section, such estimate to 17 be based on (A) a report filed by the State containing 18 its estimate of the total sum to be expended for each
19 such plan in such period in accordance with the pro-
20 visions of subsection (a), and (B) such other data as 21 to such estimated expenditures and such other investiga-
22 tions as he may find necessary.

23 "(2) The Secretary of Labor shall then certify to 24 the Secretary of the Treasury the amount so estimated

1 for each State plan, reduced or increased, as the case
2 may be, by any sum by which the Secretary of Labor
3 finds that his estimate for any prior period for such 4 State plan was greater or less than the amount which 5 should have been paid to the State under subsection
6 (a) for such period; except that such increases or 7 reductions shall not be made to the extent that such 8 sum has been applied to make the amount certified
9 for any prior period greater or less than the amount
10 estimated by the Secretary of Labor for such prior 11 period.

12 "(3) The Secretary of the Treasury shall, prior 13 to audit or settlement by the General Accounting Office, 14 pay to the State, at the time or times fixed by the 15 Secretary of Labor, the amount so certified.

16 "OPERATION OF STATE PLANS

17 "SEC. 532. In case of any State plan for maternal and 18 child-health services, or for services to crippled children, 19 or for child-welfare services which has been approved by 20 the Chief of the Children's Bureau, if the Secretary of 21 Labor, after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing
22 to the State agency administering or supervising the admin-23 istration of such plan, finds that in the administration of the 24 plan there is a failure to comply substantially with any

1 provision required by section 502, or section 512, or section 2 521, respectively, to be included in the plan, he shall notify 3 such State agency that further payments will not be made to 4 the State under such plan until he is satisfied that there
5 is no longer any such failure to comply. Until he is so 6 satisfied, he shall make no further certification to the Sec-7 retary of the Treasury with respect to such plan for such 8 State.

9 "FEDERAL GRANT PERCENTAGES

10 "SEC. 533. (a) The financial resources of the several 11 States shall be measured by per capita income accruing to 12 the inhabitants thereof.

13 "(b) The proportion of total expenditures under each 14 State plan, with respect to which payments are provided 15 under section 531 of this title, shall not be less than 25
16 per centum and not more than 75 per centum. The pro-
17 portion for each State shall be such that the percentage 18 of total expenditures in a year, or part thereof, which is 19 not covered by the Federal payment bears the same ratio
20 to 50 per centum as the per capita income of the State bears 21 to the per capita income of the continental United States, 22 except that such proportion shall be rounded to the nearest 23 whole per centum: Provided, That the proportion for Alaska
24 and Hawaii shall be 50 per centum, and for Puerto Rico

1 and the Virgin Islands shall be 75 per centum.

2 "(c) The percentages representing the proportion of 3 total expenditures under these programs for which Federal 4 payments will be available shall be promulgated by the Sec-5 retary of Labor between July 1 and August 31 of each even-6 numbered year, on the basis of the average of the per capita 7 incomes of the States and of the continental United States
8 for the three most recent consecutive years for which satis-
9 factory data are available from the Department of Com-10 merce. Such promulgation shall for the purposes of this 11 section be conclusive for each of the eight quarters in the 12 period beginning July 1 next succeeding such promulgation:
13 Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor shall pro-14 mulgate such percentages as soon as possible after the enact-15 ment of this Act, which promulgation shall be conclusive 16 for the purposes of this section for each of the two fiscal 17 years in the period beginning July 1, 1945, and ending
18 June 30, 1947.

20 "SEC. 534. There is hereby authorized to be appro-
21 priated for each fiscal year, beginning with the fiscal year
22 ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient for all necessary
23 expenses of the Children's Bureau in administering the pro-24 visions of this title,

1 "STUDIES, INVESTIGATIONS, AND ADMINISTRATION

2 "SEC. 535. The Children's Bureau shall make such 3 studies and investigations as will promote the efficient ad-
4 ministration and operation of this title. In such administra-
5 tion, the Chief of the Children's Bureau shall pursue general 6 policies established by him after consultation with an advisory 7 committee composed of professional and public members 8 which he shall appoint (without regard to the civil-service 9 laws) with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, to advise 10 him on matters pertaining to the furnishing of the care and 11 services authorized by this title, and after consultation with a 12 conference of the State health officers with respect to part 1, 13 a conference of State officers engaged in administering ap-
14 proved plans with respect to part 2, and a conference of State 15 public-welfare officers with respect to part 3. Insofar as 16 practicable, the Chief of the Children's Bureau shall obtain 17 the agreement of the respective State authorities prior to the 18 issuance of regulations and amendments thereto.

19 "ANNUAL REPORT

20 "SEC. 536. The Secretary of Labor shall include in his 21 annual report to Congress a full account of the administration 22 of this title."

23 GRANTS TO STATES FOR PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

24 SEC. 6. Effective July 1, 1945, the Social Security Act,

1 as amended, is further amended by inserting at the end
2 thereof the following new title:

3 "TITLE XIII—COMPREHENSIVE PUBLIC ASSIST-4 ANCE PROGRAM

6 "SEC. 1301. For the purpose of enabling each State to 7 furnish assistance, as far as practicable under the conditions
8 in such State, to needy individuals, there is hereby authorized
9 to be appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946,
10 and for each fiscal year thereafter a sum sufficient to carry 11 out the purposes of this title. The sums made available 12 under this section shall be used for making payments to 13 States which have submitted, and had approved by the Social 14 Security Board, a State plan for assistance to needy individ-15 uals.

16 "STATE PLANS FOR ASSISTANCE TO NEEDY INDIVIDUALS

17 "SEC. 1302. (a) A State plan for assistance to needy 18 individuals must—

19 "(1) Provide that it shall be in effect in all political 20 subdivisions of the State, and, if administered by them
21 be mandatory upon them;

22 "(2) Provide for such financial participation by 23 the State, and for such distribution of funds, as to assure 24 meeting in full the need of individuals throughout the 1 State, as determined in accordance with standards estab-

2 lished by the State;
3 "(3) (A) Either provide for the establishment or 4 designation of a single State agency to administer the 5 plan, or provide for the establishment or designation
6 of a single State agency to supervise the administration 7 of the plan, and (B) provide that there will be not 8 more than one agency of a local subdivision of the 9 State designated or established to administer the plan 10 within such subdivision;
11 "(4) Provide for granting to any individual, whose 12 claim with respect to assistance under the plan is denied, 13 an opportunity for a fair hearing before such State 14 agency;
15 "(5) Provide such methods of administration (in-
16 cluding methods relating to the establishment and 17 maintenance of personnel standards on a merit basis, 18 except that the Board shall exercise no authority with 19 respect to the selection, tenure of office, and compensa-20 tion of any individual employed in accordance with such 21 methods) as are found by the Board to be necessary for 22 the proper and efficient operation of the plan;
23 "(6) Provide that the State agency will make such 24 reports, in such form and containing such information,

1 as the Board may from time to time require, and comply 2 with such provisions as the Board may from time to 3 time find necessary to assure the correctness and verifi-
4 cation of such reports;

5 "(7) Provide safeguards which restrict the use or 6 disclosure of information concerning applicants and recip-
7 ients to purposes directly connected with the adminis-
8 tration of the plan;

9 "(8) Provide that the State agency shall, in deter-
10 mining need, take into consideration (A) the require-11 ments of individuals claiming assistance under the plan, 12 including the particular requirements of children, of the 13 aged, and of the blind, and (B) any income and re-14 sources of an individual claiming assistance under the 15 plan, except that the plan may provide that the State
16 agency shall not take into consideration in computing 17 assistance payments any income up to but not in excess 18 of $20 per month; and 19 "(9) Provide that the bases for the selection of 20 any group or groups of individuals for inclusion under 21 the plan will be related to need and that, in determining 22 the group or groups of individuals eligible for assistance 23 under the plan, either—

24 "(A) eligibility for assistance will be limited

1 to one or more of the following: (i) individuals 2 who have attained the age of sixty-five years (and 3 if such individuals are included the plan must have 4 no age requirement of more than sixty-five years), 5 (ii) individuals who have not attained the age of 6 eighteen years, (iii) blind individuals, or 7 "(B) there will be no age requirement which 8 would exclude any individual who has not attained 9 the age of eighteen years or who has attained the 10 the age of sixty-five years, and no disability or 11 age requirement which would exclude any blind
12 individual.
13 "(b) The Board shall approve any plan for assistance 14 to needy individuals which fulfills the conditions specified in 15 subsection (a), except that it shall not approve any plan 16 which imposes as a condition of eligibility for assistance under 17 the plan any citizenship or residence requirement.
18 "PAYMENTS TO STATES
19 "SEC. 1303. (a) From the sums appropriated therefor, 20 the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay to each State which 21 has an approved plan for assistance to needy individuals, for 22 each period after June 30, 1945, (1) an amount, which shall 23 be used exclusively for carrying out the State plan, equal to 24 the Federal percentage, determined under section 1306, of 25 the total of the sums expended during such period for assist-

1 ance under the State plan with respect to each needy 2 individual under the age of eighteen years who at the 3 time of such expenditure is not living in a public or private 4 institution, and with respect to each needy individual who 5 has attained the age of eighteen years and at the time of 6 such expenditure is not living in a public institution; and 7 (2) an amount, which shall be used exclusively for carrying 8 out the State plan, equal to the Federal percentage, as de-9 termined under section 1306, of the total of the sums 10 expended during such period, as found necessary by the 11 Board for the proper and efficient administration of the 12 State plan, including services, to promote self-help and 13 self-support, supplied to individuals by employees of the 14 agency administering the plan.

15 "(b) The method of computing and paying such 16 amounts shall be as follows:

17 "(1) The Board shall, prior to the beginning of 18 each period for which a payment is to be made to 19 the State under subsection (a), estimate the amount
20 to be paid to such State for such period under the pro-21 visions of subsection (a), such estimate to be based 22 on (A) a report filed by the State containing its esti-
23 mate of the total sum to be expended in such period 24 in accordance with the provisions of such subsection,

1 and stating the amount appropriated or made available
2 by the State and its political subdivisions for such 3 expenditures in such period, and if the sum of such 4 amount and the estimated Federal grant to be paid
5 the State under subsection (a) is less than the total 6 sum of such estimated expenditures, the source or 7 sources from which the difference is expected to be 8 derived, and (B) such other data as to such estimated 9 expenditures and such other investigation as the Board 10 may find necessary.

11 "(2) The Board shall then certify to the Secretary 12 of the Treasury the amount so estimated by the Board, 13 (A) reduced or increased, as the case may be, by any 14 sum by which it finds that its estimate for any prior 15 period was greater or less than the amount which should 16 have been paid to the State under subsection (a) for 17 such period, and (B) reduced by a sum equivalent to 18 the pro rata share to which the United States is equi-
19 tably entitled, as determined by the Board, of the net
20 amount recovered during any prior period by the State 21 or any political subdivision thereof with respect to as-22 sistance to needy individuals furnished under the State 23 plan; except that such increases or reductions shall not 24 be made to the extent that such sums have been applied 25 to make the amount certified for any prior period

1 greater or less than the amount estimated by the Board
2 for such prior period: Provided, That any part of the 3 amount recovered from the estate of a deceased recipient 4 which is not in excess of the amount expended by the 5 State or any political subdivision thereof for the funeral 6 expenses of the deceased shall not be considered as a 7 basis for reduction under clause (B) of this paragraph.
8 "(3) The Secretary of the Treasury shall, prior
9 to audit or settlement by the General Accounting Office,
10 pay to the State, at the time or times fixed by the 11 Board, the amount so certified.
12 "(4) The period for which estimates and certifi-
13 cations are made under this section shall be a calendar
14 quarter, except that, upon application by a State, the 15 Board may extend the period for such State to not more
16 than four calendar quarters.
18 "SEC. 1304. In the case of any State plan for assistance 19 to needy individuals which has been approved by the Board, 20 if the Board, after reasonable notice and opportunity for 21 hearing to the State agency administering or supervising the 22 administration of such plan, finds—
23 "(a) That the plan has been so changed as to im-
24 pose any requirement prohibited by section 1302 (b), 25 or that in the administration of the plan any such pro-

1 hibited requirement is imposed, with the knowledge of 2 such State agency, in a substantial number of cases; or 3 "(b) That in the administration of the plan there is 4 a failure to comply substantially with any provision 5 required by section 1302 (a) to be included in the 6 plan;
7 the Board shall notify such State agency that further pay-
8 ments will not be made to the State under such plan until 9 the Board is satisfied that such prohibited requirement is no
10 longer imposed and that there is no longer any such failure
11 to comply. Until it is so satisfied, it shall make no further 12 certification to the Secretary of the Treasury with respect
13 to such State.
14 "DEFINITION
15 "SEC. 1305. As used in this title—
16 "(a) The term 'assistance'— 17 "(1) shall include money payments to needy indi-
18 viduals, including with respect to needy individuals 19 under the age of eighteen years, money payments to 20 parents or persons assuming parental responsibility for 21 such children.
22 "(2) may include, where the State plan so pro-23 vides—
24 "(A) medical care for needy individuals, and 25 "(B) payments for the care in foster homes of 1 needy individuals under the age of eighteen years

2 in cases in which the State agency is responsible 3 for supervision of such individuals.

4 "AMOUNT OF PAYMENTS TO STATES

5 "SEC. 1306. (a) The Federal percentage under sec-6 tion 1303 shall not be less than 50 per centum and not 7 more than 75 per centum. The percentage for the Dis-
8 trict of Columbia, Alaska, and Hawaii, and for each State 9 whose per capita income is greater than or equal to the per 10 capita income of the continental United States, shall be 50 11 per centum. The percentage for each State whose per 12 capita income is less than the per capita income of the con-13 tinental United States shall be such that the proportion of 14 total expenditures for a period, with respect to which the 15 State is entitled to receive payments under section 1303, 16 which is not covered by the Federal payment bears the 17 same ratio to 50 per centum as the per capita income of 18 the State bears to the per capita income of the continental 19 United States, except that such percentage shall not exceed 20 75 per centum and shall be rounded to the nearest whole
21 per centum: Provided, That the proportion for Puerto Rico
22 and the Virgin Islands shall be 75 per centum.

23 "(b) The Federal percentage for each State shall be 24 promulgated by the Social Security Board between July 1 25 and August 31 of each even-numbered year, on the basis of

1 the average per capita income of each State and of the conti-2 nental United States for the three most recent consecutive 3 years for which satisfactory data are available from the De-
4 partment of Commerce. Such promulgation shall for purposes 5 of this section be conclusive for each of the eight quarters in 6 the period beginning July 1 next succeeding such promulga-
7 tion: Provided further, That the Board shall promulgate such 8 percentages as soon as possible after the enactment of this Act, 9 which promulgation shall be conclusive for the purposes of 10 this section for each of the eight quarters in the period be-11 ginning July 1, 1945, and ending June 30, 1947.

12 "SEC. 1307. (a) No payment shall be made to a State 13 under title I, title IV, or title X, for any period for which 14 funds are made available under this title or for any period 15 thereafter; and no payment shall be made to any State under 16 any such title for any period after June 30, 1948.

17 "(b) In the case of a State which has a plan approved 18 under this title, adjustments, which have not previously been 19 made with respect to overpayments or underpayments under 20 title I, title IV, or title X, shall be made in connection with 21 payments to such State under this title."

22 A NATIONAL SYSTEM OF PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT OFFICES

23 SEC. 7. (a) In order to (1) promote full employment 24 in private enterprise, (2) assist persons in the armed forces

1 and in war production to avail themselves of civilian employ-
2 ment opportunities throughout the Nation, (3) enable em-3 ployers to secure the best available labor, (4) promote 4 economic opportunity for all persons, (5) minimize the neces-
5 sity for the payment of unemployment insurance, relief, 6 and assistance, and (6) aid in the maximum utilization of 7 the productive facilities and manpower of the entire Nation, 8 there is hereby established in the Social Security Board the 9 United States Employment Service, which shall establish 10 and maintain a national system of public employment offices.
11 (b) Upon the expiration of six months after the termi-
12 nation of hostilities, as proclaimed by the President, or con-
13 current resolution of the Congress, the United States Employ-14 ment Service and all related employment service activities
15 of the War Manpower Commission shall thereupon be trans-16 ferred to the United States Employment Service, established 17 by this Act.
18 (c) It shall be the duty of the United States Employ-
19 ment Service—
20 (1) to establish and develop a national system of 21 employment offices for the use of employers and workers
22 seeking employment throughout the Nation by making 23 available a complete and up-to-date record of employ-24 ment opportunities and available labor;
25 (2) to establish and develop all necessary facilities

1 and services for assisting those men and women who 2 have served in the armed forces to secure and maintain 3 employment;
4 (3) to develop and maintain facilities for the place-
5 ment of individuals in jobs on farms;
6 (4) to develop and maintain facilities for the place-
7 ment of youths;
8 (5) to develop and maintain facilities to insure the 9 full utilization of handicapped individuals and to co-10 operate with all agencies responsible for rehabilitation, 11 training, and retraining;
12 (6) to establish such offices and such services, at 13 such times and at such places, as may be necessary for 14 the effective operation of a national system of public
15 employment offices;
16 (7) to collect, furnish, and publish statistics and 17 other information with respect to opportunities for em-18 ployment; employment trends; promoting, regularizing, 19 and stabilizing employment; minimizing unemployment, 20 standardizing job terminology; and any other information 21 of value in the operation of a national system of public
22 employment offices;
23 (8) to cooperate with employers and employees,
24 governmental agencies, or with any private agency or 25 institution in making studies and reports which will

1 throw light upon industrial trends and occupational 2 changes and to assist employers and employees in pre-3 paring to meet changing needs;
4 (9) to cooperate with employers and employees,
5 governmental agencies, or with any private agency or in-6 stitution in order to encourage the development of such 7 educational, occupational, apprenticeship, and job train-8 ing as will be of value to employers, employees, and to 9 the community;
10 (10) to promote maximum production and employ-11 ment by making available information on existing and 12 potential needs for a supply of labor on an area, indus-
13 trial, and national basis;
14 (11) to assist in the development of methods of 15 selection, referral to training, and the transference of 16 employees;
17 (12) to assist in better utilization and distribution 18 of manpower in depressed industries or areas; and 19 (13) to provide such employment service facili-20 ties and such information as may be required for the 21 administration of unemployment insurance.
22 (d) In carrying out the provisions of this section appli-23 cants, before they are referred to employment, shall be given 24 notice of strikes or lock-outs.
25 (e) There is hereby established a National Advisory

1 Employment Service Policy Council (referred to in this sec-2 tion as the "Council") for the purpose of formulating 3 policies, reviewing administrative operations, and discussing 4 problems relating to the employment service, and to assure 5 impartiality, neutrality, and freedom from political influence 6 in the solution of such problems. In carrying out the duties
7 imposed upon it under this section, the Social Security Board
8 shall consult with the Council as to questions of general policy 9 and administrative operations. The Council shall consist of 10 men and women members representing employers, employees, 11 and agriculture in equal numbers, and the public, to be ap-12 pointed without regard to the civil-service laws by the 13 Board, and with the approval of the Federal Security 14 Administrator. The appointed members of the council shall 15 be selected from panels of names submitted by various 16 agencies and organizations concerned with the employment
17 service. Each appointed member shall hold office for a 18 term of four years, except that any member appointed to 19 fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term 20 for which his predecessor was appointed shall be appointed 21 for the remainder of such term, and the terms of office of 22 the members first taking office shall expire, as designated 23 by the Board at the time of appointment, four at the end 24 of the first year, four at the end of the second year, four 25 at the end of the third year, and four at the end of the fourth

1 year after the date of appointment. Each appointed mem-
2 ber shall receive compensation at the rate of $25 per day
3 during the time spent in attending meetings of the Council
4 and for the time devoted to official business of the Council 5 under this part, inclusive of travel time; and actual and 6 necessary traveling expenses and per diem in lieu of sub-
7 sistence, allowable in accordance with the Standardized
8 Government Travel Regulations, while away from his place
9 of residence upon official business under this Act.

10 (f) The Council is authorized to establish such special
11 advisory or technical committees as may be useful in carry-
12 ing out its functions.

13 (g) The Council shall meet as frequently as the Board 14 deems necessary, but not less than twice each year and 15 whenever at least one-third of the members request a meeting.

16 (h) The Board shall establish local advisory councils 17 for the employment service, and may establish State or 18 regional advisory councils.

19 SEC. 8. The Act entitled "An Act to provide for the 20 establishment of a national employment system and for 21 cooperation with the States in the promotion of such sys-22 tems, and for other purposes", approved June 6, 1933, as 23 amended, is hereby repealed.

1 NATIONAL SOCIAL INSURANCE SYSTEM

2 SEC. 9. Effective January 1, 1946, title II of the Social 3 Security Act, as amended, is amended to read as follows:

4 "TITLE II—NATIONAL SOCIAL INSURANCE
5 SYSTEM

6 "PART A—PREPAID PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE
7 INSURANCE

8 "PRIMARY PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS

9 "SEC. 201. (a) Every individual, who is currently in-
10 sured, and has been determined by the Board to be eligible 11 for benefits under this part in a current benefit year, shall 12 be entitled to receive personal health service benefits.

13 "DEPENDENT'S PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS

14 "(b) Every dependent (as defined in section 214 (l)) 15 of an individual who is currently insured and who has been 16 determined by the Board to be eligible for benefits under 17 this part in a current benefit year, shall be entitled to receive 18 personal health service benefits, if such dependent is not 19 entitled to receive such benefits under subsection (a) of this 20 section in the current benefit year.

21 "PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS FOR RETIRED, 22 SURVIVOR, AND DISABILITY BENEFICIARIES

23 "SEC. 202. Every individual entitled for any period to 24 monthly benefits under part C of this title shall be entitled to 1 receive personal health service benefits for the current benefit 2 year, if such individual is not entitled to receive such benefits 3 under section 201.

5 "SEC. 203. (a) The Surgeon General of the Public
6 Health Service shall perform the duties imposed upon him
7 by this Act, under the supervision and direction of the Fed-
8 eral Security Administrator, and after consultations with the 9 Advisory Council (hereinafter established) as to questions of 10 general policy and administration, and in consultation with 11 the Social Security Board shall also have the duty of study-12 ing and making recommendations as to the most effective 13 methods of providing personal health service benefits through 14 social insurance and otherwise, and as to legislation and 15 matters of administrative policy concerning health and related 16 subjects.

17 "(b) The Surgeon General is hereby authorized and 18 directed to take all necessary and practical steps, not incon-19 sistent with the provisions of this part, to arrange for the 20 availability of the benefits provided under this part and of 21 services and reports required by the Social Security Board 22 in the determination of disability under this Act.

23 "(c) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him by 24 this part, the Surgeon General is hereby authorized and 25 directed, after consultation with the Advisory Council as to

1 questions of general policy and administration, and with
2 the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, to 3 negotiate and periodically to renegotiate agreements or 4 cooperative working arrangements with appropriate agen-
5 cies of the United States, or of any State or politi-
6 cal subdivision thereof, and with other appropriate public 7 agencies, and with private agencies or institutions, and with 8 private persons or groups of persons, and with combinations 9 thereof, to utilize their services and facilities and to pay 10 fair, reasonable, and equitable compensation for such services
11 or facilities, and for the Trust Fund to receive reimbursements 12 for services rendered with respect to individuals or services 13 under section 209, and to negotiate and periodically rene-14 gotiate agreements or cooperative working arrangements for 15 the purchase or availability of supplies and commodities 16 necessary for the benefits provided under this part, and to 17 enter into contracts for such services, facilities, supplies, and 18 commodities (subject to the limitations specified in section 19 214 (h)).
20 "(d) In the administration of this part, the Surgeon
21 General shall, insofar as practicable, give priority and prefer-
22 ence to utilizing the facilities and services of State and local 23 departments or agencies on the basis of mutual agreements
24 with such departments or agencies.
25 "(e) The Surgeon General may delegate to any officer

1 or employee of the Public Health Service or of any Federal,
2 State or local cooperating department or agency, such of 3 his powers and duties, except that of prescribing rules and 4 regulations, as he may consider necessary and proper to 5 carry out the purposes of this Act.

6 "(f) The Surgeon General, after consultation with the 7 Social Security Board, and after consultation with the Ad-8 visory Council as to questions of general policy and 9 administration, and with the approval of the Federal 10 Security Administrator, shall prescribe and publish such 11 rules and regulations and require such records and re-
12 ports, not inconsistent with other provisions of this Act, 13 as may be necessary to the efficient administration of 14 this part: Provided, That when rules and regulations relate 15 to the performance by Federal, State, or local departments 16 or agencies, of functions under mutual agreements made 17 therewith, or to the establishment or determination of local 18 areas for administrative purposes, such rules and regulations
19 shall be made by the Surgeon General after consultation 20 with representatives of such departments or agencies.

21 "(g) The Surgeon General shall periodically notify 22 the Managing Trustee of obligations incurred under arrange-23 ments entered into by the Surgeon General in accordance 24 with this section and to whom such obligations obtain and 25 the Surgeon General shall from time to time certify disburse-

1 ments from the Trust Fund to meet such obligations, and 2 such certified disbursements shall be paid from the Trust
3 Fund by the Managing Trustee.

4 "(h) Except with respect to States or local areas for 5 which other arrangements have been made, under the provi-
6 sions of this section, the Surgeon General shall appoint local 7 area committees to aid in the administration of this part.
8 Such committees shall include representatives of the persons 9 entitled to receive services as benefits under this part, the 10 practitioners, groups of practitioners, institutions, and agen-
11 cies furnishing services as benefits under this part, and other 12 persons informed on the need for, or provision of, personal 13 health services. Such committees shall be consulted at fre-
14 quent intervals, and shall be kept informed by the local-area
15 officers of the Public Health Service with respect to arrange-16 ments for the availability of benefits under this part and pol-17 icies to be followed in carrying out the provisions of this part.
18 Such committees are hereby authorized to make annual and 19 special reports, with recommendations, if any, to the local-
20 area officers or to the Surgeon General through his State or 21 regional officers having administrative responsibility for the 22 respective local areas. Such committees, and having the same
23 or corresponding functions, shall be appointed by each State 24 or local cooperating department or agency with respect to

1 local areas for which such other arrangements have been
2 made under the provisions of this section.
3 "(i) There is hereby authorized to be appropriated for the 4 fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, and for each fiscal year
5 thereafter, a sum sufficient for all necessary expenses in car-6 rying out the duties imposed upon the Surgeon General, the 7 Board, and the Advisory Council by this part, including 8 the printing of forms and reports, making such studies and 9 demonstrations and such provisions for the training of per-10 sonnel as may be expected to improve the quality of the 11 services and promote the efficient administration of this 12 part and for the pay, allowances, and traveling expenses of 13 commissioned officers and other personnel assigned to duty
14 in carrying out the purposes of this part in the District
15 of Columbia and elsewhere.
16 "(j) Appointment is hereby authorized in the Public 17 Health Service of such personnel and in such grades as may 18 be necessary for the proper and efficient administration 19 of this part, without regard to limitations otherwise specified 20 in the Public Health Service Act.
21 "(k) The Surgeon General shall make a full report
22 to Congress, at the beginning of each regular session, of 23 the administration of the functions with which he is charged
24 under this Act. Such report shall include a record of con-

1 sultations with the Advisory Council, recommendations of
2 the Advisory Council, and comments thereon.

3 "NATIONAL ADVISORY MEDICAL POLICY COUNCIL

4 "SEC. 204. (a) There is hereby established a National 5 Advisory Medical Policy Council (referred to as the 'Ad-6 visory Council') to consist of the Surgeon General as Chair-7 man and sixteen members to be appointed without regard 8 to the civil-service laws by the Surgeon General and with 9 the approval of the Federal Security Administrator. The 10 sixteen appointed members shall be selected from panels
11 of names submitted by the professional and other agencies 12 and organizations concerned with medical, dental, and 13 nursing services and education and with the operation of 14 hospitals and laboratories and from among other persons, 15 agencies, or organizations informed on the need for or 16 provision of medical, dental, nursing, hospital, laboratory, 17 or related services and benefits. The membership of the 18 Advisory Council shall include (1) medical and other 19 professional representatives, and (2) public representatives,
20 in such proportions as are likely to provide fair representa-
21 tion to the principal interested groups that furnish and 22 receive personal health services, having regard for the 23 functions of the Advisory Council. The Advisory Council
24 shall meet not less frequently than twice a year and when-

1 ever at least four of the members request a meeting. Each
2 appointed member shall hold office for a term of four years,
3 except that any member appointed to fill a vacancy occur-
4 ring prior to the expiration of the term for which his 5 predecessor was appointed shall be appointed for the re-
6 mainder of such term, and the terms of office of the members
7 first taking office shall expire, as designated by the Surgeon
8 General at the time of appointment, four at the end of the 9 first year, four at the end of the second year, four at the 10 end of the third year, and four at the end of the fourth year
11 after the date of appointment. Each appointed member 12 shall receive compensation at the rate of $25 per day during 13 the time spent in attending meetings of the Advisory Coun-14 cil and for the time devoted to official business of the 15 Advisory Council under this part, inclusive of travel time;
16 and actual and necessary traveling expenses and per diem 17 in lieu of subsistence, allowable in accordance with the 18 Standardized Government Travel Regulations, while away 19 from his place of residence upon official business under this 20 Act. The Advisory Council, and each of its appointed mem-21 bers, shall be provided by the Surgeon General with such 22 secretarial, clerical or other assistants as the Congress shall 23 authorize and provide each year for carrying out the 24 purposes of this section.
25 "(b) The Advisory Council shall advise the Surgeon

1 General with reference to questions of general policy and 2 administration in carrying out the provisions of this part,
3 including (1) professional standards of quality to apply 4 to personal health service benefits; (2) designation of 5 specialists and consultants; (3) methods and arrangements
6 to stimulate and encourage the attainment of high standards
7 through coordination of the services of general or family 8 practitioners, specialists and consultants, laboratories, and 9 other auxiliary services, and through the coordination of the 10 services of physicians and dentists with those of educational 11 and research institutions, hospitals and public-health cen-12 ters, and through other useful means; (4) standards to 13 apply to participating hospitals, to the relations or coordina-
14 tion among hospitals, and to the establishment and mainte-15 nance of the list of participating hospitals; (5) adequate 16 and suitable methods and arrangements of paying for per-17 sonal health service benefits; (6) studies and surveys of 18 personal health services and of the quality and adequacy of 19 such services; (7) policies and procedures for determina-
20 tions of disability required under this Act; and (8) grants-21 in-aid for professional education and research projects.
22 "(c) The Advisory Council is authorized to establish 23 special advisory, technical, regional, or local committees or 24 commissions, whose membership may include members of 25 the Advisory Council or other persons or both, to

1 advise upon general or special questions, professional and 2 technical subjects, questions concerning administration, prob-
3 lems affecting regions or localities, and related matters.

4 "METHODS AND POLICIES FOR ADMINISTRATION

5 "SEC. 205. (a) Any physician, dentist, or nurse legally
6 qualified by a State to furnish any services included as per-7 sonal health service benefits under this part shall be qualified 8 to furnish such services as benefits under this part (except as 9 otherwise provided in subsection (c) of this section or in 10 subsection (f) of section 214), and this provision shall 11 extend to any group of physicians, dentists, or nurses or 12 combinations thereof whose members are similarly qualified.

13 "(b) Every individual entitled to receive general medi-
14 cal or general dental benefit shall be permitted to select,
15 from among those designated in subsection (a) of this 16 section, those from whom he shall receive such benefit,
17 subject to the consent of the practitioner or group of prac-
18 titioners selected, and every such individual and every group
19 of such individuals shall be permitted to make such selection 20 through a representative of his or their own choosing, and 21 to change such selection.

22 "(c) Services which shall be deemed to be specialist 23 or consultant services shall be those so designated by the 24 Surgeon General, and the practitioners from among those 25 included in subsection (a) of this section who shall be

1 qualified as specialists or consultants and entitled to the 2 compensation provided for specialists or consultants shall be 3 those so designated by the Surgeon General as qualified to 4 furnish such specialist or consultant services and only with 5 respect to the particular class or classes of specialist or con-
6 sultant services he shall determine for each such specialist 7 or consultant, in accordance with general standards previously 8 prescribed by him after consultation with the Advisory Coun-9 cil. In establishing such standards and in designating such 10 specialists or consultants the Surgeon General shall utilize 11 standards and certifications developed by competent pro-
12 fessional agencies and shall take into account the personnel 13 resources and needs of regions and local areas.

14 "(d) The services of a specialist or consultant shall ordi-
15 narily be available only upon the advice of the general or 16 family practitioner or of a specialist or consultant attending
17 the individual. The services of specialists and consultants
18 shall also be available when requested by an individual en-
19 titled to specialist and consultant services as benefits and 20 approved by a medical administrative officer appointed by 21 the Surgeon General.

22 "(e) The Surgeon General shall publish and otherwise 23 make known in each local area to individuals entitled to 24 benefit under this part the names of medical and dental

1 practitioners and groups of practitioners who have agreed
2 to furnish services as benefits under this part and to make 3 such lists of names readily available to individuals entitled 4 to benefits under this part. Such lists of names shall include 5 general or family practitioners and qualified specialists and 6 consultants, respectively, and with respect to qualified special-7 ists and consultants the class or classes of specialist or 8 consultant services for which each has been qualified.

9 "(f) The methods of administration, including the 10 methods of making payments to practitioners, shall (1) 11 insure the prompt and efficient care of individuals entitled to 12 personal health service benefits; (2) promote personal rela-
13 tionships between physician and patient; (3) provide pro-14 fessional and financial incentives for the professional 15 advancement of practitioners and encourage high standards 16 in the quality of services furnished as benefits under this 17 part through the adequacy of payments to practitioners, 18 assistance in their use of opportunities for postgraduate study, 19 coordination among the services furnished by general or 20 family practitioners, specialists and consultants, laboratory, 21 and other auxiliary services, coordination among the services
22 furnished by practitioners, hospitals, public-health centers, 23 educational, research, and other institutions, and between 24 preventive and curative services, and otherwise; (4) aid in 25 the prevention of disease, disability, and premature death;

1 and (5) insure the provision of adequate service with the 2 greatest economy consistent with high standards of quality.
3 "(g) Payments from the Trust Fund to general medical 4 and family practitioners or to general dental practitioners,
5 for services under this part, shall be made—
6 "(1) on the basis of fees for services rendered to 7 individuals entitled to benefits, according to a fee
8 schedule;
9 "(2) on a per capita basis, the amount being ac-
10 cording to the number of individuals entitled to benefit
11 who are on the practitioner's list;
12 "(3) on a salary basis, whole time or part time; or 13 "(4) on a combination or modification of these 14 bases, as the Surgeon General may approve;
15 according in each local area as the majority of the general
16 medical and family practitioners or of the general dental prac-
17 titioners, respectively, to be paid for such services shall elect:
18 Provided, That (1) the Surgeon General may also make pay-
19 ments by another method (from among the methods listed 20 in this subsection) to those general medical and family prac-
21 titioners or to those general dental practitioners who do not 22 elect the method of such majority, especially when in the 23 judgment of the Surgeon General such alternative method
24 of making payments contributes to carrying out the provi-
25 sions of subsection (f) of this section; (2) any of the meth-

1 ods of making payments (from among the methods listed in
2 this subsection) may be used, according as the Surgeon Gen-
3 eral may approve, in making payments to groups of prac-
4 titioners that contain designated specialists or consultants as 5 well as general or family practitioners; and (3) nothing in 6 this subsection shall prohibit the Surgeon General from ne-
7 gotiating agreements or cooperative working arrangements
8 to utilize inclusive services of hospitals and their staffs and/or 9 attending staffs, or from entering into contracts for such 10 inclusive services, in accordance with the provisions of sec-
11 tion 203.

12 "(h) The methods of making payments from the Trust
13 Fund to designated specialists and consultants for services 14 under this part, furnished as special medical or special dental 15 benefit, may include payments on salary (whole time or part 16 time), per session, fee-for-service, per capita, or other basis, 17 or combinations thereof, as the Surgeon General and the 18 specialists and consultants may agree.

19 "(i) Rates or amounts of payment for particular services
20 or classes of services furnished as benefits under this part 21 may be nationally uniform or may be adapted to take account
22 of relevant regional or local conditions and other factors.
23 Payments shall be adequate, especially in terms of annual 24 income or its equivalent and by reference to annual income
25 customarily received among physicians, dentists, or nurses,

1 having regard for age, specialization, and type of community;
2 and payments shall be commensurate with skill, experience,
3 and responsibility involved in furnishing service.

4 "(j) In order to maintain high standards in the quality
5 of services furnished as medical or dental benefit, the Surgeon
6 General may prescribe maximum limits to the number of 7 potential beneficiaries for whom a practitioner or group of 8 practitioners may undertake to furnish general medical or 9 general dental benefit, and such limits may be nationally
10 uniform or may be adapted to take account of relevant factors.

11 "(k) In any local area where payment for the services
12 of a general or family practitioner is only on a per capita
13 basis, the Surgeon General shall make per capita payments
14 (subject to limits prescribed in accordance with subsection 15 (j) of this section) on a pro rata basis among the practi-
16 tioners and groups of practitioners of the local area on the list 17 established pursuant to subsection (e) of this section with 18 respect to those individuals in the local area who, after due
19 notice, have failed to select a general or family practitioner
20 or who having made one or more successive selections have 21 been refused by the practitioner or practitioners selected.

22 "(l) In each local area the provision of general medical 23 or general dental benefit for all individuals entitled to receive 24 such benefit shall be a collective responsibility of all qualified
25 general medical or family practitioners or of all qualified gen-

1 eral dental practitioners, respectively, in the area who have
2 undertaken to furnish such benefit.
3 "(m) Home-nursing benefit shall ordinarily be available
4 only upon the advice of a legally qualified attending physi-
5 cian. Home-nursing benefit shall also be available when 6 requested by an individual entitled to this benefit and 7 approved by a medical officer designated by the Surgeon
8 General.
9 "PARTICIPATING HOSPITALS
10 "SEC. 206. (a) The Surgeon General shall publish a
11 list of institutions which he finds to be participating hospitals,
12 and shall from time to time revise such list to include thereon
13 all institutions which he thereafter finds to be participating 14 hospitals and to withdraw therefrom all institutions which 15 he finds cease to meet the requirements of a participating 16 hospital. Inclusion of an institution upon such list shall,
17 unless and until withdrawn by the Surgeon General, be con-
18 clusive that such institution is a participating hospital for 19 the purpose of this section.
20 "(b) The Surgeon General is directed to make findings
21 of fact and decisions as to the status of any institution as a
22 participating hospital in accordance with general standards
23 previously prescribed by him after consultation with the 24 Advisory Council. Any institution which is not included
25 by the Surgeon General in the list of participating hospitals,

1 or having been included thereon has been withdrawn there-
2 from, may file with the Surgeon General a petition to be in-
3 cluded in such list, which petition shall set forth such infor-
4 mation as the Surgeon General may deem necessary to 5 establish that such institution meets the requirements of a
6 participating hospital. Whenever requested by any institu-
7 tion the petition of which has been denied, the Surgeon
8 General shall give such institution reasonable notice and an 9 opportunity for a fair hearing with respect to the decision
10 denying such petition, and, if a hearing is held, shall, on 11 the basis of evidence adduced at the hearing, affirm, modify,
12 or reverse his findings of fact and such decision.

13 "(c) The Surgeon General shall exercise no supervision
14 or control over a participating hospital (which is not owned 15 and operated, or leased and operated, by the United States), 16 nor shall any requirement for participation by a hospital
17 or any term or condition of any agreement under this part
18 relating to, or on behalf of, any such hospital prescribe
19 its administration, personnel, or operation.

20 "APPEALS; JUDICIAL REVIEW; LIMITATIONS UPON THE 21 POWERS OF THE SURGEON GENERAL

22 "SEC. 207. (a) The Surgeon General is hereby au-
23 thorized to establish necessary and sufficient appeal bodies
24 to hear complaints from individuals entitled to bene-
25 fits under this part, from practitioners who have entered

1 into agreement for the provision of services as benefits under 2 this part, and from participating hospitals, and, having 3 regard for the findings, conclusions and recommendations
4 of such appeal bodies, to take such steps as may be appro-
5 priate and are not contrary to any other provision of this 6 part to remedy the grounds for complaint, if any; and to 7 establish necessary and sufficient appeal bodies to hear and 8 determine disputes among practitioners and/or participating 9 hospitals, and to take such steps as may be appropriate and 10 are not contrary to any other provision of this part to settle
11 such dispute: Provided, That with respect to any complaint
12 or dispute involving matters or questions of professional 13 practice or conduct the hearing body shall contain competent
14 and disinterested professional representation: Provided fur-
15 ther, That with respect to any complaint or dispute involving 16 only matters or questions of professional practice or conduct 17 the hearing body shall consist exclusively of such profes-
18 sional persons.

19 "(b) In the administration of this part, the Surgeon
20 General shall, insofar as they are applicable to this part,
21 have all the powers and duties conferred upon the Board 22 by sections 290, 291, and 292 of this title. Such powers 23 and duties shall be subject to the limitations and rights of 24 judicial review contained in section 290. The provisions 25 of subsections (e) and (f) of section 290 and the provisions

1 of sections 293 and 294 shall be applicable to this part 2 in the same manner and to the same extent as they are 3 applicable to other parts of this title: Provided, That 4 nothing in section 290 (i) shall prevent the Board or the 5 Surgeon General from certifying payments to such indi-
6 vidual, agency, office, or institution as the Board or the Sur-
7 geon General may prescribe, or if the Board or the Surgeon 8 General shall so direct, certifying benefit payments to the 9 Board for distribution in such manner as the Board may 10 prescribe: Provided further, That nothing in section 293
11 shall limit the right of any person, the Board, or the Surgeon
12 General to transfer or assign moneys payable under this part 13 to a participating hospital or to any agency or institution 14 utilized under this part.

15 "RELATION WITH WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BENEFITS

16 "SEC. 208. No individual shall be entitled to any bene-17 fit under this part with respect to any injury, disease, or 18 disability on account of which any medical, dental, home
19 nursing, laboratory, or hospitalization service is being re-
20 ceived, or upon application therefor would be received,
21 under a workmen's compensation plan of the United States
22 or of any State. In the case of an individual receiving any 23 personal health service with respect to any such injury, dis-
24 ease, or disability, the Surgeon General shall be subrogated
25 to the rights of such individual, against any person, organiza-

1 tion, or agency in connection with such injury, disease, or 2 disability, to the extent of the estimated cost incurred in fur-
3 nishing such service. Reimbursements and recoveries for 4 any such service shall be paid to the Secretary of the Treasury
5 and he shall credit them to the Trust Fund.

6 "PROVISION OF BENEFITS FOR NONINSURED PERSONS AND 7 REIMBURSEMENTS FOR SERVICES

8 "SEC. 209. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of 9 this part, any or all benefits provided under this part to 10 individuals entitled to such benefits may be furnished to 11 other individuals for any period for which equitable payments 12 to the Trust Fund on behalf of such other individuals have 13 been made or for which reasonable assurance of such pay-14 ments has been given by public agencies of the United 15 States, the several States, or any of them or of their political 16 subdivisions, such payments to be in accordance with agree-17 ments and working arrangements negotiated by the Surgeon 18 General with such public agencies and in accordance with 19 contracts into which the Surgeon General may enter. Serv-20 ices furnished as benefits to such other individuals shall, as 21 far as may be practical in each area, be of the same quality, 22 be furnished by the same methods, and be paid for through 23 the same arrangements, as services furnished to individuals 24 entitled to benefits under this part.

25 "(b) The provisions of subsection (a) of this section

1 shall extend to groups of persons for whom the Congress
2 of the United States makes provision (including persons 3 aided by States under plans approved under title XIII of 4 this Act) and to moneys appropriated therefor, and to 5 moneys provided for grants to States or for administrative 6 expenses under this Act and other Acts of Congress. The 7 provisions of subsection (a) of this section shall also extend 8 to services furnished with respect to any injury, disease, 9 or disability excluded by section 208 from entitlement to 10 benefit, and payments made in accordance with such pro-
11 visions of subsection (a) may be in full satisfaction of reim-12 bursements or recoveries otherwise required by section 208.

13 "LIMITATIONS ON BENEFITS

14 "SEC. 210. (a) The Surgeon General may, after con-
15 sultation with the Advisory Council and with the approval
16 of the Administrator, determine for any calendar year or part 17 thereof that every individual entitled to general medical,
18 general dental, or home-nursing benefit may be required by 19 the physician, dentist, or nurse furnishing such benefit to pay
20 a fee with respect to the first service or with respect to each 21 service in a period of sickness or course of treatment. Such 22 determination shall be made only after good and sufficient 23 evidence indicates that such determination is necessary and 24 desirable to prevent or reduce abuses of entitlement to any 25 such benefit, and shall fix the maximum size of such fee at an-

1 amount estimated to be sufficient to prevent or reduce abuses
2 and not such as to interpose a substantial financial restraint
3 against proper and needed receipt of medical, dental, or 4 home-nursing benefit. Such determination may also limit
5 the application of such fees to home calls, to office visits, 6 or to both, and may fix the maximum total amount of such 7 fee payments in a period of sickness or course of treatment,
8 and may also provide for differences in the maximum size of 9 such fees or total amount of such fee payments for urban and 10 rural areas and with regard for differences among States or 11 communities. Each such determination shall be withdrawn
12 as rapidly as the Surgeon General finds practical.

13 "(b) The Surgeon General, having regard for the ade-
14 quacy of available personnel, may, after consultation with 15 the Advisory Council and with the approval of the Ad-
16 ministrator, determine for any calendar year or part thereof
17 that general dental, special dental, or home-nursing benefit
18 shall have such restricted content as the Surgeon General
19 may determine: Provided, That on and after January 1, 20 1947, the restricted content of general dental or special 21 dental benefit shall include at least (1) examination (in-22 cluding X-ray survey) and diagnosis; (2) prophylaxis;
23 (3) extraction of teeth which are considered by the dentist
24 and an attending physician to be or likely to be injurious to 25 the general health of the individual; and (4) treatment of

1 acute diseases of the teeth, their supporting structures, and 2 adjacent parts, including fractures of the teeth or jaws. With 3 respect to general dental or special dental benefit, such deter-
4 mination may fix an age above which the restriction on con-
5 tent shall apply. With respect to home-nursing benefit, re-
6 striction of content may be effected by limitation of the service
7 to part-time care on an hourly or visit basis, by limitation of 8 the types of cases for which such benefit shall be available,
9 by limitation of the maximum amount of service per case, 10 or otherwise, as may be practicable and necessary. Any 11 restriction on the content of general dental, special dental,
12 or home-nursing benefit shall be reduced or withdrawn as 13 rapidly as the Surgeon General finds practicable.

14 "(c) The maximum number of days in any benefit year
15 for which any individual may be entitled to hospitalization
16 benefit under section 201 or 202 shall be sixty: Provided,
17 however, That when the Surgeon General finds that moneys
18 in the separate account established in accordance with sec-19 tion 212 are adequate, he may increase the maximum with 20 respect to hospitalization benefit provided under section 201 21 or section 202, or both, to not more than one hundred and 22 twenty days for the following calendar year.

23 "(d) No application by an individual for hospitalization 24 benefits shall be valid under this part (1) with respect to 25 any day of hospitalization if such application is filed more

1 than ninety days after such day; (2) with respect to any 2 day of hospitalization more than thirty days following the 3 diagnosis of tuberculosis or a psychosis; and (3) with re-
4 spect to any day in a hospital or other institution for mental 5 or nervous disease or tuberculosis.

6 "(e) The Surgeon General, after consultation with the 7 Advisory Council and with the approval of the Federal Se-
8 curity Administrator, having regard for current and prospec-
9 tive amounts in the separate account established in accord-10 ance with section 212, may limit for any calendar year or 11 part thereof the cost of laboratory benefit which shall be 12 borne by payments from such separate account, and such 13 limitation may be with respect to a class of services, sup-14 plies, or commodities, with respect to maximum payments 15 per beneficiary in a benefit year, with respect to a specified 16 fraction of the cost, or combinations thereof.

17 "REPORT CONCERNING DENTAL, NURSING, AND OTHER BEN-18 EFITS; CARE AND PREVENTION FOR CHRONIC SICKNESS
19 AND MENTAL DISEASES

20 "SEC. 211. (a) The Surgeon General and the Social 21 Security Board jointly shall have the duty of studying and 22 making recommendations as to the most effective methods of 23 providing dental, nursing, and other needed benefits not al-
24 ready provided or not currently furnished under this part,
25 and as to expected costs for such needed benefits and the de-

1 sirable division of the costs between (1) the financial re-
2 sources of the social insurance system or other public funds, 3 and (2) payments to be required of beneficiaries receiving 4 such benefits, and shall make reports, with recommendations 5 as to legislation, on such benefits from time to time but not 6 later than two years after the effective date of this part.

7 "(b) The Surgeon General and the Social Security
8 Board jointly shall also have the duty of studying and mak-
9 ing recommendations as to needed services and facilities
10 for the care of the chronic sick afflicted with physical ail-
11 ments and for the care of individuals afflicted with mental 12 or nervous diseases, and as to needed provisions for the pre-
13 vention of chronic physical diseases and of mental or nervous 14 diseases, and shall make reports, with recommendations as 15 to legislation, from time to time but not later than three 16 years after the effective date of this part.

17 "PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICES ACCOUNT

18 "SEC. 212. (a) There is hereby created within the 19 Trust Fund a separate account to be known as the 'Per-20 sonal Health Services Account'.

21 "(b) The Managing Trustee shall credit quarterly to 22 this account amounts equivalent to 3 per centum of the 23 wages (as defined in section 275 (a)) paid after Decem-24 ber 31, 1945, with respect to employment (as defined in 25 section 275 (b)) after such date (including applicable shares

1 of interest, penalties, and additions), such other amounts 2 as the Board of Trustees may from time to time allocate 3 to this account from the Trust Fund, and a proportionate 4 part of the earnings of the Trust Fund, determined in ac-5 cordance with the average daily balance to the credit of 6 this account.

7 "(c) The Managing Trustee shall also credit to this 8 account reimbursements to the Trust Fund made in accord-
9 ance with the provisions of sections 203 and 209.

10 "(d) The Managing Trustee shall also credit to this 11 account amounts appropriated under subsection (h) of this 12 section as reimbursements to the Trust Fund for expenditures 13 estimated by the Surgeon General to have been made for the 14 payment or provision of general dental, special dental, and 15 home-nursing benefits provided under sections 201 and 202.

16 "(e) The Managing Trustee shall also credit to this 17 account amounts appropriated under subsection (i) of this 18 section as reimbursements to the Trust Fund for expendi-19 tures estimated by the Surgeon General and the Social 20 Security Board to have been made for the payment or pro-21 vision of benefits, other than general dental, special dental, 22 and home-nursing benefits, provided under section 202 with 23 respect to individuals who became entitled thereto by reason
24 of currently or fully insured status (as defined in section 25 228) acquired through wages paid (as defined in section

1 275 (a)) prior to January 1, 1946, including (1) the 2 total amount estimated with respect to individuals who ac-3 quired such status wholly prior to such date, and (2) an 4 equitable share of the amount estimated with respect to 5 individuals who acquired such status partially prior to such 6 date.

7 "(f) The Managing Trustee shall debit against this ac-8 count the amounts disbursed from the Trust Fund for the 9 purpose of paying or providing benefits under this part and 10 amounts estimated (in accordance with the provisions of 11 subsection (h) of section 250) by him, the Chairman of 12 the Social Security Board, and the Surgeon General to be 13 expended for the administration of the provisions of this 14 part.

15 "(g) The amounts which stand to the credit of this 16 account shall be available for the payment or provision of 17 benefits and for administrative expenses under this part, and 18 for no other purposes; and the sum of disbursements for the 19 payment or provision of benefits under this part and for 20 the payment of reimbursements to the Treasury for admini-21 trative expenses incurred therewith shall not exceed the 22 amounts which stand to the credit of this account, as specified
23 in this section.

24 "(h) The Surgeon General shall report to the Congress

1 each year the amount estimated, with respect to the preced-2 ing fiscal year, to have been expended for the payment or 3 provision of general dental, special dental, and home-nursing 4 benefits, and the basis for such estimate. There is hereby 5 authorized to be appropriated, as a reimbursement to the 6 Trust Fund, for each fiscal year, an amount equal to the 7 amount of such reimbursement due to the Trust Fund.

8 "(i) The Surgeon General and the Social Security 9 Board shall jointly report to the Congress each year the 10 amount estimated according to subsection (e) of this section 11 with respect to the preceding fiscal year, and the basis for 12 such estimate. There is hereby authorized to be appropri-13 ated, as a reimbursement to the Trust Fund, for each fiscal 14 year, an amount equal to the amount of such reimbursement
15 due to the Trust Fund.

16 "GRANTS-IN-AID FOR MEDICAL EDUCATION, RESEARCH,
17 AND PREVENTION OF DISEASE AND DISABILITY

18 "SEC. 213. For the purposes of encouraging and aiding
19 the advancement and dissemination of knowledge and skill
20 in providing benefits under this Act and in preventing ill-
21 ness, disability, and premature death, the Surgeon General
22 is hereby authorized and directed to administer grants-in-
23 aid to nonprofit institutions and agencies engaging in research
24 or in undergraduate or postgraduate professional education.
25 Such grants-in-aid shall be made with respect to each proj-

1 ect (1) for which application has been received from a
2 nonprofit institution or agency, stating the nature of the 3 project and giving the reasons for the need of financial 4 assistance in carrying it out, and (2) for which the Sur-
5 geon General finds, with the advice of the Council established
6 under section 204 and after consultation with other Federal 7 departments and agencies concerned with research or pro-
8 fessional education, that the project shows promise of mak-
9 ing valuable contributions to the education or training of 10 persons useful to or needed in the furnishing of medical, 11 dental, nursing, hospital, laboratory, disability, rehabilita-12 tion, and related benefits provided under this title, or to 13 human knowledge with respect to the cause, prevention, 14 mitigation, or methods of diagnosis and treatment of disease 15 and disability. During the five-year period beginning Jan-
16 uary 1, 1946, the Surgeon General and the Advisory Council 17 shall give preference and priority to grants-in-aid with 18 respect to projects to aid servicemen (as defined in section 19 260) seeking postgraduate education as medical or dental 20 practitioners or training for administration of personal health 21 services, disability benefits, rehabilitation services, and re-
22 lated services. For the purposes of this subsection there 23 shall be available, for each calendar year beginning with 24 the calendar year 1946, an amount equal to 1 per centum
25 of the total amount expended for benefits from the Trust

1 Fund, exclusive of unemployment insurance benefits, or 2
2 per centum of the amount expended for benefits under part 3 A after benefits under that part have been payable for not 4 less than twelve months, whichever is the lesser, in the last 5 preceding fiscal year. Such grants-in-aid, in such amounts 6 and for payment at such times as are approved by the 7 Surgeon General, shall be certified for payment to the Man-
8 aging Trustee, who shall pay them from the Trust Fund 9 to the designated institutions or agencies.

10 "DEFINITIONS

11 "SEC. 214. As used in this part—

12 "(a) The term 'personal health service benefits' includes 13 general medical benefit, special medical benefit, general 14 dental benefit, special dental benefit, home-nursing benefit, 15 laboratory benefit, and hospitalization benefit.

16 "(b) The term 'general medical benefit' means services
17 furnished by a legally qualified physician or by a group of 18 such physicians, including all necessary services such as can 19 be furnished by a physician engaged in the general or family
20 practice of medicine, at the office, home, hospital, or else-
21 where, including preventive, diagnostic and therapeutic treat-
22 ment and care, and periodic physical examination.

23 "(c) The term 'special medical benefit' means neces-
24 sary services, requiring special skill or experience, furnished
25 at the office, home, hospital, or elsewhere by a legally quali-

1 fied physician who is a specialist or consultant with respect
2 to the class of service furnished, by a group of such physi-
3 cians, or by a group of physicians including such specialists
4 or consultants.

5 "(d) The term 'general dental benefit' means services
6 furnished by a legally qualified dentist or by a group of 7 such dentists, including all necessary dental services such as 8 can be furnished by a dentist engaged in the general practice
9 of dentistry, with or without the aid of an assistant or 10 hygienist under his direction, and including preventive, 11 diagnostic and therapeutic treatment, care and advice, and 12 periodic examination.

13 "(e) The term 'special dental benefit' means necessary
14 services, requiring special skill or experience, furnished at the 15 office, hospital, or elsewhere by a legally qualified dentist
16 (with or without the aid of an assistant, a hygienist, or 17 anesthetist under his direction) who is a specialist or con-
18 sultant with respect to the class of service furnished, by a
19 group of such dentists, or by a group of dentists, including 20 such specialists or consultants.

21 "(f) The term 'home-nursing benefit' means nursing
22 care of the sick furnished in the home by (1) a registered
23 professional nurse; or (2) a practical nurse who is legally
24 qualified by a State or, in the absence of State standards or 25 requirements, who is qualified with respect to standards estab-

1 lished by the Surgeon General after consultation with the
2 Advisory Council and with competent professional nursing
3 agencies, and who furnishes nursing care under the direction
4 or supervision of the State health agency, the health agency
5 of a political subdivision of a State, or an organization supply-6 ing and supervising the services of registered professional 7 nurses.

8 "(g) The term 'laboratory benefit' means such neces-
9 sary laboratory or related services, supplies, or commodities
10 as the Surgeon General may determine, including chemical,
11 bacteriological, pathological, diagnostic and therapeutic
12 X-ray, and related laboratory services, refractions, and other
13 ophthalmic services furnished by a legally qualified prac-
14 titioner other than a physician, physiotherapy, special appli-
15 ances prescribed by a physician, and eyeglasses prescribed by 16 a physician or other legally qualified practitioner: Provided,
17 That when any such services, supplies, or commodities are 18 provided to a hospitalized patient, or are provided by a 19 physician or dentist incidental to services furnished under 20 subsections (b), (c), (d), and (e) of this section, pay-
21 ment for such services, supplies, or commodities shall be 22 included in payments for hospitalization or for services
23 furnished under such subsections, respectively, as otherwise 24 provided in this part.

1 "(h) The term 'hospitalization benefit' means an
2 amount, as determined by the Surgeon General after con-
3 sultation with the Advisory Council: Not less than $3 and 4 not more than $7 for each day of hospitalization, not in 5 excess of thirty days, which an individual has had in a
6 period of hospitalization; and not less than $1.50 and not 7 more than $4.50 for each day of hospitalization in excess of 8 thirty in a period of hospitalization; and not less than $1.50
9 and not more than $3.50 for each day of care in an institution
10 for the care of the chronic sick. In lieu of such compensation,
11 the Surgeon General may enter into contracts with par-
12 ticipating hospitals for the payment of the reasonable cost
13 of hospital service at rates for each day of hospitalization
14 neither less than the minimum nor more than the maximum
15 applicable rates specified in this subsection, such payment
16 to be full reimbursement for the cost of essential hospital
17 services, including the use of ward or other least expensive
18 facilities compatible with the proper care of the patient:
19 Provided, That such payment may be included in a contract,
20 between the Surgeon General and a participating hospital,
21 for inclusive services of a participating hospital and its 22 staff and/or its attending staff, as provided in sections 203
23 and 205: Provided further, That such payment shall not 24 affect the right of participating hospitals to require pay-

1 ments from patients with respect to the additional cost of 2 more expensive facilities furnished for lack of ward facilities
3 or occupied at the request of the patient, or with respect to 4 services not included within a contract.

5 "(i) The term 'period of hospitalization' means a pe-
6 riod of one or more consecutive days of hospitalization.

7 "(j) The term 'day of hospitalization' means any day
8 for the whole of which an individual has been confined in a
9 participating hospital on the advice of a legally qualified
10 physician for the purpose of receiving necessary hospital
11 service: Provided, That, with respect to a day in which an 12 individual is admitted to or discharged from a hospital, such 13 term may, in accordance with regulations to be prescribed
14 by the Surgeon General, include a period of time of less
15 than a whole day.

16 "(k) The term 'participating hospital' means an insti-
17 tution providing all necessary and customary hospital serv-
18 ices, and found by the Surgeon General to afford professional 19 service, personnel, and equipment adequate to promote the 20 health and safety of individuals customarily hospitalized in 21 such institution and to have procedures for the making of 22 such reports and certifications as the Surgeon General may 23 from time to time require, to assure that hospitalization ben-
24 efit will be provided only to or on behalf of individuals en-

1 titled thereto: Provided, That with respect to inclusion in 2 the list of participating hospitals the Surgeon General may 3 accredit a hospital for limited varieties of cases and may 4 accredit an institution for the care of the chronic sick, 5 taking into account for the purpose of such limited 6 accrediting, the type and size of community which the in-7 stitution serves, the availability of other hospital facilities, and 8 such other matters as the Surgeon General may deem 9 relevant.

10 "(l) The term 'dependent' means an unmarried child 11 (including a stepchild, adopted or foster child) of an 12 individual, who is under the age of eighteen, or who is 13 under a disability which has continued for a period of not less 14 than six consecutive calendar months and is not entitled to 15 benefits under part C, and is living with such individual or 16 receiving regular support from him; a wife of an individual 17 living with such individual or receiving regular support from 18 him; a husband who is under a disability which has continued 19 for a period of not less than six consecutive calendar months, 20 is not entitled to benefits under part C and is living with or 21 receiving regular and substantial support from such individual; 22 and a parent who has attained the age of sixty-five if a male or 23 of sixty if a female, is not entitled to benefits under part C,

1 and is living with or receiving regular and substantial support
2 from such individual.

3 "ELIGIBILITY

4 "SEC. 215. An individual shall be deemed to be cur-5 rently insured under this part if he (1) had during his 6 eligibility period (as defined in section 275 (o)) been paid 7 wages of not less than $150, or (2) acquired not less than 8 six quarters of coverage (as defined in section 228 (a)) 9 during the first twelve of the last fourteen completed calendar
10 quarters immediately preceding the first day of a benefit 11 year (as defined in section 275 (p)), not counting among 12 such completed quarters any quarter in any part of which 13 the individual was under a disability under part C of this 14 title.

15 "EFFECTIVE DATE

16 "SEC. 216. The benefits provided under this part shall 17 become effective beginning July 1, 1946.

18 "PART B—UNEMPLOYMENT AND TEMPORARY DISABILITY 19 INSURANCE BENEFITS

20 BENEFITS

21 "SEC. 220. (a) An eligible individual shall be paid 22 with respect to any week of unemployment or temporary 23 disability which begins after December 31, 1945, a benefit 24 equal to his weekly benefit amount minus that part of the 25 remuneration (if any) payable to him with respect to such

1 week which is in excess of $3. An eligible individual shall 2 be entitled during any benefit year to a total amount of 3 benefits equal to twenty-six times his weekly benefit amount 4 with respect to weeks of disability and to a like total 5 with respect to weeks of unemployment: Provided, That, 6 if the Board of Trustees finds that a separate account for 7 unemployment insurance benefits in the Trust Fund is ade-8 quate, the Board may increase the maximum duration to 9 not more than fifty-two times the weekly benefit amount 10 with respect to unemployment benefits in the following 11 twelve months: Provided further, That the Board may re-
12 quire attendance at a training course, approved by the Board, 13 as a condition for the receipt of such extended benefits.

14 "(b) An individual's weekly benefit amount shall be 15 determined by the following table. Column I of that table 16 hereby establishes the minimum and maximum dollar limits
17 of total amounts of highest quarterly wages for employment 18 paid by employers during the eligibility period. The weekly 19 benefit amount to which such individual shall be entitled is 20 the amount appearing in columns II, III, IV, or V, as may 21 be appropriate with respect to such individual, on a line
22 directly opposite the total amounts of highest quarterly wages 23 for employment paid to such individual by employers during 24 such eligibility period:

1 "(c) (1) In addition to the maximum duration of dis-2 ability benefits payable under this part, and subject to the 3 other provisions of this subsection, each woman eligible 4 for disability benefits (except for the requirements of section 5 221 (b) (3)) shall be paid a weekly maternity benefit 6 equal to her weekly benefit amount with respect to a period 7 of not more than twelve consecutive weeks, namely, for the 8 six weeks prior to the week in which her confinement is 9 expected and for the six weeks subsequent to her confinement.
10 "(2) No maternity benefit shall be payable with respect 11 to any week in which the claimant thereof has engaged in

1 gainful work or with respect to which the claimant thereof
2 is receiving disability or unemployment benefits.

3 "ELIGIBILITY

4 "SEC. 221. (a) An individual shall be eligible to receive 5 benefits with respect to any week of unemployment only if 6 the Board finds that—

7 "(1) He was during such week able to work or 8 was able to work during four or more days of such week 9 and disabled the remaining days of such week;

10 "(2) He has made a claim for benefits with respect 11 to such week in accordance with such regulations as the 12 Board may prescribe;

13 "(3) He was during such week available for work 14 and had registered for work at, and thereafter continued 15 to report at, an employment office in accordance with 16 such regulations as the Board may prescribe: Provided, 17 That, under regulations prescribed by the Board, at-18 tendance at a training course, approved by the Board, 19 may fulfill the requirements of this clause;

20 "(4) He had been unemployed for a waiting period 21 of one week within the benefit year: Provided, That 22 this requirement shall not interrupt the payment of 23 benefits for consecutive weeks of unemployment: Pro-

1 vided further, That the individual was otherwise eligible 2 for benefits with respect thereto;
3 "(5) He had during his eligibility period been paid
4 wages of not less than thirty times his basic weekly
5 benefit amount;
6 "(6) He is not receiving a disability benefit under 7 this part with respect to such week.
8 "(b) An individual shall be eligible to receive benefits 9 with respect to any week of temporary disability only if 10 the Board finds that—
11 "(1) He has made a claim for temporary disability 12 benefits with respect to such week in accordance with 13 such regulations as the Board may prescribe; 14 "(2) He has been certified as disabled and has 15 thereafter continued to be disabled and has been recerti-16 fied (or, with respect to any woman claiming maternity 17 benefits, she has been certified as otherwise eligible, 18 and has thereafter continued to be recertified as eligible) 19 in accordance with such regulations as the Board may 20 prescribe;
21 "(3) He has been continuously disabled for a 22 waiting period of one week within the benefit year: Pro-
23 vided, That this requirement shall not interrupt the 24 payment of benefits for consecutive weeks of disability:

1 Provided further, That the individual was otherwise
2 eligible for disability benefits with respect thereto;
3 "(4) He had during his eligibility period been paid
4 wages of not less than thirty times his basic weekly
5 benefit amount;
6 "(5) He is not receiving an unemployment benefit 7 under this part with respect to such week.
8 "DISQUALIFICATIONS
9 "SEC. 222. (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of sec-10 tion 221 an individual shall be disqualified for unemploy-
11 ment benefits—
12 "(1) For any week in which he left suitable work 13 voluntarily without good cause and for not more than 14 the four consecutive weeks of unemployment which 15 immediately follow such week, as determined accord-16 ing to the circumstances in each case;
17 "(2) For any week in which he was discharged 18 for misconduct connected with his work and for not more 19 than the four consecutive weeks of unemployment which 20 immediately follow such week, as determined according 21 to the circumstances in each case;
22 "(3) For any week in which he failed, without 23 good cause, either to apply for available, suitable work
24 when so directed by the employment office or Board

1 or to accept suitable work when offered him, and for not 2 more than the four consecutive weeks of unemployment 3 which immediately follow such week, as determined 4 according to the circumstances in each case;

5 "(4) For any week with respect to which it is 6 found that his unemployment is due to a stoppage of 7 work which exists because of a labor dispute at the 8 factory, establishment, or other premises in which he 9 is or was last employed: Provided, That this subsection 10 shall not apply if it is shown that (1) he is not partici-11 pating in or directly interested in the labor dispute which 12 caused the stoppage of work; and (2) he does not 13 belong to a grade or class of workers of which, immedi-
14 ately before the commencement of the stoppage there 15 were members employed at the premises at which the 16 stoppage occurs, any of whom are participating in or 17 directly interested in the dispute: Provided, however,
18 That if in any case separate branches of work which are 19 commonly conducted as separate businesses in separate 20 premises are conducted in separate departments of the 21 same premises, each such department shall, for the pur-
22 pose of this subsection, be deemed to be a separate fac-
23 tory, establishment, or other premises.

24 "(b) In determining whether or not any work is suit-25 able for an individual and in determining the existence of 1 good cause for voluntarily leaving his work, there shall be 2 considered among other factors the degree of risk involved 3 to his health, safety, and morals; his physical fitness and 4 prior training; his experience and prior earnings; the length 5 of his unemployment; his prospects for obtaining work at 6 his customary occupation; the distance of available work 7 from his residence and prospects for obtaining local work;

8 and the relationship of the individual and the work to em-9 ployment policies established by Federal statute or by an 10 authorized agency of the Federal Government. No work 11 shall be deemed suitable for the purposes of this section, 12 and benefits shall not be denied under this title to any 13 otherwise eligible individual for refusing to accept work, if—14 "(1) The position offered is vacant due directly 15 to a strike, lock-out, or other labor dispute;
16 "(2) The remuneration, hours, or other conditions 17 of work offered are substantially less favorable to the 18 individual than those prevailing for similar work in the 19 locality;
20 "(3) If as a condition of being employed the in-21 dividual would be required to join a company union 22 or to resign from or refrain from joining any bona fide 23 labor organization.
24 "(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 221 an

1 individual shall be disqualified for unemployment or tem-2 porary disability benefits for any week with respect to which 3 he is receiving benefits under another unemployment in-4 surance or temporary disability insurance law, or a work-5 men's compensation law of the United States or of any 6 State: Provided, That with respect to disability benefits this 7 disqualification shall apply only if such other benefits are 8 paid with respect to the same disability: Provided further, 9 That if such other benefits are less than the benefits which 10 would otherwise be due under this part, he shall be en-11 titled to receive for such week, if otherwise eligible, benefits 12 under this part reduced by the amount of such other benefits.
13 "SEC. 223. When used in this part—14 "(a) The term 'week' means a period of seven con-15 secutive days as the Board may prescribe.
16 "(b) An individual shall be deemed 'unemployed' with 17 respect to any week during which he performs no services 18 and with respect to which no remuneration is payable to him, 19 or with respect to any week of less than full-time work if 20 the remuneration payable to him with respect to such week 21 is less than his weekly benefit amount.
22 "(c) An individual shall be deemed disabled with re-23 spect to any week during which by reason of illness or 24 injury he is totally unable to work at his last, accustomed, 25 or reasonably similar occupation, as may be determined by

1 the Board, and with respect to which no remuneration is 2 payable to him; and he shall be deemed disabled with 3 respect to any week in which by reason of illness or injury
4 he is unable to work at such occupation for three full days
5 or more, or for one full day or more if such week imme-6 diately follows a waiting period week or a full week of 7 disability, and the remuneration payable to him with respect 8 to such week is less than his weekly benefit amount.

9 "(d) The term 'highest quarterly wages' means the 10 amount of an individual's total wages for employment paid 11 during that quarter of his eligibility period in which such 12 total wages were highest.

13 "(e) The term 'dependent' means an unmarried child 14 (including a stepchild, adopted or foster child) of an in-15 dividual who is under the age of eighteen; and a wife of an 16 individual, not regularly engaged in rendering services for 17 remuneration or in any occupation for profit, who is living 18 with or receiving regular support from such individual.

19 "SEC. 224. Effective January 1, 1947, title III of the 20 Social Security Act is repealed.

21 "PART C—RETIREMENT, SURVIVORS, AND EXTENDED DIS-22 ABILITY INSURANCE BENEFITS

23 "PRIMARY INSURANCE BENEFITS

24 "SEC. 225. (a) (1) Every individual who (A) has 25 attained the age of sixty-five, if a male, or has attained the

1 age of sixty, if a female; (B) has filed application for pri-
2 mary insurance benefits; and (C) at the time of filing appli-3 cation is a fully insured individual, shall be entitled to receive 4 a primary insurance benefit for each month, beginning with 5 the first month after December 1945 in which such indi-6 vidual becomes so entitled to such insurance benefits and 7 ending with the month preceding the month in which he 8 dies.

9 "(2) Every individual who (A) has attained the age
10 of eighteen, (B) is not entitled to benefits under clause (1)
11 of this subsection, (C) has filed application for primary 12 insurance benefits, (D) is under a disability which has con-
13 tinued for a period of not less than six consecutive calendar 14 months, and (E) at the time of filing application is a fully 15 and currently insured individual, shall be entitled to receive 16 a primary insurance benefit for each month, beginning with 17 the first month after December 1945 in which such individual 18 becomes so entitled to such insurance benefits and ending 19 with the month immediately preceding the first month in 20 which any of the following occurs: He ceases to be under 21 a disability, becomes entitled to a benefit under clause (1) of 22 this subsection, or dies.

23 "(3) In addition to the monthly benefit under this sub-24 section, if the Board shall find that the service of an 25 attendant is necessary by reason of disability, the Board

1 may grant such further sum, not in excess of $25 a month, 2 as the Board shall find necessary to cover the cost of such 3 an attendant.

4 "WIFE'S INSURANCE BENEFITS

5 "(b) (1) Every wife of an individual who is entitled 6 to primary benefits, if such wife (A) has filed application 7 for wife's insurance benefits; (B) was living with such 8 individual at the time such application was filed; (C) at 9 the time of filing such application has in her care, individually 10 or jointly with her husband, a child of her husband entitled 11 to receive a child's insurance benefit, or has attained the age 12 of sixty; and (D) is not entitled to receive primary insur-
13 ance benefits, or is entitled to receive primary insurance 14 benefits but such benefit for each month is less than one-half 15 of the primary insurance benefit of her husband for such 16 month, shall be entitled to receive a wife's insurance benefit
17 for each month, beginning with the first month after Decem-18 ber 1945, in which she becomes so entitled to such insur-
19 ance benefits, and ending with the month immediately pre-20 ceding the first month in which any of the following occurs:
21 She dies, her husband dies, no child of her husband is en-22 titled to receive a child's insurance benefit and she is under 23 age sixty, her husband ceases to be entitled to primary 24 insurance benefits because of recovery from disability, they 25 are divorced a vinculo matrimonii, or she becomes entitled

1 to receive a primary insurance benefit for a month equal 2 to or exceeding one-half of the primary insurance benefit of 3 her husband for such month.

4 "(2) Such wife's insurance benefit for each month shall 5 be equal to one-half of the primary insurance benefit of 6 her husband for such month except that, if she is entitled 7 to receive a primary insurance benefit for any month, such 8 wife's insurance benefit for such month shall be reduced 9 by an amount equal to her primary insurance benefit for 10 such month.

11 "DISABLED HUSBAND'S INSURANCE BENEFITS

12 "(c) (1) Every husband of an individual entitled to 13 primary insurance benefits, if such husband (A) has at-14 tained the age of sixty-five, (B) has filed application for 15 husband's insurance benefits, (C) was living with such in-16 dividual at the time such application was filed, (D) is under 17 a disability which has continued since such individual became 18 entitled to primary insurance benefit and for a period of not 19 less than six consecutive calendar months, and (E) is not en-20 titled to receive primary insurance benefits, or is entitled to 21 receive primary insurance benefits each of which is less than 22 one-half of a primary insurance benefit of his wife, shall be 23 entitled to receive a disabled husband's insurance benefit for 24 each month, beginning with the first month after December 25 1945 in which he becomes so entitled to such insurance bene-

1 fits, and ending with the month immediately preceding the 2 first month in which any of the following occurs: He ceases to 3 be under a disability, dies, his wife dies or ceases to be en-
4 titled to primary insurance benefits, they are divorced a 5 vinculo matrimonii, or he becomes entitled to receive a pri-
6 mary insurance benefit equal to or exceeding one-half of a 7 primary insurance benefit of his wife.

8 "(2) Such disabled husband's insurance benefits for 9 each month shall be equal to one-half of a primary insurance 10 benefit of his wife, except that, if he is entitled to receive a 11 primary insurance benefit for any month, such disabled hus-12 band's insurance benefit for such month shall be reduced by 13 an amount equal to a primary insurance benefit of such dis-14 abled husband.

15 "CHILD'S INSURANCE BENEFITS

16 "(d) (1) Every child of an individual entitled to pri-17 mary insurance benefits, or of an individual who died a fully 18 or currently insured individual if such child (A) has filed 19 application for child's insurance benefits, (B) at the time 20 such application was filed was unmarried and had not 21 attained the age of eighteen, and (C) was dependent upon 22 such individual at the time such application was filed, or, 23 if such individual has died, was dependent upon such in-24 dividual at the time of such individual's death, shall be 25 entitled to receive a child's insurance benefit for each month,

1 beginning with the first month after December 1945, in 2 which such child becomes so entitled to such insurance 3 benefits, and ending with the month immediately preceding 4 the first month in which any of the following occurs: Such 5 child dies, marries, is adopted prior to the death of such 6 individual, or attains the age of eighteen, or such individual 7 ceases to be entitled to primary insurance benefits because of 8 recovery from disability, or if such entitlement is with re-9 spect to the wages of a female individual and the child is 10 deemed to have been dependent upon such individual be-11 cause of the disability of the child's father or adopting 12 father as specified in paragraph (4) or (5), such disability 13 ceases.

14 "(2) Such child's insurance benefit for each month shall 15 be equal to one-half of the primary insurance benefit, for 16 such month, of the individual with respect to whose wages 17 the child is entitled to receive such benefit, except that, 18 when there is more than one such individual, living or de-19 ceased, such benefit shall be equal to one-half of whichever 20 such benefit or such amount is greatest.

21 "(3) A child shall be deemed to have been depend-22 ent upon such a father or adopting father at the time
23 specified in paragraph (1) (C) unless, at that time, 24 such individual was not living with or contributing to the 25 support of such child and—

1 "(i) such child was neither his legitimate nor his 2 adopted child; or 3 "(ii) such child had been adopted by some other in-4 dividual not at the time of adoption the wife of such 5 father or adopting father; or 6 "(iii) such child was living with the child's step-7 father, who was furnishing at least one-half of the child's 8 support.
9 "(4) A child shall be deemed to have been dependent 10 upon a mother or adopting mother at the time specified in 11 paragraph (1) (C) if, and only if, at that time, such child—12 "(A) was not living with the child's father or 13 adopting father and he was not contributing to the child's 14 support; or
15 "(B) was not living with the child's father or 16 adopting father and such mother or adopting mother was 17 furnishing at least one-half of the child's support; or 18 "(C) the child's father or adopting father had 19 been under disability for a period of not less than the six 20 completed calendar months immediately preceding the 21 month as of which the child's dependency is determined.
22 "(5) A child shall be deemed to have been dependent 23 upon a stepparent at the time specified in paragraph (1)
24 (C) if, and only if, at that time, such child—25 "(A) was living with such stepparent but not with

1 the child's father or adopting father and such father or 2 adopting father was not contributing to the child's sup-3 port; or
4 "(B) was not living with the child's father or 5 adopting father and such stepparent was furnishing at 6 least one-half of the child's support; or 7 "(C) if dependency is determined with respect to 8 a stepmother, the child's father or adopting father had 9 been under disability for a period of not less than the 10 six completed calendar months immediately preceding 11 the month as of which the child's dependency is 12 determined.
13 "(6) A child shall be deemed to have been dependent
14 upon a foster parent if, and only if, at the time specified 15 in paragraph (1) (C), such foster parent was, and 16 throughout the period required by paragraph (7) for the 17 establishment of the foster relationship had been, furnish-18 ing not less than one-half of such child's support and through-19 out such period the child had not been living with the child's 20 father or adopting father and such father or adopting father 21 had not been contributing to the support of the child.
22 "(7) The 'child' of an individual, as such term is used 23 in this subsection, means (A) his son or daughter; or (B)
24 his stepchild by a marriage contracted prior to the date 25 upon which he attained the age of sixty if a male, or fifty-

1 five if a female, and prior to the beginning of the twelfth
2 month before the month in which he died or became dis-3 abled; or (C) a child legally adopted by him prior to the 4 date upon which he attained the age of sixty if a male or 5 fifty-five if a female, and prior to the beginning of the 6 twelfth month before the month in which he died or became 7 disabled; or (D) a child to whom such individual (in such 8 case called a foster parent) stands in loco parentis and has 9 so stood for a period commencing prior to the date upon 10 which such foster parent attained the age of sixty if a male, 11 or fifty-five if a female, and prior to the beginning of the 12 twelfth month before the month in which such foster parent 13 died or became disabled, provided such child was living with 14 him throughout such period.

15 "WIDOW'S RETIREMENT INSURANCE BENEFITS

16 "(e) (1) Every widow of an individual who died a 17 fully insured individual if such widow (A) has not remar-
18 ried, (B) has attained the age of sixty, (C) has filed appli-19 cation for widow's retirement insurance benefits, (D) was 20 living with such individual at the time of his death, and (E) 21 is not entitled to receive primary insurance benefits, or is en-22 titled to receive primary insurance benefits each of which is 23 less than three-fourths of the primary insurance benefits
24 of her husband, shall be entitled to receive a widow's 25 retirement insurance benefit for each month, begin-

1 ning with the first month after December 1945, in which she 2 becomes so entitled to such insurance benefits and ending with 3 the month immediately preceding the first month in which 4 any of the following occurs: She remarries, dies, or becomes 5 entitled to receive a primary insurance benefit equal to or 6 exceeding three-fourths of the primary insurance benefit of 7 her husband.

8 "(2) Such widow's retirement insurance benefit for 9 each month shall be equal to three-fourths of the primary 10 insurance benefit of her deceased husband, except that, if she 11 is entitled to receive a primary insurance benefit for any 12 month, such widow's retirement insurance benefit for such 13 month shall be reduced by an amount equal to her primary 14 insurance benefit for such month.

15 "DISABLED WIDOWER'S INSURANCE BENEFITS

16 "(f) (1) Every widower of an individual who died 17 a fully insured individual if such widower (A) has filed
18 application for disabled widower's insurance benefits, (B)
19 has not remarried, (C) has attained the age of sixty-five, 20 (D) was living with such individual at the time of her 21 death, (E) is under a disability which has continued since 22 the time of her death and for a period of not less than six 23 consecutive months, and (F) is not entitled to receive pri-24 mary insurance benefits or is entitled to receive primary 25 insurance benefits each of which is less than three-fourths

1 of a primary insurance benefit of his wife, shall be entitled 2 to receive a disabled widower's insurance benefit for each 3 month beginning with the month in which he becomes so 4 entitled to such insurance benefits and ending with the 5 month immediately preceding the first month in which 6 any of the following occurs: He ceases to be under a dis-
7 ability, remarries, dies, or becomes entitled to receive a
8 primary insurance benefit equal to or exceeding three-fourths 9 of a primary insurance benefit of his wife.

10 "(2) Such disabled widower's insurance benefit for 11 each month shall be equal to three-fourths of a primary 12 insurance benefit of his deceased wife, except that, if he is 13 entitled to receive a primary insurance benefit for any month, 14 such disabled widower's insurance benefit for such month
15 shall be reduced by an amount equal to a primary insurance 16 benefit of such widower.

17 "MOTHER'S INSURANCE BENEFITS

18 "(g) (1) Every widow of an individual who died a 19 fully or currently insured individual if such widow (A) has 20 filed application for a mother's insurance benefits; (B) 21 at the time of filing such application has in her care a 22 child of such deceased individual entitled to receive a child's 23 insurance benefit; (C) has not remarried; (D) is not en-24 titled to receive a widow's retirement insurance benefit, and 25 is not entitled to receive primary insurance benefits, or is

1 entitled to receive primary insurance benefits but such ben-2 efit for each month is less than three-fourths of the primary in-3 surance benefit of her husband; and (E) was living with such 4 individual at the time of his death, and any surviving former 5 wife divorced who has met the requirements in (A), (B), 6 (C), and (D) above and who was herself receiving more 7 than half of her support from the wage earner when he died, 8 shall be entitled to receive a mother's insurance benefit for 9 such month, beginning with the first month after December 10 1945, in which she becomes so entitled to such insurance
11 benefits and ending with the month immediately preceding 12 the first month in which any of the following occurs: No 13 child of such deceased individual is entitled to receive a
14 primary insurance benefit equal to or exceeding three-fourths 15 of the primary insurance benefit of her deceased husband, 16 she becomes entitled to receive a widow's retirement insur-
17 ance benefit, she remarries, she dies.

18 "(2) Such mother's insurance benefit for each month 19 shall be equal to three-fourths of the primary insurance bene-20 fit of her deceased husband, except that, if she is entitled to 21 receive a primary insurance benefit for any month, such 22 mother's insurance benefit for such month shall be reduced 23 by an amount equal to such primary insurance benefit.

24 "PARENT'S INSURANCE BENEFIT

25 "(h) (1) Every parent of an individual who dies a

1 fully insured individual, leaving no widow, widower, or 2 surviving child under the age of eighteen, who would on 3 filing application in the month in which such individual 4 died be entitled to a benefit for such month, or who 5 could become entitled to a benefit for any subsequent 6 month, with respect to such individual's wages, if such 7 parent (A) has attained the age of sixty-five if a male, or 8 of sixty if a female; (B) was chiefly supported by such 9 individual at the time of such individual's death and filed 10 proof of such support within two years of such date of 11 death; (C) has not married since such individual's death;
12 (D) is not entitled to receive any other insurance benefits 13 under this section, or is entitled to receive one or more of 14 such benefits for a month, but the total for such month is 15 less than one-half of the primary insurance benefit of such 16 deceased individual; and (E) has filed application for 17 parent's insurance benefits, shall be entitled to receive a 18 parent's insurance benefit for each month, beginning with 19 the first month after December 1945, in which such 20 parent becomes so entitled to such parent's insurance benefits 21 and ending with the month immediately preceding the first 22 month in which any of the following occurs: Such parent 23 dies, marries, or becomes entitled to receive for any month 24 an insurance benefit or benefits (other than a benefit under 25 this subsection) in a total amount equal to or exceeding

1 one-half of a primary insurance benefit of such deceased
2 individual.
3 "(2) Such parent's insurance benefit for each month 4 subsequent to December 1945 shall be equal to one-half of 5 the primary insurance benefit of such deceased individual, 6 except that, if such parent is entitled to receive an insur-
7 ance benefit or benefits for any month (other than a benefit 8 under this subsection), such parent's insurance benefit for 9 such month shall be reduced by an amount equal to the total 10 of such other benefit or benefits for such month. When 11 there is more than one such individual with respect to whose 12 wages the parent is entitled, such parent's insurance benefit 13 shall be equal to one-half of whichever primary insurance 14 benefit is greatest.
15 "(3) As used in this subsection, the term 'parent' means 16 the mother or father of an individual, a stepparent of an 17 individual by a marriage contracted before such individual 18 attained the age of sixteen, or an adopting parent by whom 19 an individual was adopted before he attained the age of 20 sixteen.
21 "LUMP-SUM DEATH PAYMENTS
22 "(i) Upon the death of an individual who died a fully 23 or currently insured individual, an amount equal to six times 24 a primary insurance benefit of such individual shall be paid 25 in a lump sum to the widow or widower whose relationship

1 to the deceased is determined by the Board, and who is living
2 on the date of such determination: Provided, That such widow 3 or widower was living with such insured individual at the 4 time of his death. If no such widow or widower be living on 5 the date of such determination, or, if living, was not living 6 with the insured individual at the time of his death, such 7 amount shall be paid to any person or persons, equitably 8 entitled thereto, to the extent and in proportions that he or 9 they shall have paid the expenses of burial of the deceased.
10 No payment shall be made to any person under this subsec-11 tion unless application therefor shall have been filed by or on 12 behalf of any such person (whether or not legally com-13 petent), prior to the expiration of two years after the date of 14 death of such individual.

15 "APPLICATION FOR BENEFITS

16 "(j) An individual who would have been entitled to a 17 benefit under subsection (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), or 18 (h) for any month had he filed application therefor prior to 19 the end of such month, shall be entitled to such benefit for 20 such month if he files application therefor prior to the end of 21 the third month immediately succeeding such month.

22 "RECOMPUTATION OF BENEFITS

23 "(k) (1) An individual who has become entitled to 24 primary insurance benefits, upon application, may have

1 the amount of his primary insurance benefit recomputed as 2 of January 1 of any year following the year in which he 3 became so entitled to take account of his wages subsequent 4 to entitlement; and if such recomputation would increase the 5 amount of his primary insurance benefit, the monthly benefits 6 payable with respect to his wage record, beginning with 7 the benefits for October of that year (but in no event 8 earlier than the month in which the request for recomputa-9 tion was filed), shall be based on such recomputation.
10 "(2) In determining the amount of any monthly benefit 11 or lump-sum death payment payable with respect to the 12 wages of a deceased individual who was entitled to primary 13 insurance benefits, the Board may, in the absence of a written 14 request for recomputation, compute such benefits on the basis 15 of the primary insurance benefit of such individual last in 16 force prior to his death. If such request is filed within such 17 time as may be prescribed by regulations, and recomputa-18 tation would increase the primary insurance benefit of such 19 deceased individual, all monthly benefits and any lump-sum 20 death payment payable with respect to his wages shall be 21 determined on the basis of the increased primary insurance 22 benefit. The recomputed amount with respect to monthly 23 benefits shall be effective with the month of entitlement to 24 such benefits or as of the date of request for recomputation

1 if such request is filed after initial decision has been made 2 on the application for such benefits.

3 "AMOUNT OF BENEFITS

4 "SEC. 226. (a) An individual's primary insurance ben-5 efit with respect to any month, shall be an amount equal to 6 the sum of the following:

7 "(1) (A) Forty per centum of the amount of his aver-8 age monthly wage as computed for such month if such 9 average monthly wage does not exceed $75, or (B) if such 10 average monthly wage exceeds $75, 40 per centum of $75, 11 plus 10 per centum of the amount by which such average 12 monthly wage exceeds $75 and does not exceed $300; and 13 "(2) An amount equal to 1 per centum of the amount 14 computed under paragraph (1) multiplied by one-fourth 15 of the number of his quarters of coverage (as defined in 16 section 228 (a)). Where the primary insurance benefit 17 thus computed is less than $20, such amount shall be $20, 18 and where it is not a multiple of $1, such amount shall be 19 computed to the next higher multiple of $1.

20 "(b) An individual's average monthly wage shall be 21 the quotient obtained by dividing the total wages paid him 22 in all quarters of coverage (except any quarter for any 23 part of which he was under disability) before the computa-24 tion date specified in this subsection, by three times the

1 number of such quarters elapsing after 1936 and before such 2 computation date. The initial computation date for a 3 primary insurance benefit of an individual who is disabled 4 shall be the quarter in which he becomes entitled to such 5 benefit; of an individual who is age 65 or older or who is 6 deceased shall be January 1 of any of the following years, 7 whichever results in the highest benefit amount—8 "(1) the year in which he first could have become 9 entitled to such benefit upon filing an application; or 10 "(2) the year in which he becomes entitled to such 11 benefit or dies; or 12 "(3) any year between those two years.
13 Subsequent computation dates may be established under 14 the provisions of section 225 (k).
15 "REDUCTION AND INCREASE OF BENEFITS 16 "SEC. 227. (a) Whenever the total of benefits under 17 section 225, payable for a month with respect to an indi-18 vidual's wages, is more than $30 and exceeds $120 or an 19 amount equal to 80 per centum of his average monthly wage, 20 such total of benefits shall, prior to any deductions under this 21 section, be reduced to the lesser of such amounts or to $30, 22 whichever is greater.
23 "(b) Whenever a decrease or increase of the total of 24 benefits for a month is made under subsection (a) of this 25 section, each benefit, except the primary insurance benefit,

1 shall be proportionately decreased or increased, as the case 2 may be.

3 "(c) Deductions, in such amounts and at such time or 4 times as the Board shall determine, shall be made from any 5 payment or payments under this title to which an individual 6 is entitled, until the total of such deductions equals such in-7 dividual's benefit or benefits for any month in which such 8 individual:

9 "(1) rendered services in employment for remun-10 eration of more than $25 or, if a blind individual, of 11 more than $50, or received benefits under part B of 12 more than $25; or

13 "(2) if a widow entitled to a mother's insurance 14 benefit, did not have in her care a child of her deceased 15 husband entitled to receive a child's insurance benefit; 16 or

17 "(3) if a wife under age sixty entitled to a wife's 18 insurance benefit did not have in her care, individually 19 or jointly with her husband, a child of her husband en-20 titled to receive a child's insurance benefit.

21 "(d) Deductions shall be made from any husband's, 22 wife's, or child's insurance benefit to which a husband, wife, 23 or child is entitled, until the total of such deductions equals 24 such husband's, wife's, or child's insurance benefit or benefits 25 for any month in which the individual, with respect to whose

1 wages such benefit was payable, rendered services in em-
2 ployment for remuneration of more than $25, or, if a blind
3 individual, of more than $50, or if such individual received 4 benefits under part B of more than $25.

5 "(e) If more than one event occurs in any one month 6 which would occasion deductions equal to a benefit for 7 such month, only an amount equal to such benefit shall be 8 deducted.

9 "(f) Any individual in receipt of benefits subject to 10 deduction under subsection (c) or (d) (or who is in 11 receipt of such benefits on behalf of another individual), 12 because of the occurrence of an event enumerated therein,
13 shall report such occurrence to the Board prior to the receipt 14 and acceptance of an insurance benefit for the second 15 month, following the month in which such event occurred.
16 Any such individual having knowledge thereof, who fails 17 to report any such occurrence, shall suffer an additional 18 deduction equal to that imposed under subsection (c) or (d).

19 "ELIGIBILITY FOR BENEFITS

20 "SEC. 228 (a) An individual shall be deemed fully 21 insured in any month if it appears to the satisfaction of the 22 Board that—

23 "(1) He had not less than one quarter of coverage 24 for each two of the quarters elapsing after 1936 or after 25 the quarter in which he attained age twenty-one, which-

1 ever is later, and in no case less than six quarters of 2 coverage, excluding from such elapsed quarters (A)
3 any quarter between January 1, 1937, or the quarter 4 in which he attained age twenty-one if later, and 5 December 31, 1945, in excess of twice the number of 6 quarters of coverage which the individual had estab-7 lished during that period; (B) the quarter in which 8 an individual attained the age of sixty-five, if a male, 9 or of sixty, if a female, and any quarter thereafter or,
10 if earlier, the quarter in which he died; (C) any quarter 11 for any part of which he was under a prior disability;
12 (D) for the purpose of determining whether such indi-
13 vidual is entitled to benefits under section 225 (a) (2) 14 in respect to a current disability, the quarter in which 15 such disability began and every quarter for any part of 16 which he continues under such disability; or 17 "(2) He has at least forty quarters of coverage.
18 "As used in this title, the term 'quarter' and the 19 term 'calendar quarter' mean a period of three calen-
20 dar months ending on March 31, June 30, September 21 30, or December 31; and the term 'quarter of cover-22 age' means a calendar quarter in which the individual 23 has been paid not less than $50 in wages. When the num-24 ber of quarters elapsing specified in paragraph (1) of this 25 subsection is an odd number, for purposes of such paragraph

1 such number shall be reduced by one. In any case where 2 an individual has been paid prior to 1946 in a calendar year
3 $3,000 or more in wages, or after 1945 in a calendar year
4 $3,600 or more in wages, each quarter of such year follow-
5 ing his first quarter of coverage shall be deemed a quarter 6 of coverage, excepting any quarter in such year in which 7 such individual dies or becomes entitled to a primary insur-8 ance benefit and any quarter succeeding such quarter in 9 which he died or became so entitled. In any case where 10 wages have been paid pursuant to a ruling based on the 11 National Labor Relations Act or a labor relations act of any 12 State, or under a compromise settlement resulting from a dis-13 pute within the jurisdiction of any such Act, such wages shall 14 be deemed to have been paid on the employer's normal dates 15 of payment of wages earned in the periods to which such 16 wages apply.

17 "(b) An individual shall be deemed to be currently 18 insured under part C of this title if he had acquired not less 19 than six quarters of coverage during the period consisting 20 of the quarter in which he died or in which his current 21 disability began, and the twelve calendar quarters immedi-22 ately preceding such quarter (excluding from such imme-23 diately preceding quarters any quarter for any part of which 24 he was under a prior disability).

1 "ADJUSTMENT OF DUPLICATE BENEFITS

2 "SEC. 229. (a) Where, for any month which occurs
3 after December 1945—

4 "(1) A benefit under section 225 (a) is payable 5 to an individual and a noncontributory benefit is also 6 payable to him by reason of his retirement, disability, or 7 old age; or

8 "(2) A benefit under subsection (b), (c), or (d)
9 of section 225 is payable to a wife, husband, or child 10 and a noncontributory benefit is also payable to or on 11 account of such wife, husband, or child by reason of 12 the retirement, disability, or old age of the individual 13 with respect to whose wages the benefit under this part 14 is payable; or

15 "(3) A benefit under subsection (d), (e), (f), 16 (g), or (h) of section 225 is payable to a child, widow, 17 former wife divorced, widower, or parent and a non-18 contributory benefit is also payable to or on account of 19 such child, widow, former wife divorced, widower, or 20 parent, by reason of the death of the individual with 21 respect to whose wages the benefit under this part is 22 payable;

23 the benefit payable under this part for such month shall be 24 adjusted in accordance with the following provisions of this 25 section.

1 "(b) (1) If the benefit payable under this part is 2 greater than the noncontributory benefit, the benefit payable 3 under this part shall be reduced by an amount equal to one-
4 half the noncontributory benefit.
5 "(2) If the benefit payable under this part is equal to 6 or less than the noncontributory benefit, the benefit payable 7 under this part shall be reduced by one-half.
8 "(c) The adjustment under this section shall be made 9 after any reduction or increase under section 226 but prior 10 to any deductions under that section and prior to any adjust-11 ment under section 292, except that no adjustment under 12 this section shall reduce to less than $10 the benefit or total 13 of benefits payable under section 225 for a month with 14 respect to an individual's wages. Adjustments under this 15 section shall not be modified, postponed, or suspended by 16 reason of deductions from or temporary adjustment, tem-17 porary modification, temporary suspension, or temporary 18 delay in the payment, of any noncontributory benefit if 19 the Board so provides by regulation after a determination, 20 or if it determines in a particular case, that modification, 21 postponement, or suspension of the adjustments would be 22 impracticable or contrary to the purposes of this section or 23 this part.
24 "(d) If a noncontributory benefit is payable on other 25 than a monthly basis (excluding a benefit payable in a lump

1 sum unless it is a commutation of, or a substitute for, peri-
2 odic payments), adjustment of benefits under this section 3 shall be made in such amounts as the Board finds will 4 approximate as nearly as practicable the adjustments pre-5 scribed in subsection (b).

6 "(e) No adjustment under this section in any benefit 7 to which an individual had become entitled, or would have 8 become entitled upon the filing of an application therefor, 9 before the date of enactment of this Act, shall reduce such 10 benefit to an amount less than the benefit which was or 11 would have been payable before such date.

12 "(f) Where more than one noncontributory benefit is 13 payable to or on account of an individual for a month the 14 sum of such benefits shall be considered the only noncon-15 tributory benefit with respect to which adjustment is to be 16 made under this section for such month.

17 "(g) The term 'noncontributory benefit' means (1) a 18 cash benefit, allowance, annuity, retired pay or compensation
19 payable by reason of the death, disability, old-age, or retire-20 ment, and the past employment or services, of any individual, 21 under any law or plan of the United States or under a plan
22 of any wholly owned instrumentality of the United States, 23 creating a system of such payments to individuals, if the 24 benefit system is supported without direct and substantial 25 contributions by employees, and (2) a cash benefit, allow-

1 ance, or compensation under any workmen's compensation
2 law or plan of the United States or of any State, if the cash
3 benefit system is supported without direct and substantial
4 contributions by employees.

5 "(h) Regulations of the Board to carry out the pro-
6 visions of this section shall be prescribed only after consulta-
7 tion with the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs. Such reg-8 ulations shall include (1) provisions for determining the 9 amount to be deducted from each benefit under this title in 10 cases in which a single payment by the Veterans' Adminis-
11 tration is made on account of two or more individuals; (2) 12 provisions for determining the amounts to be deducted under 13 this section, when, at the time determination under this 14 title is required to be made, no application has been filed 15 with, or no adjudication has been made by, the Veterans'
16 Administration; and (3) provision for making redetermina-17 tions, and for making appropriate adjustments, when an 18 adjudication by the Veterans' Administration renders er-19 roneous any prior payment or denial of benefits by the 20 Board. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 3 of the 21 Act of August 12, 1935, as amended (U. S. C., 1940 edition, 22 title 38, sec. 454 (a)), in any case in which payments made 23 under this title for any months are erroneous because pen-
24 sion, compensation, or retirement pay have accrued for past 25 months and are unpaid, the amount of such erroneous pay-

1 ments may, to such extent and subject to such limitations
2 as may be prescribed in joint regulations of the Adminis-
3 trator of Veterans' Affairs and the Board, be withheld by 4 the Veterans' Administration from such accrued payments
5 or recovered by the United States, or adjustment may be 6 made under section 292.

7 "PORTION OF BENEFITS DEEMED GRATUITOUS PAYMENTS

8 "SEC. 230. In case a benefit is payable under this part 9 which would not have been payable without the wages 10 deemed to have been paid under section 260, the part of 11 such benefit which bears the same ratio to the total amount 12 of such benefit as the wages deemed paid under section 260 13 bears to the total amount of wages with respect to which such 14 benefit is payable, and only that part of such benefit, shall 15 be regarded as a gratuitous pension, benefit, or payment
16 within the meaning of any law or plan of the United States.
17 In any other case in which a benefit is payable under this 18 part with respect to wages which include wages deemed 19 paid under section 260, the excess of the amount of such 20 benefit over the amount of the benefit which would have been 21 payable without section 260, and only such excess, shall 22 be regarded as a gratuitous pension, benefit, or payment
23 within the meaning of any such law or plan.

24 "PART D—NATIONAL SOCIAL INSURANCE TRUST FUND

25 "SEC. 250. (a) There is hereby created a trust fund to

1 be known as the 'National Social Insurance Trust Fund'
2 (called the 'Trust Fund'). The Trust Fund shall consist 3 of the assets held by the Secretary of the Treasury for the 4 Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund on 5 January 1, 1946, which assets the Secretary of the Treasury
6 is authorized and directed to transfer to the Trust Fund; con-
7 tributions collected under the National Social Insurance
8 Contributions Act paid into the Trust Fund; and such other 9 amounts as may be paid into or belong to the Trust Fund 10 by virtue of any other provision of law. There is also 11 authorized to be appropriated to the Trust Fund such addi-12 tional sums as may be required to finance the benefits and 13 payments of the Social Insurance system.

14 "(b) There is hereby created a body to be known as 15 the Board of Trustees of the National Social Insurance
16 Trust Fund (called the 'Board of Trustees'), which Board
17 of Trustees shall be composed of the Secretary of the Treas-18 ury, the Secretary of Labor, and the Chairman of the 19 Social Security Board, all ex officio. The Secretary of the 20 Treasury shall be the Managing Trustee of the Board of 21 Trustees (called the 'Managing Trustee'). It shall be the 22 duty of the Board of Trustees to—

23 "(1) Hold the Trust Fund;

24 "(2) Establish from time to time such separate 25 accounts within the Trust Fund as may be necessary for

1 the proper and efficient administration of the Social 2 Insurance system;
3 "(3) Report to the Congress at each regular ses-4 sion of the Congress on the operation and status of the 5 Trust Fund (and the separate accounts) during the pre-6 ceding fiscal year and on its expected operation and 7 status during the next ensuing five fiscal years;
8 "(4) Report to the Congress whenever the Board 9 of Trustees is of the opinion that during the ensuing 10 five fiscal years the Trust Fund (or any separate ac-11 count) will be excessive or unduly small.
12 "The reports provided for above shall include a statement
13 of the assets of, and the disbursements made from the Trust
14 Fund during the preceding fiscal year, estimates of the ex-15 pected future income to, and disbursements to be made from, 16 the Trust Fund during the next ensuing five fiscal years, and 17 a statement of the actuarial status of the Trust Fund.
18 "(c) The Managing Trustee is authorized and directed 19 to receive and hold in the Trust Fund all moneys deposited 20 therein by a State agency from a State unemployment fund, 21 and any moneys transferred from a State account in the 22 Unemployment Trust Fund, if a State shall, by action of 23 its legislature, so authorize and the State agency shall so 24 certify and direct. In return for the assumption by the 25 Federal Government of the obligation to pay unemployment

1 benefits, a State shall be required, as a condition for the 2 receipt of any grant or payment authorized under this Act 3 and under the Social Security Amendments of 1945, to 4 transfer to the National Social Insurance Trust Fund the 5 unexpended balances in its unemployment fund or its ac-
6 count in the Unemployment Trust Fund. Such unexpended 7 balances shall be calculated on the basis of the balances
8 existing on January 1, 1945, plus any collections of con-
9 tributions made since that date minus any payment of un-10 employment compensation made since that date.

11 "(d) The Managing Trustee is authorized and directed 12 to receive and hold in a separate railroad unemployment-13 insurance account of the Trust Fund such amounts as are 14 transferred to the account from the Unemployment Trust
15 Fund, or deposited in the account, by the Railroad Retire-16 ment Board. The Managing Trustee is authorized and 17 directed to make such payments out of this account as the 18 Railroad Retirement Board may duly certify, not exceed-19 ing the amount standing to the credit of the railroad unem-
20 ployment insurance account at the time of such payment.

21 "(e) The Trust Fund shall be invested as a single fund.
22 It shall be the duty of the Managing Trustee to invest such 23 portion of the Trust Fund as is not, in his judgment, required 24 to meet current withdrawals. Such investments may be 25 made only in interest-bearing obligations of the United States

1 or in obligations guaranteed as to both principal and interest
2 by the United States. For such purpose such obligations 3 may be acquired (1) on original issue at par, or (2) by 4 purchase of outstanding obligations at the market price.
5 The purposes for which obligations of the United States may 6 be issued under the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, 7 are hereby extended to authorize the issuance at par of special 8 obligations exclusively to the Trust Fund. Such special 9 obligations shall bear interest at a rate equal to the average 10 rate of interest, computed as to the end of the calendar month
11 next preceding the date of such issue, borne by all interest-12 bearing obligations of the United States then forming a part 13 of the public debt; except that where such average rate is 14 not a multiple of one-eighth of 1 per centum, the rate of 15 interest of such special obligations shall be the multiple of 16 one-eighth of 1 per centum next lower than such average 17 rate. Obligations other than such special obligations may be 18 acquired for the Fund only on such terms as to provide an 19 investment yield not less than the yield which would be 20 required in the case of special obligations if issued to the 21 Fund upon the date of such acquisition. Special obligations 22 shall be issued only if the Managing Trustee determines that 23 the purchase of other interest-bearing obligations of the 24 United States, or of obligations guaranteed as to both prin-

1 cipal and interest by the United States on original issue or 2 at the market price, is not in the public interest.
3 "(f) Any obligations acquired by the Trust Fund (ex-4 cept special obligations issued exclusively to the Trust Fund)
5 may be sold by the Managing Trustee at the market price, 6 and such special obligations may be redeemed at par plus 7 accrued interest.
8 "(g) The interest on, and the proceeds from the sale or 9 redemption of, any obligations held in the Trust Fund shall 10 be credited to and form a part of the Trust Fund. The 11 Managing Trustee shall credit to each account maintained
12 within the Trust Fund a proportionate part of the earnings 13 of the Fund on the basis of the average daily balances of 14 such account.
15 "(h) The Managing Trustee is directed to pay from 16 time to time from the Trust Fund into the Treasury the 17 amount estimated by him and the Chairman of the Social 18 Security Board and, with respect to part A by the Surgeon
19 General of the Public Health Service, which will be expended 20 during a three-month period for the administration of the 21 Social Insurance system. Such payments shall be covered 22 into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts for the reimburse-
23 ments of expenses incurred in connection with the adminis-24 tration of such system. If it subsequently appears that the 25 estimates for any particular period were too high or too low,

1 appropriate adjustments shall be made by the Managing 2 Trustee in future payments.
3 "(i) All amounts credited to the Trust Fund shall be 4 available solely for making payments under the Social In-5 surance system, except that any amounts credited to the 6 railroad unemployment insurance account in the Trust Fund
7 shall be available exclusively for such payments as the Rail-
8 road Retirement Board may duly certify.
9 "PART E—CREDIT FOR MILITARY SERVICE 10 "SEC. 260. (a) Effective as of September 7, 1939, for 11 the purposes of this title, each serviceman shall be deemed 12 to have been paid $160 as remuneration for employment in 13 and for each calendar month or any part thereof of active 14 military or naval service performed after September 7, 1939.
15 "(b) The term 'active military or naval service' means 16 active service in the Army or Navy of the United States, 17 the United States Marine Corps, or the United States Coast
18 Guard, or in any component part of any of the foregoing.
19 "(c) The term 'serviceman' means a man or woman 20 who is or has been in active military or naval service at 21 any time during the period specified in subsection (a).
22 "DATE OF DEATH
23 "SEC. 261. (a) For purposes of this title, the date of 24 a serviceman's death while in active military or naval service 25 shall be the date determined by the appropriate service

1 department in a report of death, or included as the date
2 of presumed death in a finding of death made by the head
3 of such department pursuant to the Act of March 7, 1942, 4 as amended (50 U. S. C. App., 1001–1017).

5 "(b) Subsection (a) shall not be applicable to any 6 serviceman with respect to whom the Social Security Board 7 has, prior to the enactment of this Act, made a finding of 8 death.

9 "RETROACTIVE BENEFITS AND RECOMPUTATIONS

10 "SEC. 262. (a) Within such period as the Board may 11 by regulation prescribe, but in no event more than two years 12 after the enactment of this Act, (1) any individual who 13 before the enactment of this Act was entitled to benefits
14 under section 202 of the Social Security Act Amendments 15 of 1939, with respect to the wages of a serviceman whose 16 death occurred prior to such enactment (including lump-17 sum payments under section 202 (g) of that Act), may 18 file application for a recomputation of such benefits, and 19 (2) any individual may file application with respect to 20 such wages for any such benefits to which he was not, and 21 upon filing application would not have been, entitled prior 22 to the enactment of this Act.

23 "(b) The Board shall recompute the benefits of any 24 individual filing an application therefor under clause (1) of 25 subsection (a) to take into account wages deemed paid by

1 reason of section 260 and such recomputation shall be 2 effective, retroactively, as of the month in which the in-3 dividual first became entitled to such benefits.

4 "(c) An application for benefits filed pursuant to clause 5 (2) of subsection (a) with respect to the wages of any 6 serviceman which include wages deemed paid by reason of 7 section 260 shall be effective, retroactively, as though filed 8 in the month in which the serviceman died or in the first 9 month thereafter (not later than the month in which this 10 Act is enacted) in which all conditions of entitlement to 11 such benefits, other than the filing of an application, were 12 met.

13 "(d) In case of the death, prior to the expiration of 14 the period prescribed by the Board under subsection (a), 15 of an individual whose application for recomputation or ap-16 plication for benefits, if he had filed one under that sub-17 section, would have been effective retroactively under sub-18 section (b) or subsection (c), the application may be filed 19 within such period by any other individual or individuals 20 entitled to benefits with respect to the same wages. In 21 any case in which an application is so filed, the nonpayment 22 or underpayment to such deceased individual shall be treated 23 as erroneous within the meaning of section 292.

24 "(e) Except as otherwise specifically provided in this

1 section no payment made prior to the enactment of this 2 Act shall be rendered erroneous by such enactment.

3 "PERIODS OF LIMITATION

4 "SEC. 263. In the case of any application for benefits
5 filed in accordance with the provisions of section 262
6 (a) (2)—

7 "(a) the two-year period within which applica-8 tion must be filed under section 202 (g) of the Social 9 Security Act Amendments of 1939, or section 225 (i) 10 of this Act, shall not apply; and 11 "(b) the two-year period within which proof of 12 dependency and support must be filed under section 13 202 (f) (1) (B) of the Social Security Act Amend-14 ments of 1939 or section 225 (h) (1) (B) of this 15 Act shall begin to run from the date of enactment of 16 this Act.

17 "PART F—COVERAGE PROVISIONS AND DEFINITIONS

18 "SEC. 275. When used in this title—

19 "(a) The term 'wages' means all remuneration for 20 employment, including the cash value of all remuneration
21 paid in any medium other than cash, and the sum paid to 22 an individual pursuant to an order based on the National 23 Labor Relations Act, or the labor relations act of any State
24 or under a compromise settlement resulting from a dispute
25 within the jurisdiction of any such Act, which sum if it

1 had been paid for services rendered during the period for
2 which reinstatement has been ordered would have con-
3 stituted remuneration for employment; except that such 4 term shall not include—

5 "(1) That part of the remuneration which, after 6 remuneration equal to $3,000 has been paid to an in-7 dividual by an employer with respect to employment 8 during any calendar year prior to 1940, is paid to such 9 individual by such employer with respect to employment 10 during such calendar year;

11 "(2) That part of the remuneration which, after 12 remuneration equal to $3,000 has been paid to an in-13 dividual with respect to employment during any calen-14 dar year after 1939 and prior to 1946, is paid to such 15 individual with respect to employment during such 16 calendar year before 1946;

17 "(3) That part of the remuneration which, after 18 remuneration equal to $3,600 has been paid to an 19 individual during any calendar year after 1945, is paid
20 to such individual during such calendar year;

21 "(4) The amount of any payment made to, or on 22 behalf of, an employee under a plan or system estab-
23 lished by an employer which makes provision for his 24 employees generally or for a class or classes of his em-
25 ployees (including any amount paid by an employer

1 for insurance or annuities, or into a fund, to provide for
2 any such payment), on account of (A) retirement, or 3 (B) sickness or accident disability, or (C) medical and 4 hospitalization expenses in connection with sickness or
5 accident disability, or (D) death, provided the employee 6 (i) has not the option to receive, instead of provision for 7 such death benefit, any part of such payment or, if such 8 death benefit is insured, any part of the premiums (or 9 contributions to premiums) paid by his employer, and 10 (ii) has not the right, under the provisions of the plan
11 or system or policy of insurance providing for such 12 death benefit, to assign such benefit, or to receive a cash
13 consideration in lieu of such benefit either upon his with-14 drawal from the plan or system providing for such 15 benefit or upon termination of such plan or system or 16 policy of insurance or of his employment with such 17 employer;
18 "(5) The payment by an employer (without de-19 ductions from the remuneration of the employee) of any 20 social-insurance contributions imposed upon an employee; 21 "(6) Prior to 1946, dismissal payments which the 22 employer is not legally required to make;
23 "(7) The value of services exchanged for other 24 services for which there is no payment other than the 25 exchange; or

1 "(8) Any remuneration paid to an individual prior 2 to January 1, 1937.
3 "(b) The term "employment" means any service per-4 formed after December 31, 1936, and prior to January 1,
5 1940, which was employment as defined in section 210 (b)
6 of the Social Security Act prior to January 1, 1940 (except 7 service performed by an individual after he attained the age 8 of sixty-five if performed prior to January 1, 1939), and any 9 service, after December 31, 1939, and prior to January 1, 10 1946, which was employment as defined in section 209 (b)
11 of the Social Security Act Amendments of 1939, and any 12 service of whatever nature, performed after December 31, 13 1945, by an employee for the person employing him, irre-
14 spective of the citizenship or residence of either, (A) within 15 the United States, (B) under a contract of service which is 16 entered into within the United States, or (C) in connection
17 with an American vessel or civil aircraft during the perform-18 ance of which the vessel touches at a port in the United 19 States, if the employee is employed on and in connection 20 with such vessel when outside the United States, except—21 "(1) Casual labor not in the course of the em-
22 ployer's trade or business;
23 "(2) Service performed by an individual in the 24 employ of his son, daughter, or spouse, and service per-

1 formed by a child under the age of twenty-one in the 2 employ of his father or mother;
3 "(3) Service performed on or in connection with a
4 vessel not an American vessel by an employee, if the 5 employee is employed on and in connection with such 6 vessel when outside the United States;
7 "(4) Service performed in the employ of the United 8 States Government, or of an instrumentality of the United 9 States which is (A) wholly owned by the United States, 10 or (B) exempt from any social-insurance contributions 11 by virtue of any other provision of law: Provided, That 12 service performed in the employ of the Tennessee Valley 13 Authority on an hourly basis shall not come within 14 this exception;
15 "(5) Service performed in the employ of a State
16 or any political subdivision thereof, or any instru-
17 mentality of any one or more of the foregoing which is 18 wholly owned by one or more States or political sub-19 divisions, unless such service (except for the purpose 20 of part B of this title) falls within the scope of a volun-
21 tary compact entered into under section 276;
22 "(6) Service performed by a duly ordained or duly 23 commissioned or licensed minister of any church in the 24 regular exercise of his ministry and service performed

1 by regular members of religious orders in the exercise
2 of duties required by such orders;
3 "(7) Service performed by an individual as an
4 employee or employee representative as defined in sec-
5 tion 1532 of the Internal Revenue Code;
6 "(8) Service performed in any calendar quarter
7 in the employ of any organization exempt from income
8 tax under section 101 of the Internal Revenue Code; if—9 "(A) the remuneration for such service does
10 not exceed $45; or 11 "(B) such service is in connection with the 12 collection of dues or premiums for a fraternal bene-
13 ficiary society, order, or association, and is per-
14 formed away from the home office or is ritualistic
15 service in connection with any such society, order,
16 or association; or
17 "(C) such service is performed by a student
18 who is enrolled and is regularly attending classes
19 at a school, college, or university;
20 "(9) Service performed in the employ of a foreign 21 government (including service as a consular or other 22 officer or employee or a nondiplomatic representative); 23 "(10) Service performed in the employ of an in-
24 strumentality wholly owned by a foreign government—

1 "(A) If the service is of a character similar
2 to that performed in foreign countries by employees
3 of the United States Government or of an instru-
4 mentality thereof; and
5 "(B) If the Secretary of State shall certify to 6 the Board that the foreign government, with re-
7 spect to whose instrumentality and employees
8 thereof exemption is claimed, grants an equivalent
9 exemption with respect to similar service performed
10 in the foreign country by employees of the United 11 States Government and of instrumentalities thereof.
12 "(c) For the purposes of parts A and C of this title, 13 the term 'employment' and the term 'remuneration' includes 14 the services of a self-employed individual.
15 "(d) If the services performed during one-half or more 16 of any pay period by an employee for the person employing 17 him constitute employment, all the services of such employee 18 for such period shall be deemed to be employment; but if 19 the services performed during more than one-half of any 20 such pay period by an employee for the person employing 21 him do not constitute employment, then none of the services
22 of such employee for such period shall be deemed to be 23 employment. As used in this subsection, the term 'pay
24 period' means a period (of not more than thirty-one con-25 secutive days) for which a payment of remuneration is

1 ordinarily made to the employee by the person employing
2 him. This subsection shall not be applicable with respect
3 to services performed in a pay period by an employee for 4 the person employing him, where any of such service is 5 excepted by paragraph (7) of subsection (b).

6 "(e) The term 'employee' includes (in addition to any 7 individual who is a servant under the law of master and 8 servant) any individual who performs service, of whatever 9 nature, for a person, unless the service is performed by the 10 individual in pursuit of his own independently established
11 business. The term 'employee' also includes an officer of a 12 corporation.

13 "(f) The term 'American vessel' means any vessel doc-
14 umented or numbered under the laws of the United States;
15 and includes any vessel which is neither documented nor 16 numbered under the laws of the United States nor docu-
17 mented under the laws of any foreign country, if its crew 18 is employed solely by one or more citizens or residents of 19 the United States or corporations organized under the laws
20 of the United States or of any State.

21 "(g) The term 'wife' (except when used in section 214 22 (l) and 223 (e)) means the wife of an individual who 23 either (1) is the mother of such individual's son or daughter, 24 or (2) has been married to him for not less than thirty-six 25 months.

1 "(h) The term 'widow' (except when used in section 2 225 (i)) means the surviving wife of an individual who 3 either (1) is the mother of such individual's son or daughter, 4 or (2) was married to him prior to the beginning of the 5 twelfth month before the month in which he died.

6 "(i) The term 'husband' means the husband of an 7 individual who either (1) is the father of such individual's 8 son or daughter, or (2) was married to her for not less 9 than thirty-six months.

10 "(j) The term 'widower' (except when used in sec-11 tion 225 (i)) means the surviving husband of an individual 12 who was married to her prior to the beginning of the twelfth 13 month before the month in which she died.

14 "(k) A wife shall be deemed to be living with her hus-15 band if they are both members of the same household, or 16 she is receiving regular contributions from him toward her 17 support, or he has been ordered by any court to contribute 18 to her support; and a widow shall be deemed to have been 19 living with her husband at the time of his death if they were 20 both members of the same household on the date of his 21 death, or she was receiving regular contributions from him 22 toward her support on such date, or he had been ordered 23 by any court to contribute to her support.

24 "(l) A husband shall be deemed to be living with his 25 wife if they are both members of the same household, or he

1 is receiving regular contributions from her toward his support, 2 or she has been ordered by any court to contribute to his sup-3 port; and a widower shall be deemed to have been living with 4 his wife at the time of her death if they were both members 5 of the same household on the date of her death, or he was 6 receiving regular contributions from her toward his support 7 on such date, or she had been ordered by any court to con-
8 tribute to his support.

9 "(m) The term 'disability' means the total inability to 10 work by reason of illness or injury. An individual is totally 11 unable to work when he (1) is blind or (2) is afflicted with 12 any impairment which continually renders it impossible for 13 him to engage in any substantially gainful work and which 14 has reduced his earning capacity by two-thirds or more. No 15 individual shall be deemed under a disability for any period 16 prior to the sixth month before the month in which he filed 17 application for benefits under section 225 (a) (2) in respect 18 to such disability: Provided, That this limitation shall not 19 apply for purposes of section 214 (l), or section 225 (d) 20 (4), or to any continuous period of disability commencing 21 before and existing on January 1, 1946, if the individual 22 filed application for benefits under section 225 (a) (2) in 23 respect of such disability not later than December 31, 1946.
24 The term 'current disability' means a disability as herein de-25 fined on the basis of which an individual is entitled to benefits

1 under section 225 (a) (2) or application for such benefits is 2 being made. The term 'prior disability' means a disability as 3 herein defined, with respect to which an individual has been 4 entitled to benefits under section 225 (a) (2) and has there-5 after ceased to be so entitled. The period with respect to 6 which an individual shall be deemed to have been under a 7 prior disability shall include the period beginning with the 8 quarter in which such disability was determined to have begun 9 and ending with the quarter in which such individual ceased 10 to be so entitled.

11 "(n) (1) Officers and Members of Crews Employed by 12 War Shipping Administration.—The term 'employment' shall 13 include such service as is determined by the Administrator, 14 War Shipping Administration, to be performed after Sep-15 tember 30, 1941, and prior to the termination of title I of 16 the First War Powers Act, 1941, on or in connection with 17 any vessel by an officer or member of the crew as an em-
18 ployee of the United States employed through the War Ship-
19 ping Administration or, in respect of such service performed
20 before February 11, 1942, the United States Maritime Com-21 mission, but shall not include any such service performed (1) 22 under a contract entered into without the United States and 23 during the performance of which the vessel does not touch at 24 a port in the United States, or (2) on a vessel documented

1 under the laws of any foreign country and bareboat chartered 2 to the War Shipping Administration.

3 "(2) The Social Security Board shall not make determi-
4 nations as to whether an individual has performed services
5 which are employment by reason of this subsection, or the pe-6 riods of such services, or the amounts of remuneration for 7 such services, or the periods in which or for which such re-8 muneration was paid, but shall accept the determination with 9 respect thereto of the Administrator, War Shipping Adminis-10 tration, and such agents as he may designate, as evidenced by 11 returns filed by such Administrator as an employer and certi-
12 fications made pursuant to this subsection. Such determina-13 tions shall be final and conclusive.

14 "(3) The Administrator, War Shipping Administra-15 tion, is authorized and directed, upon written request of the 16 Social Security Board, to make certification to it with respect 17 to any matter determinable for the Board by the War 18 Shipping Administrator under this subsection, which the 19 Board finds necessary in administering this title.

20 "(4) This subsection shall be effective as of Septem-21 ber 30, 1941.

22 "(o) The term 'eligibility period' means the first four 23 of the last six completed calendar quarters immediately pre-
24 ceding the first day of a benefit year.

1 "(p) The term 'benefit year' means a period of four
2 consecutive calendar quarters, as determined by the Board.
3 "VOLUNTARY COMPACTS FOR COVERAGE OF STATE AND 4 LOCAL EMPLOYEES
5 "SEC. 276. (a) The Social Security Board is author-6 ized to enter into compacts with individual States, or with 7 the individual political subdivisions of any State for the 8 purpose of extending insurance coverage under parts A and 9 C to employees of such States or political subdivisions thereof.
10 "(b) The specific details of each such compact shall 11 be entered into by the Social Security Board with the 12 Government unit concerned, but each such compact shall 13 provide—
14 "(1) That benefits will be provided for the em-15 ployees of such State or political subdivision thereof on 16 the same basis as for other employees covered by such 17 insurance programs;
18 "(2) That the State or political subdivision thereof 19 shall pay the employers' social insurance contributions 20 and collect the social insurance contributions on em-21 ployees levied under sections 283 and 284.
22 "(3) That the State or political subdivision may 23 terminate the compact upon giving two years' advance 24 notice to the Social Security Board except that no such

1 notice may be given until the compact has been in 2 effect for at least five years;
3 "(4) That all the employees of the State and of its 4 political subdivisions and its instrumentalities, or, if the 5 compact is made with a political subdivision of a State, 6 that all the employees of that political subdivision shall 7 be covered by parts A and C of this title: Provided, 8 however, That no authority is herein conferred upon the 9 Social Security Board to enter into, and the said Board 10 is hereby expressly prohibited from entering into any 11 such compact with respect to any employee or group 12 or class of employees, with any individual State, or with 13 an individual political subdivision of any State in any 14 case in which the individual State or the individual 15 political subdivision with respect to any such employee 16 or group or class of employees has established and main-17 tains any pension, annuity, and benefit or retirement 18 fund or any similar fund by whatever name called, estab-
19 lished and maintained by the authority of the constitu-20 tion or statutes of such State, provision of a municipal 21 charter, or ordinance of a municipality or other political 22 subdivision; and 23 "(5) That the State or political subdivision shall 24 submit a sworn affidavit to the Social Security Board

1 that more than one-half of the individuals employed by 2 the government unit concerned who are eligible for in-3 surance coverage are in favor of entering into such 4 compact.

5 "PART G—SOCIAL INSURANCE CONTRIBUTIONS

6 "EMPLOYERS SOCIAL INSURANCE CONTRIBUTION

7 "SEC. 280. Every employer shall pay a social insurance
8 contribution, with respect to having individuals in his em-9 ploy, equal to 4 per centum of the wages (as defined in 10 section 275 (a)) paid by him after December 31, 1945, 11 with respect to employment (as defined in section 275 (b))
12 after such date, except service falling within the scope 13 of a voluntary compact entered into under section 276.

14 "EMPLOYEES SOCIAL INSURANCE CONTRIBUTION

15 "SEC. 281. Every individual shall pay a social insurance 16 contribution equal to 4 per centum of the wages (as defined 17 in section 275 (a)) received by him after December 31, 18 1945, with respect to employment (as defined in section 19 275 (b)) after such date, except service falling within the 20 scope of a voluntary compact entered into under section 276.

21 "SOCIAL INSURANCE CONTRIBUTION FOR THE SELF-22 EMPLOYED (EXCLUDING UNEMPLOYMENT AND TEM-23 PORARY DISABILITY INSURANCE BENEFITS)

24 "SEC. 282. Every self-employed individual shall pay a 25 social insurance contribution equal to 5 per centum of the

1 market value of his services rendered as a self-employed
2 individual, after December 31, 1945, with respect to services 3 in self-employment after such date, but not including that 4 part of the market value of his services which when added
5 to wages (as defined in section 275 (a)) received by him 6 exceeds $3,600 in any calendar year.

7 "SOCIAL INSURANCE CONTRIBUTION FOR STATES AND 8 LOCALITIES (EXCLUDING UNEMPLOYMENT AND TEM-
9 PORARY DISABILITY INSURANCE BENEFITS)

10 "SEC. 283. Every employer shall pay a social insurance
11 contribution, with respect to having individuals in his em-12 ploy, equal to 2½ per centum of the wages (as defined in 13 section 275 (a)) paid by him after December 31, 1945, 14 with respect to service after such date falling within the 15 scope of a voluntary compact entered into under section 276.

16 "SOCIAL INSURANCE CONTRIBUTION FOR EMPLOYEES OF 17 STATES AND LOCALITIES (EXCLUDING UNEMPLOYMENT 18 AND TEMPORARY DISABILITY INSURANCE BENEFITS)

19 "SEC. 284. Every individual shall pay a social insur-20 ance contribution equal to 2½ per centum of the wages (as 21 defined in section 275 (a)) received by him after December 22 31, 1945, with respect to service after such date falling 23 within the scope of a voluntary compact entered into under 24 section 276.

1 "APPROPRIATIONS FOR MILITARY SERVICE CREDITS IN LIEU 2 OF EMPLOYER'S AND EMPLOYEE'S CONTRIBUTIONS

3 "SEC. 285. There are hereby authorized to be appro-
4 priated from time to time to the Trust Fund amounts equal 5 to the sum of (a) the product of all wages deemed paid by 6 reason of section 260 multiplied by the then current rate of 7 contributions imposed on employees under this Act and (b) 8 the product of all such wages multiplied by the then current 9 rate of contributions imposed on employers under this Act.
10 The Board of Trustees shall from time to time submit to the 11 Bureau of the Budget estimates of the appropriations to be 12 made under this section, including estimates on account of 13 wages deemed paid by reason of section 260 prior to the 14 enactment of this Act and including estimates of appropriate 15 reductions on account of any adjustments made under sec-
16 tions 229 of this Act.

17 "COLLECTION OF CONTRIBUTIONS

18 "SEC. 286. (a) The contributions imposed by this Act 19 shall be collected by the Social Security Board or such 20 agency or agencies as the Board may from time to time
21 designate and shall be paid into the Trust Fund. The Board 22 shall make and publish such rules and regulations, not in-23 consistent with this Act as may be necessary to the efficient 24 administration of the functions with which it is charged under 25 this Act.

1 "(b) Effective January 1, 1946, the provisions of sec-
2 tions 1401 (a), (b), and (c), 1402, 1403, 1411, 1420
3 (b), (c), and (d), 1421, 1422, 1423, 1424, 1425, 1427,
4 and 1430 of the Internal Revenue Code are made applicable
5 to this Act.

6 "SEC. 287. The Administrator, War Shipping Adminis-7 tration, and the United States Maritime Commission, and 8 their agents or persons acting on their behalf or for their 9 account, may, for convenience of administration, make pay-10 ments of the contribution imposed under section 281 without 11 regard to the $3,600 limitation in section 275 (a) (1), but 12 they shall not be required to obtain a refund of the contribu-
13 tion paid under section 281 on that part of the remuneration 14 of seamen in their employ not included in wages by reason 15 of the $3,600 limitation.

16 "REPEAL AND AMENDMENT OF EXISTING LAW

17 "SEC. 288. (a) Clauses 2 and 3 of section 1400 and 18 clauses 2 and 3 of section 1410 of the Internal Revenue Code 19 are hereby repealed.

20 "(b) Section 1401 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code is 21 amended to read:

22 "'(d) SPECIAL REFUND.—If by reason of an indi-23 vidual's receiving wages from more than one employer (or 24 receiving wages and also receiving income from self-employ-

1 ment) during any calendar year after the year 1945, the 2 wages (or wages and income from self-employment) re-3 ceived during such year exceed $3,600, the individual shall 4 be entitled to a refund from the Trust Fund of any amount
5 of contribution paid pursuant to sections 281, 282, and 284
6 of the Social Insurance Contributions Act, or any of such 7 sections, which exceeds $144. Refund under this section 8 may be made by the Social Security Board or such agency
9 as the Board may designate, in accordance with the pro-
10 visions of law applicable in the case of erroneous or illegal 11 collection of contributions; except that no such refund shall 12 be made unless claim therefor is filed within two years after 13 the calendar year in which the wages (or wages and income 14 from self-employment) were received. No interest shall be 15 allowed or paid with respect to any such refund.'

16 "The amendment effected by this subsection shall not 17 apply with respect to refund of taxes paid with respect to 18 employment prior to the calendar year 1946.

19 "(c) The tax imposed by section 1600 of the Internal 20 Revenue Code is repealed effective with the calendar 21 year 1946.

22 "CITATION

23 "SEC. 289. This part may be cited as the 'Social Insur-
24 ance Contributions Act'.

1 "PART H—GENERAL PROVISIONS

2 "EVIDENCE, PROCEDURE, AND JUDICIAL REVIEW

3 "SEC. 290. (a) The Board shall have full power and 4 authority to make rules and regulations and to establish pro-
5 cedures, not inconsistent with the provisions of this title, 6 which are necessary or appropriate to carry out such provi-
7 sions, and shall adopt reasonable and proper rules and 8 regulations to regulate and provide for the nature and extent 9 of the proofs and evidence and the method of taking and 10 furnishing the same in order to establish the right to benefits 11 hereunder.

12 "(b) The Board is directed to make findings of fact, and 13 decisions as to the rights of any individual applying for a 14 payment under this title. Whenever requested by any such 15 individual or whenever requested by a husband, wife, 16 widower, widow, child, or parent who makes a showing in 17 writing that his or her rights may be prejudiced by any 18 decision the Board has rendered, it shall give such applicant 19 and such other individual reasonable notice and opportunity 20 for a hearing with respect to such decision, and, if a hearing 21 is held, shall, on the basis of evidence adduced at the hearing, 22 affirm, modify, or reverse its findings of fact and such de-23 cision. The Board is further authorized, on its own motion, 24 to hold such hearings and to conduct such investigations and

1 other proceedings as it may deem necessary or proper for 2 the administration of this title. In the course of any hearing, 3 investigation, or other proceedings, it may administer oaths
4 and affirmations, examine witnesses, and receive evidence.
5 Evidence may be received at any hearing before the Board
6 even though inadmissible under rules of evidence applicable 7 to court procedure.

8 "(c) (1) On the basis of information obtained by or 9 submitted to the Board, and after such verification thereof
10 as it deems necessary, the Board shall establish and main-11 tain records of the amounts of wages paid to each individual 12 and of the periods in which such wages were paid and,
13 upon request, shall inform any individual, or after the death 14 of such individual shall inform the husband, wife, child, or 15 parent of such individual, of the amounts of wages of such 16 individual and the periods of payments shown by such records
17 at the time of such request. Such records shall be evidence, 18 for the purpose of proceedings before the Board or any 19 court, of the amounts of such wages and the periods in 20 which they were paid, and the absence of an entry as to 21 an individual's wages in such records for any period shall 22 be evidence that no wages were paid such individual in such 23 period.

24 "(2) After the expiration of the fourth calendar year 25 following any year in which wages were paid or are alleged

1 to have been paid an individual, the records of the Board
2 as to the wages of such individual for such year and the pe-
3 riods of payment shall be conclusive for the purposes of this 4 title, except as hereafter provided.

5 "(3) If, prior to the expiration of such fourth year, it is 6 brought to the attention of the Board that any entry of such 7 wages in such records is erroneous, or that any item of such 8 wages has been omitted from the records, the Board may cor-9 rect such entry or include such omitted item in its records, 10 as the case may be. Written notice of any revision of any 11 such entry, which is adverse to the interests of any individ-12 ual, shall be given to such individual, in any case where 13 such individual has previously been notified by the Board of 14 the amount of wages and of the period of payments shown by 15 such entry. Upon request in writing made prior to the ex-16 piration of such fourth year, or within sixty days thereafter, 17 the Board shall afford any individual, or after the death of 18 such individual shall afford the husband, wife, child, or parent 19 of such individual, reasonable notice and opportunity for 20 hearing with respect to any entry or alleged omission of 21 wages of such individual in such records, or any revision of 22 any such entry. If a hearing is held, the Board shall make 23 findings of fact and a decision based upon the evidence ad-24 duced at such hearing and shall revise its records as may be 25 required by such findings and decision.

1 "(4) After the expiration of such fourth year, the 2 Board may revise any entry or include in its records any 3 omitted item of wages to conform its records with tax or con-
4 tribution returns or portions of such returns (including infor-5 mation returns and other written statements) filed with the 6 Commissioner of Internal Revenue under title VIII of the 7 Social Security Act, or the Federal Insurance Contributions
8 Act, or filed with the Board, or any agency designated 9 by the Board under the Social Insurance Contributions 10 Act, or section 276, or under regulations made under 11 authority thereof, or to conform its records with reports from 12 the appropriate service departments with respect to wages 13 deemed paid under section 260. Notice shall be given of 14 such revision under such conditions and to such individuals 15 as is provided for revisions under paragraph (3) of this 16 subsection. Upon request, notice and opportunity for hear-17 ing with respect to any such entry, omission, or revision
18 shall be afforded under such conditions and to such individuals 19 as is provided in paragraph (3) hereof, but no evidence shall 20 be introduced at any such hearing except with respect to 21 conformity of such records with such tax returns and such 22 other data submitted under such title VIII, the Federal 23 Insurance Contributions Act, or the Social Insurance Con-
24 tributions Act, or under such regulations.
25 "(5) Decisions of the Board under this subsection shall

1 be reviewable by commencing a civil action in the district
2 court of the United States as provided in subsection (g) 3 hereof.

4 "(d) For the purpose of any hearing, investigation, or 5 other proceeding authorized or directed under this title, or 6 relative to any other matter within its jurisdiction hereunder, 7 the Board shall have power to issue subpenas requiring the 8 attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production 9 of any evidence that relates to any matter under investiga-10 tion or in question before the Board. Such attendance of 11 witnesses and production of evidence at the designated place 12 of such hearing, investigation, or other proceeding may be 13 required from any place in the United States or in any Terri-14 tory or possession thereof. Subpenas of the Board shall be 15 served by anyone authorized by it (1) by delivering a copy 16 thereof to the individual named therein, or (2) by registered 17 mail addressed to such individual at his last dwelling place
18 or principal place of business. A verified return by the indi-19 vidual so serving the subpena setting forth the manner of 20 service, or, in the case of service by registered mail, the 21 return post-office receipt therefor signed by the individual so 22 served, shall be proof of service. Witnesses so subpenaed 23 shall be paid the same fees and mileage as are paid witnesses
24 in the district courts of the United States.

25 "(e) In case of contumacy by, or refusal to obey a

1 subpena duly served upon, any person, any district court of 2 the United States for the judicial district in which said person 3 charged with contumacy or refusal to obey is found or resides 4 or transacts business, upon application by the Board, shall 5 have jurisdiction to issue an order requiring such person to 6 appear and give testimony, or to appear and produce evi-
7 dence, or both; any failure to obey such order of the court 8 may be punished by said court as contempt thereof.

9 "(f) No person so subpenaed or ordered shall be excused 10 from attending and testifying or from producing books, 11 records, correspondence, documents, or other evidence on 12 the ground that the testimony or evidence required of 13 him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to a penalty 14 or forfeiture; but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected 15 to any penalty or forfeiture for, or on account of, any trans-16 action, matter, or thing concerning which he is compelled, 17 after having claimed his privilege against self-incrimination, 18 to testify or produce evidence, except that such person so 19 testifying shall not be exempt from prosecution and punish-20 ment for perjury committed in so testifying.

21 "(g) Any individual, after any final decision of the 22 Board made after a hearing to which he was a party, irrespec-23 tive of the amount in controversy, may obtain a review of 24 such decision by a civil action commenced within sixty days 25 after the mailing to him of notice of such decision or within

1 such further time as the Board may allow. Such action shall 2 be brought in the district court of the United States for the 3 judicial district in which the plaintiff resides, or has his 4 principal place of business, or, if he does not reside or have 5 his principal place of business within any such judicial dis-
6 trict, in the District Court of the United States for the District
7 of Columbia. As part of its answer the Board shall file a 8 certified copy of the transcript of the record, including the 9 evidence upon which the findings and decision complained 10 of are based. The court shall have power to enter, upon the 11 pleadings and transcript of the record, a judgment affirming, 12 modifying, or reversing the decision of the Board, with or 13 without remanding the cause for a rehearing. The findings
14 of the Board as to any fact, if supported by substantial evi-
15 dence, shall be conclusive, and where a claim has been denied 16 by the Board or a decision is rendered under subsection (b) 17 hereof which is adverse to an individual who was a party to 18 the hearing before the Board, because of failure of the claim-19 ant or such individual to submit proof in conformity with 20 any regulation prescribed under subsection (a) hereof, the 21 court shall review only the question of conformity with such 22 regulations and the validity of such regulations. The court 23 shall, on motion of the Board made before it files its answer, 24 remand the case to the Board for further action by the Board, 25 and may, at any time, on good cause shown, order addi-

1 tional evidence to be taken before the Board, and the Board 2 shall, after the case is remanded, and after hearing such 3 additional evidence if so ordered, modify or affirm its findings
4 of fact or its decision, or both, and shall file with the court 5 any such additional and modified findings of fact and decision, 6 and a transcript of the additional record and testimony upon 7 which its action in modifying or affirming was based. Such 8 additional or modified findings of fact and decision shall be 9 reviewable only to the extent provided for review of the 10 original findings of fact and decision. The judgment of the 11 court shall be final except that it shall be subject to review in 12 the same manner as a judgment in other civil actions.

13 "(h) The findings and decision of the Board after a 14 hearing shall be binding upon all individuals who were 15 parties to such hearing. No findings of fact or decision of 16 the Board shall be reviewed by any person, tribunal, or 17 governmental agency except as herein provided. No action 18 against the United States, the Board, or any officer or 19 employee thereof shall be brought under section 24 of the 20 Judicial Code of the United States to recover on any claim 21 arising under this title.

22 "(i) Upon final decision of the Board, or upon final 23 judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction, that any 24 person is entitled to any payment or payments under this 25 title, the Board shall certify to the Managing Trustee the

1 name and address of the person so entitled to receive such 2 payment or payments, the amount of such payment or 3 payments, and the time at which such payment or payments 4 should be made, and the Managing Trustee, through the 5 Division of Disbursement of the Treasury Department, and 6 prior to any action thereon by the General Accounting Office, 7 shall make payment in accordance with the certification of 8 the Board: Provided, That where a review of the Board's 9 decision is or may be sought under subsection (g) the Board 10 may withhold certification of payment pending such review.
11 The Managing Trustee shall not be held personally liable 12 for any payment or payments made in accordance with a 13 certification by the Board.

14 "(j) When it appears to the Board that the interest 15 of an applicant entitled to a payment would be served 16 thereby, certification of payment may be made, regardless 17 of the legal competency or incompetency of the individual 18 entitled thereto, either for direct payment to such applicant, 19 or for his use and benefit to a relative or some other person.

20 "(k) Any payment made after December 31, 1939, 21 under conditions set forth in subsection (j), any payment 22 made before January 1, 1940, to, or on behalf of, a legally 23 incompetent individual, and any payment made after De-24 cember 31, 1939, to a legally incompetent individual without

1 knowledge by the Board of incompetency prior to certifica-2 tion of payment, if otherwise valid under this title, shall be 3 a complete settlement and satisfaction of any claim, right, 4 or interest in and to such payment.

5 "(l) The Board is authorized to delegate to any mem-6 ber, officer, or employee of the Board designated by it any 7 of the powers conferred upon it by this section, and is au-
8 thorized to be represented by its own attorneys in any court 9 in any case or proceeding arising under the provisions of 10 subsection (e).

11 "(m) No application for any benefit under this title 12 filed prior to six months before the first month for which 13 the applicant becomes entitled to receive such benefit shall 14 be accepted as an application for the purposes of this title.

15 "(n) The Board may, in its discretion, certify to the 16 Managing Trustee any two or more individuals of the same 17 family for joint payment of the total benefits payable to 18 such individuals.

19 "(o) Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, 20 the Board may by regulation make equitable provisions 21 with respect to eligibility provisions, calculation of benefit 22 amounts and reduction of benefits to permit the use of the 23 market value of the services of a self-employed individual on 24 a basis longer than a quarter, but in no case longer than a 25 year, and may establish an equitable basis for crediting

1 quarters of coverage in relation to the amount of wages in 2 a year.

3 "REPRESENTATION OF CLAIMANTS BEFORE THE BOARD

4 "SEC. 291. The Board may prescribe rules and regula-5 tions governing the recognition of agents or other persons, 6 other than attorneys as hereinafter provided, representing 7 claimants before the Board, and may require of such agents 8 or other persons, before being recognized as representatives 9 of claimants, that they shall show that they are of good char-
10 acter and in good repute, possessed of the necessary qualifica-11 tions to enable them to render such claimants valuable service, 12 and otherwise competent to advise and assist such claimants
13 in the presentation of their cases. An attorney in good 14 standing who is admitted to practice before the highest court 15 of the State, Territory, District, or insular possession of his 16 residence or before the Supreme Court of the United States
17 or the inferior Federal courts, shall be entitled to represent 18 claimants before the Board upon filing with the Board a 19 certificate of his right to so practice from the presiding judge 20 or clerk of any such court. The Board may, after due notice 21 and opportunity for hearing, suspend or prohibit from further 22 practice before it any such person, agent, or attorney who 23 refuses to comply with the Board's rules and regulations or 24 who violates any provision of this section for which a penalty
25 is prescribed. The Board may, by rule and regulation,

1 prescribe the maximum fees which may be charged for serv-
2 ices performed in connection with any claim before the Board
3 under this title, and any agreement in violation of such rules 4 and regulations shall be void. Any person who shall, with 5 intent to defraud, in any manner willfully and knowingly 6 deceive, mislead, or threaten any claimant or prospective 7 claimant or beneficiary under this title by word, circular, 8 letter or advertisement, or who shall knowingly charge or 9 collect directly or indirectly any fee in excess of the maximum 10 fee, or make any agreement directly or indirectly to charge
11 or collect any fee in excess of the maximum fee, prescribed 12 by the Board shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, 13 upon conviction thereof, shall for each offense be punished by 14 a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment not exceeding 15 one year, or both.

16 "OVERPAYMENTS AND UNDERPAYMENTS

17 "SEC. 292. (a) Whenever an error has been made 18 with respect to payments to an individual under this title
19 (including payments made prior to January 1, 1940), 20 proper adjustment shall be made, under regulations pre-21 scribed by the Board, by increasing or decreasing subsequent 22 payments to which such individual is entitled. If such indi-23 vidual dies before such adjustment has been completed, 24 adjustment shall be made by increasing or decreasing sub-

1 sequent benefits payable with respect to the wages which 2 were the basis of benefits of such deceased individual.
3 "(b) There shall be no adjustment or recovery by the 4 United States in any case where incorrect payment has been 5 made to an individual who is without fault (including pay-6 ments made prior to January 1, 1940), and where adjust-7 ment or recovery would defeat the purpose of this title 8 or would be against equity and good conscience.
9 "(c) No certifying or disbursing officer shall be held 10 liable for any amount certified or paid by him to any person 11 where the adjustment or recovery of such amount is waived 12 under subsection (b), or where adjustment under subsec-
13 tion (a) is not completed prior to the death of all persons 14 against whose benefits deductions are authorized.
15 "ASSIGNMENT
16 "SEC. 293. Except as provided in section 207 (b) 17 the right of any person to any future payment under this title 18 shall not be transferable or assignable, at law or in equity, 19 and none of the moneys paid or payable or rights existing 20 under this title shall be subject to execution, levy, attach-21 ment, garnishment, or other legal process, or to the operation 22 of any bankruptcy or insolvency law.
23 "PENALTIES
24 "SEC. 294. Whoever, for the purpose of causing an in-25 crease in any payment authorized to be made under this

1 title, or for the purpose of causing any payment to be made 2 where no payment is authorized under this title, shall make 3 or cause to be made any false statement or representation 4 (including any false statement or representation in connec-
5 tion with any matter arising under the Federal Insurance 6 Contributions Act or the Social Insurance Contributions Act)
7 as to the amount of any wages paid or received or the period 8 during which earned or paid, or whoever makes or causes to 9 be made any false statement of a material fact in any applica-10 tion for any payment under this title, or whoever makes 11 or causes to be made any false statement, representation, affi-12 davit, or document in connection with such an application, 13 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof 14 shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not 15 more than one year, or both.

16 "DETERMINATION OF DISABILITY AND REHABILITATION OF 17 DISABLED INDIVIDUALS

18 "SEC. 295. (a) The Board, after consultation with the 19 Surgeon General, shall make provision for determination of 20 disability and its redetermination at regular intervals or at 21 specified periods. The Board may refuse to make certifica-22 tion or recertification for any individual claiming benefits in 23 respect to his own disability or the disability of any other 24 individual, if the disabled individual refuses to submit himself 25 for examination or reexamination.

1 "(b) The Board, after consultation with the Surgeon
2 General and the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, may 3 make provision for furnishing medical, surgical, institutional, 4 rehabilitation, or other services to disabled individuals entitled 5 to receive insurance benefits under parts B or C if such 6 services, not otherwise available under this Act to such indi-7 viduals, may aid in enabling such individuals to return to 8 gainful work. For the purpose of this subsection there shall 9 be available, for each calendar year beginning with the calen-
10 dar year 1946, an amount equal to 2 per centum of the total 11 amount expended from the Trust Fund during the preceding 12 fiscal year for the payment of insurance benefits with respect 13 to disabled individuals under parts B and C. The Managing 14 Trustee shall make payments from the Trust Fund, to carry 15 out the purposes of this subsection, when certified to him
16 by the Board.

17 "NATIONAL ADVISORY SOCIAL SECURITY POLICY COUNCIL

18 "SEC. 296. (a) The Board shall establish a National 19 Advisory Social Security Policy Council composed of men 20 and women representing employers and employees in equal 21 numbers and the public for the purpose of formulating pol-22 icies, reviewing administrative operations and discussing 23 problems relating to social security, and to insure impartial-24 ity, neutrality, and freedom from political influence in the 25 solution of such problems. In carrying out the duties imposed

1 upon it, the Board shall consult with the Council as to ques-
2 tions of general policy and administrative operations. The 3 Council shall meet not less frequently than twice a year and 4 whenever at least one-third of the members request a meet-
5 ing. The annual report of the Board shall include a record
6 of consultations with the Council, findings and recommenda-
7 tions of the Council, and comments thereon.

8 "(b) The Board may also establish such councils for 9 any part of the Social Insurance system, or for any geo-
10 graphical area of the United States.

11 "(c) The National Advisory Social Security Policy
12 Council shall, from time to time, make findings and recom-
13 mendations to the Board, particularly concerning the (1) ad-
14 ministration of the Social Insurance system with respect 15 to the coverage of the system; (2) administration of 16 medical, hospitalization, and related benefits, especially in 17 areas in which facilities and personnel are not adequate; 18 (3) adequacy of the benefits provided under the Social 19 Insurance system in relation to the wage levels, cost of 20 living, and employment, particularly in the post-war period, 21 taking into account the cost and any other relevant factors of 22 any suggested alternatives; (4) methods of financing social 23 security in the post-war period; and (5) methods of pro-
24 viding incentives to beneficiaries for rehabilitation and em-25 ployment, especially to disabled persons."

1 SEC. 10. Effective January 1, 1946, section 1101 (a)
2 of the Social Security Act, as amended, is amended to read 3 as follows:

4 "SEC. 1101. (a) When used in this Act—

5 "(1) The term 'State' includes Alaska, Hawaii, the 6 District of Columbia, and, except under title II, Puerto Rico
7 and the Virgin Islands.

8 "(2) The term 'United States' when used in a geo-9 graphical sense means the States, Alaska, Hawaii, and the 10 District of Columbia.

11 "(3) The term 'person' means an individual, a trust 12 or estate, a partnership, or a corporation.

13 "(4) The term 'corporation' includes associations, joint-14 stock companies, and insurance companies.

15 "(5) The term 'shareholder' includes a member in an 16 association, joint-stock company, or insurance company."

79TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 3293

A BILL

To provide for the national security, health, and public welfare.

By Mr. DINGELL

MAY 24, 1945

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means

Greater Equity in Public Assistance Financing

By A. J. Altmeyer*

While the partnership of the Federal Government and the States in financing aid to needy old people, the blind, and dependent children has brought these groups a greater measure of economic security, in some places needy people get little more than a pittance and others receive no assistance at all. The methods of financing the Federal-State partnership are primarily responsible for this unfortunate situation. The Social Security Board has recommended modification of these financial provisions to assure that needy persons may receive reasonably adequate assistance no matter where they happen to live.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT maintains a standing offer to match dollar for dollar, within given limits, what the States and their localities spend for public assistance. Thus the amount of the Federal grant to a State is limited to the amount spent by the State and its localities. Likewise, in most of the 28 States that require localities to share in financing public assistance, the amount a locality puts up for matching determines how much it will get in Federal and State money. Under these arrangements, States with limited economic resources, and poor localities within even the richer States, cannot provide a decent measure of security for their needy people. Too often the amount of assistance an individual gets depends on where he happens to live, not on what he needs for a minimum standard of living. Moreover, since need is usually greater in the poorer areas, when they do tax themselves to meet need adequately their fiscal burden is far greater than that in more prosperous places.

In paying assistance, States make up the difference between anything a needy person himself has and what they find he requires for shelter, food, and other basic essentials. If relatives are helping him regularly or if he has regular earnings, such resources are commonly taken into account in deciding how much assistance he should receive. Payments to individuals therefore differ widely, and the average payment in a State is made up of smaller amounts for people who themselves have a little and larger amounts for those who have nothing.

When a State does not have enough money to meet the requirements of all its needy people, one or a combination of several things may happen. The State may decide to place a limit on the amount that can be given to any person or family, however great the need. It may decide to limit the requirements to food, shelter, and fuel, for example, and to allow nothing for such requirements as clothing and medical care. Or the State may reduce the amounts allowed for particular requirements or may make a general ruling that no needy person will receive more than a part—perhaps two-thirds or three-fourths—of the amount the State agency believes he actually requires. Or the State may try to maintain its standards of assistance for the people actually on the rolls by approving new applications only as other cases are closed.

All these practices have been used in public assistance under the Social Security Act. In one State and another, many of them exist now, though national income is greater than ever before. The primary reason for such practices is the inability of States to put up their share of an amount which, with the matching Federal grant, will provide adequate assistance within their borders. The Social Security Board has recommended to Congress that the Federal Government provide special aid for public assistance, on an objective basis, to States with low economic capacity. To give full effect to this amendment, however, State-local fiscal arrangements also must be modified so that the amount available to a locality for its needy people will not hinge on its tax-raising capacity. In other words, Federal and State funds should be so distributed among localities that needy people in like circumstances will receive like treatment wherever they live within the State.

Special Federal Aid to States

The many bills introduced in the Congress in recent years to change the method of allocating Federal grants-in-aid for public assistance reflect widespread dissatisfaction with our present system. These measures propose various approaches to the problem, but they all have the common purpose of ensuring that reasonably adequate assistance is available to needy people in each State regardless of its financial resources. This principle has been endorsed by the Council of State Governments, the American Public Welfare Association, and other interested and informed groups. Thus the Interstate Committee on Postwar Reconstruction and Development of the Council of State Governments recommends that "In collaboration with the National Government, the States should consider . . . what changes in . . . methods of finance will provide adequate assistance to all recipients throughout the country," and further, that "In respect to services in the financing or administration of which two or more levels of government participate, financial support from the National Government to the States or from the States to the localities should be allocated on a basis which reflects both the need and the financial ability of the recipient units." Congress officially recognized this principle when it directed the U. S. Public Health Service to consider the financial needs as well as the health needs of the States in making grants-in-aid for public health.

People often ask how far our present system falls short of providing adequate assistance to all needy persons and whether special Federal aid will bring us nearer to this goal. They also ask whether the richer States will be the losers if the poorer States receive a larger share of Federal funds. Some ask whether the wartime economic improvement in the States has made it unnecessary to change the Federal grant-in-aid system. These major questions are discussed in the following paragraphs.

What Low-Income States Get

Income received by people in a State—including wages and salaries, profits, interest, dividends, rents, and all other types of income—has been generally accepted as a measure of the State's financial resources. During the 3 years 1941–43 the average income per person in the United States as a whole was about $860 a year. In the 12 lowest-income States, however, per capita income was less than $600. When income is so low, little can be drawn off in taxes to support public assistance and other governmental services. These States, which have relatively small financial and economic resources, have therefore been receiving relatively little in Federal grants for public assistance. In the last fiscal year, for example, the 12 States with lowest average income had 21 percent of the population of the country but received only 14 percent of the total Federal amount granted for public assistance.

Actually, the differences among the States in the relation between need and assistance funds are even greater than these figures suggest. Children and the aged, who are the potential dependents, make up a larger proportion of the total population in these low-income States than in States where average income is higher. Moreover, many of the wealthier States can and do spend additional amounts of State and local money for assistance payments above the amounts the Federal Government shares. That is, they spend their own money alone for any part of an assistance payment in excess of $40 per month to a recipient of old-age assistance or aid to the blind, or in excess of $18 for the first child and $12 for additional children in the case of aid to dependent children.

The low standards of assistance prevailing in the lowest-income States clearly reflect the inadequacy of their assistance funds. For the country as a whole the average monthly payment to needy old people is approaching $30 a month. In 9 of the 12 lowest-income States, however, the average, in spite of substantial increases in recent years, is less than $20; in 5 of these 9 States it is less than $15. All these 12 States are substantially below the national average in aid to dependent children, and all but 2, in aid to the blind. When standards of assistance are low, many people who have a little income are not considered needy, though States with higher standards would give them aid. We might therefore expect that relatively few people would be found eligible for assistance in the lowest-income States. Because need is widespread, however, 7 of these States are above the national average in the proportion of the aged and blind they assist, and in aid to dependent children about a third of these States exceed the national average. If their standards of assistance were comparable to those in more prosperous States, many more people would be eligible for assistance than now receive it. These States have had to spread their limited funds thin among only the people in greatest need.

Sometimes it is said that the small assistance payments in the low-income States are the equivalent, in adequacy, of the larger payments elsewhere. Such a statement confuses geographic differences in standards of living with differences in the costs of the same goods. The average standard of living is generally low in States where per capita income is low. But that is not to say that there are wide differences among States in the costs of buying the same quality and quantity of food, clothing, housing, and other necessities. Cost-of-living studies do not show large or clearly defined differences among States and regions in the costs of identical or equivalent goods. To justify low assistance payments in low-income States by the low standard of living in those States defeats one of the basic purposes of Federal grants-in-aid.

Sometimes it is said that the low-income States could improve the lot of their needy population without special Federal aid if they taxed themselves for this purpose to the same extent as the richer States. But public assistance represents only one of many governmental functions that must be supported from State and local funds. States in which the over-all tax burden is already high could increase expenditures for public assistance only by a further increase in taxes or by diverting funds from other essential governmental services.

A rough measure of tax effort is the proportion of the total income of the inhabitants of a State that is drawn off in State and local taxes. Using this measure, we find that 8 of the 12 lowest-income States, in contrast to only 4 of the 12 richest States, exert tax effort that about equals or exceeds the average for all States. But if a rich State and a poor State pay the same proportion of total income in taxes, the burden on the people in the poor State is probably heavier. Among States, as among individuals, the margin of income available for taxes is not so great among the poor as among the rich. Moreover, in 4 of the 12 lowest-income States the share of all State and local taxes devoted to public assistance approximates or exceeds the national average. Thus while some of the lowest-income States might be expected to provide some additional funds for public assistance, the record of the majority compares favorably with that of the richest States.

Increasing Assistance Payments

Experience in the war years has confirmed the Board's belief that lack of funds is the major obstacle to an increase in assistance payments in the lowest-income States. With the wartime improvement in State and local finances, all the 12 lowest-income States have increased State and local expenditures for public assistance, some spectacularly. As a result, between December 1940 and December 1944 several doubled or nearly doubled the average monthly payment in one or another of the three assistance programs and one more than doubled the average in all three. But while payments have risen, they are still woefully inadequate in most of these States in comparison with those in other States and in the light of the rise in the cost of living. The lowest-income States have demonstrated their willingness to spend more money for public assistance—even their own money—when they have it. The proposed system of special Federal aid might well give an inducement to some States to tax themselves further for public assistance, since every additional dollar they spent in State and local money would bring them more Federal dollars than at present.

These facts should allay any fear that, given special Federal aid, the lowest-income States might leave assistance payments where they are and use the Federal increase to reduce State and local taxes. As a matter of fact, in States where taxes now are an excessive drain on State and local resources, some reduction in State and local taxes would be in accord with the basic purpose of Federal grants-in-aid. Some proponents of special Federal aid have suggested that, as a condition of such aid, States be required to spend at least a given amount from State and local funds. This is the so-called "floor" provision. A major defect in most "floor" provisions is that they tend to perpetuate the present inequalities in tax effort among the States. A "floor" provision that avoids this difficulty, however, might be useful in dealing with exceptional State situations.

Increasing the General Welfare

In the economic life of the Nation, State boundaries are of little significance. All sections of the country are economically interdependent. Markets are Nation-wide, and many business enterprises, wherever they happen to be located, draw their labor, their capital, and finally their profits from all parts of the country. Because the welfare of each section of the country is of concern to all sections, many people believe that in meeting welfare needs there should be some pooling of the tax resources of the Nation.

Like the present grant-in-aid system, special Federal aid is designed to effect this concept. Either system contemplates that the share of Federal taxes which the more prosperous States will pay into the Federal Treasury will be larger than their share of grants-in-aid, and that the lowest-income States will receive more than they pay in. Unfortunately no satisfactory estimates can be made of the share of Federal taxes paid by the inhabitants of a State for comparison with the share of total Federal grants the State receives for public assistance. Under the present system, however, Federal grants to the lowest-income States are relatively so small that it is possible that part of the Federal taxes these lowest-income States pay may go to pay the grants received by wealthier States. At best, the return to the lowest-income States may approximate their tax contribution. Obviously, the net result is that a good deal of money flows in and out of the Federal Treasury, but the lowest-income States are no better off than they were before.

Under a system of special Federal aid, the total amount of Federal grants would be larger. The low-income States would receive more than a dollar of Federal funds for every dollar of State and local funds they expended. The high-income States would continue to receive Federal matching, dollar for dollar, just as they now do, but their share of the increased Federal total would be smaller, and that of the low-income States, correspondingly greater. This more equitable sharing of cost would be of economic advantage to all sections of the country because of the increase in purchasing power in the poorer States.

State Financing After the War

The sizable balances in some State treasuries are occasionally cited as a reason for believing that no additional Federal aid in financing assistance is necessary. The war economy has brought about an improvement in the income and fiscal resources of many States. The Bureau of the Census notes, however, that "the combination of abnormally high revenues . . . with relatively low expenditures results in an apparent prosperity which is unprecedented in the financial history of the States. The word 'apparent' is used advisedly, since the wartime pattern of State finance is a transitory phenomenon, and surely its continuance cannot be counted upon after the cessation of hostilities."

Moreover, there are various demands on these State balances. The Census Bureau reports that many States have included substantial capital items in their budgets for the next biennium for outlays to repair or replace run-down schools, hospitals, welfare and correctional institutions, State office buildings, and highways, which have had to be greatly neglected during the wartime shortages in manpower and material. The States' reluctance to use their accumulated balances to meet ordinary current expenses is entirely understandable in light of the deferred and added obligations that they expect after the war.

Assistance needs, too, will undoubtedly be intensified by the inevitable economic dislocations of reconversion. Many old people who have been supported by the wartime earnings of relatives, and many mothers of dependent children who have taken jobs for economic or patriotic reasons, will need assistance. An upturn in the number of families receiving aid to dependent children began late in 1944.

Distributing Funds Equitably Within States

Increase in Federal grants to States will not result in equitable treatment of needy individuals unless satisfactory methods are worked out for apportioning Federal and State funds among subdivisions within States. Whether or not a needy person receives aid often depends on whether he lives in one county or a few miles away, in another. This inequitable treatment of needy individuals is largely due to failure to apportion Federal and State funds among localities in such a way that each has about the same amount in relation to its need. This problem is present in all States, but it is particularly acute in the 28 States that now require localities to share in financing one or more of the special types of public assistance. In these States, localities usually receive Federal and State funds only as they are able to raise local funds to be matched. When need is great and fiscal ability is low, local officials have two alternatives: they can limit the amount they spend for assistance, or they can place an extremely heavy burden on their taxpayers. More often than not, they do both.

County Differences in Assistance Payments

Differences among localities in assistance payments are like those among States. More prosperous areas have large tax resources and proportionately fewer people to assist. Usually they make higher payments than are made in poor areas, where relatively more people are in need. In one State, for example, each county must put up 20 percent of the amount spent within its borders for old-age assistance. In all the 10 most prosperous counties in that State, measured by per capita assessed valuation, the average old-age assistance payment is more than $20 a month, while in all but 2 of the 10 poorest counties the average is less than $20. Like the differences among States, these differences are usually greater than would be expected from known facts on differences in need and cost of living. In this same State, most of the 10 prosperous counties assist less than one-fifth of their aged population and one assists less than one-tenth. On the other hand, 5 of the 10 poorest counties assist one-third or more of their old people, and one assists more than two-fifths.

County Fiscal Burdens

Most local governments must rely on the property tax as their major source of revenue. Communities with low property values therefore have great difficulty in carrying their share of an adequate—or even an inadequate—assistance program. In the State mentioned above, the 10 poorest counties, as a group, spent 4½ times as much for old-age assistance per $100 of assessed valuation as was spent by the 10 richest counties. Yet in spite of their greater fiscal effort, the poorest counties made relatively low payments. In another State where each county meets one-fifth of its old-age assistance costs, per capita assessed valuations are less than $1,200 in about half the counties. Three-fourths of these counties levy 4 cents or more per $100 of assessed valuation to meet their share of old-age assistance. Among the counties with higher per capita assessed valuations, however, only one levies as much as 4 cents. Thus fiscal ability tends to be low where need is great, and the poorer localities often bear a disproportionately large financial burden in paying their required share of assistance.

If public assistance is to be adequate in the poorer localities without a further drain on their overtaxed resources, some way must be devised to equalize the fiscal burden among counties. In financing education, the principle of granting more State aid to poorer localities is well established. At least 39 States have had experience with equalization plans for financing local public schools. Application of this principle in financing public assistance would represent merely an extension of an accepted practice in State-local fiscal relations.

In summary, our present grant-in-aid system does not ensure that assistance can be reasonably adequate in each State and locality. Modification of the financial arrangements to permit more Federal funds to flow to the low-income States and more Federal and State funds to flow into poor localities within the States will bring this goal nearer. Of equal importance is the need for improvement in other aspects of public assistance administration. Needy individuals can be assured equitable treatment only if all State public assistance agencies adopt adequate standards of assistance and assume greater responsibility—both administrative and financial—for the State-wide application of such standards.

Intrastate Equalization In Financing Public Assistance

By Byron L. Johnson*

IN ITS Ninth Annual Report, the Social Security Board expressed its belief that, just as the Federal share of public assistance costs should vary with economic capacity of the States, so Federal and State funds should be distributed to localities in relation to their public assistance needs and, where the localities participate in financing, also in relation to their financial ability. A similar view has been expressed by the U. S. Treasury's Committee on Intergovernmental Fiscal Relations.[1]

This article is concerned with the financial techniques necessary and the alternatives available in putting a system of intrastate equalization into operation under State public assistance programs. It assumes acceptance of the objective, on which there is increasing general agreement, that needy individuals in similar circumstances throughout a State shall, within each category of assistance, be assured equitable treatment—that is, that the same relationship exists between the consideration of need and the resources to meet that need in each and every local administrative subdivision. This is intrastate equalization from the viewpoint of the recipient.

From the viewpoint of State-local relations, intrastate equalization means that the States should so allocate Federal and State funds among localities that their public assistance needs, determined according to State standards, can be met uniformly. If localities do not participate in financing the program, differences in local fiscal ability will not affect the amount available for expenditure and the State should be able to allocate its own and Federal funds so as to meet uniformly the total amount of need in each locality. When a State requires local financial participation, however, variations in local fiscal ability must also be considered. Then intrastate equalization requires distribution of Federal and State funds among localities in relation to local fiscal ability as well as to local need—that is, equalizing the financial burden among localities while maintaining comparable program levels.

At present, the common practice of requiring a locality to raise a fixed percentage of the public assistance expenditures within its borders is a major financial impediment to equitable treatment of needy individuals, because localities differ widely in their ability to provide funds for public assistance (or for any other major public service). Complete removal of the impediments to equitable treatment of individuals arising out of local financial participation can be accomplished only by dispensing with local financial participation entirely. Many States did abandon local financial participation at the time that their assistance programs were placed under the Social Security Act.

Intrastate equalization of public assistance may thus consist of three principal elements. The first and fundamental element is a uniform measurement of the need, in the locality, for assistance. The second necessary element, if the State plan calls for local financial participation, is uniform measurement of local fiscal ability. The third is a method of determining local contributions and of allocating Federal and State funds so as to give proper recognition to differences in local needs and fiscal abilities.

Measurement of Need

If equity in assistance is to be attained, methods of measuring the requirements and resources of needy individuals must be uniform in all localities in the State. Mandatory uniform State standards, adjusted only for known differences in costs of living among localities within the State, will be necessary.

It has occasionally been suggested that social and economic data from sources other than the assistance programs be used to measure relative need for assistance within each locality. Various indexes of this sort have been tested, but all present two major difficulties. In the first place, no method has been discovered for testing independently the validity of any measure that may appear theoretically sound, for there is no acceptable base with which to compare it. Second, the variation in the coverage of insurance and public works programs from locality to locality within a State complicates the use of such broad measures of economic need in an assistance program which meets a variable part of the need. Also, the number of series containing social and economic data for minor civil divisions is severely limited.

The only measure of need which is thoroughly defensible, therefore, is one which actually represents the total of individual need in each locality. Such data must come directly out of uniform administration of the assistance program, using uniform State standards. In effect, therefore, the index of need used in the equalization plan should be the approved budgets for public assistance in each county. The administrative problems of achieving uniform application of State-wide standards in determining need are outside the scope of the present article, which assumes that satisfactory methods have been developed for this purpose. The illustrative materials below use hypothetical budgets as reflecting total need at the specified State standard in each locality.

Measurement of Local Fiscal Ability

While local financial participation in public assistance is commonly required, measurement of local fiscal ability for the purposes of equalizing the burden of that participation is rare. Of the 146 State plans approved as of May 1945 for public assistance under the Social Security Act, 64 plans in 28 States required local financial participation; in 46 of the 48 States general assistance programs also called for local financial participation. Of the 64 plans, all but 2 (both for aid to dependent children) are on a fixed uniform-matching basis—that is, the State requires each locality to contribute, say, 20 percent of the total amount expended for the program in that locality. The local contribution therefore is not adjusted for differences in local fiscal ability, despite the common recognition that there are large and persistent differences among localities.

As a result, the total amount of Federal, State, and local funds available to localities under these 62 plans is, with few exceptions, greatly influenced by differences in local ability to support the programs. Exceptions are found in a few States where the State welfare department makes expenditures through district offices and then bills the local units for their fixed percentage share; under this procedure, therefore, payments to recipients are not directly conditioned by the availability of local funds.

In about a half-dozen other States, there are procedures for State review of local budgets or State-established quotas which control, to some extent, the distribution of Federal and State funds among localities. Several States also can provide loans or grants to a few counties which are adjudged "distressed" on the basis of certain criteria; while this practice is useful in relieving the most extreme situations, it is applicable only to a few localities in acute financial circumstances and is in no sense an equalization plan.

If the States which now require local participation in financing the assistance programs are to equalize the local fiscal burden, they will need usable measures of local fiscal ability.

Components of fiscal ability.—The ability of a local unit of government to obtain revenue depends not only on its economy but also on the State constitution and laws, and in many cases on State fiscal administration. Whatever fiscal powers a locality has are granted to it by the State. Most commonly, such powers include a property tax, certain fines and fees, and occasionally the power to tax certain sales. Many States also share with their local units the proceeds of certain State taxes and make grants to local units for general or specific purposes.

Because State fiscal systems differ, no single measure of fiscal ability would be applicable in all States. The action of the State, as author of local powers, determines the appropriate measures. A State can alter the fiscal positions of its local governments by developing new tax bases for their use, by increasing the use of shared taxes, or by changing allocations of general aids and shared taxes. Any change in the components of local fiscal ability should be reflected in changes in the measurement of fiscal ability. For the most part, however, local governments must depend for the major part of local revenues on a tax base that cannot move to escape taxation. The largest part of the local tax burden, therefore, will continue to fall on real property.[2]

Because the use of State income payments as a measure of ability has been proposed in recommendations for special Federal aid to low-income States, it occasionally has been suggested that income payments in each local unit be used as a measure of local fiscal ability. The Department of Commerce series on State income payments generally has been accepted as valid for measurement of the relative fiscal ability of States. No similar index of income payments, however, has ever been developed for counties. If the coverage of income taxation and of social insurance is extended, it may be possible to develop such an index from the income data collected under such systems.

Though local fiscal patterns are diverse, all include the property tax. In 1942, that tax provided more than 50 percent of total local governmental revenues in all but 11 States, and 62 percent in all States combined. Of local governmental revenues not specifically earmarked, however, it may constitute almost 90 percent. In every State it is a factor to be considered in measuring local fiscal capacity; in most States, it may deserve a major place.

Nearly all the 39 State plans now in effect for intrastate equalization in financing education make some use of the property tax in measuring fiscal capacity. Under these plans the States commonly measure local fiscal ability by combining the estimated proceeds of an assumed uniform property-tax levy with certain other tax receipts and grants for education. Equalization aids for education, however, are usually but a small part of total expenditures for education; in only 9 States does such aid furnish more than 15 percent.

Revenues other than the property tax account for the remaining 38 percent of local revenues. These are classified by the Bureau of the Census as grants-in-aid, other nontax revenues, and other taxes. Grants-in-aid constitute about 25 percent of local revenues. About one-fourth of these grants are for public assistance and about two-thirds are earmarked for other special purposes, mostly schools and roads; only 11 percent are for unspecified purposes. Nontax revenues other than State aid account for about 8 percent of local revenues. These comprise mostly charges for current services and special assessments but include fines, penalties, and interest. Other taxes, mostly licenses and fees, account for about 5 percent of local revenues.

Because many of these non-property-tax revenues are dedicated to other purposes and public assistance is only one of the claimants for the remainder, a State setting up an equalization plan must decide what part of these revenues should be considered as part of local ability to finance public assistance. On the average, probably not more than 20 or 25 percent of these revenues is potentially available to support public assistance.

The property-tax component.—In most States, as noted above, the property tax probably represents almost 90 percent of local fiscal ability to support public assistance. Thus the base of that tax—property assessments—will be crucial in most measures of local fiscal ability. Since the intrastate distribution of millions of dollars may depend on property-assessment data, the validity of these data as a measure of local fiscal ability, their limitations, methods of improving them, and the use of alternative measures of fiscal ability should have careful consideration.

Five major factors have been cited as impairing the comparability of property-assessment data:[3] (1) the complete escape of some property from the tax rolls; (2) rigidity, that is, failure to adjust assessments to changes in actual values; (3) inequalities among assessment ratios for various types of property: rural-urban interdistrict, interclass, land and improvements, resident and nonresident ownership; (4) regressivity, that is, the tendency to assess less valuable property at higher ratios to true value; and (5) inequality among individual properties.

[3] Silverherz, Joseph D., The Assessment of Real Property in the United States (Special Report No. 10), the New York Tax Commission, Albany, 1936, pp. 209–213.

Property assessments are generally made by locally elected officials, many of whom have no special training for the task. A few States require that assessments be at some fixed proportion of full value or at different proportions for different classes of property. But most State laws specify that assessments shall be at "full value," "market value," and so on. In actual practice, assessed values vary widely from such norms.

In about three-fourths of the States some State agency, such as the State Tax Commission, has the right to review the level of assessment in each subdivision and to equalize assessment totals for all local units. That is, the State agency may adjust the total assessment figure for each subdivision upward or downward, so that the totals of all localities will bear a uniform relationship to "full value." Assessment equalization is especially important when the State levies a property tax, since local assessors may then compete in undervaluing property in their districts in order to lighten as much as possible the burden on their districts of the State tax. The existence of such competition and the inability to cope with it adequately by State equalization of assessment have stimulated the movement to reduce or abandon State general property taxes. More than a dozen States have no provisions for State equalization of assessment; seven of these now require local participation in some or all programs for public assistance. Even when State provisions for equalization of assessments exist, it is difficult for State authorities to make satisfactory adjustment of inequalities in assessments. In about half the States requiring local participation in financing public assistance, the actual extent of State supervision and control over local assessment has been appraised as "negligible" or "slight."

When assessed values are not equalized or such equalization is inadequate, heavy reliance on these assessments without further improvement for measurement of local fiscal ability as part of a plan of intrastate equalization of assistance financing may both jeopardize the end objective sought and give rise to as many inequalities as it was meant to remedy.

Improving the validity of the measurement of fiscal ability.—When existing data on property assessments do not seem adequate as an index of fiscal ability, several alternatives are open:

1. The State could adopt a program of equalizing property assessments, if it has none, or could improve its program, profiting from the experience of the States which have had favorable experience with central supervision, control, and equalization of assessment. Major reliance on property-assessment data for intrastate equalization in financing public assistance may focus so much attention on assessments that the State may be forced to improve the accuracy of this measuring rod.

2. The State might take a drastic step, often recommended by authorities on property assessment, of central assessment by the State, abolishing the institution of local assessment entirely.

3. As what has been called a shortcut equalization of assessment, the State could use some independent measure of local ability, not influenced by the judgment of local assessors, that will be as valid as true-value assessment; various indexes have been tested for this purpose, and one is used in Alabama in equalizing educational aid.

Fiscal capacity measures independent of local assessors.—Alabama's plan for intrastate financial equalization in education has found favor among commentators on school finance.[4] In 1939, that State adopted a weighted index of county fiscal ability based on six factors: sales tax paid (weighted 6 points); auto licenses paid (5 points); public utility valuation (3 points); and income tax paid, farm income, and value added by manufacture (1 point each).

In a particular State, construction of a valid economic index of local fiscal ability may require omission of some of these factors and inclusion of others. Such an independent measure, its proponents claim, can closely approximate the relative fiscal ability of the counties as measured by an index of equalized assessed valuations. These measures deserve consideration when inadequate local assessment figures cannot be improved. They also may deserve attention as a method of testing other measures of fiscal ability, if shown to be as valid as the proponents claim. Finally, some authorities support the use of such an index because it gives weight to the economic ability underlying fiscal ability, holding that it is just as valid, if not more so, to relate fiscal effort to economic ability as to relate it to fiscal ability—the taxable segment of economic ability.

Relating Measures of Need and Fiscal Ability

The measures of need and ability just discussed can be used in various ways to equalize the fiscal burden of local contributions, though the basic measurements will be made uniformly. Since conditions vary widely from State to State, and since there has been little actual experience with public assistance equalization formulas, various alternative formulas or procedures for combining need and fiscal-ability indexes will be discussed. All such formulas envisage that the amount of the contribution by each locality will bear a uniform relationship to its fiscal ability and that there will be uniform standards of administration in practice.

Full attainment of the objective of equitable treatment should mean not only that a State plan will achieve a high degree of equalization throughout the State in meeting the need of recipients but, further, that under the formula and procedures used the burden of raising local funds will fall equitably in relation to the fiscal ability of each locality. As long as the amount of funds to be provided by individual localities is expressed in terms of a fixed uniform percentage of the total expenditure in each locality, it is all but impossible to achieve the objective stated above.

Two general types of financial procedures can be used in place of the present uniform-matching-percentage method. In the first, States would abandon the percentage basis of expressing local financial responsibility and substitute periodic determination of the aggregate dollar amount to be raised by each locality; the first two plans discussed below embody this type of procedure. The second type, outlined in the third plan, retains the percentage basis but varies the percentage from locality to locality in accordance with local differences in need and in fiscal ability. The three plans outlined also differ somewhat in administrative procedures.

[1] Each local contribution is derived by multiplying assumed aggregate local contributions ($1.5 million) by percent of fiscal ability in each locality (col. 5).

These plans are intended to illustrate various financial and administrative procedures which could be adapted for use in actual intrastate equalization plans. To illustrate these procedures, it has been necessary in each case to make some assumptions about matters which in practice probably would be decided by State legislatures. For example, assumptions have been made concerning the general scale of local contributions and their upper limits, and as to indexes of local fiscal ability. It is not intended, however, to imply that the specific assumptions used represent in any way ideal provisions.

Plan 1—Local contributions commingled with Federal and State funds in State treasury.—Under this plan the State would determine periodically the dollar amount of local funds to be provided by each locality, on the basis of the total amount of public assistance costs to be carried by all localities and the percent of fiscal ability in each locality. These amounts would then be paid by the localities into the State treasury and would be added to Federal and State funds. The sum of Federal, State, and local funds would then be allocated among localities according to need. The inability of any locality to remit its entire contribution to the State treasury would not directly affect the amount of funds available for assistance in that locality, although the total amount distributed among all localities would be affected to the full extent of that local failure unless the State made up the deficiency. Thus, the effect of tax delinquency or other factors which prevented a locality from raising its full contribution would be spread uniformly across the State. Achieving equitable treatment of needy individuals may be easier under this procedure than under the other two plans.

Under plan 1, the upper limit to the total of local contributions throughout the State is that it is less than the total amount of non-Federal funds, since there must be some State financial participation. Under this plan however, there is no direct limit to the relationship between any locality's contribution and its assistance budget It is conceivable that there may be localities which are so wealthy, in relation to the amount of their assistance needs, that this plan could operate to assess from them local contributions greater than their assistance budgets.

The determination of the amount of local funds assessed from each locality would involve the following specific steps: (1) The State would construct an index of the fiscal ability of its localities, using such data as are pertinent in light of the State's fiscal structure. If equalized property assessments were considered an adequate measure of local fiscal ability, these alone would be used; if not, other measures might be included. (2) The State would convert the basic data in the ability index so that the index number for each locality would be the percentage which its own fiscal ability is of total local fiscal ability in the State. (3) The State would then compute the dollar amount of local funds for public assistance assessed from each locality by applying the fiscal-ability percentage computed in step 2 to the aggregate amount of local funds to be raised for public assistance throughout the State as a whole.

Table 1 illustrates how this plan would work out in a hypothetical State by using idealized adaptations of actual data for actual counties. The hypothetical State is assumed to have a population of 3 million persons, an annual public assistance budget of $10 million, and property which, when its valuation is fully equalized, is assessed at $3 billion.

The assumed property-assessment figures (column 4) are a simple representation of the index which the State might develop as the first step in the application of the formula. The second step requires determination of the percentage of total local fiscal ability possessed by each individual county (column 5). In carrying through the third step, it is assumed that the legislature has decided that the State would provide $3.5 million toward the $5 million of the public assistance budget not covered by Federal grants, and that the amount to be raised from local funds is $1.5 million. The amount for each locality (column 6) is then determined by multiplying $1.5 million by the percentages shown in the fifth column.

Under this first plan, therefore, the State would call the locally raised funds into the State treasury, add $3.5 million of its own and $5 million of Federal funds, and then allocate the $10 million total among all of the counties in accordance with the amount of their approved budgets for public assistance. Column 7 shows the percent of its approved assistance budget which would be raised by each locality.

Plan 2—Each local contribution retains its identity and is supplemented by Federal and State funds in amounts required to meet need.—Under this second type of equalization plan, as under the first, the State would periodically determine and specify for each locality the dollar amount of local funds it must raise for public assistance. Unlike plan 1, however, the locally raised funds in each case would remain to the credit of the locality instead of being pooled, though the moneys actually would be sent to the State if assistance checks are centrally issued. The total amount of funds available for expenditure in each locality would consist of the local funds initially raised plus Federal and State funds, which would be equivalent to the difference between the total approved public assistance budget in each locality and the amount to be provided locally.

In determining the amount of local contributions under this plan, two factors would operate to set a maximum. In the first place, the contribution of any locality would normally be less than half the amount estimated to be needed for public assistance in that locality; it could never exceed the total amount. This limitation also applies to plan 3, below, but not to plan 1 because under that plan contributions of all localities are commingled in the State treasury with State and Federal funds before being allocated for meeting assistance costs. In the second place, since full equalization under State-local sharing of public assistance costs requires that the relative fiscal burden for any locality be no heavier than that for any other locality, the burden on each locality is limited by the burden imposed on the wealthiest locality. In effect, the State's determination of the proportion the wealthiest locality is to finance of its total assistance budget thus sets a limit to the total amount of local contributions.

Two methods of computing the local contributions under plan 2 are illustrated in tables 2–A and 2–B. Table 2–A is based on the assumption that equalized assessments of property are used as an index of local fiscal ability. Under this assumption, the following are the successive steps which might be applied in computing the local contribution for each locality.

(1) The State would use the total dollar amount of equalized property

[1] Boone County has lowest ratio.

[2] Each local contribution is determined by multiplying its assessed valuation by the uniform tax rate of $0.24 per $1,000, or .24 mills per $1; this rate is derived by multiplying the ratio for Boone County (0.001200) in col. 3 by 20 percent, the share assumed to be raised locally in the wealthiest county.

assessments in each locality as an index representing in dollar terms the total fiscal ability of each locality (column 3).

(2) The ratio of the total approved assistance budget for each locality to its index of total fiscal ability would be computed in order to determine the locality having the lowest ratio—i. e., the "wealthiest" locality in relation to need. The ratios shown in column 4 indicate that Boone County is the "wealthiest" county.

(3) A decision must be made as to the proportion of public assistance costs to be borne by the wealthiest locality. Application of this proportion to the ratio computed in step 2 for that locality would indicate the uniform tax rate which could then be imposed on the property rolls of each locality. The table assumes that it has been decided that the wealthiest county shall provide from its own funds 20 percent of the total approved budget. Accordingly, the uniform rate is determined by multiplying the ratio for Boone County (.0012) by 20 percent; this yields the rate of .00024, equivalent to .24 mills per dollar, or $0.24 per $1,000 of property.

(4) The amount of local funds to be provided by each locality would be determined by applying the uniform rate to its assessment figures (column 5). In column 6 the local contribution is shown as a percentage of the county's assistance budget. The total amount of local funds to be provided by all localities is determined by applying the uniform rate (.00024) to the State total of the assessment figures.

(5) The sum of State and Federal funds allocated to each locality would represent the difference between the local contribution and the locality's approved public assistance budget.

The total amount of funds available for public assistance in any locality and the amount of Federal funds available for distribution within the State would be directly reduced under this plan to the extent that a locality failed to provide the full amount of its local contribution — unless the State made up the deficiency.

The procedures outlined above resemble those generally used in intrastate equalization of education. It should be noted that, if these procedures result in an average level of local contribution for the State as a whole which is considered to be too low, the only way to raise the level under this plan would be to permit the wealthiest county—or perhaps several of the wealthiest counties—to devote a smaller proportion of their total fiscal capacity to financing public assistance than would be permitted in all other counties. To the extent such steps are taken, full equalization will be impaired.

Table 2–B illustrates use of factors in addition to assessed valuations in an index of fiscal ability under plan 2. It is assumed that property taxes furnish 80 percent of unearmarked local revenues in the State and that shared taxes—taxes collected by the State and returned to the locality—account for 20 percent of such revenues. The successive steps which might then be applied in computing the local contribution for each locality are as follows:

(1) The State would construct a composite index of fiscal ability as a percent of the State total, giving appropriate weights to the various factors included. In computing the composite index (column 7), four times as much weight was given to the assessment series in column 5 as to the shared-tax series in column 6.

(2) The ratio of the composite index of fiscal ability to the assistance budget for each locality would be computed in order to determine the locality having the highest ratio—i. e., the wealthiest county in relation to need. Column 8 shows the ratios obtained by dividing column 7 by column 2 and discloses that Boone County is again the "wealthiest."

(3) Again, a decision must be made as to the proportion of public assistance costs to be borne by the wealthiest locality. Application of this proportion to the approved budget of that county indicates the dollar amount of local funds it must raise. It is assumed in this table that the wealthiest county is to provide from its own funds 20 percent of its public assistance costs. Boone County thus needs to raise $120,000.

(4) The total amount to be provided by all localities in the State is now determined by dividing the dollar amount to be raised by the wealthiest county, as determined in step

[1] Weighted average of cols. 5 and 6; assessments weighted 4, shared taxes, 1.

[2] Ratio indicates that Boone County is the "wealthiest" county.

[3] Boone County is assumed to raise 20 percent of its total budget, or $120,000. Dividing this amount by Boone's percent of fiscal ability (13.48) total local contributions would be $890,000. Applying percentages in col. 7 to this figure gives amount of contribution for each locality. In determining proportion of budget of wealthiest county to be financed by county itself, account should be taken of total local contributions for whole State resulting from such proportion.

3, by the percent of total local fiscal ability found in that county, as indicated by column 7. The dollar contribution of each of the other localities is then determined by multiplying the total amount of local contributions in the State as a whole by the percentage index of fiscal ability for each county. Dividing the $120,000 local contribution, fixed for Boone County under step 3, by its percent of fiscal ability yields a total local contribution figure for all localities combined of $890,000. Column 9 shows the amount each locality would contribute, obtained by multiplying $890,000 by the percentages in column 7. Column 10 shows each locality's contribution as a percentage of its assistance budget.

(5) State and Federal funds allocated to each locality would amount to the difference between its local contribution and its public assistance budget.

Plan 3—Each local contribution retains its identity and is matched with Federal and State funds at a ratio varying from locality to locality.—Under this procedure the State would require each locality to raise a specified percentage share of its approved assistance budget; the percentage would vary from locality to locality to take account of differences in need and fiscal ability. Federal and State funds would be available, on a matching basis, to meet the remainder. This plan differs from present State plans in that the percentage of local financial participation varies from locality to locality instead of being uniform throughout a State. The plan is similar to some proposals for a system of variable Federal grants to States.

Because the percentage basis would tie the amount of State and Federal funds received to the amount raised by the locality, this plan might be open to some of the same objections raised against present uniform-matching plans, even though it does adjust for unequal fiscal capacity. It is assumed, however, that administrative measures would assure that the payments made under approved budgets of each locality would support uniform State standards of assistance. Moreover, matching each local dollar with a given amount of Federal and State dollars may provide a stronger financial stimulus to maintenance of local fiscal effort at the desired level than plans 1 and 2, in which the amount of Federal and State funds allocated to a locality is independent of the amount raised locally. The smaller the percentage any locality is to contribute, the greater the number of State and Federal dollars each local dollar will attract, and the greater the stimulus matching may provide.

Various types of formulas might be used for determining the specific matching percentages applicable to each local unit. The linear-interpolation,[5] the bracket,[6] and the ratio-to-average[7] formulas are all conceivably adaptable to intrastate equalization if special adjustments are made to assure full equalization year in and year out.

A self-adjusting full-equalization formula, similar to the ratio-to-average formula, has been used in table 3, which illustrates the operation of plan 3 when applied to the data for the hypothetical State discussed above. Briefly, this formula provides that each locality's percentage contribution shall bear the same ratio to the average local percentage contribution as the given locality's percentage of total local fiscal ability bears to that locality's percentage of total approved assistance budgets in the State.[8] The nonlocal matching percentage for a county is the difference between 100 percent and the percentage resulting from the formula. It can be demonstrated that, if each county makes the same fiscal effort (i. e., devotes the same proportion of its fiscal ability to public assistance) under this formula, the matching percentages will result in total Federal, State, and local funds which will represent a uniform percentage of total assistance needs in each county; therefore, this can properly be termed a self-adjusting full-equalization formula.

The successive steps which might be applied in computing local contributions under this formula (table 3) are as follows:

(1) The State would construct an index of fiscal ability which would show each locality's ability as a percent of the State total. Appropriate weights would be given to each factor entering into the index. In columns 3 and 5 it has been assumed for sake of simplicity that assessed valuations are the only series used in the index.

(2) The State would construct an index of need, also expressed in percent-of-total terms. The approved public assistance budget of each county (column 2) is converted to a percent-of-total basis (column 4).

(3) Using the formula given above, the State would compute the ratio of the index of ability to the index of need for each county. Column 6 shows the ratios resulting from dividing column 5 by column 4. The ratio derived for each county is then multiplied by the average percentage of total costs which the State desires to raise by means of local contributions throughout the State.[9] This computation gives the percentage of its total costs which each locality will have to contribute. The illustrative

[5] Under the linear-interpolation formula, the percentage contribution by each locality would be fixed by the difference between the combined index of need and ability of each locality and the extreme items in the array of indexes, with use of predetermined values for the extremes and straight-line interpolation to find intermediate values.

[6] Under the bracket formula, the percentage contribution for each locality would be fixed by the bracket into which the locality's combined index of need and ability falls, with predetermined values for each bracket.

[8] In mathematical terms, if L_j equals the percentage contribution for each county, if L_a equals the percent of total assistance costs which the State desires to raise throughout the whole State by means of local financial contributions, if P_a equals the percent of total local fiscal ability in each county, and if P_n equals the percent of total approved public assistance budgets in each county, then the formula can be stated as follows:

[9] The maximum limits to local contributions, discussed with respect to plan 2, would also operate under this plan—i. e., a locality would not normally contribute more than 50 percent and never more than 100 percent of its assistance budget. If the State-wide average percentage under plan 3 were set too high, however, the percentage for some localities obtained under the formula might exceed the upper limit. The State would then have to reduce the State-wide average local contribution or provide arbitrarily that no locality would contribute more than a specified maximum percent-

[1] The formula used here can be adjusted to obtain any average level of local contribution desired, within limits discussed in text. To alter the level of local contributions, the value of the constant (L_a), which in this illustration is 9 percent, must be changed. If changed upward, it may be necessary to place a limit (usually something less than 50 percent) on the percentage which will be required of any county.

computations (column 7) assume that the State has decided to raise a State-wide average of 9 percent of total costs through local contributions.

(4) The dollar amount which each locality is to provide (column 8) is then determined by multiplying its approved assistance budget by the local matching percentage assigned to it (column 7). The total amount to be provided by all localities should ordinarily equal the product of the desired average rate of local contribution (9 percent) and the sum of local assistance budgets.

(5) Federal and State funds would be allocated to each county on the basis of the nonlocal matching percentages multiplied by the total amounts actually expended locally.

age, such as 40 percent; if the percentages for a few localities were reduced by the latter provision below those derived under the formula, total local contributions would cover a somewhat smaller percentage of total costs than contemplated in the initial choice of the State-wide average local rate.

Administration of the State Equalization Plan

The calculations of fiscal ability should be made on an annual or biennial basis, whichever is more appropriate; important shifts in relative ability are infrequent. The estimated amount of total need in each locality will probably require some revision as economic conditions change, and these changes must be reflected in the allocations. Frequent readjustments may be less urgent if only the three special types of public assistance are included in the equalization plan than if general assistance is also covered. Failure to adjust the allotments quickly to changes in the need for general assistance might prove a serious weakness. The plan should be so devised that, in any given quarter, the State agency can spend more or less than one-eighth of its biennial appropriation. This element of flexibility, as well as use of deficiency appropriations when necessary, should be standard provisions in State plans.

The three general approaches outlined above differ in form, but in practice, if the same measures of need and ability were used—and also the same general scale and limits of local participation—each approach might produce about the same total amounts of public assistance funds in each locality. Actual achievement of such uniform results, however, would require full State-local cooperation.

In some cases it may be desirable for departments or agencies within the State other than the public assistance agency to provide some of the information needed in measuring fiscal ability. A State legislature might require, for example, that the State departments already collecting relevant information should certify it periodically to the State public assistance agency for use in applying the equalization formula adopted. Considerably more research and investigation of problems associated with intrastate equalization would be helpful. Persons working in the education and public finance fields have been studying the general problem for some time. Case studies undertaken now might prove of broad interest and might lead to positive action in some States. To correlate the work of the various groups concerned with intrastate equalization, an interdepartmental committee on intrastate equalization might well be created in each State. Such a committee might include representatives not only of the State Welfare Department, but also of the Budget Office, Treasury, Office of Equalization and Review, Revenue Department, Auditor's Office, Department of Education, Planning Board, Attorney General's Office, and appropriate divisions of State colleges and universities. Various nongovernmental agencies may also have a valuable contribution to make.

1ST SESSION

S. 1606

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

NOVEMBER 19 (legislative day, OCTOBER 29), 1945

Mr. WAGNER (for himself and Mr. MURRAY) introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Education and Labor

To provide for a national health program.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That this Act may be cited as the "National Health Act of 1945".

TITLE I—GRANTS TO STATES FOR HEALTH SERVICES

PART A—GRANTS TO STATES FOR PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

SEC. 101. Section 314 of the Public Health Service Act (Act of July 1, 1944, 58 Stat. 682) is hereby amended to read as follows:

1 "GRANTS AND SERVICES TO STATES

2 "SEC. 314. (a) To enable the Surgeon General to
3 carry out the purposes of section 301 with respect to de-
4 veloping more effective measures for the prevention, treat-
5 ment, and control of venereal diseases, and to assist, through
6 grants and as otherwise provided in this section, States,
7 counties, health districts, and other political subdivisions of 8 the States in establishing and maintaining adequate measures
9 for the prevention, treatment, and control of such diseases,
10 including the training of personnel for State and local health
11 work, and to enable him to prevent and control the spread
12 of the venereal diseases in interstate traffic, and to meet
13 the cost of pay, allowances, and traveling expenses of com-
14 missioned officers and other personnel of the Service detailed 15 to assist in carrying out the purposes of this section with 16 respect to the venereal diseases, and to administer this sec-
17 tion with respect to such diseases, there is hereby authorized 18 to be appropriated for each fiscal year a sum sufficient to 19 carry out the purposes of this subsection.

20 "(b) To enable the Surgeon General to carry out the 21 purposes of section 301 with respect to developing more
22 effective measures for the prevention, treatment, and control
23 of tuberculosis, and to assist, through grants and as other-
24 wise provided in this section, States, counties, health districts, 25 and other political subdivisions of the States in establishing

1 and maintaining adequate measures for the prevention, treat-
2 ment, and control of such disease, including the provision of 3 appropriate facilities for care and treatment and including
4 the training of personnel for State and local health work, and 5 to enable him to prevent and control the spread of tubercu-
6 losis in interstate traffic, and to meet the cost of pay, allow-7 ances, and traveling expenses of commissioned officers and 8 other personnel of the Service detailed to assist in carrying 9 out the purposes of this section with respect to tuberculosis,
10 and to administer this section with respect to such disease,
11 there is hereby authorized to be appropriated the sum of 12 $10,000,000, and for each fiscal year a sum sufficient to 13 carry out the purposes of this subsection.

14 "(c) For each fiscal year, the Surgeon General, with 15 the approval of the Administrator, shall determine the total
16 sum from the appropriation under subsection (a) and the 17 total sum from the appropriation under subsection (b)
18 which shall be available for allotment among the several 19 States. He shall, in accordance with regulations, from time
20 to time make allotments from such sums to the several States
21 on the basis of (1) the population, (2) the size of the 22 venereal-disease problem, and the size of the tuberculosis
23 problem, respectively, and (3) the financial need of the 24 respective States. Upon making such allotments the Surgeon

1 General shall notify the Secretary of the Treasury of the 2 amounts thereof.

3 "(d) The Surgeon General, with the approval of the 4 Administrator, shall from time to time determine the amounts
5 to be paid to each State from the allotments to such State
6 under subsection (c), and shall certify to the Secretary of 7 the Treasury the amounts so determined, reduced or in-
8 creased, as the case may be, by the amounts by which he 9 finds that estimates of required expenditures with respect to 10 any prior period were greater or less than the actual expendi-
11 tures for such period. Upon receipt of such certification, the 12 Secretary of the Treasury shall, through the Division of 13 Disbursement of the Treasury Department and prior to audit
14 or settlement by the General Accounting Office, pay in 15 accordance with such certification.

16 "(e) Money so paid under subsection (d) shall be paid
17 upon the condition that there shall be spent in such State
18 for the same general purpose from funds of such State and 19 its political subdivisions an amount determined in accordance 20 with regulations.

21 "(f) (1) To enable the Surgeon General to assist,
22 through grants and as otherwise provided in this section,
23 States, counties, health districts, and other political sub-
24 divisions of the States to extend and improve public-health
25 work by establishing and maintaining adequate public-health

1 services as rapidly as may be practicable under the conditions
2 in the States, especially by improving such services in rural 3 communities, in economically depressed areas, and in other
4 communities or areas where such services are below nationally
5 accepted standards of adequate public-health services, includ-
6 ing grants for demonstrations and for the training of per-
7 sonnel for State and local public-health work, there is hereby 8 authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year, beginning
9 with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient
10 to carry out the purposes of this section. Of the sum appro-
11 priated for each fiscal year pursuant to this subsection there 12 shall be available an amount, not to exceed $5,000,000, to 13 enable the Surgeon General to provide demonstrations and 14 to train personnel for State and local health work and to 15 meet the cost of pay, allowances, and traveling expenses of 16 commissioned officers and other personnel of the Service
17 detailed to assist States in carrying out the purposes of this 18 subsection.

19 "(2) A State plan to be approved under this sub-
20 section must—

21 "(A) provide for financial participation by the 22 State;

23 "(B) provide for a State-wide program or for ex-
24 tension of the program each year so that it shall be in 25 effect in all political subdivisions of the State in need

1 of services not later than the beginning of the fiscal
2 year ending June 30, 1950;
3 "(C) provide for extension and improvement of 4 public-health work in the State, in accordance with the 5 purposes of paragraph (1) of this subsection;
6 "(D) provide for the administration of the plan by 7 the State health agency or the supervision by the State
8 health agency of the administration of any part of the 9 plan administered by another State agency or by a
10 political subdivision of the State;
11 "(E) provide such methods of administration (in-
12 cluding methods relating to the establishment and main-13 tenance of personnel standards on a merit basis, except 14 that the Surgeon General shall exercise no authority
15 with respect to the selection, tenure of office, and com-
16 pensation of any individual employed in accordance 17 with such methods) as are found by the Surgeon Gen-
18 eral to be necessary for the proper and efficient operation
19 of the plan;
20 "(F) provide for an advisory council or councils,
21 composed of members of the professions and agencies,
22 public and private, that furnish services under the State
23 plan, and other persons informed on the need for, or 24 provision of, public-health services;
25 "(G) provide that the State health agency will

1 make such reports, in such form and containing such
2 information, as the Surgeon General may from time
3 to time require, and comply with such provisions as the 4 Surgeon General may from time to time find necessary
5 to assure the correctness and verification of such reports;
6 "(H) provide for cooperation and, when necessary,
7 for working agreements between the State health agency
8 and any public agency or agencies administering services
9 related to the public-health services furnished under the 10 State plan, including public agencies concerned with 11 welfare, assistance, social insurance, workmen's com-
12 pensation, labor, industrial, hygiene, education, or medi-
13 cal care;
14 "(I) provide that the State health agency (or other
15 State agency administering public-health services under 16 this plan) shall have authority to make and publish such 17 rules and regulations as are necessary for the efficient 18 operation of such services, having special regard for the 19 quality and economy of service.
20 "(3) The Surgeon General shall approve any plan
21 which fulfills the conditions specified in paragraph (2) of 22 this subsection.
23 "(4) From the sums appropriated therefor under this
24 subsection, the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay to each
25 State which has an approved plan under this subsection,

1 for each year or part thereof covered by such plan, amounts
2 equal to the Federal proportion of the total amount of public
3 funds expended under the State plan, during each year or 4 part thereof covered by such plan, as is determined in 5 accordance with paragraph (5) of this subsection upon the 6 basis of the financial resources of the State, not counting
7 so much of such total expenditures by the State as are in-
8 cluded in any other State plan aided by grants under any 9 other subsection of this Act or any other Act of Congress.
10 The amounts so paid to a State by the Secretary of the 11 Treasury shall be used exclusively for carrying out the pur-
12 poses of this subsection.

13 "(5) (A) The financial resources of the several States
14 shall be measured by per capita income accruing to the in-
15 habitants thereof.

16 "(B) The Federal proportion with respect to any State, 17 for the purposes of paragraph (4) of this subsection, shall 18 be 100 per centum less the non-Federal proportion. The 19 non-Federal proportion for each State whose per capita 20 income is greater than or equal to the per capita income of 21 the continental United States and for the District of Colum-
22 bia, Alaska, and Hawaii shall be 50 per centum each, and 23 the non-Federal proportion for Puerto Rico and the Virgin
24 Islands shall be 25 per centum each. The non-Federal 25 proportion for each State whose per capita income is less

1 than the per-capita income of the continental United States
2 shall be that percentage which bears the same ratio to 50
3 per centum as the per capita income of such State bears to 4 the per capita income of the continental United States,
5 except that (i) the non-Federal proportion shall in no
6 case be less than 25 per centum, and (ii) the non-Federal 7 proportion shall be rounded to the nearest whole per centum.
8 "(C) The percentages representing the Federal pro-
9 portion of total expenditures under this program shall be 10 promulgated by the Surgeon General between July 1 and 11 August 31 of each even-numbered year, on the basis of the 12 average of the per capita incomes of the States and of the 13 continental United States for the three most recent con-
14 secutive years for which satisfactory data are available
15 from the Department of Commerce. Such promulgation
16 shall for the purposes of this section be conclusive for each
17 of the eight quarters in the period beginning July 1 next
18 succeeding such promulgation: Provided, That the Surgeon
19 General shall promulgate such percentages as soon as possible
20 after the enactment of this Act, which promulgation shall 21 be conclusive for the purposes of this subsection for each
22 of the two fiscal years in the period beginning July 1, 1945,
23 and ending June 30, 1947.
24 "(6) The Surgeon General shall, from time to time

1 but not less often than semiannually, estimate the amount
2 to be paid to each State for each year or part thereof under 3 the provisions of paragraph (4), such estimate to be based
4 on (A) a report filed by the State containing its estimate
5 of the total sum to be expended in such period in accordance 6 with the provisions of paragraph (4), and (B) such other
7 data as to such estimated expenditures and such other inves-
8 tigations as the Surgeon General may find necessary. The 9 Surgeon General shall then certify to the Secretary of the 10 Treasury the amount so estimated, reduced or increased, as 11 the case may be, by any sum by which the Surgeon General
12 finds that his estimate for any prior period was greater or 13 less than the amount which should have been paid to the 14 State under paragraph (4) for such period; except that such 15 increases or reductions shall not be made to the extent that 16 such sum has been applied to make the amount certified for 17 any prior period greater or less than the amount estimated
18 by the Surgeon General for such prior period. The Secre-
19 tary of the Treasury shall, prior to audit or settlement by the 20 General Accounting Office, pay to the State, at the time or 21 times fixed by the Surgeon General, the amount so certified.
22 "(g) The moneys so paid to any State under subsections
23 (d) and (f) shall be expended solely in carrying out the 24 purposes specified in subsection (a), or subsection (b), or 25 subsection (f) of this section, as the case may be, and in

1 accordance with plans presented by the health authority of
2 such State and approved by the Surgeon General.
3 "(h) Whenever the Surgeon General, after reasonable
4 notice and opportunity for hearing to the health authority of 5 the State, finds that, with respect to money paid to the State
6 out of appropriations under subsection (a), or subsection
7 (b), or subsection (f), as the case may be, there is a failure
8 to comply substantially with either—
9 "(1) the provisions of this section;
10 "(2) the plan submitted under subsection (f) or 11 subsection (g), as may be pertinent; or 12 "(3) the regulations;
13 the Surgeon General shall notify such State health authority
14 either that further payments will not be made to the State
15 from appropriations under such subsection (or in his dis-
16 cretion that further payments will not be made to the State
17 from such appropriations for activities in which there is 18 such failure), until he is satisfied that there will no longer
19 be any such failure. Until he is so satisfied the Surgeon
20 General shall make no further certification for payment to 21 such State from appropriations under such subsection, or 22 shall limit payment to activities in which there is no such 23 failure.
24 "(i) All regulations and amendments thereto with re-
25 spect to grants to States under this section shall be made

1 after consultation with a conference of the State health
2 authorities. Insofar as practicable, the Surgeon General
3 shall obtain the agreement of the State health authorities
4 prior to the issuance of any such regulations or amendments.
5 "(j) Funds appropriated under subsection (a) and 6 funds appropriated under subsection (b), in addition to 7 being available for payments to States, shall also be available
8 for expenditure by the Surgeon General in otherwise carry-
9 ing out the respective subsections, including expenditures for 10 printing and binding of the findings of investigations, and 11 for pay and allowances and traveling expenses of personnel
12 of the Service engaged in activities authorized by the respec-
13 tive subsections.
14 "(k) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him, the 15 Surgeon General is hereby authorized and directed, with 16 the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, to enter
17 into such agreements or cooperative working arrangements
18 as may be necessary to insure coordination in the adminis-
19 tration of programs and services under this part with those 20 under parts B and C of this title and with those under title
21 II of this Act.
22 "(l) When used in subsection (f) of this section, the 23 term 'public-health work' includes customary and accepted
24 functions, services, and activities of public-health agencies
25 with respect to: public-health administration; training of per-

1 sonnel; vital statistics; sanitation of the human environment;
2 control of communicable and preventable diseases; labo-
3 ratory services; protection of health in maternity, infancy,
4 and childhood; public-health education; public-health nurs-
5 ing; research and the performance of demonstrations; medi-
6 cal and related services for prevention or mitigation of sick-
7 ness or disability and for the prevention of premature
8 death; planning and coordination of health services and 9 activities; enactment and enforcement of necessary standards
10 and regulations; production or procurement, and distribu-
11 tion, of therapeutic and prophylactic preparations; and 12 related matters. The term does not include: construction
13 of hospitals, water supplies, sewerage or other waste-dis-
14 posal systems, or of other facilities; operation or mainte-
15 nance of hospitals (except hospitals for persons afflicted with 16 infectious diseases), water supplies, sewerage or other 17 waste-disposal systems; and related matters."

18 PART B—GRANTS TO STATES FOR MATERNAL AND CHILD
19 HEALTH SERVICES

20 MATERNAL AND CHILD-HEALTH SERVICES

21 Appropriation

22 SEC. 121. (a) For the purpose of enabling each State
23 to provide and maintain services and facilities for promoting 24 the physical and mental health of mothers and children, by 25 establishing and maintaining adequate maternal and child-

1 health services, and to develop more effective measures for 2 carrying out the purposes of this section, including demon-
3 strations and the training of personnel for State and local 4 maternal and child-health work, there is hereby authorized
5 to be appropriated for each fiscal year, beginning with the 6 fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient to carry
7 out the purposes of this section. The sums made available
8 under this section shall be used for making payments to 9 States which have submitted, and had approved by the 10 Chief of the Children's Bureau, State plans for establishing 11 and maintaining adequate maternal and child-health services.

12 APPROVAL OF STATE PLANS

13 SEC. 122. (a) A State plan for maternal and child-
14 health services to be approved under this section must—
15 (1) provide for financial participation by the State;
16 (2) provide for the administration of the plan by 17 the State health agency or the supervision of the admin-
18 istration of the plan by the State health agency;
19 (3) provide such methods of administration (includ-
20 ing methods relating to the establishment and mainte-
21 nance of personnel standards on a merit basis, except 22 that the Chief of the Children's Bureau shall exercise
23 no authority with respect to the selection, tenure of office,
24 and compensation of any individual employed in accord-

1 ance with such methods) as are necessary for the proper 2 and efficient operation of the plan;
3 (4) provide that the State agency will make such
4 reports, in such form and containing such information,
5 as the Secretary of Labor may from time to time require,
6 and comply with such provisions as he may from time
7 to time find necessary to assure the correctness and veri-
8 fication of such reports;
9 (5) provide for the extension and improvement of 10 local maternal and child-health services and facilities
11 administered by local health units so that the plan will 12 be in effect in all political subdivisions of the State not 13 later than a date ten years after the date of approval
14 of the first State plan approved under this section;
15 (6) provide for cooperation with medical, health,
16 nursing, education, and welfare groups and organizations
17 and, when necessary, for working agreements with any 18 public agency or agencies administering or providing 19 services related to the services furnished under the State
20 plan, including public agencies concerned with nursing,
21 education, welfare, assistance, social insurance, work-
22 men's compensation, labor, industrial hygiene, or medical 23 care;
24 (7) provide for the development of demonstration
25 services and for the training of personnel;

1 (8) provide that as services and facilities are fur-
2 nished under the plan they shall be available to all
3 mothers and children in the State or locality who elect
4 to participate in the benefits of the program; and 5 (9) provide that the State agency shall have au-
6 thority to make and publish such rules and regulations
7 as are necessary for the efficient operation of such serv-
8 ices, having special regard for the quality and economy
9 of service.
10 (b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau shall approve
11 any plan for maternal and child-health services which ful-
12 fills the conditions specified in subsection (a) and shall there-13 upon notify the Secretary of Labor and the State agency of 14 his approval.

15 SERVICES FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

16 Appropriation

17 SEC. 123. For the purpose of enabling each State to 18 provide and maintain services for locating crippled or other-
19 wise physically handicapped children, and for providing 20 medical, surgical, corrective, and other services and care, 21 and facilities for diagnosis, hospitalization, and aftercare, for 22 children who are crippled or otherwise physically handi-
23 capped or who are suffering from conditions which lead to 24 crippling, or physical handicap, and to develop more effective 25 measures for carrying out the purposes of this section, in-

1 cluding demonstrations and the training of personnel for 2 State and local crippled children's services, there is hereby
3 authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year, beginning
4 with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient
5 to carry out the purposes of this section. The sums made
6 available under this section shall be used for making pay-
7 ments to States which have submitted, and had approved
8 by the Chief of the Children's Bureau, State plans for estab-
9 lishing and maintaining adequate crippled children's service.

10 APPROVAL OF STATE PLANS

11 SEC. 124. (a) A State plan for services for crippled
12 and other handicapped children to be approved under this 13 section must—

14 (1) provide for financial participation by the State;

15 (2) provide for the administration of the plan by 16 a single State agency or the supervision of the adminis-
17 tration of the plan by a single State agency, and for 18 appropriate coordination of the plan with the maternal 19 and child-health program of the State health agency;

20 (3) provide such methods of administration (in-
21 cluding methods relating to the establishment and
22 maintenance of personnel standards on a merit basis,
23 except that the Chief of the Children's Bureau shall 24 exercise no authority with respect to the selection,

1 tenure of office, and compensation of any individual
2 employed in accordance with such methods) as are 3 necessary for the proper and efficient operation of the 4 plan;
5 (4) provide that the State agency will make such
6 reports, in such form and containing such information,
7 as the Secretary of Labor may from time to time require,
8 and comply with such provisions as he may from time
9 to time find necessary to assure the correctness and 10 verification of such reports;
11 (5) provide for carrying out the purposes specified
12 in subsection (a) so that the program will be in effect
13 in all political subdivisions of the State, and the services
14 and facilities available to all crippled children not later 15 than a date ten years after the date of approval of the 16 first plan approved under the section;
17 (6) provide for cooperation with medical, health,
18 nursing, education, and welfare groups and organiza-
19 tions and, when necessary, for working agreements with 20 any public agency or agencies administering or provid-
21 ing services related to the services furnished under the 22 State plan, including public agencies concerned with 23 nursing, education, welfare, assistance, social insurance,
24 workmen's compensation, labor, industrial hygiene, or 25 medical care;

1 (7) provide that as services and facilities are
2 furnished under the plan they shall be available to all
3 crippled children in the State who elect to participate
4 in the benefits of the program; and
5 (8) provide that the State agency shall have 6 authority to make and publish such rules and regula-
7 tions as are necessary for the efficient operation of such 8 services, having special regard for the quality and 9 economy of service.
10 (b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau shall approve
11 any plan for crippled children's services which fulfills the 12 conditions specified in subsection (a) and shall thereupon
13 notify the Secretary of Labor and the State agency of his 14 approval.

15 PAYMENT TO STATES

16 SEC. 125. (a) From the sums appropriated therefor
17 under section 121 or 123, the Secretary of the Treasury
18 shall pay to each State which has an approved plan for 19 maternal and child-health services, or for services to 20 crippled children, respectively, for each year or part thereof
21 covered by such plan, amounts equal to the Federal 22 proportion of the total amount of public funds expended
23 under the respective State plan, during each year or 24 part thereof covered by such plan, as is determined in

1 accordance with section 127 of this title upon the basis
2 of the financial resources of the State, not counting so much
3 of such total expenditures by the State as are included in 4 any other State plan aided by grants under any other section
5 of this part, or any other part of this title, or any other
6 Act of Congress. The amounts so paid to a State by the 7 Secretary of the Treasury shall be used exclusively for 8 carrying out the purposes of the respective sections of this 9 part.

10 (b) The method of computing and paying such 11 amounts shall be as follows:

12 (1) The Secretary of Labor shall, from time to 13 time but not less often than semiannually, estimate the 14 amount to be paid to the State with respect to each
15 State plan for each year or part thereof under the pro-
16 visions of subsection (a) of this section, such estimate to 17 be based on (A) a report filed by the State containing 18 its estimate of the total sum to be expended for each
19 such plan in such period in accordance with the pro-
20 visions of subsection (a) and (B) such other data as 21 to such estimated expenditures and such other investiga-
22 tions as he may find necessary.

23 (2) The Secretary of Labor shall then certify to 24 the Secretary of the Treasury the amount so estimated
25 for each State plan, reduced or increased, as the case

1 may be, by any sum by which the Secretary of Labor
2 finds that his estimate for any prior period for such
3 State plan was greater or less than the amount which
4 should have been paid to the State under subsection
5 (a) for such period; except that such increases or 6 reductions shall not be made to the extent that such 7 sum has been applied to make the amount certified
8 for any prior period greater or less than the amount
9 estimated by the Secretary of Labor for such prior 10 period.

11 (3) The Secretary of the Treasury shall, prior
12 to audit or settlement by the General Accounting Office,
13 pay to the State, at the time or times fixed by the 14 Secretary of Labor, the amount so certified.

15 OPERATION OF STATE PLANS

16 SEC. 126. In case of any State plan for maternal and 17 child-health services, or for services to crippled children
18 which has been approved by the Chief of the Children's 19 Bureau, if the Secretary of Labor, after reasonable notice
20 and opportunity for hearing to the State agency administer-
21 ing or supervising the administration of such plan, finds that 22 in the administration of the plan there is a failure to comply
23 substantially with any provision required by section 121, or 24 section 123, respectively, to be included in the plan, he 25 shall notify such State agency that further payments will

1 not be made to the State under such plan (or, in his dis-
2 cretion, that further payments will not be made to the State
3 under such plan for services in which there is such failure)
4 until he is satisfied that there is no longer any such failure
5 to comply. Until he is so satisfied, he shall make no further
6 certification to the Secretary of the Treasury with respect
7 to such plan for such State.

8 FEDERAL GRANT PERCENTAGES

9 SEC. 127. (a) The financial resources of the several 10 States shall be measured by per capita income accruing to 11 the inhabitants thereof.

12 (b) The Federal proportion with respect to any State, 13 for the purposes of section 125 of this title, shall be 100 per 14 centum less the non-Federal proportion. The non-Federal 15 proportion for each State whose per capita income is greater 16 than or equal to the per capita income of the continental
17 United States and for the District of Columbia, Alaska, and 18 Hawaii shall be 50 per centum each, and the non-Federal 19 proportion for Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands shall be 20 25 per centum each. The non-Federal proportion for each
21 State whose per capita income is less than the per capita
22 income of the continental United States shall be that per-23 centage which bears the same ratio to 50 per centum as the 24 per capita income of such State bears to the per capita in-
25 come of the continental United States, except that (1) the

1 non-Federal proportion shall in no case be less than 25 per
2 centum, and (2) the non-Federal proportion shall be rounded
3 to the nearest whole per centum.

4 (c) The percentages representing the Federal propor-
5 tion of total expenditures under these programs shall be
6 promulgated by the Secretary of Labor between July 1
7 and August 31 of each even-numbered year, on the basis
8 of the average of the per capita incomes of the States and 9 of the continental United States for the three most recent 10 consecutive years for which satisfactory data are available
11 from the Department of Commerce. Such promulgation
12 shall for the purposes of this section be conclusive for each
13 of the eight quarters in the period beginning July 1 next
14 succeeding such promulgation: Provided, That the Secretary
15 of Labor shall promulgate such percentages as soon as pos-
16 sible after the enactment of this Act, which promulgation
17 shall be conclusive for the purposes of this section for each
18 of the two fiscal years in the period beginning July 1, 1945,
19 and ending June 30, 1947.

20 STUDIES, INVESTIGATIONS, ADMINISTRATION, RULES AND 21 REGULATIONS, AND ANNUAL REPORT

22 SEC. 128. (a) The Children's Bureau shall make and 23 aid the financing of such studies, demonstrations, investiga-
24 tions, and research as will promote the efficient administration
25 and operation of this part. In such administration, the Chief

1 of the Children's Bureau shall pursue general policies estab-
2 lished by him after consultation with advisory committees
3 composed of professional and public members which he 4 shall appoint (without regard to the civil-service laws),
5 with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, to advise him
6 on matters pertaining to the furnishing of the care and serv-
7 ices authorized by this part, and after consultation with a
8 conference of the State health officers with respect to section
9 121, and a conference of State officers responsible for the 10 administration of State plans with respect to section 123.
11 Insofar as practicable, the Chief of the Children's Bureau
12 shall obtain agreement of these State authorities prior to the 13 issuance of such general policies.

14 (b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau, with the ap-
15 proval of the Secretary of Labor, shall make and publish
16 such rules and regulations as may be necessary to the efficient
17 administration of this part.

18 (c) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him by 19 this part, the Chief of the Children's Bureau is hereby author-
20 ized and directed, with the approval of the Secretary of 21 Labor, to enter into such agreements or cooperative working
22 arrangements with the Surgeon General of the Public Health
23 Service and with the Social Security Board as may be 24 necessary to insure coordination in the administration of pro-
25 grams and services administered by him with those under

1 parts A and C of this title and with those under title II
2 of this Act.
3 (d) The Secretary of Labor shall include in his annual 4 report to Congress a full account of the administration of 5 this part.

6 DEFINITION

7 SEC. 129. In this part, the term "State" includes Alaska,
8 Hawaii, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the 9 Virgin Islands.

10 APPROPRIATION

11 SEC. 130. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated
12 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, the sum of 13 $5,000,000 for all necessary expenses of the Children's 14 Bureau in administering the provisions of this part of this 15 title, and in developing and promoting effective measures
16 for carrying out the purposes of this part, including studies, 17 demonstrations, investigations and research, the training of 18 personnel for Federal, State, and local services, and the 19 payment of salaries and expenses of personnel detailed at 20 the request of State agencies to cooperate with and assist 21 such agencies in carrying out the purposes of this part of 22 this title; and there is hereby authorized to be appropriated
23 for each fiscal year thereafter a sum sufficient to carry out
24 the purposes of this part.

1 PART C—GRANTS TO STATES FOR MEDICAL CARE OF 2 NEEDY PERSONS

3 APPROPRIATION

4 SEC. 131. For the purpose of enabling each State to pro-
5 vide medical care, as far as practicable under the conditions
6 in such State, for needy persons, there is hereby authorized
7 to be appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30,
8 1946, the sum of $10,000,000, and there is hereby author-
9 ized to be appropriated for each fiscal year thereafter a
10 sum sufficient to carry out the purposes of this part. The 11 sums made available under this section shall be used for 12 making payments to States which have submitted and 13 had approved by the Social Security Board (hereinafter 14 referred to as the "Board"), State plans for medical care
15 of needy persons.

17 SEC. 132. (a) A State plan for medical care must—

18 (1) provide that it shall be in effect in all political 19 subdivisions of the State, and if administered by them,
20 be mandatory upon them;

21 (2) provide for financial participation by the State,
22 and for such distribution of funds, as to assure meeting
23 in full the need of individuals for medical care through-
24 out the State, as determined in accordance with standards
25 established by the State:

1 (3) (A) provide for the establishment or designa-
2 tion of a single State public assistance agency to admin-
3 ister or to supervise the administration of the plan for 4 medical care; and (B) provide that there will not be 5 more than one public assistance agency of a local sub-
6 division of the State established or designated to admin-
7 ister the plan for medical care within such subdivision;
8 (4) provide for granting to any individual, whose 9 claim for medical care is denied, an opportunity for a
10 fair hearing before such State agency;
11 (5) provide such methods of administration (in-
12 cluding methods relating to the establishment and main-
13 tenance of personnel standards on a merit basis, except 14 that the Board shall exercise no authority with respect
15 to the selection, tenure of office, and compensation of 16 any individual employed in accordance with such 17 methods) as are found by the Board to be necessary
18 for the proper and efficient operation of the plan;
19 (6) provide that the State agency will make such
20 reports, in such form and containing such information,
21 as the Board may from time to time require, and 22 comply with such provisions as the Board may from 23 time to time find necessary to assure the correctness
24 (7) provide safeguards which restrict the use or 25 and verification of such reports;

1 disclosure of information concerning applicants and
2 recipients to purposes directly connected with the ad-
3 ministration of the plan; and
4 (8) provide that the State agency shall, in deter-
5 mining need for medical care, take into consideration
6 (A) the requirements of individuals claiming medical 7 care under the plan, and (B) any income and resources
8 of an individual claiming medical care under the plan,
9 which must be taken into consideration with regard
10 to an individual claiming assistance under a State plan
11 approved under the Social Security Act, as amended.
12 (b) The Board shall approve any plan which fulfills
13 the conditions specified in subsection (a), except that it
14 shall not approve any plan which imposes as a condition
15 of eligibility for medical care under the plan any citizenship
16 or residence requirement, or any requirement which excludes
17 any recipient of public assistance under a State plan approved
18 under the Social Security Act, as amended.

19 PAYMENT TO STATES

20 SEC. 133. (a) From the sums appropriated therefor
21 under section 131, the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay
22 to each State which has an approved plan for medical care,
23 for each year or part thereof covered by such plan, amounts
24 equal to the Federal proportion of the total amount of public
25 funds expended under the State plan, during each year or

1 part thereof covered by such plan, as is determined in 2 accordance with section 135, not counting so much of such 3 expenditures for medical care for any individual under the 4 age of eighteen years who at the time of such expenditure is 5 living in a public or private institution, or for any individual
6 who has attained the age of eighteen years and at the time
7 of such expenditure is living in a public institution, and 8 not counting so much of such total expenditures by the 9 State as are included in any other State plan aided by 10 grants under any other part of this title, or any other Act
11 of Congress. The amounts so paid to a State by the Secre-
12 tary of the Treasury shall be used exclusively for carrying 13 out the purposes of this title.

14 (b) The method of computing and paying such amounts
15 shall be as follows:

16 (1) The Board shall, prior to the beginning of each
17 period for which a payment is to be made to the State
18 under subsection (a), estimate the amount to be paid
19 to such State for such period under the provisions of sub-
20 section (a), such estimate to be based on (A) a report
21 filed by the State containing its estimate of the total sum 22 to be expended in such period in accordance with the 23 provisions of such subsection, and stating the amount ap-
24 propriated or made available by the State and its political 25 subdivisions for such expenditures in such period, and

1 if the sum of such amount and the estimated Federal
2 grant to be paid the State under subsection (a) is less
3 than the total sum of such estimated expenditures, the 4 source or sources from which the difference is expected
5 to be derived, and (B) such other data as to such esti-
6 mated expenditures and such other investigation as the 7 Board may find necessary.

8 (2) The Board shall then certify to the Secretary of 9 the Treasury the amount so estimated by the Board, (A)
10 reduced or increased, as the case may be, by any sum by 11 which it finds that its estimate for any prior period was 12 greater or less than the amount which should have been 13 paid to the State under subsection (a) for such period,
14 and (B) reduced by a sum equivalent to the pro rata
15 share to which the United States is equitably entitled, as 16 determined by the Board, of the net amount recovered
17 during any prior period by the State or any political sub-
18 division thereof with respect to medical care furnished
19 under the State plan; except that such increases or reduc-
20 tions shall not be made to the extent that such sums have 21 been applied to make the amount certified for any prior 22 period greater or less than the amount estimated by the 23 Board for such prior period: Provided, That any part of 24 the amount recovered from the estate of a deceased
25 recipient which is not in excess of the amount expended

1 by the State or any political subdivision thereof for the 2 funeral expenses of the deceased shall not be considered
3 as a basis for reduction under clause (B) of this 4 paragraph.

5 (3) The Secretary of the Treasury shall, prior to 6 audit or settlement by the General Accounting Office, pay
7 to the State, at the time or times fixed by the Board, the 8 amount so certified.

9 (4) The period for which estimates and certifica-
10 tions are made under this section shall be a calendar
11 quarter, except that, upon application by a State, the 12 Board may extend the period for such State to not more
13 than four calendar quarters.

14 OPERATION OF STATE PLANS

15 SEC. 134. In case of any State plan for medical care
16 which has been approved by the Board, if the Board, after 17 reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the State
18 agency administering or supervising the administration of 19 such plan, finds—

20 (a) that the plan has been so changed as to im-
21 pose any requirement prohibited by section 132 (b),
22 or that in the administration of the plan any prohibited
23 requirement is imposed, with the knowledge of such 24 State agency, in a substantial number of cases; or

25 (b) that in the administration of the plan there is

1 a failure to comply substantially with any provision re-
2 quired by section 132 (a) to be included in the plan;
3 the Board shall notify such State agency that further pay-
4 ments will not be made to the State under such plan until 5 the Board is satisfied that such prohibited requirement is no
6 longer imposed, and that there is no longer any such failure
7 to comply. Until it is so satisfied it shall make no further
8 certification to the Secretary of the Treasury with respect
9 to such plan for such State.

10 FEDERAL GRANT PERCENTAGES

11 SEC. 135. (a) The Federal proportion with respect to 12 any State, for the purposes of section 133 of this title, shall 13 be 100 per centum less the non-Federal proportion. The 14 non-Federal proportion for each State whose per capita in-15 come is greater than or equal to the per capita income of the 16 continental United States and for the District of Columbia, 17 Alaska, and Hawaii shall be 50 per centum each, and the 18 non-Federal proportion for Puerto Rico and the Virgin
19 Islands shall be 25 per centum each. The non-Federal pro-
20 portion for each State whose per capita income is less than 21 the per capita income of the continental United States shall 22 be that percentage which bears the same ratio to 50 per 23 centum as the per capita income of such State bears to the

1 per capita income of the continental United States, except 2 that (1) the non-Federal proportion shall in no case be less
3 than 25 per centum, and (2) the non-Federal proportion
4 shall be rounded to the nearest whole per centum.

5 (b) The percentages representing the Federal propor-
6 tion of total expenditures under this program shall be promul-
7 gated by the Board between July 1 and August 31 of each
8 even-numbered year, on the basis of the average of the per 9 capita incomes of the States and of the continental United 10 States for the three most recent consecutive years for which 11 satisfactory data are available from the Department of Com-
12 merce. Such promulgation shall for the purposes of this sec-
13 tion be conclusive for each of the eight quarters in the period
14 beginning July 1 next succeeding such promulgation: Pro-
15 vided, That the Board shall promulgate such percentages as 16 soon as possible after the enactment of this Act, which pro-
17 mulgation shall be conclusive for the purposes of this section
18 for each of the two fiscal years in the period beginning July
19 1, 1945, and ending June 30, 1947.

20 ADMINISTRATION

21 SEC. 136. (a) In carrying out the duties imposed upon
22 it by this part, the Board is hereby authorized and directed,
23 with the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, to

1 enter into such agreements or cooperative working arrange-
2 ments with the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service,
3 and with the Chief of the Children's Bureau, as may be neces-
4 sary to insure coordination in the administration of programs
5 and services under this part with those under parts A and B
6 of this title and with those under title II of this Act.

7 (b) Medical care under this part may be provided either
8 (1) by the State or local public assistance agency admin-
9 istering the plan for medical care through (A) money pay-
10 ments to individuals claiming such care, or (B) payments to 11 the persons or institutions furnishing such care or, (C) direct 12 provision of such care; (2) in accordance with agreements
13 (authorized in regulations by the Board) between such 14 State or local agency and other agencies of the State or 15 political subdivision thereof, by such other agencies; or,
16 (3) through arrangements by a State or local public agency
17 with the Surgeon General for services furnished under title
18 II of this Act, on the basis of equitable payments to the 19 Personal Health Services Account established under title
20 II of this Act; or, (4) through such combination or modi-
21 fication of (1), (2), or (3) as the Board may approve.

22 DEFINITION

23 SEC. 137. In this part, the term "State" includes Alaska, 24 Hawaii, the District of Columbia. Puerto Rico, and the Virgin
25 Islands.

1 TITLE II—PREPAID PERSONAL HEALTH
2 SERVICE BENEFITS

3 PRIMARY PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS

4 SEC. 201. (a) Every individual, who is currently in-
5 sured, and has been determined by the Board to be eligible
6 for benefits under this title in a current benefit year, shall 7 be entitled to receive personal health service benefits.

8 DEPENDENT'S PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS

9 (b) Every dependent (as defined in section 214 (l))
10 of an individual who is currently insured and who has been 11 determined by the Board to be eligible for benefits under 12 this title in a current benefit year, shall be entitled to receive 13 personal health service benefits, if such dependent is not 14 entitled to receive such benefits under subsection (a) of this 15 section in the current benefit year.

16 PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS FOR RETIRED AND 17 SURVIVOR BENEFICIARIES

18 SEC. 202. Every individual entitled for any period to 19 monthly benefits under title II of the Social Security Act,
20 as amended, shall be entitled to receive personal health
21 service benefits for the current benefit year, if such individual 22 is not entitled to receive such benefits under section 201.

23 ADMINISTRATION

24 SEC. 203. (a) The Surgeon General of the Public
25 Health Service shall perform the duties imposed upon him

1 by this Act, under the supervision and direction of the Fed-
2 eral Security Administrator, and after consultations with the 3 Advisory Council (hereinafter established) as to questions of 4 general policy and administration, and in consultation with 5 the Board shall also have the duty of studying and making
6 recommendations as to the most effective methods of pro-
7 viding personal health service benefits, and as to legislation
8 and matters of administrative policy concerning health and 9 related subjects.

10 (b) The Surgeon General is hereby authorized and 11 directed to take all necessary and practical steps, not incon-
12 sistent with the provisions of this title, to arrange for the 13 availability of the benefits provided under this title and of 14 services and reports required by the Board for adminis-
15 tration under this Act.

16 (c) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him by 17 this title, the Surgeon General is hereby authorized and 18 directed, after consultation with the Advisory Council as to 19 questions of general policy and administration, and with 20 the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, to 21 negotiate and periodically to renegotiate agreements or 22 cooperative working arrangements with appropriate agen-
23 cies of the United States, or of any State or political sub-
24 division thereof, and with other appropriate public agencies,
25 and with private agencies or institutions, and with private

1 persons or groups of persons, and with combinations thereof,
2 to utilize their services and facilities and to pay fair, reason-
3 able, and equitable compensation for such services or facilities,
4 and for the Personal Health Services Account (hereinafter
5 referred to as the "Account"), established in accordance 6 with section 212, to receive reimbursements for services
7 rendered with respect to individuals or services under sec-
8 tion 209, and to negotiate and periodically renegotiate
9 agreements or cooperative working arrangements for the 10 purchase or availability of supplies and commodities neces-
11 sary for the benefits provided under this title, and to 12 enter into contracts for such services, facilities, supplies, and 13 commodities (subject to the limitations specified in section 14 214 (h)).

15 (d) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him by 16 this title, the Surgeon General is hereby authorized and 17 directed, with the approval of the Federal Security Admin-
18 istrator, to enter into such agreements or cooperative work-
19 ing arrangements with the Chief of the Children's Bureau
20 and with the Social Security Board as may be necessary to 21 ensure coordination in the administration of programs and 22 services under this title with those under parts B and C of 23 title I of this Act.

24 (e) In the administration of this title, the Surgeon

1 General shall, insofar as practicable, give priority and prefer-
2 ence to utilizing the facilities and services of State and local 3 departments or agencies on the basis of mutual agreements
4 with such departments or agencies.

5 (f) The Surgeon General may delegate to any officer
6 or employee of the Public Health Service or of any Federal,
7 State or local cooperating department or agency, such of 8 his powers and duties, except that of prescribing rules and 9 regulations, as he may consider necessary and proper to 10 carry out the purposes of this title.

11 (g) The Surgeon General, after consultation with the 12 Board, and after consultation with the Advisory Council
13 as to questions of general policy and administration, and 14 with the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, 15 shall prescribe and publish such rules and regulations and 16 require such records and reports, not inconsistent with other
17 provisions of this Act, as may be necessary to the efficient
18 administration of this title: Provided, That when rules and 19 regulations relate to the performance by Federal, State, or 20 local departments or agencies, of functions under mutual
21 agreements made therewith, or to the establishment or deter-
22 mination of local areas for administrative purposes, such rules
23 and regulations shall be made by the Surgeon General after 24 consultation with representatives of such departments or 25 agencies.

1 (h) The Surgeon General shall periodically notify the
2 Secretary of the Treasury of obligations incurred under ar-
3 rangements entered into by the Surgeon General in accord-
4 ance with this section and to whom such obligations obtain
5 and the Surgeon General shall from time to time certify dis-
6 bursements from the Account to meet such obligations, and 7 such certified disbursements shall be paid from the Account
8 by the Secretary of the Treasury.

9 (i) Except with respect to States or local areas for 10 which other arrangements have been made, under the provi-
11 sions of this section, the Surgeon General shall appoint local-12 area committees to aid in the administration of this title.
13 The members of such local-area committees shall be selected 14 from panels of names submitted by the professional and other
15 agencies and organizations concerned with medical, dental,
16 and nursing services and education and with the operation of 17 hospitals and laboratories and from among other persons,
18 agencies, or organizations informed on the need for or pro-
19 vision of medical, dental, nursing, hospital, laboratory, or re-
20 lated services and benefits. The membership of such local-
21 area committees shall include (1) medical and other profes-
22 sional representatives, and (2) public representatives, in such 23 proportions as are likely to provide fair representation to the 24 principal interested groups that furnish and receive personal 25 health services, having regard for the functions of the local-

1 area committees. Such committees shall be consulted at fre-
2 quent intervals, and shall be kept informed by the local-area
3 officers of the Public Health Service with respect to arrange-
4 ments for the availability of benefits under this title and pol-
5 icies to be followed in carrying out the provisions of this title.
6 Such committees are hereby authorized to make annual and 7 special reports, with recommendations, if any, to the local-
8 area officers or to the Surgeon General through his State or 9 regional officers having administrative responsibility for the 10 respective local areas. Such committees, with the same
11 or corresponding functions, shall be appointed by each State
12 or local cooperating department or agency with respect to 13 local areas for which such other arrangements have been 14 made under the provisions of this section.

15 (j) There is hereby authorized to be appropriated for 16 the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, and for each fiscal 17 year thereafter, a sum sufficient for all necessary expenses
18 in carrying out the duties imposed upon the Surgeon Gen-
19 eral, the Board, and the Advisory Council by this title, 20 including the printing of forms and reports, making such 21 studies and demonstrations and such provisions for the 22 training of personnel as may be expected to improve the 23 quality of the services and promote the efficient adminis-
24 tration of this title and for the pay, allowances, and traveling 25 expenses of commissioned officers and other personnel as-

1 signed to duty in carrying out the purposes of this title
2 in the District of Columbia and elsewhere.
3 (k) Appointment is hereby authorized in the Public
4 Health Service of such personnel and in such grades as 5 may be necessary for the proper and efficient administration
6 of this title, in accordance with the provisions of the civil-
7 service laws and the Classification Act of 1923, as amended.
8 Such personnel, and commissioned officers of the Regular 9 or Reserve Corps of the Public Health Service, may be 10 assigned to duty in such bureaus, divisions, sections and 11 other units as the Surgeon General may find it necessary
12 to establish, with the approval of the Administrator, for 13 carrying out the purposes of this title, without regard to 14 limitations otherwise specified in the Public Health Service
15 Act (Act of July 1, 1944, 58 Stat. 682).
16 (l) The Surgeon General shall make a full report
17 to Congress, at the beginning of each regular session, of 18 the administration of the functions with which he is charged 19 under this title. Such report shall include a record of con-
20 sultations with the Advisory Council, recommendations of 21 the Advisory Council, and comments thereon.
22 NATIONAL ADVISORY MEDICAL POLICY COUNCIL
23 SEC. 204. (a) There is hereby established a National 24 Advisory Medical Policy Council (herein referred to as 25 the "Advisory Council") to consist of the Surgeon Gen-

1 eral as Chairman and sixteen members to be appointed
2 without regard to the civil-service laws by the Surgeon
3 General and with the approval of the Federal Security Ad-
4 ministrator. The sixteen appointed members shall be se-
5 lected from panels of names submitted by the professional 6 and other agencies and organizations concerned with medical,
7 dental, and nursing services and education and with the 8 operation of hospitals and laboratories and from among other
9 persons, agencies, or organizations informed on the need
10 for or provision of medical, dental, nursing, hospital, labora-
11 tory, or related services and benefits. The membership of 12 the Advisory Council shall include (1) medical and other
13 professional representatives, and (2) public representatives,
14 in such proportions as are likely to provide fair representa-
15 tion to the principal interested groups that furnish and 16 receive personal health services, having regard for the 17 functions of the Advisory Council. The Advisory Council
18 shall meet not less frequently than twice a year and when-
19 ever at least four of the members request a meeting. Each
20 appointed member shall hold office for a term of four years,
21 except that any member appointed to fill a vacancy occur-
22 ring prior to the expiration of the term for which his 23 predecessor was appointed shall be appointed for the re-
24 mainder of such term, and the terms of office of the members
25 first taking office shall expire, as designated by the Surgeon

1 General at the time of appointment, four at the end of the 2 first year, four at the end of the second year, four at the
3 end of the third year, and four at the end of the fourth year
4 after the date of appointment. Each appointed member
5 shall receive compensation at a rate not to exceed $25 per 6 day during the time spent in attending meetings of the 7 Advisory Council and for the time devoted to official busi-
8 ness of the Advisory Council under this title, inclusive of 9 travel time; and actual and necessary traveling expenses
10 and per diem in lieu of subsistence, allowable in accordance 11 with the Standardized Government Travel Regulations, while 12 away from his place of residence upon official business under 13 this Act. The Advisory Council, and each of its appointed 14 members, shall be provided by the Surgeon General with 15 such secretarial, clerical or other assistants as the Congress 16 shall authorize and provide each year for carrying out the 17 purposes of this section.

18 (b) The Advisory Council shall advise the Surgeon
19 General with reference to questions of general policy and 20 administration in carrying out the provisions of this title,
21 including—

22 (1) professional standards of quality to apply to 23 personal health service benefits;

24 (2) designation of specialists and consultants;

25 (3) methods and arrangements to stimulate and en-

1 courage the attainment of high standards through
2 coordination of the services of general or family prac-
3 titioners, specialists and consultants, laboratories, and 4 other auxiliary services, and through the coordination of 5 the services of physicians and dentists with those of 6 educational and research institutions, hospitals and public-
7 health centers, and through other useful means;
8 (4) standards to apply to participating hospitals, to 9 the relations or coordination among hospitals, and to the 10 establishment and maintenance of the list of participating
11 hospitals;
12 (5) adequate and suitable methods and arrange-
13 ments of paying for personal health service benefits;
14 (6) studies and surveys of personal health services
15 and of the quality and adequacy of such services; and 16 (7) grants-in-aid for professional education and re-
17 search projects.
18 (c) The Advisory Council shall establish special ad-
19 visory, technical regional, or local committees or com-
20 missions, whose membership may include members of 21 the Advisory Council or other persons or both, to 22 advise upon general or special questions, professional and 23 technical subjects, questions concerning administration, prob-
24 lems affecting regions or localities, and related matters,

1 METHODS AND POLICIES FOR ADMINISTRATION

2 SEC. 205. (a) Any physician, dentist, or nurse legally
3 qualified by a State to furnish any services included as per-
4 sonal health service benefits under this title shall be qualified 5 to furnish such services as benefits under this title (except as 6 otherwise provided in subsection (c) of this section or in 7 subsection (f) of section 214), and this provision shall 8 extend to any group of physicians, dentists, or nurses or 9 combinations thereof whose members are similarly qualified.

10 (b) Every individual entitled to receive general medi-
11 cal or general dental benefit shall be permitted to select,
12 from among those designated in subsection (a) of this 13 section, those from whom he shall receive such benefit,
14 subject to the consent of the practitioner or group of prac-
15 titioners selected, and every such individual and every group
16 of such individuals shall be permitted to make such selection
17 through a representative of his or their own choosing, and 18 to change such selection.

19 (c) Services which shall be deemed to be specialist
20 or consultant services, for the purposes of special rates of 21 payment under this title, shall be those so designated by the 22 Surgeon General, and the practitioners from among those 23 included in subsection (a) of this section who shall be 24 qualified as specialists or consultants and entitled to the

1 special rates of compensation provided for specialists or
2 consultants shall be those so designated by the Surgeon
3 General as qualified to furnish such specialist or consultant
4 services and only with respect to the particular class or 5 classes of specialist or consultant services he shall determine 6 for each such specialist or consultant, in accordance with 7 general standards previously prescribed by him after con-
8 sultation with the Advisory Council. In establishing such 9 standards and in designating such specialists or consultants
10 the Surgeon General shall utilize as far as is consistent
11 with the purposes of this title standards and certifications
12 developed by competent professional agencies and shall take 13 into account the personnel resources and needs of regions
14 and local areas.

15 (d) The services of a specialist or consultant shall ordi-
16 narily be available only upon the advice of the general or 17 family practitioner or of a specialist or consultant attending
18 the individual. The services of specialists and consultants
19 shall also be available when requested by an individual en-
20 titled to specialist and consultant services as benefits and 21 approved by a medical administrative officer appointed by 22 the Surgeon General.

23 (e) The Surgeon General shall publish and otherwise
24 make known in each local area to individuals entitled to

1 benefit under this title the names of medical and dental
2 practitioners and groups of practitioners who have agreed
3 to furnish services as benefits under this title and to make 4 such lists of names readily available to individuals entitled
5 to benefits under this title. Such lists of names shall include
6 general or family practitioners and qualified specialists and 7 consultants, respectively, and with respect to qualified spe-
8 cialists and consultants the class or classes of specialist or 9 consultant services for which each has been qualified.

10 (f) The methods of administration, including the meth-
11 ods of making payments to practitioners, shall—

12 (1) insure the prompt and efficient care of indi-
13 viduals entitled to personal health service benefits;

14 (2) promote personal relationships between physi-
15 cian and patient;

16 (3) provide professional and financial incentives
17 for the professional advancement of practitioners and 18 encourage high standards in the quality of services fur-
19 nished as benefits under this title through the adequacy
20 of payments to practitioners, assistance in their use of 21 opportunities for postgraduate study, coordination among 22 the services furnished by general or family practitioners,
23 specialists and consultants, laboratory, and other auxiliary
24 services, coordination among the services furnished by

1 practitioners, hospitals, public-health centers, educational,
2 research, and other institutions, and between preventive
3 and curative services, and otherwise;
4 (4) aid in the prevention of disease, disability, and 5 premature death; and
6 (5) insure the provision of adequate service with 7 the greatest economy consistent with high standards of 8 quality.
9 (g) Payments from the Account to general medical 10 and family practitioners or to general dental practitioners
11 for services under this part, shall be made—
12 (1) on the basis of fees for services rendered to 13 individuals entitled to benefits, according to a fee
14 schedule;
15 (2) on a per capita basis, the amount being ac-
16 cording to the number of individuals entitled to benefit
17 who are on the practitioner's list;
18 (3) on a salary basis, whole time or part time; or 19 (4) on a combination or modification of these 20 bases, as the Surgeon General may approve;
21 according in each local area as the majority of the general
22 medical and family practitioners or of the general dental prac-
23 titioners, respectively, to be paid for such services shall elect:
24 Provided, That (1) the Surgeon General may also make pay-
25 ments by another method (from among the methods listed

1 in this subsection) to those general medical and family prac-
2 titioners or to those general dental practitioners who do not 3 elect the method of such majority, especially when in the 4 judgment of the Surgeon General such alternative method
5 of making payments contributes to carrying out the provi-
6 sions of subsection (f) of this section; (2) any of the meth-
7 ods of making payments (from among the methods listed in 8 this subsection) may be used, according as the Surgeon Gen-
9 eral may approve, in making payments to groups of prac-
10 titioners that contain designated specialists or consultants as 11 well as general or family practitioners; and (3) nothing in 12 this subsection shall prohibit the Surgeon General from ne-
13 gotiating agreements or cooperative working arrangements
14 to utilize inclusive services of hospitals and their staffs and/or 15 attending staffs, or from entering into contracts for such 16 inclusive services, in accordance with the provisions of sec-
17 tion 203.

18 (h) The methods of making payments from the account
19 to designated specialists and consultants for services under 20 this title, furnished as special medical or special dental bene-
21 fit, may include payments on salary (whole time or part 22 time), per session, fee-for-service, per capita, or other basis, 23 or combinations thereof, as the Surgeon General and the 24 specialists and consultants may agree.

25 (i) Rates or amounts of payment for particular services

1 or classes of services furnished as benefits under this title
2 may be nationally uniform or may be adapted to take account
3 of relevant regional or local conditions and other factors.
4 Payments shall be adequate, especially in terms of annual 5 income or its equivalent and by reference to annual income
6 customarily received among physicians, dentists, or nurses,
7 having regard for age, specialization, and type of community;
8 and payments shall be commensurate with skill, experience,
9 and responsibility involved in furnishing service.
10 (j) In order to maintain high standards in the quality
11 of services furnished as medical or dental benefit, the Surgeon
12 General may prescribe maximum limits to the number of 13 potential beneficiaries for whom a practitioner or group of 14 practitioners may undertake to furnish general medical or 15 general dental benefit, and such limits may be nationally
16 uniform or may be adapted to take account of relevant factors.
17 (k) In any local area where payment for the services
18 of a general or family practitioner is only on a per capita
19 basis, the Surgeon General shall make per capita payments
20 (subject to limits prescribed in accordance with subsection
21 (j) of this section) on a pro rata basis among the practi-
22 tioners and groups of practitioners of the local area on the list
23 established pursuant to subsection (e) of this section with 24 respect to those individuals in the local area who, after due
25 notice, have failed to select a general or family practitioner

1 or who having made one or more successive selections have
2 been refused by the practitioner or practitioners selected.
3 (l) In each local area the provision of general medical 4 or general dental benefit for all individuals entitled to receive 5 such benefit shall be a collective responsibility of all qualified
6 general medical or family practitioners or of all qualified gen-
7 eral dental practitioners, respectively, in the area who have 8 undertaken to furnish such benefit.
9 (m) Home-nursing benefit shall ordinarily be available
10 only upon the advice of a legally qualified attending physi-
11 cian. Home-nursing benefit shall also be available when 12 requested by an individual entitled to this benefit and 13 approved by a medical officer designated by the Surgeon
14 General.

15 PARTICIPATING HOSPITALS

16 SEC. 206. (a) The Surgeon General shall publish a
17 list of institutions which he finds to be participating hospitals,
18 and shall from time to time revise such list to include thereon
19 all institutions which he thereafter finds to be participating 20 hospitals and to withdraw therefrom all institutions which 21 he finds cease to meet the requirements of a participating
22 hospital. Inclusion of an institution upon such list shall,
23 unless and until withdrawn by the Surgeon General, be con-
24 clusive that such institution is a participating hospital for 25 the purpose of this section.

1 (b) The Surgeon General is directed to make findings
2 of fact and decisions as to the status of any institution as a
3 participating hospital in accordance with general standards
4 previously prescribed by him after consultation with the
5 Advisory Council. Any institution which is not included
6 by the Surgeon General in the list of participating hospitals,
7 or having been included thereon has been withdrawn there-
8 from, may file with the Surgeon General a petition to be in-
9 cluded in such list, which petition shall set forth such infor-
10 mation as the Surgeon General may deem necessary to 11 establish that such institution meets the requirements of a
12 participating hospital. Whenever requested by any institu-
13 tion the petition of which has been denied, the Surgeon
14 General shall give such institution reasonable notice and an 15 opportunity for a fair hearing with respect to the decision
16 denying such petition, and, if a hearing is held, shall, on 17 the basis of evidence adduced at the hearing, affirm, modify,
18 or reverse his findings of fact and such decision.
19 (c) The Surgeon General shall exercise no supervision
20 or control over a participating hospital (which is not owned 21 and operated, or leased and operated, by the United States),
22 nor shall any requirement for participation by a hospital
23 or any term or condition of any agreement under this part
24 relating to, or on behalf of, any such hospital prescribe
25 its administration, personnel, or operation.

1 APPEAL; JUDICIAL REVIEW; LIMITATIONS UPON THE
2 POWERS OF THE SURGEON GENERAL

3 SEC. 207. (a) The Surgeon General is hereby au-
4 thorized to establish necessary and sufficient appeal bodies
5 to hear complaints from individuals entitled to bene-
6 fits under this title, from practitioners who have entered 7 into agreement for the provision of services as benefits under 8 this title, and from participating hospitals, and, having 9 regard for the findings, conclusions, and recommendations
10 of such appeal bodies, to take such steps as may be appro-
11 priate and are not contrary to any other provision of this 12 title to remedy the grounds for complaint, if any; and to 13 establish necessary and sufficient appeal bodies to hear and 14 determine disputes among practitioners and/or participating 15 hospitals, and to take such steps as may be appropriate and 16 are not contrary to any other provision of this title to settle
17 such dispute: Provided, That with respect to any complaint
18 or dispute involving matters or questions of professional
19 practice or conduct the hearing body shall contain competent
20 and disinterested professional representation: Provided fur-
21 ther, That with respect to any complaint or dispute involving 22 only matters or questions of professional practice or conduct
23 the hearing body shall consist exclusively of such profes-
24 sional persons.

25 (b) In the administration of subsection (a), the

1 Surgeon General shall, insofar as they are applicable to this
2 title, have all the powers and duties conferred upon the Board
3 by sections 204, 205, and 206 of the Social Security Act,
4 as amended. Such powers and duties shall be subject to the 5 limitations and rights of judicial review contained in section
6 205 of such Act. The provisions of subsections (e) and 7 (f) of section 205 of such Act and the provisions of sections
8 207 and 208 of such Act shall be applicable to this title in 9 the same manner and to the same extent as they are ap-
10 plicable to title II of the Social Security Act, as amended:
11 Provided, That nothing in section 205 (i) of such Act shall 12 prevent the Surgeon General from certifying payments to 13 such individual, agency, office, or institution as the Board
14 or the Surgeon General may prescribe: Provided further,
15 That nothing in section 207 of such Act shall limit the right
16 of any person or the Surgeon General to transfer or assign
17 moneys payable under this title to a participating hospital
18 or to any agency or institution utilized under this title.
19 (c) The Board is directed to make findings of fact
20 and decisions as to the rights of any individual applying for 21 benefits under this title. In carrying out this responsibility
22 the Board shall have all of the powers and duties conferred
23 upon it under title II of the Social Security Act, as amended.
24 Such powers and duties shall be subject to the same limita-
25 tions and rights of judicial review contained in section 205

1 ot such Act. The provisions of subsections (e) and (f)
2 of section 205 of such Act and the provisions of sections
3 207 and 208 of such Act shall be applicable to this title
4 in the same manner and to the same extent as they are 5 applicable to title II of the Social Security Act, as amended.

6 RELATION WITH WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BENEFITS

7 SEC. 208. No individual shall be entitled to any bene-
8 fit under this title with respect to any injury, disease, or 9 disability on account of which any medical, dental, home
10 nursing, laboratory, or hospitalization service is being re-
11 ceived, or upon application therefor would be received,
12 under a workmen's compensation plan of the United States
13 or of any State. In the case of an individual receiving any 14 personal health service with respect to any such injury, dis-
15 ease, or disability, the Surgeon General shall be subrogated
16 to the rights of such individual, against any person, organiza-
17 tion, or agency in connection with such injury, disease, or 18 disability, to the extent of the estimated cost incurred in fur-
19 nishing such service. Reimbursements and recoveries for any 20 such service shall be paid to the Secretary of the Treasury
21 and he shall credit them to the Account.

22 PROVISION OF BENEFITS FOR NEEDY AND OTHER NONIN-
23 SURED PERSONS AND REIMBURSEMENTS FOR SERVICES

24 SEC. 209. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of 25 this title, any or all benefits provided under this title to indi-

1 viduals entitled to such benefits may be furnished to other
2 individuals for any period for which equitable reimbursements
3 to the Account on behalf of such other individuals have been 4 made or for which reasonable assurance of such reimburse-
5 ments has been given by public agencies of the United States,
6 the several States, or any of them or of their political sub-
7 divisions, such reimbursements to be in accordance with 8 agreements and working arrangements negotiated by the 9 Surgeon General with such public agencies and in accordance 10 with contracts into which the Surgeon General may enter.
11 Services furnished as benefits to such other individuals shall,
12 as far as may be practical in each area, be of the same quality,
13 be furnished by the same methods, and be paid for through 14 the same arrangements, as services furnished to individuals
15 entitled to benefits under this title.
16 (b) The provisions of subsection (a) of this section
17 shall extend to groups of persons for whom the Congress
18 of the United States makes provision (including needy per-
19 sons entitled to medical care under part C of title I of this 20 Act) and to moneys appropriated therefor, and to moneys
21 provided for grants to States or for administrative expenses
22 under this Act and other Acts of Congress. The provisions
23 of subsection (a) of this section shall also extend to services
24 furnished with respect to any injury, disease, or disability
25 excluded by section 208 from entitlement to benefit, and

1 reimbursements made in accordance with such provisions
2 of subsection (a) may be in full satisfaction of reimburse-
3 ments or recoveries otherwise required by section 208.

4 LIMITATIONS ON BENEFITS

5 SEC. 210. (a) The Surgeon General may, after con-
6 sultation with the Advisory Council and with the approval
7 of the Administrator, determine for any calendar year or part 8 thereof that every individual entitled to general medical,
9 general dental, or home-nursing benefit may be required by 10 the physician, dentist, or nurse furnishing such benefit to pay
11 a fee with respect to the first service or with respect to each 12 service in a period of sickness or course of treatment. Such 13 determination shall be made only after good and sufficient 14 evidence indicates that such determination is necessary and 15 desirable to prevent or reduce abuses of entitlement to any 16 such benefit, and shall fix the maximum size of such fee at an 17 amount estimated to be sufficient to prevent or reduce abuses
18 and not such as to interpose a substantial financial restraint
19 against proper and needed receipt of medical, dental, or 20 home-nursing benefit. Such determination may also limit
21 the application of such fees to home calls, to office visits,
22 or to both, and may fix the maximum total amount of such 23 fee payments in a period of sickness or course of treatment, 24 and may also provide for differences in the maximum size of 25 such fees or total amount of such fee payments for urban and

1 rural areas and with regard for differences among States or
2 communities. Each such determination shall be withdrawn
3 as rapidly as the Surgeon General finds practical.
4 (b) The Surgeon General, having regard for the ade-
5 quacy of available personnel, may, after consultation with
6 the Advisory Council and with the approval of the Ad-
7 ministrator, determine for any calendar year or part thereof
8 that general dental, special dental, or home-nursing benefit
9 shall have such restricted content as the Surgeon General
10 may determine: Provided, That on and after July 1,
11 1947, the restricted content of general dental or special
12 dental benefit shall include at least (1) examination (in-13 cluding X-ray survey) and diagnosis; (2) prophylaxis:
14 (3) extraction of teeth which are considered by the dentist
15 and an attending physician to be or likely to be injurious to 16 the general health of the individual; and (4) treatment of 17 acute diseases of the teeth, their supporting structures, and 18 adjacent parts, including fractures of the teeth or jaws. With 19 respect to general dental or special dental benefit, such deter-
20 mination may fix an age above which the restriction on con-
21 tent shall apply. With respect to home-nursing benefit, re-
22 striction of content may be effected by limitation of the service
23 to part-time care on an hourly or visit basis, by limitation of 24 the types of cases for which such benefit shall be available,
25 by limitation of the maximum amount of service per case,

1 or otherwise, as may be practical and necessary. Any 2 restriction on the content of general dental, special dental,
3 or home-nursing benefit shall be reduced or withdrawn as
4 rapidly as the Surgeon General finds practical.

5 (c) The maximum number of days in any benefit year
6 for which any individual may be entitled to hospitalization
7 benefit under section 201 or 202 shall be sixty: Provided,
8 however, That when the Surgeon General finds that moneys
9 in the Account are adequate, he may increase the maxi-
10 mum with respect to hospitalization benefit provided under 11 section 201 or section 202, or both, to not more than one
12 hundred and twenty days for the following calendar year.

13 (d) No application by an individual for hospitalization
14 benefits shall be valid under this title (1) with respect to 15 any day of hospitalization if such application is filed more
16 than ninety days after such day; (2) with respect to any 17 day of hospitalization more than thirty days following the 18 diagnosis of tuberculosis or a psychosis; and (3) with re-
19 spect to any day in a hospital or other institution for mental 20 or nervous disease or tuberculosis.

21 (e) The Surgeon General, after consultation with the 22 Advisory Council and with the approval of the Federal Se-
23 curity Administrator, having regard for current and prospec-
24 tive amounts in the Account, may limit for any calendar
25 year or part thereof the cost of laboratory benefit which shall

1 be borne by payments from the Account, and such limita-
2 tion may be with respect to a class of services, supplies, or 3 commodities, with respect to maximum payments per bene-
4 ficiary in a benefit year, with respect to a specified fraction
5 of the cost, or combinations thereof.

6 REPORT CONCERNING DENTAL, NURSING, AND OTHER BEN-
7 EFITS; CARE AND PREVENTION FOR CHRONIC SICKNESS
8 AND MENTAL DISEASES

9 SEC. 211. (a) The Surgeon General and the Social 10 Security Board jointly shall have the duty of studying and 11 making recommendations as to the most effective methods of 12 providing dental, nursing, and other needed benefits not al-
13 ready provided or not currently furnished under this title,
14 and as to expected costs for such needed benefits and the de-
15 sirable division of the costs between (1) the financial re-
16 sources of the Account or other public funds, and (2) pay-
17 ments to be required of beneficiaries receiving such benefits,
18 and shall make reports, with recommendations as to legisla-
19 tion, on such benefits from time to time but not later than 20 two years after the effective date of this title.

21 (b) The Surgeon General and the Social Security
22 Board jointly shall also have the duty of studying and mak-
23 ing recommendations as to needed services and facilities
24 for the care of the chronic sick afflicted with physical ail-
25 ments and for the care of individuals afflicted with mental

1 or nervous diseases, and as to needed provisions for the pre-
2 vention of chronic physical diseases and of mental or nervous
3 diseases, and shall make reports, with recommendations as 4 to legislation, from time to time but not later than three
5 years after the effective date of this title.

6 PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICES ACCOUNT

7 SEC. 212. (a) There is hereby created on the books
8 of the Treasury of the United States a separate account to 9 be known as the "Personal Health Services Account" (in 10 this title, referred to as the "Account"). There is hereby 11 authorized to be appropriated to the account such sums as 12 may be required to finance the benefits, payments, and re-
13 imbursements provided under this title.

14 (b) From such appropriations, the Secretary of the 15 Treasury shall credit quarterly to the Account amounts
16 equivalent to 3 per centum of the wages (as defined in sec-17 tion 217 (a)) paid after June 30, 1946, with respect to 18 employment (as defined in section 217 (b)) after such 19 date.

20 (c) From such appropriations, the Secretary of the 21 Treasury shall credit annually to the Account amounts
22 estimated by the Surgeon General, with respect to the 23 preceding fiscal year, to have been expended for the pay-
24 ment or provision of general dental, special dental, and

1 home-nursing benefits. The Surgeon General shall report
2 to the Congress each year the basis for such estimate.
3 (d) From such appropriations, the Secretary of the 4 Treasury shall credit annually to the Account amounts esti-
5 mated jointly by the Surgeon General and the Social Security
6 Board to have been expended for the payment or provision 7 of benefits, other than general dental, special dental, and 8 home-nursing benefits, provided under section 202 with 9 respect to individuals who became entitled thereto by reason
10 of currently insured status (as defined in section 215) or 11 of fully insured status (as defined in title II of the Social 12 Security Act, as amended) acquired through wages paid
13 prior to January 1, 1946, including (1) the total amount 14 estimated with respect to individuals who acquired such 15 status wholly prior to such date, and (2) an equitable share 16 of the amount estimated with respect to individuals who 17 acquired such status partially prior to such date. The 18 Surgeon General and the Social Security Board shall jointly 19 report to the Congress each year the basis for such estimate.
20 (e) The Secretary of the Treasury shall also credit to 21 the Account reimbursements to the Account made in accord-
22 ance with the provisions of sections 203 and 209.
23 (f) The Secretary of the Treasury is directed to pay
24 from time to time from the Account into the Treasury the 25 amount estimated by him and the Surgeon General which

1 will be expended during a three-month period for the ad-
2 ministration of this title. Such payments shall be covered
3 into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts for the reimburse-
4 ment of expenses incurred in connection with the adminis-
5 tration of this title. If it subsequently appears that the 6 estimates for any particular period were too high or too
7 low, appropriate adjustments shall be made by the Secretary
8 of the Treasury in future payments.

9 (g) The amounts which stand to the credit of the 10 Account shall be available for the payment or provision of 11 benefits and for administrative expenses under this title, and 12 for no other purposes; and the sum of disbursements for the 13 payment or provision of benefits under this title and for 14 the payment of reimbursements to the Treasury for adminis-
15 trative expenses incurred therewith shall not exceed the 16 amounts which stand to the credit of this Account, as specified
17 in this section.

18 GRANTS-IN-AID FOR MEDICAL EDUCATION, RESEARCH,
19 AND PREVENTION OF DISEASE AND DISABILITY

20 SEC. 213. For the purposes of encouraging and aiding
21 the advancement and dissemination of knowledge and skill
22 in providing benefits under this Act and in preventing ill-
23 ness, disability, and premature death, the Surgeon General
24 is hereby authorized and directed to administer grants-in-
25 aid to nonprofit institutions and agencies engaging in research

1 or in undergraduate or postgraduate professional education.
2 Such grants-in-aid shall be made with respect to each proj-
3 ect (1) for which application has been received from a
4 nonprofit institution or agency, stating the nature of the 5 project and giving the reasons for the need of financial 6 assistance in carrying it out, and (2) for which the Sur-
7 geon General finds, with the advice of the Council established
8 under section 204 and after consultation with other Federal 9 departments and agencies concerned with research or pro-
10 fessional education, that the project shows promise of mak-
11 ing valuable contributions to the education or training of 12 persons useful to or needed in the furnishing of medical,
13 dental, nursing, hospital, laboratory, and related benefits
14 provided under this title, or to human knowledge with 15 respect to the cause, prevention, mitigation, or methods
16 of diagnosis and treatment of disease and disability. During 17 the five-year period beginning January 1, 1946, the Sur-
18 geon General and the Advisory Council shall give preference 19 and priority to grants-in-aid with respect to projects to 20 aid servicemen (as defined in section 217 (g)) seeking post-
21 graduate education as medical or dental practitioners or 22 training for administration of personal health services, dis-
23 ability benefits, rehabilitation services, and related services.
24 For the purposes of this subsection there shall be available 25 for the calendar year 1946 the sum of $10,000,000, for

1 the calendar year 1947 the sum of $15,000,000, and for
2 each calendar year thereafter an amount equal to 2 per 3 centum of the amount expended for benefits under this
4 title in the last preceding fiscal year. Such grants-in-aid, 5 in such amounts and for payment at such times as are 6 approved by the Surgeon General, shall be certified for 7 payment to the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall pay
8 them from the Account to the designated institutions or 9 agencies.

10 DEFINITIONS

11 SEC. 214. As used in this title—

12 (a) The term "personal health service benefits" in-
13 cludes general medical benefit, special medical benefit, gen-
14 eral dental benefit, special dental benefit, home-nursing bene-
15 fit, laboratory benefit, and hospitalization benefit.

16 (b) The term "general medical benefit" means services
17 furnished by a legally qualified physician or by a group of 18 such physicians, including all necessary services such as can 19 be furnished by a physician engaged in the general or family
20 practice of medicine, at the office, home, hospital, or else-
21 where, including preventive, diagnostic and therapeutic treat-
22 ment and care, and periodic physical examination.

23 (c) The term "special medical benefit" means neces-
24 sary services, requiring special skill or experience, furnished
25 at the office, home, hospital, or elsewhere by a legally quali-

1 fied physician who is a specialist or consultant with respect
2 to the class of service furnished, by a group of such physi-
3 cians, or by a group of physicians including such specialists
4 or consultants.

5 (d) The term "general dental benefit" means services
6 furnished by a legally qualified dentist or by a group of 7 such dentists, including all necessary dental services such as 8 can be furnished by a dentist engaged in the general practice
9 of dentistry (with or without the aid of an assistant or 10 hygienist under his direction) and including preventive, 11 diagnostic and therapeutic treatment, care and advice, and 12 periodic examination.

13 (e) The term "special dental benefit" means necessary
14 services, requiring special skill or experience, furnished at the 15 office, hospital, or elsewhere by a legally qualified dentist
16 (with or without the aid of an assistant, a hygienist, or 17 anesthetist under his direction) who is a specialist or con-
18 sultant with respect to the class of service furnished, by a
19 group of such dentists, or by a group of dentists, including 20 such specialist or consultants.

21 (f) The term "home-nursing benefit" means nursing
22 care of the sick furnished in the home by (1) a registered
23 professional nurse; or (2) a practical nurse who is legally
24 qualified by a State or, in the absence of State standards or 25 requirements, who is qualified with respect to standards estab-

1 lished by the Surgeon General after consultation with the
2 Advisory Council and with competent professional nursing
3 agencies, and who furnishes nursing care under the direction
4 or supervision of the State health agency, the health agency
5 of a political subdivision of a State, or an organization supply-6 ing and supervising the services of registered professional 7 nurses.

8 (g) The term "laboratory benefit" means such neces-
9 sary laboratory or related services, supplies, or commodities
10 as the Surgeon General may determine, including chemical,
11 bacteriological, pathological, diagnostic and therapeutic
12 X-ray, and related laboratory services, refractions, and other
13 ophthalmic services furnished by a legally qualified prac-
14 titioner other than a physician, physiotherapy, special appli-
15 ances prescribed by a physician, and eyeglasses prescribed by 16 a physician or other legally qualified practitioner: Provided,
17 That when any such services, supplies, or commodities are 18 provided to a hospitalized patient, or are provided by a
19 physician or dentist incidental to services furnished under 20 subsections (b), (c), (d), and (e) of this section, pay-
21 ment for such services, supplies, or commodities shall be
22 included in payments for hospitalization or for services
23 furnished under such subsections, respectively, as otherwise
24 provided in this title.

25 (h) The term "hospitalization benefit" means an

1 amount, as determined by the Surgeon General after con-
2 sultation with the Advisory Council: Not less than $3 and
3 not more than $7 for each day of hospitalization, not in 4 excess of thirty days, which an individual has had in a
5 period of hospitalization; and not less than $1.50 and not 6 more than $4.50 for each day of hospitalization in excess of 7 thirty in a period of hospitalization; and not less than $1.50
8 and not more than $3.50 for each day of care in an institution
9 for the care of the chronic sick. In lieu of such compensation,
10 the Surgeon General may enter into contracts with par-
11 ticipating hospitals for the payment of the reasonable cost
12 of hospital service at rates for each day of hospitalization
13 neither less than the minimum nor more than the maximum
14 applicable rates specified in this subsection, such payment
15 to be full reimbursement for the cost of essential hospital
16 services, including the use of ward or other least expensive
17 facilities compatible with the proper care of the patient:
18 Provided, That such payment may be included in a contract,
19 between the Surgeon General and a participating hospital,
20 for inclusive services of a participating hospital and its 21 staff and/or its attending staff, as provided in sections 203
22 and 205: Provided further, That such payment shall not 23 affect the right of participating hospitals to require pay-
24 ments from patients with respect to the additional cost of 25 more expensive facilities furnished for lack of ward facilities

1 or occupied at the request of the patient, or with respect to
2 services not included within a contract.
3 (i) The term "period of hospitalization" means a pe-
4 riod of one or more consecutive days of hospitalization.
5 (j) The term "day of hospitalization" means any day
6 for the whole of which an individual has been confined in a
7 participating hospital on the advice of a legally qualified
8 physician for the purpose of receiving necessary hospital
9 service: Provided, That, with respect to a day in which an 10 individual is admitted to or discharged from a hospital, such 11 term may, in accordance with regulations to be prescribed
12 by the Surgeon General, include a period of time of less
13 than a whole day.
14 (k) The term "participating hospital" means an insti-
15 tution providing all necessary and customary hospital serv-
16 ices, and found by the Surgeon General to afford professional 17 service, personnel, and equipment adequate to promote the 18 health and safety of individuals customarily hospitalized in 19 such institution and to have procedures for the making of 20 such reports and certifications as the Surgeon General may 21 from time to time require, to assure that hospitalization ben-
22 efit will be provided only to or on behalf of individuals en-
23 titled thereto: Provided, That with respect to inclusion in 24 the list of participating hospitals the Surgeon General may 25 accredit a hospital for limited varieties of cases and may

1 accredit an institution for the care of the chronic sick, taking 2 into account for the purpose of such limited accrediting, the 3 type and size of community which the institution serves,
4 the availability of other hospital facilities, and such other
5 matters as the Surgeon General may deem relevant.

6 (l) The term "dependent" means an unmarried child
7 (including a stepchild, adopted or foster child) of an in-
8 dividual, who is under the age of eighteen, or who is under 9 a disability which has continued for a period of not less than 10 six consecutive calendar months and is living with such 11 individual or receiving regular support from him; a wife of an 12 individual living with such individual or receiving regular 13 support from him; a husband who is under a disability which 14 has continued for a period of not less than six consecutive 15 calendar months, and is living with or receiving regular and 16 substantial support from such individual; and a parent who 17 is living with or receiving regular and substantial support
18 from such individual.

19 ELIGIBILITY

20 SEC. 215. (a) An individual shall be deemed to be 21 currently insured under this title if he (1) had during his 22 eligibility period been paid wages of not less than $150, or 23 (2) acquired not less than six quarters of coverage during 24 the first twelve of the last fourteen completed calendar quar-
25 ters immediately preceding the first day of a benefit year,

1 not counting among such completed quarters any quarter
2 in any part of which the individual was under a disability
3 which lasted six consecutive months or more.

4 (b) The term "eligibility period" means the first four
5 of the last six completed calendar quarters immediately pre-
6 ceding the first day of a benefit year.

7 (c) As used in this title, the term "quarter" and the 8 term "calendar quarter" mean a period of three calendar
9 months ending on March 31, June 30, September 30, or 10 December 31; and the term "quarter of coverage" means a 11 calendar quarter in which the individual has been paid not 12 less than $50 in wages. In any case where an individual 13 has been paid prior to 1946 in a calendar year $3,000 or 14 more in wages, or after 1945 in a calendar year $3,600
15 or more in wages, each quarter of such year following 16 his first quarter of coverage shall be deemed a quarter of 17 coverage. In any case where wages have been paid
18 pursuant to a ruling based on the National Labor Relations
19 Act or a labor relations act of any State, or under a compro-
20 mise settlement resulting from a dispute within the jurisdic-
21 tion of any such Act, such wages shall be deemed to have 22 been paid on the employer's normal dates of payment of 23 wages earned in the periods to which such wages apply.

24 (d) The term "benefit year" means a period of four
25 consecutive calendar quarters, as determined by the Board.

1 EFFECTIVE DATE

2 SEC. 216. The benefits provided under this title shall 3 become effective beginning April 1, 1947.

4 COVERAGE PROVISIONS AND DEFINITIONS

5 SEC. 217. When used in this title—

6 (a) The term "wages" means all remuneration for 7 employment, including the cash value of all remuneration
8 paid in any medium other than cash, and the sum paid to 9 an individual pursuant to an order based on the National 10 Labor Relations Act, or the labor relations act of any State
11 or under a compromise settlement resulting from a dispute
12 within the jurisdiction of any such Act, which sum if it
13 had been paid for services rendered during the period for 14 which reinstatement has been ordered would have con-
15 stituted remuneration for employment; except that such 16 term shall not include—

17 (1) That part of the remuneration which, after 18 remuneration equal to $3,600 has been paid to an 19 individual during any calendar year after 1945, is paid
20 to such individual during such calendar year;

21 (2) The amount of any payment made to, or on 22 behalf of, an employee under a plan or system estab-
23 lished by an employer which makes provision for his 24 employees generally or for a class or classes of his em-
25 ployees (including any amount paid by an employer

1 for insurance or annuities, or into a fund, to provide for
2 any such payment), on account of (A) retirement, or
3 (B) sickness or accident disability, or (C) medical and 4 hospitalization expenses in connection with sickness or
5 accident disability, or (D) death, provided the employee
6 (i) has not the option to receive, instead of provision for 7 such death benefit, any part of such payment or, if such 8 death benefit is insured, any part of the premiums (or 9 contributions to premiums) paid by his employer, and 10 (ii) has not the right, under the provisions of the plan
11 or system or policy of insurance providing for such 12 death benefit, to assign such benefit, or to receive a cash
13 consideration in lieu of such benefit either upon his with-
14 drawal from the plan or system providing for such 15 benefit or upon termination of such plan or system or 16 policy of insurance or of his employment with such 17 employer;
18 (3) The payment by an employer (without de-19 ductions from the remuneration of the employee) of any 20 social-insurance contributions imposed upon an employee;
21 (4) The value of services exchanged for other 22 services for which there is no payment other than the 23 exchange.
24 (b) The term "employment" means any service of what-
25 ever nature, performed after June 30, 1946, by an employee

1 for the person employing him, irrespective of the citizenship
2 or residence of either, (A) within the United States, (B)
3 under a contract of service which is entered into within the 4 United States, or (C) in connection with an American vessel
5 or civil aircraft during the performance of which the vessel
6 touches at a port in the United States, if the employee is 7 employed on and in connection with such vessel when out-
8 side the United States, except—

9 (1) Casual labor not in the course of the em-
10 ployer's trade or business;

11 (2) Service performed on or in connection with a 12 vessel not an American vessel by an employee, if the 13 employee is employed on and in connection with such 14 vessel when outside the United States;

15 (3) Service performed in the employ of the United 16 States Government, or of an instrumentality of the United 17 States which is wholly owned by the United States:
18 Provided, That service performed in the employ of the 19 Tennessee Valley Authority on an hourly basis shall 20 not come within this exception;

21 (4) Service performed in the employ of a State
22 or any political subdivision thereof, or any instru-
23 mentality of any one or more of the foregoing which is 24 wholly owned by one or more States or political sub-25 divisions;

1 (5) Service performed by a duly ordained or duly
2 commissioned or licensed minister of any church in the 3 regular exercise of his ministry and service performed
4 by regular members of religious orders in the exercise
5 of duties required by such orders;

6 (6) Service performed by an individual as an
7 employee or employee representative as defined in sec-
8 tion 1532 of the Internal Revenue Code;

9 (7) Service performed in any calendar quarter
10 in the employ of any organization exempt from income
11 tax under section 101 of the Internal Revenue Code; if—

12 (A) the remuneration for such service does
13 not exceed $45; or

14 (B) such service is in connection with the 15 collection of dues or premiums for a fraternal bene-
16 ficiary society, order, or association, and is per-
17 formed away from the home office or is ritualistic
18 service in connection with any such society, order,
19 or association; or

20 (C) such service is performed by a student
21 who is enrolled and is regularly attending classes
22 at a school, college, or university;

23 (8) Service performed in the employ of a foreign 24 government (including service as a consular or other 25 officer or employee or a nondiplomatic representative);

1 (9) Service performed in the employ of an in-
2 strumentality wholly owned by a foreign government—
3 (A) If the service is of a character similar
4 to that performed in foreign countries by employees
5 of the United States Government or of an instru
6 mentality thereof; and
7 (B) If the Secretary of State shall certify to 8 the Board that the foreign government, with re-
9 spect to whose instrumentality and employees
10 thereof exemption is claimed, grants an equivalent
11 exemption with respect to similar service performed
12 in the foreign country by employees of the United
13 States Government and of instrumentalities thereof.
14 (c) For the purposes of this title, the term "em-
15 ployment" and the term "remuneration" includes the serv-
16 ices of a self-employed individual.
17 (d) If the services performed during one-half or more
18 of any pay period by an employee for the person employing 19 him constitute employment, all the services of such employee
20 for such period shall be deemed to be employment; but if 21 the services performed during more than one-half of any 22 such pay period by an employee for the person employing 23 him do not constitute employment, then none of the services
24 of such employee for such period shall be deemed to be 25 employment. As used in this subsection, the term "pay

1 period" means a period (of not more than thirty-one con-
2 secutive days) for which a payment of remuneration is 3 ordinarily made to the employee by the person employing
4 him. This subsection shall not be applicable with respect
5 to services performed in a pay period by an employee for 6 the person employing him, where any of such service is 7 excepted by paragraph (6) of subsection (b).

8 (e) The term "employee" includes (in addition to any 9 individual who is a servant under the law of master and 10 servant) any individual who performs service, of whatever 11 nature, for a person, unless the service is performed by the 12 individual in pursuit of his own independently established
13 business. The term "employee" also includes an officer of a 14 corporation.

15 (f) The term "American vessel" means any vessel doc-
16 umented or numbered under the laws of the United States;
17 and includes any vessel which is neither documented nor 18 numbered under the laws of the United States nor docu-
19 mented under the laws of any foreign country, if its crew
20 is employed solely by one or more citizens or residents of 21 the United States or corporations organized under the laws
22 of the United States or of any State.

23 (g) The term "serviceman" means a man or woman who 24 has performed active military or naval service in the Army
25 or Navy of the United States, the United States Marine

1 Corps, or the United States Coast Guard, or in any com-
2 ponent part of any of the foregoing, after September 7, 1939.
3 (h) The term "State" includes Alaska, Hawaii, and
4 the District of Columbia.

5 TITLE III—GENERAL PROVISIONS

6 SEPARABILITY

7 SEC. 301. If any provision of this Act, or the applica-
8 tion thereof to any person or circumstance, is held invalid
9 the remainder of the Act and the application of such provision
10 to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected
11 thereby.

Socialized Medicine, an Insidious Threat to Our Form of Government

HON. CHARLES A. PLUMLEY

OF VERMONT

Friday, November 16, 1945

Mr. PLUMLEY. Mr. Speaker, under unanimous consent, I am including an address I made this afternoon on Socialized Medicine, an Insidious Threat to Our Form of Government, before the Montgomery County Republican Women's Club, the Republican Women's Council of Arlington, and the Fairfax County Republican Women's Club, at the Broadmoor, in the District of Columbia:

Madam President, the National Resources Planning Board once upon a time said that the Federal Government should stimulate, assist, or undertake to provide adequate medical care for the millions of our people whose need cannot be fully met from their own resources. A glorious appeal. That is generalized paternalism raised to the *n*th degree, under cover of humanitarianism, impossible of realization in a democratic republic where free enterprise and individualism are measures of our ability to maintain a democracy.

That is what the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill under the cover of its alleged beneficent cloak undertakes to do for everybody—deserving or not. It is revolutionary.

Federal aid for medical care and socialized, federalized medicine are no more alike than a cat and a skunk. They may look alike, yet one is apt to regret it if he takes a skunk to his bosom thinking it is a cat.

Congress is now appropriating nearly 200 million dollars a year to assist the States in developing their own health and medical services. We provide Federal aid for maternal and child health, for services to crippled children, and for the prevention and control of tuberculosis, venereal diseases, and mental disease. Congress wishes to see States and localities develop their own health programs. Congress will aid them financially. But so far Congress has shown no desire to take the job away from the States by federalizing medicine. When the States do the job they lay down the rules; when the Federal Government does the job some official in Washington writes the rules and regulations.

I have no objection to using Federal funds to help the States provide medical care for persons with low incomes. But I do object to creating an enormous Federal insurance fund to be controlled by three Government officials, as is proposed in the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill, and to paying all the physicians in the country from that fund. I do not want to compel every physician to choose between being a Federal insurance practitioner or going out of business. And I do not want to compel every worker to pay an additional 1½ percent social security tax as well as a higher income tax to buy medical care furnished under conditions that would be intolerable for free, independent Americans.

Moreover, the Ways and Means Committee of the House agrees that the average wage earner cannot and will not tolerate a pay roll tax deduction of more than 2 percent for social security. The Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill proposal for socialized medicine contemplates an all-over tax of 8 percent, 4 for worker and 4 for employer. That is one reason why the bill in question will not become law.

What the women of this country should understand is that if this bill becomes a law their lives are put under the control of the Surgeon General of the United States. Whether or not their unborn children shall live is put at a hazard for that they, the pregnant mothers, cannot be assured of any right to choose their doctor, or their hospital. These matters will be handled from Washington.

If only the real Americans among the women would realize what is being attempted to be done to them under the cover of something-for-nothing, there would be a revolution. And what a revolution!

Socialized medicine is the beginning of the end of this republican democracy, and no sane woman should be for it who loves her family and her country. She should be for a better public health, help from the Federal Government where the State cannot supply necessary aid, more hospitals, and so forth, but she should not yield up the control of her life to those who are really trying to take over this Government under the subterfuge of humanitarianism.

Behind this alleged humanitarian program of so-called planned economy is to be found the basis and thesis for a planned and socialized America. It undertakes insidiously the establishment of universal medical service for everybody for nothing.

Next will come the socialization of dentists, lawyers, undertakers, perhaps, and everybody else.

It is a proposal to establish a form of socialism, a socialistic movement as unadulterated as if it came from the sanctified pen of Karl Marx himself. It will not work out in a democratic republic.

If you are one of those intent upon changing the form of this Government, you will join the demagogs and Socialists and opportunists in their support of this measure which will destroy democracy—and it is so intended to do by the technique of infiltration—and by fooling the people into thinking they are getting something for nothing as against a bill of expense of $12,000,000,000 annually, which the taxpayer has to pay. Otherwise you should oppose the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill, to save yourself from regimentation, and the country from the socialistic, demagogic-minded opportunists who are glad to live in the country so long as they can live off it—that is, off those who make it possible by hard work for them to loaf and strike.

It is high time to call a spade a spade. It is time for us who are definitely for our form of government to say so before we are sacrificed on the altar of socialism and demagogery and opportunism.

This so-called diaper-to-the-shroud bill undertakes to throw the mantle of its alleged security over everybody gainfully employed and most of their dependents at the expense of the Federal Government and under its control. But do not forget that it is the people who pay these bills.

It is undertaking by compulsion to establish a Nation-wide health program to provide alleged free medical, surgical, obstetrical, diagnostic, and hospital service to everybody, but the bill does not do it, despite its attempt to make the people think so, and in so doing to regiment the people

Every gainfully employed American would be compelled to pay a tax of 4 percent of his or her wages up to $3,600 a year to support this program. An additional 4 percent on pay rolls would be collected from employers. It is estimated that these taxes would take from the pockets of the American people at least $12,000,000,000 a year of which one-fourth would be allocated to the program for medical care and hospitalization. This is about the amount the Nation is estimated to have spent annually on such services before the war. But now the public is being asked to pay this money to the Government instead of to the doctors and hospitals. In addition, the public will have to pay the salaries of thousands of administrators, clerks, lawyers, statisticians, and investigators required to police the sickness insurance scheme. All this money for administration will be a new charge on the taxpayers. It will not be spent for medical care, but will be squandered on the salaries of Government insurance officials. These will constitute a Nation-wide bureaucratic network radiating from Washington into more than 150,000 counties, townships, municipalities, and school districts.

You must realize that the 3-billion dollar health fund, large as it is, will not be enough to pay for all the promised benefits. Expenditures for medical and hosiptal insurance services may easily cost from 5 billion dollars to 6 billion dollars a year for a population of 140 million persons. On top of that will be another billion dollars for public-health services, the construction of hospitals and health centers, and the care of the insane. Administrative costs are in addition to all expenditures for benefits.

This three billion in taxes to be collected annually toward the cost of the health program is an amount nearly equal to the average revenue of the Federal Government from all sources during the 10 immediate years of the New Deal. When were you born?

But the social-security taxes are not all you will have to pay. Large as they are they will not be sufficient to pay for all these so-called free services. There will be large deficits to be made up from general revenues. That means higher State and Federal income taxes and higher real-estate taxes. Once the whole national insurance scheme planned in the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill really gets into operation, it is estimated that about 18 percent of pay rolls will be required to finance it.

The bill undertakes to establish the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service as a medical dictator, a czar of medicine for the entire United States, in disregard of all the reserved rights of the States, or existing conditions. Under the terms of the act he would hire all the doctors, fix their fees, determine their qualifications, and in short would say who could, and who could not practice medicine.

Wouldn't your grandmother rear in her chair at such a proposition? That old lady passing by would make small potatoes of such a mess.

This administrator could go further than that—for under this act he could tell you what doctor you should hire—great God; to what hospital you might go—worse yet; and what hospitals could operate, and at what price—the last straw.

He could allocate patients to such doctors as he chose; determine the number of patients a doctor might serve and a hundred other things. In short the rights of the people, of the doctors, of the hospitals would be at an end. Are you going to submit to such a program of regimentation?

Now, freedom of research and practice in the United States has brought the American people to the world's most advanced position in medical science. The history of American medicine is a consistent record of extended and expanded service, scientific achievement, and acknowledged social responsibility. These priceless national assets were not attained under a system of government control or compulsion. They were the direct result of individual initiative, of ambition, of vision, of courage, of study, of research and toil. Such blessings could come only to a people who cherished and still cling to the ideals of freedom of speech, freedom of worship, and freedom of opportunity.

Are we gone stark mad? I think not all of us anyway. For an overwhelming majority of the people are opposed to the suggested Federal system of compulsory medical supervision and control which is contemplated by the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill. They still wish to be free. To have that freedom of thought, word, and deed which our forefathers valued above all else and fought, died, and bled to establish. They will be free!

The American people understand; they believe in our effective system of personalized medical care. They have confidence in their doctors. They demand the right of free choice of physician. They are opposed to Federal control of and interference with their lives by directing the care of their bodies, their general health, and care at the birth of their children.

The American Bar Association has declared: "The Constitution of the United States is designed to protect the citizens of this Republic in the exercise of the rights of freemen.

"The provisions of that instrument can be rendered impotent when our citizens for the sake of an apparent immediate benefit surrender to their Government such direct control over their lives that Government, by imposing a constant fear on them of having these benefits withheld and withdrawn can compel from them obedience and subservience to its dictates."

That is well said, and the peril suggested is found in the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill in full measure, heaped up and running over.

"Those who promote this bill," says Dr. Morris Fishbein, "avoided as if it were a plague the word 'compulsory.' They do not use it anywhere. In fact, they insist that everyone will have freedom of choice of a doctor and that doctors will have complete freedom of choice of patients."

Now, I ask you, if the Federal Government regulates the provision of medical service through the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service under a system to which everybody must contribute; if it regulates the fees which doctors are to receive provided they are permitted to participate in the system; if it regulates those who are to be consultants, and determines if and when they shall be consulted, I ask you, I say, Why do they try to dodge the truth of the statement that the act is compulsory and does regiment the people as a herd of cattle would be regimented if driven into a corral to be vaccinated against Bang's disease?

The modified bill which we are considering today is a measure which undertakes to establish a compulsory system of medical care to be administered by the Federal Government and controlled through funds which are held in the hands of the Federal Government. Its purpose is to provide for socialized medicine under the complete control of the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, and that is what we who are opposed to the socialization of America have to fight.

It is no easy task imposed—to meet, to fight, and to answer the powerful minorities which are out for all they can get. It is popular to be for everything they ask, to submit to and to endorse their demands that they shall have a chance to live off the rest of us. That is one way to get votes.

It may take intestinal fortitude to fight against those who for their own selfish ends would do almost anything to accomplish them. The time has come, however, when we who love liberty as our forefathers knew it must put it and the right to enjoy it in a democratic republic, against all these socialistic-CIO communistic theories of government, which can but lead to the destruction of this greatest experiment in political history, the United States of America. It is worth all it costs so far as individuals are concerned, to stand for the maintenance and continuance of our form of government.

In order that my position may be made plain, let me say that I am opposed to the Murray-Wagner-Dingell bill to socialize the United States and to establish serfdom in this country. Every time we move one step toward giving up the rights reserved by the States and to and by the people of the several States to run their own business; every time we pat on the back those people who think this is a good Government to live in, so long as they can live off it; every time we surrender any of our rights we sacrifice our future and go a long way toward a totalitarian form of government. That is an easy way to travel. "Broad is the way that leadeth to destruction."

I was interested to learn that the International Labour Office in a recent volume entitled "Approaches to Social Security," has this to say:

"The fact is that once the whole employed population, wives and children included, is brought within the scope of compulsory sickness insurance, the great majority of doctors, dentists, nurses, and hospitals find themselves engaged in the insurance-medical service, which squeezes out most of the private practice on the one hand, and most of the medical care hitherto given by the public assistance authorities, on the other. The next step to a single national medical service is a short one."

Note that well. The International Labour Office itself points out clearly that a comprehensive compulsory sickness insurance scheme (of the type proposed in the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill) leads inevitably to a "single national medical service."

The American people simply do not have the faintest idea of what is being planned in connection with the socialization of medicine. According to publicity releases that have been widely circulated, the public has been led to believe that by paying an additional social-security tax of 1½ percent of wages or salary (to be matched equally by the employer), all workers, including the self-employed, will in future be relieved of all expenses for medical care, hospitalization, and related services. Mr. John Q. Public is encouraged to believe that there will be no change in the relationship between himself and the physician of his choice. When he is ill, he is told, he will call his family physician who will see him through a long illness just as at present, the only difference being that no bill will be rendered for services. It sounds beautifully simple and most alluring. But that is not the way sickness insurance works.

To begin with, you may quite likely have to give up your family physician no matter how much you are attached to him. There are those who argue that you do not show good sense in picking your physician; you pick him for nonscientific reasons—because you like his personality, have confidence in him, and feel an emotional or psychological rapport with him. Supporters of socialized medicine claim that those are not good reasons, that you can get along as well with a physician whom you dislike intensely but who may have great professional competence which you are unable to appreciate. In any event, under sickness insurance, you will be expected to choose a doctor in your district who is among the group of those who have signed up with the Government. If your family physician has refused to sign up, you may not have his services unless you are prepared to pay for them yourself in addition to paying your social security tax of 1½ percent for insurance medical care which you may not want. Let us assume, for a moment, that your family physician has agreed to join the system. That is lucky for you, but if you move to another part of town you are expected to change physicians as you change apartments and grocers. You may have had the best baby doctor in the world in your estimation. If you should move out of his insurance district you would have to give him up.

There are administrative reasons for such restrictions. If all medical services throughout this vast Nation are to be distributed and paid for according to rules and regulations drafted in Washington, it is obvious that physicians and patients would have to be identified in Government records. Every change of address of every person in the country would become a matter of official record. Every physician would be registered either directly in Washington or in a regional insurance office. The names of all patients on his list would be similarly recorded and counted for the purpose of seeing that physicians received payment for services and that no recalcitrant person escaped inclusion in the system. Thus, if a capitation system of payment were generally adopted in this country, every insured person would be compelled to sign up with one of the insurance doctors in his area whether or not he wished to. This would be required by law, and if an insured person failed to select a doctor from the panel which might, for instance, be displayed in the nearest post office, he would be assigned arbitrarily to some physician whose list was not full.

I cannot stress too strongly how complete is the control over the individual under Government sickness insurance. Those of you who have small children will not be able to consult a pediatrician unless the general practitioner in the insurance system gives his consent. If a member of your family breaks his leg you cannot rush him to a specialist in fractures unless your regular insurance doctor gives an official authorization. You will not even be able to get X-rays taken without the consent of the insurance doctor. Remember this: such limited freedom of choice as you will have will be confined to the selection you make when you enter the insurance system; you will have no freedom of choice at the time of sickness. If you have selected an insurance practitioner and decide you would prefer to have a physician who is practicing with a group of doctors, it may take 6 months to change your arrangements if we may judge from foreign experience.

Of course, you know as well as I that you are not very much concerned about freedom of choice when you are well, but that is the only kind of freedom you get under sickness insurance. The time you want freedom to get the best medical care you can obtain and to call in a specialist if you want one is when you or a member of your family is ill. And if you are not satisfied with results you want to be able to act fast. You cannot wait to fill out interminable Government forms and you cannot wait for a Government O.K. when quick action may be a matter of life or death for you or for your husband, or child, or mother, or father.

After you pick a doctor, you have no assurance that you will have the same one every time. You must realize that you will be expected to go to health centers, public clinics, dispensaries, and out-patient departments for many free municipal services in order to save the insurance funds. At a health center all you can count on is some insurance doctor to take care of you and your family.

You have no assurance that home visits will be free of charge because under the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill you may be compelled to pay for the first home visit, or for the first two visits, or for all home visits in addition to paying your social security and income taxes for insurance benefits.

I cannot begin in the short time at my disposal to enter into a discussion of the myriad regulations that would affect your every move under a compulsory sickness insurance scheme. Perhaps you can gain some faint idea as to the amount of regulation imposed on patients and physicians when I tell you that the ordinary office manual which the British physician has to master to be sure he is carrying out Government regulations is over 350 pages in length [1] while the book setting forth the British National Health Insurance Acts of 1936–38, together with the statutory rules and the decisions of the Minister of Health, is nearly 1,300 pages long.[2]

In order to assure that these multitudinous governmental rules and regulations are carried out, experience has shown that there must be an insurance system employee, outside the field of actual delivery of medical service, for at least every 100 insured persons.[3] Think what that would mean in this country. There would be approximately 1,500,000 Federal, State, and local employees to police the sickness insurance system, to check on physicians and patients, to investigate and report on infringements, real or imaginary, of the rules and regulations emanating from Washington. The point has been well made that "compulsory sickness insurance changes so many relationships in such a permanent fashion that its enactment is not an experiment." There is a terrible finality about compulsory insurance legislation. Once it is enacted, once the administrative machinery is set in motion, once the taxes are collected by the Government and control is handed over to the Government, there is no escape. Not one of the more than 30 countries that have enacted such legislation has ever succeeded in throwing it off, however unsatisfactory the results have proved.

I urge you, therefore, to make it your business to find out what restrictions are inherent in this type of medical practice. I hope you will go further. Organize discussion groups. Get at the facts and spread the information to your clubs, to parents and teachers associations, and to other civic organizations. Be informed, be on guard, and take appropriate action if you do not want to have the private practice of medicine destroyed in this country, and if you do not want to become the slaves of government.

It is also important for you to realize that this movement for the socialization of medicine is part of a world-wide scheme sponsored by political groups working through the International Labour Office.[4] Where did the idea originate? In Germany. In 1883 Bismarck forced on the German people the first compulsory sickness insurance legislation. It applied only to the 10 percent of the population in the lowest income group. Bismarck had two objectives: To pacify the Socialists who were becoming too powerful and to ease the financial burden on local communities which were compelled to support the sick poor, and furnish free medical care through poor relief. Bismarck hit on the plan of making the workers at the bottom of the income scale pay a small tax into a social insurance fund in which, thereby, they would have a vested interest. Their employers were compelled to pay half as much as the workers. There was no government subsidy. After 50 years the financing arrangements were changed and employers and employees have shared the costs of the sickness insurance scheme equally since 1934. In time coverage was expanded to two-thirds of the population. Both cash and medical benefits were provided to workers and their dependents when ill. More than 30 countries have followed in Germany's footsteps.

The law as originally passed in New Zealand in 1938 arranged for a panel system with capitation payment similar to the British scheme. The majority of physicians simply refused to sign up for insurance practice and consequently the program could not be put into operation. The government then proposed to let physicians elect a fee-for-service basis of payment if they so wished. As a result, both methods of payment have been operating side by side with resultant confusion and administrative chaos. These are the methods of payment which have been proposed in the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill. If the plan has resulted in signal failure in a small, homogeneous country like New Zealand, have we any reason to believe it would work in the United States?

The difficulties which have been encountered in the countries which have instituted comprehensive national systems for the provision of medical care should give us pause. We have more physicians per thousand of population than any other country in the world; our hospitals and clinics serve as models to be copied abroad; our death rates and sickness rates are in the main better than in the countries which have compulsory sickness insurance. Why should we wish to destroy the very characteristics of our health and medical services which have made them the envy of other countries? Why should we seek to level our services downward instead of building up and improving them by correcting the weak spots in our present distribution of health facilities and services?

We may well ask, why is it that there has been such a consistent effort in this country during the past 10 years to foist upon us a system of medical practice which has not been successful elsewhere and which has caused a great increase in bureaucratic controls as well as a large financial outlay for services which are mediocre? A considerable part of this agitation is due to the tremendous possibilities for centralization of power and funds. Sickness-insurance legislation the world over has been peculiarly susceptible to political manipulation. In many countries it has been the entering wedge for social-insurance legislation and subsequent general socialization of industry, banks, communications, and so on. Certain groups and individuals have fostered this type of legislation because it attracted the labor vote and could at the same time be sold to many politicians as a clever device for raising revenues. Remember that Bismarck, as Chancelor, was in search of revenues when he gave Germany sickness insurance in 1883; Lloyd George, Chancelor of the Exchequer, was faced with a large national deficit when, almost singlehanded, he forced through the British National Insurance Act in 1911; and Walter Nash, as Minister of Finance, had his thoughts on sources of revenue when, in 1938, he engineered enactment of New Zealand's Social Security Act with its new program of taxation.

In the United States the chief sponsors of compulsory Federal sickness insurance legislation have been organized labor, a few officials in the Social Security Board, and a group of persons with miscellaneous interests including social workers, public health officials, and a small number of physicians.

Are we going to let these labor groups, CIO and others, dictate to us and cajole us into enactment of this socialistic legislation, which experience shows would lower our standards, and would not lower the death or sickness rates, but would destroy some of our individual freedom and choice, making us part and parcel of a socialistic scheme?

Since the passage of the Social Security Act in 1935 there has been a persistent effort in this direction on the part of Isidore S. Falk, Ph D., formerly Chief of the Division of Health Studies in the Social Security Board and now Director of Research and Statistics in that Board. He was the prime mover in drafting the medical care and hospitalization provisions of the Wagner bill (S. 1620) in 1939, the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bills (S. 1161 and H. R. 2861) in 1943, and the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bills (S. 1050 and H. R. 3293) in 1945.

The persons most active in pushing this type of legislation designed to set up a cumbersome, costly bureaucracy in this country for the purpose of nationalizing medicine, aside from organized labor, are: Senator Robert F. Wagner; Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board; Isidore S. Falk, Ph. D., Director of Research and Statistics, Social Security Board; Wilbur Cohen, Assistant Director of Research and Statistics, Social Security Board; and Michael M. Davis, Ph. D., member of PAC, consultant to Mr. Falk, and long-time advocate of socialized medicine, formerly subsidized by the Rosenwald Fund for the express purpose of socializing medicine.

The Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill would put financial control of the Nation's[5] medical care and hospitalization program primarily in the hands of the already powerful Social Security Board which has no health or medical staff. This control would be made possible by reason of the fact that the vast social insurance trust fund into which $10,000,000,000, or more, would pour each year from pay-roll taxes and other sources would have a three-man board of trustees on which the Social Security Board would be represented through its chairman, while there would be no representative of the health and medical professions.

The whole scheme, believe me, is directed toward the furtherance of the Socialist state in the United States. I therefore urge every one of you to consider well whether this is the form of Government you wish to live under. Centralization of power; bureaucratic control of the daily lives of every citizen; centralization of funds in the Federal Treasury; relinquishment of local autonomy and individual responsibility—these are the steps to state socialism. If this is what the country wants, the voters and the representatives of the people should come out openly and say so. It is time to put a stop to pious declarations that we want a democratic form of government while simultaneously sponsoring legislation designed to Germanize America and to deliver our citizenry to a powerful bureaucracy in Washington. It is obvious that socialized medicine is one of the best methods by which to gain control over all the people.

You have listened to me long and patiently. The subject deserved no light treatment. If you are socialistically minded, and after winning this war and all we have accomplished, you can have the nerve to wish to change our form of government or to let anybody even try to do it, of course you will be in favor of the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill. I am not.

I still believe in America—with liberty and justice for all: With its government based on sound fundamental principles, yet sufficiently flexible to be readily adaptable to all essential and proper changes to meet the expanding and advanced new era of civilization.

I still take off my hat to those who founded and made it at so great cost; fought for it, bled and died for it; that we and our posterity may continue to live in, enjoy and love our America—"The land of the free and the home of the brave."

79TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 4730

NOVEMBER 19, 1945

Mr. DINGELL introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce

A BILL

To provide for a national health program.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That this Act may be cited as the "National Health Act of 1945".

TITLE I—GRANTS TO STATES FOR HEALTH SERVICES

PART A—GRANTS TO STATES FOR PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

SEC. 101. Section 314 of the Public Health Service Act (Act of July 1, 1944, 58 Stat. 682) is hereby amended to read as follows:

1 "GRANTS AND SERVICES TO STATES

2 "SEC. 314. (a) To enable the Surgeon General to
3 carry out the purposes of section 301 with respect to de-
4 veloping more effective measures for the prevention, treat-
5 ment, and control of venereal diseases, and to assist, through
6 grants and as otherwise provided in this section, States,
7 counties, health districts, and other political subdivisions of 8 the States in establishing and maintaining adequate measures
9 for the prevention, treatment, and control of such diseases,
10 including the training of personnel for State and local health
11 work, and to enable him to prevent and control the spread
12 of the venereal diseases in interstate traffic, and to meet
13 the cost of pay, allowances, and traveling expenses of com-
14 missioned officers and other personnel of the Service detailed 15 to assist in carrying out the purposes of this section with 16 respect to the venereal diseases, and to administer this sec-
17 tion with respect to such diseases, there is hereby authorized
18 to be appropriated for each fiscal year a sum sufficient to 19 carry out the purposes of this subsection.

20 "(b) To enable the Surgeon General to carry out the 21 purposes of section 301 with respect to developing more
22 effective measures for the prevention, treatment, and control
23 of tuberculosis, and to assist, through grants and as other-
24 wise provided in this section, States, counties, health districts, 25 and other political subdivisions of the States in establishing

1 and maintaining adequate measures for the prevention, treat-
2 ment, and control of such disease, including the provision of 3 appropriate facilities for care and treatment and including
4 the training of personnel for State and local health work, and 5 to enable him to prevent and control the spread of tubercu-
6 losis in interstate traffic, and to meet the cost of pay, allow-7 ances, and traveling expenses of commissioned officers and 8 other personnel of the Service detailed to assist in carrying 9 out the purposes of this section with respect to tuberculosis,
10 and to administer this section with respect to such disease,
11 there is hereby authorized to be appropriated the sum of 12 $10,000,000, and for each fiscal year a sum sufficient to 13 carry out the purposes of this subsection.

14 "(c) For each fiscal year, the Surgeon General, with 15 the approval of the Administrator, shall determine the total
16 sum from the appropriation under subsection (a) and the 17 total sum from the appropriation under subsection (b)
18 which shall be available for allotment among the several 19 States. He shall, in accordance with regulations, from time
20 to time make allotments from such sums to the several States
21 on the basis of (1) the population, (2) the size of the 22 venereal-disease problem, and the size of the tuberculosis
23 problem, respectively, and (3) the financial need of the 24 respective States. Upon making such allotments the Surgeon

1 General shall notify the Secretary of the Treasury of the 2 amounts thereof.

3 "(d) The Surgeon General, with the approval of the 4 Administrator, shall from time to time determine the amounts
5 to be paid to each State from the allotments to such State
6 under subsection (c), and shall certify to the Secretary of 7 the Treasury the amounts so determined, reduced or in-
8 creased, as the case may be, by the amounts by which he 9 finds that estimates of required expenditures with respect to 10 any prior period were greater or less than the actual expendi-
11 tures for such period. Upon receipt of such certification, the 12 Secretary of the Treasury shall, through the Division of 13 Disbursement of the Treasury Department and prior to audit
14 or settlement by the General Accounting Office, pay in 15 accordance with such certification.

16 "(e) Money so paid under subsection (d) shall be paid
17 upon the condition that there shall be spent in such State
18 for the same general purpose from funds of such State and 19 its political subdivisions an amount determined in accordance 20 with regulations.

21 "(f) (1) To enable the Surgeon General to assist,
22 through grants and as otherwise provided in this section,
23 States, counties, health districts, and other political sub-
24 divisions of the States to extend and improve public-health
25 work by establishing and maintaining adequate public-health

1 services as rapidly as may be practicable under the conditions
2 in the States, especially by improving such services in rural 3 communities, in economically depressed areas, and in other
4 communities or areas where such services are below nationally
5 accepted standards of adequate public-health services, includ-
6 ing grants for demonstrations and for the training of per-
7 sonnel for State and local public-health work, there is hereby 8 authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year, beginning
9 with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient
10 to carry out the purposes of this section. Of the sum appro-
11 priated for each fiscal year pursuant to this subsection there 12 shall be available an amount, not to exceed $5,000,000, to 13 enable the Surgeon General to provide demonstrations and 14 to train personnel for State and local health work and to 15 meet the cost of pay, allowances, and traveling expenses of 16 commissioned officers and other personnel of the Service
17 detailed to assist States in carrying out the purposes of this 18 subsection.

19 "(2) A State plan to be approved under this sub-
20 section must—

21 "(A) provide for financial participation by the 22 State;

23 "(B) provide for a State-wide program or for ex-
24 tension of the program each year so that it shall be in 25 effect in all political subdivisions of the State in need

1 of services not later than the beginning of the fiscal
2 year ending June 30, 1950;
3 "(C) provide for extension and improvement of
4 public-health work in the State, in accordance with the 5 purposes of paragraph (1) of this subsection;
6 "(D) provide for the administration of the plan by
7 the State health agency or the supervision by the State
8 health agency of the administration of any part of the 9 plan administered by another State agency or by a
10 political subdivision of the State;
11 "(E) provide such methods of administration (in-
12 cluding methods relating to the establishment and main-
13 tenance of personnel standards on a merit basis, except 14 that the Surgeon General shall exercise no authority
15 with respect to the selection, tenure of office, and com-
16 pensation of any individual employed in accordance
17 with such methods) as are found by the Surgeon Gen-
18 eral to be necessary for the proper and efficient operation
19 of the plan;
20 "(F) provide for an advisory council or councils,
21 composed of members of the professions and agencies,
22 public and private, that furnish services under the State
23 plan, and other persons informed on the need for, or 24 provision of, public-health services;
25 "(G) provide that the State health agency will

1 make such reports, in such form and containing such
2 information, as the Surgeon General may from time
3 to time require, and comply with such provisions as the 4 Surgeon General may from time to time find necessary
5 to assure the correctness and verification of such reports;
6 "(H) provide for cooperation and, when necessary,
7 for working agreements between the State health agency
8 and any public agency or agencies administering services
9 related to the public-health services furnished under the 10 State plan, including public agencies concerned with 11 welfare, assistance, social insurance, workmen's com-
12 pensation, labor, industrial, hygiene, education, or medi-
13 cal care;
14 "(I) provide that the State health agency (or other
15 State agency administering public-health services under 16 this plan) shall have authority to make and publish such 17 rules and regulations as are necessary for the efficient
18 operation of such services, having special regard for the 19 quality and economy of service.
20 "(3) The Surgeon General shall approve any plan
21 which fulfills the conditions specified in paragraph (2) of 22 this subsection.
23 "(4) From the sums appropriated therefor under this
24 subsection, the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay to each
25 State which has an approved plan under this subsection,

1 for each year or part thereof covered by such plan, amounts
2 equal to the Federal proportion of the total amount of public
3 funds expended under the State plan, during each year or 4 part thereof covered by such plan, as is determined in 5 accordance with paragraph (5) of this subsection upon the 6 basis of the financial resources of the State, not counting
7 so much of such total expenditures by the State as are in-
8 cluded in any other State plan aided by grants under any 9 other subsection of this Act or any other Act of Congress.
10 The amounts so paid to a State by the Secretary of the 11 Treasury shall be used exclusively for carrying out the pur-
12 poses of this subsection.

13 "(5) (A) The financial resources of the several States
14 shall be measured by per capita income accruing to the in-
15 habitants thereof.

16 "(B) The Federal proportion with respect to any State, 17 for the purposes of paragraph (4) of this subsection, shall 18 be 100 per centum less the non-Federal proportion. The 19 non-Federal proportion for each State whose per capita 20 income is greater than or equal to the per capita income of 21 the continental United States and for the District of Colum-
22 bia, Alaska, and Hawaii shall be 50 per centum each, and
23 the non-Federal proportion for Puerto Rico and the Virgin
24 Islands shall be 25 per centum each. The non-Federal 25 proportion for each State whose per capita income is less

1 than the per-capita income of the continental United States
2 shall be that percentage which bears the same ratio to 50
3 per centum as the per capita income of such State bears to 4 the per capita income of the continental United States,
5 except that (i) the non-Federal proportion shall in no
6 case be less than 25 per centum, and (ii) the non-Federal 7 proportion shall be rounded to the nearest whole per centum.
8 "(C) The percentages representing the Federal pro-
9 portion of total expenditures under this program shall be 10 promulgated by the Surgeon General between July 1 and 11 August 31 of each even-numbered year, on the basis of the 12 average of the per capita incomes of the States and of the 13 continental United States for the three most recent con-
14 secutive years for which satisfactory data are available
15 from the Department of Commerce. Such promulgation
16 shall for the purposes of this section be conclusive for each
17 of the eight quarters in the period beginning July 1 next
18 succeeding such promulgation: Provided, That the Surgeon
19 General shall promulgate such percentages as soon as possible
20 after the enactment of this Act, which promulgation shall 21 be conclusive for the purposes of this subsection for each
22 of the two fiscal years in the period beginning July 1, 1945,
23 and ending June 30, 1947.
24 "(6) The Surgeon General shall, from time to time

1 but not less often than semiannually, estimate the amount
2 to be paid to each State for each year or part thereof under 3 the provisions of paragraph (4), such estimate to be based
4 on (A) a report filed by the State containing its estimate
5 of the total sum to be expended in such period in accordance 6 with the provisions of paragraph (4), and (B) such other
7 data as to such estimated expenditures and such other inves-
8 tigations as the Surgeon General may find necessary. The 9 Surgeon General shall then certify to the Secretary of the 10 Treasury the amount so estimated, reduced or increased, as 11 the case may be, by any sum by which the Surgeon General
12 finds that his estimate for any prior period was greater or 13 less than the amount which should have been paid to the 14 State under paragraph (4) for such period; except that such 15 increases or reductions shall not be made to the extent that 16 such sum has been applied to make the amount certified for 17 any prior period greater or less than the amount estimated
18 by the Surgeon General for such prior period. The Secre-
19 tary of the Treasury shall, prior to audit or settlement by the 20 General Accounting Office, pay to the State, at the time or 21 times fixed by the Surgeon General, the amount so certified.
22 "(g) The moneys so paid to any State under subsections
23 (d) and (f) shall be expended solely in carrying out the 24 purposes specified in subsection (a), or subsection (b), or 25 subsection (f) of this section, as the case may be, and in

1 accordance with plans presented by the health authority of
2 such State and approved by the Surgeon General.
3 "(h) Whenever the Surgeon General, after reasonable
4 notice and opportunity for hearing to the health authority of 5 the State, finds that, with respect to money paid to the State
6 out of appropriations under subsection (a), or subsection
7 (b), or subsection (f), as the case may be, there is a failure
8 to comply substantially with either—
9 "(1) the provisions of this section;
10 "(2) the plan submitted under subsection (f) or 11 subsection (g), as may be pertinent; or 12 "(3) the regulations;
13 the Surgeon General shall notify such State health authority
14 either that further payments will not be made to the State
15 from appropriations under such subsection (or in his dis-
16 cretion that further payments will not be made to the State
17 from such appropriations for activities in which there is 18 such failure), until he is satisfied that there will no longer
19 be any such failure. Until he is so satisfied the Surgeon
20 General shall make no further certification for payment to 21 such State from appropriations under such subsection, or 22 shall limit payment to activities in which there is no such 23 failure.
24 "(i) All regulations and amendments thereto with re-
25 spect to grants to States under this section shall be made

1 after consultation with a conference of the State health
2 authorities. Insofar as practicable, the Surgeon General
3 shall obtain the agreement of the State health authorities
4 prior to the issuance of any such regulations or amendments.
5 "(j) Funds appropriated under subsection (a) and 6 funds appropriated under subsection (b), in addition to 7 being available for payments to States, shall also be available
8 for expenditure by the Surgeon General in otherwise carry-
9 ing out the respective subsections, including expenditures for 10 printing and binding of the findings of investigations, and 11 for pay and allowances and traveling expenses of personnel
12 of the Service engaged in activities authorized by the respec-
13 tive subsections.
14 "(k) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him, the 15 Surgeon General is hereby authorized and directed, with 16 the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, to enter
17 into such agreements or cooperative working arrangements
18 as may be necessary to insure coordination in the adminis-
19 tration of programs and services under this part with those 20 under parts B and C of this title and with those under title
21 II of this Act.
22 "(l) When used in subsection (f) of this section, the 23 term 'public-health work' includes customary and accepted
24 functions, services, and activities of public-health agencies
25 with respect to: public-health administration; training of per-

1 sonnel; vital statistics; sanitation of the human environment;
2 control of communicable and preventable diseases; labo-
3 ratory services; protection of health in maternity, infancy,
4 and childhood; public-health education; public-health nurs-
5 ing; research and the performance of demonstrations; medi-
6 cal and related services for prevention or mitigation of sick-
7 ness or disability and for the prevention of premature
8 death; planning and coordination of health services and 9 activities; enactment and enforcement of necessary standards
10 and regulations; production or procurement, and distribu-
11 tion, of therapeutic and prophylactic preparations; and 12 related matters. The term does not include: construction
13 of hospitals, water supplies, sewerage or other waste-dis-
14 posal systems, or of other facilities; operation or mainte-
15 nance of hospitals (except hospitals for persons afflicted with 16 infectious diseases), water supplies, sewerage or other 17 waste-disposal systems; and related matters."

18 PART B—GRANTS TO STATES FOR MATERNAL AND CHILD
19 HEALTH SERVICES

20 MATERNAL AND CHILD-HEALTH SERVICES

21 Appropriation

22 SEC. 121. (a) For the purpose of enabling each State
23 to provide and maintain services and facilities for promoting 24 the physical and mental health of mothers and children, by 25 establishing and maintaining adequate maternal and child-

1 health services, and to develop more effective measures for
2 carrying out the purposes of this section, including demon-
3 strations and the training of personnel for State and local 4 maternal and child-health work, there is hereby authorized
5 to be appropriated for each fiscal year, beginning with the 6 fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient to carry
7 out the purposes of this section. The sums made available
8 under this section shall be used for making payments to 9 States which have submitted, and had approved by the 10 Chief of the Children's Bureau, State plans for establishing 11 and maintaining adequate maternal and child-health services.

12 APPROVAL OF STATE PLANS

13 SEC. 122. (a) A State plan for maternal and child-
14 health services to be approved under this section must—
15 (1) provide for financial participation by the State;
16 (2) provide for the administration of the plan by
17 the State health agency or the supervision of the admin-
18 istration of the plan by the State health agency;
19 (3) provide such methods of administration (includ-
20 ing methods relating to the establishment and mainte-
21 nance of personnel standards on a merit basis, except 22 that the Chief of the Children's Bureau shall exercise
23 no authority with respect to the selection, tenure of office,
24 and compensation of any individual employed in accord-

1 ance with such methods) as are necessary for the proper
2 and efficient operation of the plan;
3 (4) provide that the State agency will make such
4 reports, in such form and containing such information,
5 as the Secretary of Labor may from time to time require,
6 and comply with such provisions as he may from time
7 to time find necessary to assure the correctness and veri-
8 fication of such reports;
9 (5) provide for the extension and improvement of 10 local maternal and child-health services and facilities
11 administered by local health units so that the plan will 12 be in effect in all political subdivisions of the State not 13 later than a date ten years after the date of approval
14 of the first State plan approved under this section;
15 (6) provide for cooperation with medical, health,
16 nursing, education, and welfare groups and organizations
17 and, when necessary, for working agreements with any 18 public agency or agencies administering or providing 19 services related to the services furnished under the State
20 plan, including public agencies concerned with nursing,
21 education, welfare, assistance, social insurance, work-
22 men's compensation, labor, industrial hygiene, or medical 23 care;
24 (7) provide for the development of demonstration
25 services and for the training of personnel;

1 (8) provide that as services and facilities are fur-
2 nished under the plan they shall be available to all
3 mothers and children in the State or locality who elect
4 to participate in the benefits of the program; and
5 (9) provide that the State agency shall have au-
6 thority to make and publish such rules and regulations
7 as are necessary for the efficient operation of such serv-
8 ices, having special regard for the quality and economy
9 of service.
10 (b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau shall approve
11 any plan for maternal and child-health services which ful-
12 fills the conditions specified in subsection (a) and shall there-13 upon notify the Secretary of Labor and the State agency of 14 his approval.

15 SERVICES FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

16 Appropriation

17 SEC. 123. For the purpose of enabling each State to 18 provide and maintain services for locating crippled or other-
19 wise physically handicapped children, and for providing 20 medical, surgical, corrective, and other services and care, 21 and facilities for diagnosis, hospitalization, and aftercare, for 22 children who are crippled or otherwise physically handi-
23 capped or who are suffering from conditions which lead to 24 crippling, or physical handicap, and to develop more effective
25 measures for carrying out the purposes of this section, in-

1 cluding demonstrations and the training of personnel for
2 State and local crippled children's services, there is hereby
3 authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year, beginning
4 with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, a sum sufficient
5 to carry out the purposes of this section. The sums made
6 available under this section shall be used for making pay-
7 ments to States which have submitted, and had approved
8 by the Chief of the Children's Bureau, State plans for estab-
9 lishing and maintaining adequate crippled children's service.

10 APPROVAL OF STATE PLANS

11 SEC. 124. (a) A State plan for services for crippled
12 and other handicapped children to be approved under this 13 section must—

14 (1) provide for financial participation by the State;

15 (2) provide for the administration of the plan by 16 a single State agency or the supervision of the adminis-
17 tration of the plan by a single State agency, and for 18 appropriate coordination of the plan with the maternal 19 and child-health program of the State health agency;

20 (3) provide such methods of administration (in-
21 cluding methods relating to the establishment and
22 maintenance of personnel standards on a merit basis,
23 except that the Chief of the Children's Bureau shall 24 exercise no authority with respect to the selection,

1 tenure of office, and compensation of any individual
2 employed in accordance with such methods) as are 3 necessary for the proper and efficient operation of the 4 plan;
5 (4) provide that the State agency will make such
6 reports, in such form and containing such information,
7 as the Secretary of Labor may from time to time require,
8 and comply with such provisions as he may from time
9 to time find necessary to assure the correctness and 10 verification of such reports;
11 (5) provide for carrying out the purposes specified
12 in subsection (a) so that the program will be in effect
13 in all political subdivisions of the State, and the services
14 and facilities available to all crippled children not later 15 than a date ten years after the date of approval of the 16 first plan approved under the section;
17 (6) provide for cooperation with medical, health,
18 nursing, education, and welfare groups and organiza-
19 tions and, when necessary, for working agreements with 20 any public agency or agencies administering or provid-
21 ing services related to the services furnished under the 22 State plan, including public agencies concerned with 23 nursing, education, welfare, assistance, social insurance,
24 workmen's compensation, labor, industrial hygiene, or 25 medical care;

1 (7) provide that as services and facilities are
2 furnished under the plan they shall be available to all
3 crippled children in the State who elect to participate
4 in the benefits of the program; and
5 (8) provide that the State agency shall have
6 authority to make and publish such rules and regula-
7 tions as are necessary for the efficient operation of such 8 services, having special regard for the quality and 9 economy of service.
10 (b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau shall approve
11 any plan for crippled children's services which fulfills the 12 conditions specified in subsection (a) and shall thereupon
13 notify the Secretary of Labor and the State agency of his 14 approval.

15 PAYMENT TO STATES

16 SEC. 125. (a) From the sums appropriated therefor
17 under section 121 or 123, the Secretary of the Treasury
18 shall pay to each State which has an approved plan for 19 maternal and child-health services, or for services to 20 crippled children, respectively, for each year or part thereof
21 covered by such plan, amounts equal to the Federal 22 proportion of the total amount of public funds expended
23 under the respective State plan, during each year or 24 part thereof covered by such plan, as is determined in

1 accordance with section 127 of this title upon the basis
2 of the financial resources of the State, not counting so much
3 of such total expenditures by the State as are included in 4 any other State plan aided by grants under any other section
5 of this part, or any other part of this title, or any other
6 Act of Congress. The amounts so paid to a State by the 7 Secretary of the Treasury shall be used exclusively for 8 carrying out the purposes of the respective sections of this 9 part.

10 (b) The method of computing and paying such 11 amounts shall be as follows:

12 (1) The Secretary of Labor shall, from time to 13 time but not less often than semiannually, estimate the 14 amount to be paid to the State with respect to each
15 State plan for each year or part thereof under the pro-
16 visions of subsection (a) of this section, such estimate to 17 be based on (A) a report filed by the State containing 18 its estimate of the total sum to be expended for each
19 such plan in such period in accordance with the pro-
20 visions of subsection (a) and (B) such other data as 21 to such estimated expenditures and such other investiga-
22 tions as he may find necessary.

23 (2) The Secretary of Labor shall then certify to 24 the Secretary of the Treasury the amount so estimated
25 for each State plan, reduced or increased, as the case

1 may be, by any sum by which the Secretary of Labor
2 finds that his estimate for any prior period for such
3 State plan was greater or less than the amount which
4 should have been paid to the State under subsection
5 (a) for such period; except that such increases or 6 reductions shall not be made to the extent that such 7 sum has been applied to make the amount certified
8 for any prior period greater or less than the amount
9 estimated by the Secretary of Labor for such prior 10 period.

11 (3) The Secretary of the Treasury shall, prior
12 to audit or settlement by the General Accounting Office,
13 pay to the State, at the time or times fixed by the 14 Secretary of Labor, the amount so certified.

15 OPERATION OF STATE PLANS

16 SEC. 126. In case of any State plan for maternal and 17 child-health services, or for services to crippled children
18 which has been approved by the Chief of the Children's 19 Bureau, if the Secretary of Labor, after reasonable notice
20 and opportunity for hearing to the State agency administer-
21 ing or supervising the administration of such plan, finds that 22 in the administration of the plan there is a failure to comply
23 substantially with any provision required by section 121, or 24 section 123, respectively, to be included in the plan, he 25 shall notify such State agency that further payments will

1 not be made to the State under such plan (or, in his dis-
2 cretion, that further payments will not be made to the State
3 under such plan for services in which there is such failure)
4 until he is satisfied that there is no longer any such failure
5 to comply. Until he is so satisfied, he shall make no further
6 certification to the Secretary of the Treasury with respect
7 to such plan for such State.

8 FEDERAL GRANT PERCENTAGES

9 SEC. 127. (a) The financial resources of the several 10 States shall be measured by per capita income accruing to 11 the inhabitants thereof.

12 (b) The Federal proportion with respect to any State.
13 for the purposes of section 125 of this title, shall be 100 per 14 centum less the non-Federal proportion. The non-Federal 15 proportion for each State whose per capita income is greater 16 than or equal to the per capita income of the continental
17 United States and for the District of Columbia, Alaska, and 18 Hawaii shall be 50 per centum each, and the non-Federal 19 proportion for Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands shall be 20 25 per centum each. The non-Federal proportion for each
21 State whose per capita income is less than the per capita
22 income of the continental United States shall be that per-
23 centage which bears the same ratio to 50 per centum as the 24 per capita income of such State bears to the per capita in-
25 come of the continental United States, except that (1) the

1 non-Federal proportion shall in no case be less than 25 per
2 centum, and (2) the non-Federal proportion shall be rounded
3 to the nearest whole per centum.

4 (c) The percentages representing the Federal propor-
5 tion of total expenditures under these programs shall be
6 promulgated by the Secretary of Labor between July 1
7 and August 31 of each even-numbered year, on the basis
8 of the average of the per capita incomes of the States and 9 of the continental United States for the three most recent 10 consecutive years for which satisfactory data are available
11 from the Department of Commerce. Such promulgation
12 shall for the purposes of this section be conclusive for each
13 of the eight quarters in the period beginning July 1 next
14 succeeding such promulgation: Provided, That the Secretary
15 of Labor shall promulgate such percentages as soon as pos-
16 sible after the enactment of this Act, which promulgation
17 shall be conclusive for the purposes of this section for each
18 of the two fiscal years in the period beginning July 1, 1945,
19 and ending June 30, 1947.

20 STUDIES, INVESTIGATIONS, ADMINISTRATION, RULES AND 21 REGULATIONS, AND ANNUAL REPORT

22 SEC. 128. (a) The Children's Bureau shall make and
23 aid the financing of such studies, demonstrations, investiga-
24 tions, and research as will promote the efficient administration
25 and operation of this part. In such administration, the Chief

1 of the Children's Bureau shall pursue general policies estab-
2 lished by him after consultation with advisory committees
3 composed of professional and public members which he
4 shall appoint (without regard to the civil-service laws),
5 with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, to advise him
6 on matters pertaining to the furnishing of the care and serv-
7 ices authorized by this part, and after consultation with a
8 conference of the State health officers with respect to section
9 121, and a conference of State officers responsible for the 10 administration of State plans with respect to section 123.
11 Insofar as practicable, the Chief of the Children's Bureau
12 shall obtain agreement of these State authorities prior to the 13 issuance of such general policies.

14 (b) The Chief of the Children's Bureau, with the ap-
15 proval of the Secretary of Labor, shall make and publish
16 such rules and regulations as may be necessary to the efficient
17 administration of this part.

18 (c) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him by 19 this part, the Chief of the Children's Bureau is hereby author-
20 ized and directed, with the approval of the Secretary of 21 Labor, to enter into such agreements or cooperative working
22 arrangements with the Surgeon General of the Public Health
23 Service and with the Social Security Board as may be 24 necessary to insure coordination in the administration of pro-
25 grams and services administered by him with those under

1 parts A and C of this title and with those under title II
2 of this Act.
3 (d) The Secretary of Labor shall include in his annual 4 report to Congress a full account of the administration of 5 this part.

6 DEFINITION

7 SEC. 129. In this part, the term "State" includes Alaska,
8 Hawaii, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the 9 Virgin Islands.

10 APPROPRIATION

11 SEC. 130. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated
12 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, the sum of 13 $5,000,000 for all necessary expenses of the Children's 14 Bureau in administering the provisions of this part of this 15 title, and in developing and promoting effective measures
16 for carrying out the purposes of this part, including studies,
17 demonstrations, investigations and research, the training of 18 personnel for Federal, State, and local services, and the 19 payment of salaries and expenses of personnel detailed at 20 the request of State agencies to cooperate with and assist 21 such agencies in carrying out the purposes of this part of 22 this title; and there is hereby authorized to be appropriated
23 for each fiscal year thereafter a sum sufficient to carry out
24 the purposes of this part.

1 PART C—GRANTS TO STATES FOR MEDICAL CARE OF 2 NEEDY PERSONS

3 APPROPRIATION

4 SEC. 131. For the purpose of enabling each State to pro-
5 vide medical care, as far as practicable under the conditions
6 in such State, for needy persons, there is hereby authorized
7 to be appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30,
8 1946, the sum of $10,000,000, and there is hereby author-
9 ized to be appropriated for each fiscal year thereafter a
10 sum sufficient to carry out the purposes of this part. The 11 sums made available under this section shall be used for 12 making payments to States which have submitted and
13 had approved by the Social Security Board (hereinafter
14 referred to as the "Board"), State plans for medical care
15 of needy persons.

16 APPROVAL OF STATE PLANS

17 SEC. 132. (a) A State plan for medical care must—

18 (1) provide that it shall be in effect in all political 19 subdivisions of the State, and if administered by them,
20 be mandatory upon them;

21 (2) provide for financial participation by the State,
22 and for such distribution of funds, as to assure meeting
23 in full the need of individuals for medical care through-
24 out the State, as determined in accordance with standards
25 established by the State:

1 (3) (A) provide for the establishment or designa-
2 tion of a single State public assistance agency to admin-
3 ister or to supervise the administration of the plan for 4 medical care; and (B) provide that there will not be
5 more than one public assistance agency of a local sub-
6 division of the State established or designated to admin-
7 ister the plan for medical care within such subdivision;
8 (4) provide for granting to any individual, whose 9 claim for medical care is denied, an opportunity for a
10 fair hearing before such State agency;
11 (5) provide such methods of administration (in-
12 cluding methods relating to the establishment and main-
13 tenance of personnel standards on a merit basis, except 14 that the Board shall exercise no authority with respect
15 to the selection, tenure of office, and compensation of 16 any individual employed in accordance with such 17 methods) as are found by the Board to be necessary
18 for the proper and efficient operation of the plan;
19 (6) provide that the State agency will make such
20 reports, in such form and containing such information,
21 as the Board may from time to time require, and 22 comply with such provisions as the Board may from 23 time to time find necessary to assure the correctness
24 (7) provide safeguards which restrict the use or
25 and verification of such reports;

1 disclosure of information concerning applicants and
2 recipients to purposes directly connected with the ad-
3 ministration of the plan; and
4 (8) provide that the State agency shall, in deter-
5 mining need for medical care, take into consideration
6 (A) the requirements of individuals claiming medical
7 care under the plan, and (B) any income and resources
8 of an individual claiming medical care under the plan,
9 which must be taken into consideration with regard
10 to an individual claiming assistance under a State plan
11 approved under the Social Security Act, as amended.
12 (b) The Board shall approve any plan which fulfills
13 the conditions specified in subsection (a), except that it
14 shall not approve any plan which imposes as a condition
15 of eligibility for medical care under the plan any citizenship
16 or residence requirement, or any requirement which excludes
17 any recipient of public assistance under a State plan approved
18 under the Social Security Act, as amended.
19 PAYMENT TO STATES
20 SEC. 133. (a) From the sums appropriated therefor
21 under section 131, the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay
22 to each State which has an approved plan for medical care,
23 for each year or part thereof covered by such plan, amounts
24 equal to the Federal proportion of the total amount of public
25 funds expended under the State plan, during each year or

1 part thereof covered by such plan, as is determined in
2 accordance with section 135, not counting so much of such 3 expenditures for medical care for any individual under the 4 age of eighteen years who at the time of such expenditure is
5 living in a public or private institution, or for any individual
6 who has attained the age of eighteen years and at the time
7 of such expenditure is living in a public institution, and 8 not counting so much of such total expenditures by the 9 State as are included in any other State plan aided by 10 grants under any other part of this title, or any other Act
11 of Congress. The amounts so paid to a State by the Secre-
12 tary of the Treasury shall be used exclusively for carrying 13 out the purposes of this title.

14 (b) The method of computing and paying such amounts
15 shall be as follows:

16 (1) The Board shall, prior to the beginning of each
17 period for which a payment is to be made to the State
18 under subsection (a), estimate the amount to be paid
19 to such State for such period under the provisions of sub-
20 section (a), such estimate to be based on (A) a report
21 filed by the State containing its estimate of the total sum
22 to be expended in such period in accordance with the 23 provisions of such subsection, and stating the amount ap-
24 propriated or made available by the State and its political 25 subdivisions for such expenditures in such period, and

1 if the sum of such amount and the estimated Federal
2 grant to be paid the State under subsection (a) is less
3 than the total sum of such estimated expenditures, the 4 source or sources from which the difference is expected
5 to be derived, and (B) such other data as to such esti-
6 mated expenditures and such other investigation as the 7 Board may find necessary.

8 (2) The Board shall then certify to the Secretary of 9 the Treasury the amount so estimated by the Board, (A)
10 reduced or increased, as the case may be, by any sum by 11 which it finds that its estimate for any prior period was 12 greater or less than the amount which should have been 13 paid to the State under subsection (a) for such period,
14 and (B) reduced by a sum equivalent to the pro rata
15 share to which the United States is equitably entitled, as 16 determined by the Board, of the net amount recovered
17 during any prior period by the State or any political sub-
18 division thereof with respect to medical care furnished
19 under the State plan; except that such increases or reduc-
20 tions shall not be made to the extent that such sums have 21 been applied to make the amount certified for any prior 22 period greater or less than the amount estimated by the 23 Board for such prior period: Provided, That any part of 24 the amount recovered from the estate of a deceased
25 recipient which is not in excess of the amount expended

1 by the State or any political subdivision thereof for the 2 funeral expenses of the deceased shall not be considered
3 as a basis for reduction under clause (B) of this 4 paragraph.

5 (3) The Secretary of the Treasury shall, prior to 6 audit or settlement by the General Accounting Office, pay
7 to the State, at the time or times fixed by the Board, the 8 amount so certified.

9 (4) The period for which estimates and certifica-
10 tions are made under this section shall be a calendar
11 quarter, except that, upon application by a State, the 12 Board may extend the period for such State to not more
13 than four calendar quarters.

14 OPERATION OF STATE PLANS

15 SEC. 134. In case of any State plan for medical care
16 which has been approved by the Board, if the Board, after 17 reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the State
18 agency administering or supervising the administration of 19 such plan, finds—

20 (a) that the plan has been so changed as to im-
21 pose any requirement prohibited by section 132 (b),
22 or that in the administration of the plan any prohibited
23 requirement is imposed, with the knowledge of such 24 State agency, in a substantial number of cases; or

25 (b) that in the administration of the plan there is

1 a failure to comply substantially with any provision re-
2 quired by section 132 (a) to be included in the plan;
3 the Board shall notify such State agency that further pay-
4 ments will not be made to the State under such plan until 5 the Board is satisfied that such prohibited requirement is no
6 longer imposed, and that there is no longer any such failure
7 to comply. Until it is so satisfied it shall make no further
8 certification to the Secretary of the Treasury with respect
9 to such plan for such State.

10 FEDERAL GRANT PERCENTAGES

11 SEC. 135. (a) The Federal proportion with respect to 12 any State, for the purposes of section 133 of this title, shall 13 be 100 per centum less the non-Federal proportion. The 14 non-Federal proportion for each State whose per capita in-15 come is greater than or equal to the per capita income of the 16 continental United States and for the District of Columbia, 17 Alaska, and Hawaii shall be 50 per centum each, and the 18 non-Federal proportion for Puerto Rico and the Virgin
19 Islands shall be 25 per centum each. The non-Federal pro-
20 portion for each State whose per capita income is less than 21 the per capita income of the continental United States shall 22 be that percentage which bears the same ratio to 50 per 23 centum as the per capita income of such State bears to the

1 per capita income of the continental United States, except
2 that (1) the non-Federal proportion shall in no case be less
3 than 25 per centum, and (2) the non-Federal proportion
4 shall be rounded to the nearest whole per centum.

5 (b) The percentages representing the Federal propor-
6 tion of total expenditures under this program shall be promul-
7 gated by the Board between July 1 and August 31 of each
8 even-numbered year, on the basis of the average of the per 9 capita incomes of the States and of the continental United 10 States for the three most recent consecutive years for which 11 satisfactory data are available from the Department of Com-
12 merce. Such promulgation shall for the purposes of this sec-
13 tion be conclusive for each of the eight quarters in the period
14 beginning July 1 next succeeding such promulgation: Pro-
15 vided, That the Board shall promulgate such percentages as 16 soon as possible after the enactment of this Act, which pro-
17 mulgation shall be conclusive for the purposes of this section
18 for each of the two fiscal years in the period beginning July
19 1, 1945, and ending June 30, 1947.

20 ADMINISTRATION

21 SEC. 136. (a) In carrying out the duties imposed upon
22 it by this part, the Board is hereby authorized and directed,
23 with the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, to

1 enter into such agreements or cooperative working arrange-
2 ments with the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service,
3 and with the Chief of the Children's Bureau, as may be neces-
4 sary to insure coordination in the administration of programs
5 and services under this part with those under parts A and B
6 of this title and with those under title II of this Act.

7 (b) Medical care under this part may be provided either
8 (1) by the State or local public assistance agency admin-
9 istering the plan for medical care through (A) money pay-
10 ments to individuals claiming such care, or (B) payments to 11 the persons or institutions furnishing such care or, (C) direct 12 provision of such care; (2) in accordance with agreements
13 (authorized in regulations by the Board) between such 14 State or local agency and other agencies of the State or 15 political subdivision thereof, by such other agencies; or,
16 (3) through arrangements by a State or local public agency
17 with the Surgeon General for services furnished under title
18 II of this Act, on the basis of equitable payments to the 19 Personal Health Services Account established under title
20 II of this Act; or, (4) through such combination or modi-
21 fication of (1), (2), or (3) as the Board may approve.

22 DEFINITION

23 SEC. 137. In this part, the term "State" includes Alaska, 24 Hawaii, the District of Columbia. Puerto Rico, and the Virgin
25 Islands.

1 TITLE II—PREPAID PERSONAL HEALTH
2 SERVICE BENEFITS

3 PRIMARY PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS

4 SEC. 201. (a) Every individual, who is currently in-
5 sured, and has been determined by the Board to be eligible
6 for benefits under this title in a current benefit year, shall 7 be entitled to receive personal health service benefits.

8 DEPENDENT'S PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS

9 (b) Every dependent (as defined in section 214 (l))
10 of an individual who is currently insured and who has been 11 determined by the Board to be eligible for benefits under 12 this title in a current benefit year, shall be entitled to receive 13 personal health service benefits, if such dependent is not 14 entitled to receive such benefits under subsection (a) of this 15 section in the current benefit year.

16 PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE BENEFITS FOR RETIRED AND 17 SURVIVOR BENEFICIARIES

18 SEC. 202. Every individual entitled for any period to 19 monthly benefits under title II of the Social Security Act,
20 as amended, shall be entitled to receive personal health
21 service benefits for the current benefit year, if such individual 22 is not entitled to receive such benefits under section 201.

23 ADMINISTRATION

24 SEC. 203. (a) The Surgeon General of the Public
25 Health Service shall perform the duties imposed upon him

1 by this Act, under the supervision and direction of the Fed-
2 eral Security Administrator, and after consultations with the 3 Advisory Council (hereinafter established) as to questions of 4 general policy and administration, and in consultation with
5 the Board shall also have the duty of studying and making
6 recommendations as to the most effective methods of pro-
7 viding personal health service benefits, and as to legislation
8 and matters of administrative policy concerning health and 9 related subjects.

10 (b) The Surgeon General is hereby authorized and 11 directed to take all necessary and practical steps, not incon-
12 sistent with the provisions of this title, to arrange for the 13 availability of the benefits provided under this title and of 14 services and reports required by the Board for adminis-
15 tration under this Act.

16 (c) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him by 17 this title, the Surgeon General is hereby authorized and 18 directed, after consultation with the Advisory Council as to 19 questions of general policy and administration, and with 20 the approval of the Federal Security Administrator, to 21 negotiate and periodically to renegotiate agreements or 22 cooperative working arrangements with appropriate agen-
23 cies of the United States, or of any State or political sub-
24 division thereof, and with other appropriate public agencies,
25 and with private agencies or institutions, and with private

1 persons or groups of persons, and with combinations thereof,
2 to utilize their services and facilities and to pay fair, reason-
3 able, and equitable compensation for such services or facilities,
4 and for the Personal Health Services Account (hereinafter
5 referred to as the "Account"), established in accordance 6 with section 212, to receive reimbursements for services
7 rendered with respect to individuals or services under sec-
8 tion 209, and to negotiate and periodically renegotiate
9 agreements or cooperative working arrangements for the 10 purchase or availability of supplies and commodities neces-
11 sary for the benefits provided under this title, and to 12 enter into contracts for such services, facilities, supplies, and 13 commodities (subject to the limitations specified in section 14 214 (h)).

15 (d) In carrying out the duties imposed upon him by 16 this title, the Surgeon General is hereby authorized and
17 directed, with the approval of the Federal Security Admin-
18 istrator, to enter into such agreements or cooperative work-
19 ing arrangements with the Chief of the Children's Bureau
20 and with the Social Security Board as may be necessary to 21 ensure coordination in the administration of programs and 22 services under this title with those under parts B and C of 23 title I of this Act.

24 (e) In the administration of this title, the Surgeon

1 General shall, insofar as practicable, give priority and prefer-
2 ence to utilizing the facilities and services of State and local 3 departments or agencies on the basis of mutual agreements
4 with such departments or agencies.

5 (f) The Surgeon General may delegate to any officer
6 or employee of the Public Health Service or of any Federal,
7 State or local cooperating department or agency, such of 8 his powers and duties, except that of prescribing rules and 9 regulations, as he may consider necessary and proper to 10 carry out the purposes of this title.

11 (g) The Surgeon General, after consultation with the 12 Board, and after consultation with the Advisory Council
13 as to questions of general policy and administration, and 14 with the approval of the Federal Security Administrator,
15 shall prescribe and publish such rules and regulations and 16 require such records and reports, not inconsistent with other
17 provisions of this Act, as may be necessary to the efficient
18 administration of this title: Provided, That when rules and 19 regulations relate to the performance by Federal, State, or 20 local departments or agencies, of functions under mutual
21 agreements made therewith, or to the establishment or deter-
22 mination of local areas for administrative purposes, such rules
23 and regulations shall be made by the Surgeon General after 24 consultation with representatives of such departments or 25 agencies.

1 (h) The Surgeon General shall periodically notify the
2 Secretary of the Treasury of obligations incurred under ar-
3 rangements entered into by the Surgeon General in accord-
4 ance with this section and to whom such obligations obtain
5 and the Surgeon General shall from time to time certify dis-
6 bursements from the Account to meet such obligations, and 7 such certified disbursements shall be paid from the Account
8 by the Secretary of the Treasury.

9 (i) Except with respect to States or local areas for 10 which other arrangements have been made, under the provi-
11 sions of this section, the Surgeon General shall appoint local-12 area committees to aid in the administration of this title.
13 The members of such local-area committees shall be selected 14 from panels of names submitted by the professional and other
15 agencies and organizations concerned with medical, dental,
16 and nursing services and education and with the operation of 17 hospitals and laboratories and from among other persons,
18 agencies, or organizations informed on the need for or pro-
19 vision of medical, dental, nursing, hospital, laboratory, or re-
20 lated services and benefits. The membership of such local-
21 area committees shall include (1) medical and other profes-
22 sional representatives, and (2) public representatives, in such 23 proportions as are likely to provide fair representation to the 24 principal interested groups that furnish and receive personal 25 health services, having regard for the functions of the local-

1 area committees. Such committees shall be consulted at fre-
2 quent intervals, and shall be kept informed by the local-area
3 officers of the Public Health Service with respect to arrange-
4 ments for the availability of benefits under this title and pol-
5 icies to be followed in carrying out the provisions of this title.
6 Such committees are hereby authorized to make annual and 7 special reports, with recommendations, if any, to the local-
8 area officers or to the Surgeon General through his State or 9 regional officers having administrative responsibility for the 10 respective local areas. Such committees, with the same
11 or corresponding functions, shall be appointed by each State
12 or local cooperating department or agency with respect to 13 local areas for which such other arrangements have been 14 made under the provisions of this section.

15 (j) There is hereby authorized to be appropriated for 16 the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, and for each fiscal 17 year thereafter, a sum sufficient for all necessary expenses
18 in carrying out the duties imposed upon the Surgeon Gen-
19 eral, the Board, and the Advisory Council by this title,
20 including the printing of forms and reports, making such 21 studies and demonstrations and such provisions for the 22 training of personnel as may be expected to improve the 23 quality of the services and promote the efficient adminis-
24 tration of this title and for the pay, allowances, and traveling 25 expenses of commissioned officers and other personnel as-

1 signed to duty in carrying out the purposes of this title
2 in the District of Columbia and elsewhere.
3 (k) Appointment is hereby authorized in the Public
4 Health Service of such personnel and in such grades as 5 may be necessary for the proper and efficient administration
6 of this title, in accordance with the provisions of the civil-
7 service laws and the Classification Act of 1923, as amended.
8 Such personnel, and commissioned officers of the Regular 9 or Reserve Corps of the Public Health Service, may be 10 assigned to duty in such bureaus, divisions, sections and 11 other units as the Surgeon General may find it necessary
12 to establish, with the approval of the Administrator, for 13 carrying out the purposes of this title, without regard to 14 limitations otherwise specified in the Public Health Service
15 Act (Act of July 1, 1944, 58 Stat. 682).
16 (l) The Surgeon General shall make a full report
17 to Congress, at the beginning of each regular session, of 18 the administration of the functions with which he is charged
19 under this title. Such report shall include a record of con-
20 sultations with the Advisory Council, recommendations of 21 the Advisory Council, and comments thereon.
22 NATIONAL ADVISORY MEDICAL POLICY COUNCIL
23 SEC. 204. (a) There is hereby established a National 24 Advisory Medical Policy Council (herein referred to as 25 the "Advisory Council") to consist of the Surgeon Gen-

1 eral as Chairman and sixteen members to be appointed
2 without regard to the civil-service laws by the Surgeon
3 General and with the approval of the Federal Security Ad-
4 ministrator. The sixteen appointed members shall be se-
5 lected from panels of names submitted by the professional 6 and other agencies and organizations concerned with medical,
7 dental, and nursing services and education and with the 8 operation of hospitals and laboratories and from among other
9 persons, agencies, or organizations informed on the need
10 for or provision of medical, dental, nursing, hospital, labora-
11 tory, or related services and benefits. The membership of 12 the Advisory Council shall include (1) medical and other
13 professional representatives, and (2) public representatives.
14 in such proportions as are likely to provide fair representa-
15 tion to the principal interested groups that furnish and 16 receive personal health services, having regard for the 17 functions of the Advisory Council. The Advisory Council
18 shall meet not less frequently than twice a year and when-
19 ever at least four of the members request a meeting. Each
20 appointed member shall hold office for a term of four years,
21 except that any member appointed to fill a vacancy occur-
22 ring prior to the expiration of the term for which his 23 predecessor was appointed shall be appointed for the re-
24 mainder of such term, and the terms of office of the members
25 first taking office shall expire, as designated by the Surgeon

1 General at the time of appointment, four at the end of the 2 first year, four at the end of the second year, four at the
3 end of the third year, and four at the end of the fourth year
4 after the date of appointment. Each appointed member
5 shall receive compensation at a rate not to exceed $25 per 6 day during the time spent in attending meetings of the 7 Advisory Council and for the time devoted to official busi-
8 ness of the Advisory Council under this title, inclusive of 9 travel time; and actual and necessary traveling expenses
10 and per diem in lieu of subsistence, allowable in accordance 11 with the Standardized Government Travel Regulations, while 12 away from his place of residence upon official business under 13 this Act. The Advisory Council, and each of its appointed
14 members, shall be provided by the Surgeon General with 15 such secretarial, clerical or other assistants as the Congress 16 shall authorize and provide each year for carrying out the 17 purposes of this section.

18 (b) The Advisory Council shall advise the Surgeon
19 General with reference to questions of general policy and 20 administration in carrying out the provisions of this title,
21 including—

22 (1) professional standards of quality to apply to 23 personal health service benefits;

24 (2) designation of specialists and consultants;

25 (3) methods and arrangements to stimulate and en-

1 courage the attainment of high standards through
2 coordination of the services of general or family prac-
3 titioners, specialists and consultants, laboratories, and 4 other auxiliary services, and through the coordination of 5 the services of physicians and dentists with those of 6 educational and research institutions, hospitals and public-
7 health centers, and through other useful means;
8 (4) standards to apply to participating hospitals, to 9 the relations or coordination among hospitals, and to the 10 establishment and maintenance of the list of participating
11 hospitals;
12 (5) adequate and suitable methods and arrange-
13 ments of paying for personal health service benefits;
14 (6) studies and surveys of personal health services
15 and of the quality and adequacy of such services; and 16 (7) grants-in-aid for professional education and re-
17 search projects.
18 (c) The Advisory Council shall establish special ad-
19 visory, technical regional, or local committees or com-
20 missions, whose membership may include members of 21 the Advisory Council or other persons or both, to 22 advise upon general or special questions, professional and 23 technical subjects, questions concerning administration, prob-
24 lems affecting regions or localities, and related matters.

1 METHODS AND POLICIES FOR ADMINISTRATION

2 SEC. 205. (a) Any physician, dentist, or nurse legally
3 qualified by a State to furnish any services included as per-
4 sonal health service benefits under this title shall be qualified 5 to furnish such services as benefits under this title (except as 6 otherwise provided in subsection (c) of this section or in 7 subsection (f) of section 214), and this provision shall 8 extend to any group of physicians, dentists, or nurses or 9 combinations thereof whose members are similarly qualified.

10 (b) Every individual entitled to receive general medi-
11 cal or general dental benefit shall be permitted to select,
12 from among those designated in subsection (a) of this 13 section, those from whom he shall receive such benefit,
14 subject to the consent of the practitioner or group of prac-
15 titioners selected, and every such individual and every group
16 of such individuals shall be permitted to make such selection
17 through a representative of his or their own choosing, and 18 to change such selection.

19 (c) Services which shall be deemed to be specialist
20 or consultant services, for the purposes of special rates of 21 payment under this title, shall be those so designated by the 22 Surgeon General, and the practitioners from among those 23 included in subsection (a) of this section who shall be 24 qualified as specialists or consultants and entitled to the

1 special rates of compensation provided for specialists or
2 consultants shall be those so designated by the Surgeon
3 General as qualified to furnish such specialist or consultant
4 services and only with respect to the particular class or 5 classes of specialist or consultant services he shall determine
6 for each such specialist or consultant, in accordance with 7 general standards previously prescribed by him after con-
8 sultation with the Advisory Council. In establishing such 9 standards and in designating such specialists or consultants
10 the Surgeon General shall utilize as far as is consistent
11 with the purposes of this title standards and certifications
12 developed by competent professional agencies and shall take 13 into account the personnel resources and needs of regions
14 and local areas.

15 (d) The services of a specialist or consultant shall ordi-
16 narily be available only upon the advice of the general or 17 family practitioner or of a specialist or consultant attending
18 the individual. The services of specialists and consultants
19 shall also be available when requested by an individual en-
20 titled to specialist and consultant services as benefits and 21 approved by a medical administrative officer appointed by 22 the Surgeon General.

23 (e) The Surgeon General shall publish and otherwise
24 make known in each local area to individuals entitled to

1 benefit under this title the names of medical and dental
2 practitioners and groups of practitioners who have agreed
3 to furnish services as benefits under this title and to make 4 such lists of names readily available to individuals entitled
5 to benefits under this title. Such lists of names shall include
6 general or family practitioners and qualified specialists and 7 consultants, respectively, and with respect to qualified spe-
8 cialists and consultants the class or classes of specialist or 9 consultant services for which each has been qualified.

10 (f) The methods of administration, including the meth-
11 ods of making payments to practitioners, shall—

12 (1) insure the prompt and efficient care of indi-
13 viduals entitled to personal health service benefits;

14 (2) promote personal relationships between physi-
15 cian and patient;

16 (3) provide professional and financial incentives
17 for the professional advancement of practitioners and 18 encourage high standards in the quality of services fur-
19 nished as benefits under this title through the adequacy
20 of payments to practitioners, assistance in their use of 21 opportunities for postgraduate study, coordination among 22 the services furnished by general or family practitioners,
23 specialists and consultants, laboratory, and other auxiliary
24 services, coordination among the services furnished by

1 practitioners, hospitals, public-health centers, educational,
2 research, and other institutions, and between preventive
3 and curative services, and otherwise;
4 (4) aid in the prevention of disease, disability, and
5 premature death; and
6 (5) insure the provision of adequate service with 7 the greatest economy consistent with high standards of 8 quality.
9 (g) Payments from the Account to general medical 10 and family practitioners or to general dental practitioners.
11 for services under this part, shall be made—
12 (1) on the basis of fees for services rendered to 13 individuals entitled to benefits, according to a fee
14 schedule;
15 (2) on a per capita basis, the amount being ac-
16 cording to the number of individuals entitled to benefit
17 who are on the practitioner's list;
18 (3) on a salary basis, whole time or part time; or 19 (4) on a combination or modification of these 20 bases, as the Surgeon General may approve;
21 according in each local area as the majority of the general
22 medical and family practitioners or of the general dental prac-
23 titioners, respectively, to be paid for such services shall elect:
24 Provided, That (1) the Surgeon General may also make pay-
25 ments by another method (from among the methods listed

1 in this subsection) to those general medical and family prac-
2 titioners or to those general dental practitioners who do not 3 elect the method of such majority, especially when in the 4 judgment of the Surgeon General such alternative method
5 of making payments contributes to carrying out the provi-
6 sions of subsection (f) of this section; (2) any of the meth-
7 ods of making payments (from among the methods listed in 8 this subsection) may be used, according as the Surgeon Gen-
9 eral may approve, in making payments to groups of prac-
10 titioners that contain designated specialists or consultants as 11 well as general or family practitioners; and (3) nothing in 12 this subsection shall prohibit the Surgeon General from ne-
13 gotiating agreements or cooperative working arrangements
14 to utilize inclusive services of hospitals and their staffs and/or 15 attending staffs, or from entering into contracts for such 16 inclusive services, in accordance with the provisions of sec-
17 tion 203.

18 (h) The methods of making payments from the account
19 to designated specialists and consultants for services under 20 this title, furnished as special medical or special dental bene-
21 fit, may include payments on salary (whole time or part 22 time), per session, fee-for-service, per capita, or other basis, 23 or combinations thereof, as the Surgeon General and the 24 specialists and consultants may agree.

25 (i) Rates or amounts of payment for particular services

1 or classes of services furnished as benefits under this title
2 may be nationally uniform or may be adapted to take account
3 of relevant regional or local conditions and other factors.
4 Payments shall be adequate, especially in terms of annual 5 income or its equivalent and by reference to annual income
6 customarily received among physicians, dentists, or nurses,
7 having regard for age, specialization, and type of community;
8 and payments shall be commensurate with skill, experience,
9 and responsibility involved in furnishing service.
10 (j) In order to maintain high standards in the quality
11 of services furnished as medical or dental benefit, the Surgeon
12 General may prescribe maximum limits to the number of 13 potential beneficiaries for whom a practitioner or group of 14 practitioners may undertake to furnish general medical or 15 general dental benefit, and such limits may be nationally
16 uniform or may be adapted to take account of relevant factors.
17 (k) In any local area where payment for the services
18 of a general or family practitioner is only on a per capita
19 basis, the Surgeon General shall make per capita payments
20 (subject to limits prescribed in accordance with subsection
21 (j) of this section) on a pro rata basis among the practi-
22 tioners and groups of practitioners of the local area on the list 23 established pursuant to subsection (e) of this section with 24 respect to those individuals in the local area who, after due
25 notice, have failed to select a general or family practitioner

1 or who having made one or more successive selections have
2 been refused by the practitioner or practitioners selected.
3 (l) In each local area the provision of general medical 4 or general dental benefit for all individuals entitled to receive
5 such benefit shall be a collective responsibility of all qualified
6 general medical or family practitioners or of all qualified gen-
7 eral dental practitioners, respectively, in the area who have 8 undertaken to furnish such benefit.
9 (m) Home-nursing benefit shall ordinarily be available
10 only upon the advice of a legally qualified attending physi-
11 cian. Home-nursing benefit shall also be available when 12 requested by an individual entitled to this benefit and 13 approved by a medical officer designated by the Surgeon
14 General.

15 PARTICIPATING HOSPITALS

16 SEC. 206. (a) The Surgeon General shall publish a
17 list of institutions which he finds to be participating hospitals,
18 and shall from time to time revise such list to include thereon
19 all institutions which he thereafter finds to be participating 20 hospitals and to withdraw therefrom all institutions which 21 he finds cease to meet the requirements of a participating
22 hospital. Inclusion of an institution upon such list shall,
23 unless and until withdrawn by the Surgeon General, be con-
24 clusive that such institution is a participating hospital for 25 the purpose of this section.

1 (b) The Surgeon General is directed to make findings
2 of fact and decisions as to the status of any institution as a
3 participating hospital in accordance with general standards
4 previously prescribed by him after consultation with the
5 Advisory Council. Any institution which is not included
6 by the Surgeon General in the list of participating hospitals,
7 or having been included thereon has been withdrawn there-
8 from, may file with the Surgeon General a petition to be in-
9 cluded in such list, which petition shall set forth such infor-
10 mation as the Surgeon General may deem necessary to 11 establish that such institution meets the requirements of a
12 participating hospital. Whenever requested by any institu-
13 tion the petition of which has been denied, the Surgeon
14 General shall give such institution reasonable notice and an 15 opportunity for a fair hearing with respect to the decision
16 denying such petition, and, if a hearing is held, shall, on 17 the basis of evidence adduced at the hearing, affirm, modify,
18 or reverse his findings of fact and such decision.
19 (c) The Surgeon General shall exercise no supervision
20 or control over a participating hospital (which is not owned 21 and operated, or leased and operated, by the United States),
22 nor shall any requirement for participation by a hospital
23 or any term or condition of any agreement under this part
24 relating to, or on behalf of, any such hospital prescribe
25 its administration, personnel, or operation.

1 APPEAL; JUDICIAL REVIEW; LIMITATIONS UPON THE
2 POWERS OF THE SURGEON GENERAL

3 SEC. 207. (a) The Surgeon General is hereby au-
4 thorized to establish necessary and sufficient appeal bodies
5 to hear complaints from individuals entitled to bene-
6 fits under this title, from practitioners who have entered 7 into agreement for the provision of services as benefits under 8 this title, and from participating hospitals, and, having 9 regard for the findings, conclusions, and recommendations
10 of such appeal bodies, to take such steps as may be appro-
11 priate and are not contrary to any other provision of this 12 title to remedy the grounds for complaint, if any; and to 13 establish necessary and sufficient appeal bodies to hear and 14 determine disputes among practitioners and/or participating 15 hospitals, and to take such steps as may be appropriate and 16 are not contrary to any other provision of this title to settle
17 such dispute: Provided, That with respect to any complaint
18 or dispute involving matters or questions of professional
19 practice or conduct the hearing body shall contain competent
20 and disinterested professional representation: Provided fur-
21 ther, That with respect to any complaint or dispute involving 22 only matters or questions of professional practice or conduct
23 the hearing body shall consist exclusively of such profes-
24 sional persons.

25 (b) In the administration of subsection (a), the

1 Surgeon General shall, insofar as they are applicable to this
2 title, have all the powers and duties conferred upon the Board
3 by sections 204, 205, and 206 of the Social Security Act,
4 as amended. Such powers and duties shall be subject to the 5 limitations and rights of judicial review contained in section
6 205 of such Act. The provisions of subsections (e) and 7 (f) of section 205 of such Act and the provisions of sections
8 207 and 208 of such Act shall be applicable to this title in 9 the same manner and to the same extent as they are ap-
10 plicable to title II of the Social Security Act, as amended:
11 Provided, That nothing in section 205 (i) of such Act shall 12 prevent the Surgeon General from certifying payments to 13 such individual, agency, office, or institution as the Board
14 or the Surgeon General may prescribe: Provided further,
15 That nothing in section 207 of such Act shall limit the right
16 of any person or the Surgeon General to transfer or assign
17 moneys payable under this title to a participating hospital
18 or to any agency or institution utilized under this title.
19 (c) The Board is directed to make findings of fact
20 and decisions as to the rights of any individual applying for 21 benefits under this title. In carrying out this responsibility
22 the Board shall have all of the powers and duties conferred
23 upon it under title II of the Social Security Act, as amended.
24 Such powers and duties shall be subject to the same limita-
25 tions and rights of judicial review contained in section 205

1 ot such Act. The provisions of subsections (e) and (f)
2 of section 205 of such Act and the provisions of sections
3 207 and 208 of such Act shall be applicable to this title
4 in the same manner and to the same extent as they are
5 applicable to title II of the Social Security Act, as amended.

6 RELATION WITH WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BENEFITS

7 SEC. 208. No individual shall be entitled to any bene-
8 fit under this title with respect to any injury, disease, or 9 disability on account of which any medical, dental, home
10 nursing, laboratory, or hospitalization service is being re-
11 ceived, or upon application therefor would be received,
12 under a workmen's compensation plan of the United States
13 or of any State. In the case of an individual receiving any 14 personal health service with respect to any such injury, dis-
15 ease, or disability, the Surgeon General shall be subrogated
16 to the rights of such individual, against any person, organiza-
17 tion, or agency in connection with such injury, disease, or 18 disability, to the extent of the estimated cost incurred in fur-
19 nishing such service. Reimbursements and recoveries for any 20 such service shall be paid to the Secretary of the Treasury
21 and he shall credit them to the Account.

22 PROVISION OF BENEFITS FOR NEEDY AND OTHER NONIN-
23 SURED PERSONS AND REIMBURSEMENTS FOR SERVICES

24 SEC. 209. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of 25 this title, any or all benefits provided under this title to indi-

1 viduals entitled to such benefits may be furnished to other
2 individuals for any period for which equitable reimbursements
3 to the Account on behalf of such other individuals have been 4 made or for which reasonable assurance of such reimburse-
5 ments has been given by public agencies of the United States,
6 the several States, or any of them or of their political sub-
7 divisions, such reimbursements to be in accordance with 8 agreements and working arrangements negotiated by the 9 Surgeon General with such public agencies and in accordance 10 with contracts into which the Surgeon General may enter.
11 Services furnished as benefits to such other individuals shall,
12 as far as may be practical in each area, be of the same quality,
13 be furnished by the same methods, and be paid for through 14 the same arrangements, as services furnished to individuals
15 entitled to benefits under this title.

16 (b) The provisions of subsection (a) of this section
17 shall extend to groups of persons for whom the Congress
18 of the United States makes provision (including needy per-
19 sons entitled to medical care under part C of title I of this 20 Act) and to moneys appropriated therefor, and to moneys
21 provided for grants to States or for administrative expenses
22 under this Act and other Acts of Congress. The provisions
23 of subsection (a) of this section shall also extend to services
24 furnished with respect to any injury, disease, or disability
25 excluded by section 208 from entitlement to benefit, and

1 reimbursements made in accordance with such provisions
2 of subsection (a) may be in full satisfaction of reimburse-
3 ments or recoveries otherwise required by section 208.

4 LIMITATIONS ON BENEFITS

5 SEC. 210. (a) The Surgeon General may, after con-
6 sultation with the Advisory Council and with the approval
7 of the Administrator, determine for any calendar year or part 8 thereof that every individual entitled to general medical,
9 general dental, or home-nursing benefit may be required by 10 the physician, dentist, or nurse furnishing such benefit to pay
11 a fee with respect to the first service or with respect to each 12 service in a period of sickness or course of treatment. Such 13 determination shall be made only after good and sufficient 14 evidence indicates that such determination is necessary and 15 desirable to prevent or reduce abuses of entitlement to any 16 such benefit, and shall fix the maximum size of such fee at an 17 amount estimated to be sufficient to prevent or reduce abuses
18 and not such as to interpose a substantial financial restraint
19 against proper and needed receipt of medical, dental, or 20 home-nursing benefit. Such determination may also limit
21 the application of such fees to home calls, to office visits,
22 or to both, and may fix the maximum total amount of such 23 fee payments in a period of sickness or course of treatment, 24 and may also provide for differences in the maximum size of 25 such fees or total amount of such fee payments for urban and

1 rural areas and with regard for differences among States or
2 communities. Each such determination shall be withdrawn
3 as rapidly as the Surgeon General finds practical.

4 (b) The Surgeon General, having regard for the ade-
5 quacy of available personnel, may, after consultation with
6 the Advisory Council and with the approval of the Ad-
7 ministrator, determine for any calendar year or part thereof
8 that general dental, special dental, or home-nursing benefit
9 shall have such restricted content as the Surgeon General
10 may determine: Provided, That on and after July 1,
11 1947, the restricted content of general dental or special
12 dental benefit shall include at least (1) examination (in-13 cluding X-ray survey) and diagnosis; (2) prophylaxis:
14 (3) extraction of teeth which are considered by the dentist
15 and an attending physician to be or likely to be injurious to 16 the general health of the individual; and (4) treatment of 17 acute diseases of the teeth, their supporting structures, and 18 adjacent parts, including fractures of the teeth or jaws. With 19 respect to general dental or special dental benefit, such deter-
20 mination may fix an age above which the restriction on con-
21 tent shall apply. With respect to home-nursing benefit, re-
22 striction of content may be effected by limitation of the service
23 to part-time care on an hourly or visit basis, by limitation of 24 the types of cases for which such benefit shall be available,
25 by limitation of the maximum amount of service per case,

1 or otherwise, as may be practical and necessary. Any 2 restriction on the content of general dental, special dental,
3 or home-nursing benefit shall be reduced or withdrawn as
4 rapidly as the Surgeon General finds practical.

5 (c) The maximum number of days in any benefit year
6 for which any individual may be entitled to hospitalization
7 benefit under section 201 or 202 shall be sixty: Provided,
8 however, That when the Surgeon General finds that moneys
9 in the Account are adequate, he may increase the maxi-
10 mum with respect to hospitalization benefit provided under 11 section 201 or section 202, or both, to not more than one
12 hundred and twenty days for the following calendar year.

13 (d) No application by an individual for hospitalization
14 benefits shall be valid under this title (1) with respect to 15 any day of hospitalization if such application is filed more
16 than ninety days after such day; (2) with respect to any 17 day of hospitalization more than thirty days following the 18 diagnosis of tuberculosis or a psychosis; and (3) with re-
19 spect to any day in a hospital or other institution for mental 20 or nervous disease or tuberculosis.

21 (e) The Surgeon General, after consultation with the 22 Advisory Council and with the approval of the Federal Se-
23 curity Administrator, having regard for current and prospec-
24 tive amounts in the Account, may limit for any calendar
25 year or part thereof the cost of laboratory benefit which shall

1 be borne by payments from the Account, and such limita-
2 tion may be with respect to a class of services, supplies, or
3 commodities, with respect to maximum payments per bene-
4 ficiary in a benefit year, with respect to a specified fraction
5 of the cost, or combinations thereof.

6 REPORT CONCERNING DENTAL, NURSING, AND OTHER BEN-
7 EFITS; CARE AND PREVENTION FOR CHRONIC SICKNESS
8 AND MENTAL DISEASES

9 SEC. 211. (a) The Surgeon General and the Social 10 Security Board jointly shall have the duty of studying and 11 making recommendations as to the most effective methods of 12 providing dental, nursing, and other needed benefits not al-
13 ready provided or not currently furnished under this title,
14 and as to expected costs for such needed benefits and the de-
15 sirable division of the costs between (1) the financial re-
16 sources of the Account or other public funds, and (2) pay-
17 ments to be required of beneficiaries receiving such benefits,
18 and shall make reports, with recommendations as to legisla-
19 tion, on such benefits from time to time but not later than 20 two years after the effective date of this title.

21 (b) The Surgeon General and the Social Security
22 Board jointly shall also have the duty of studying and mak-
23 ing recommendations as to needed services and facilities
24 for the care of the chronic sick afflicted with physical ail-
25 ments and for the care of individuals afflicted with mental

1 or nervous diseases, and as to needed provisions for the pre-
2 vention of chronic physical diseases and of mental or nervous
3 diseases, and shall make reports, with recommendations as 4 to legislation, from time to time but not later than three
5 years after the effective date of this title.

6 PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICES ACCOUNT

7 SEC. 212. (a) There is hereby created on the books
8 of the Treasury of the United States a separate account to 9 be known as the "Personal Health Services Account" (in 10 this title, referred to as the "Account"). There is hereby 11 authorized to be appropriated to the account such sums as 12 may be required to finance the benefits, payments, and re-
13 imbursements provided under this title.

14 (b) From such appropriations, the Secretary of the 15 Treasury shall credit quarterly to the Account amounts
16 equivalent to 3 per centum of the wages (as defined in sec-17 tion 217 (a)) paid after June 30, 1946, with respect to 18 employment (as defined in section 217 (b)) after such 19 date.

20 (c) From such appropriations, the Secretary of the 21 Treasury shall credit annually to the Account amounts
22 estimated by the Surgeon General, with respect to the 23 preceding fiscal year, to have been expended for the pay-
24 ment or provision of general dental, special dental, and

1 home-nursing benefits. The Surgeon General shall report
2 to the Congress each year the basis for such estimate.
3 (d) From such appropriations, the Secretary of the 4 Treasury shall credit annually to the Account amounts esti-
5 mated jointly by the Surgeon General and the Social Security
6 Board to have been expended for the payment or provision
7 of benefits, other than general dental, special dental, and 8 home-nursing benefits, provided under section 202 with 9 respect to individuals who became entitled thereto by reason
10 of currently insured status (as defined in section 215) or 11 of fully insured status (as defined in title II of the Social 12 Security Act, as amended) acquired through wages paid
13 prior to January 1, 1946, including (1) the total amount
14 estimated with respect to individuals who acquired such 15 status wholly prior to such date, and (2) an equitable share
16 of the amount estimated with respect to individuals who 17 acquired such status partially prior to such date. The 18 Surgeon General and the Social Security Board shall jointly 19 report to the Congress each year the basis for such estimate.
20 (e) The Secretary of the Treasury shall also credit to 21 the Account reimbursements to the Account made in accord-
22 ance with the provisions of sections 203 and 209.
23 (f) The Secretary of the Treasury is directed to pay
24 from time to time from the Account into the Treasury the 25 amount estimated by him and the Surgeon General which

1 will be expended during a three-month period for the ad-
2 ministration of this title. Such payments shall be covered
3 into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts for the reimburse-
4 ment of expenses incurred in connection with the adminis-
5 tration of this title. If it subsequently appears that the 6 estimates for any particular period were too high or too
7 low, appropriate adjustments shall be made by the Secretary
8 of the Treasury in future payments.

9 (g) The amounts which stand to the credit of the 10 Account shall be available for the payment or provision of 11 benefits and for administrative expenses under this title, and 12 for no other purposes; and the sum of disbursements for the 13 payment or provision of benefits under this title and for 14 the payment of reimbursements to the Treasury for adminis-
15 trative expenses incurred therewith shall not exceed the 16 amounts which stand to the credit of this Account, as specified
17 in this section.

18 GRANTS-IN-AID FOR MEDICAL EDUCATION, RESEARCH,
19 AND PREVENTION OF DISEASE AND DISABILITY

20 SEC. 213. For the purposes of encouraging and aiding
21 the advancement and dissemination of knowledge and skill
22 in providing benefits under this Act and in preventing ill-
23 ness, disability, and premature death, the Surgeon General
24 is hereby authorized and directed to administer grants-in-
25 aid to nonprofit institutions and agencies engaging in research

1 or in undergraduate or postgraduate professional education.
2 Such grants-in-aid shall be made with respect to each proj-
3 ect (1) for which application has been received from a
4 nonprofit institution or agency, stating the nature of the 5 project and giving the reasons for the need of financial 6 assistance in carrying it out, and (2) for which the Sur-
7 geon General finds, with the advice of the Council established
8 under section 204 and after consultation with other Federal 9 departments and agencies concerned with research or pro-
10 fessional education, that the project shows promise of mak-
11 ing valuable contributions to the education or training of 12 persons useful to or needed in the furnishing of medical,
13 dental, nursing, hospital, laboratory, and related benefits
14 provided under this title, or to human knowledge with 15 respect to the cause, prevention, mitigation, or methods
16 of diagnosis and treatment of disease and disability. During 17 the five-year period beginning January 1, 1946, the Sur-
18 geon General and the Advisory Council shall give preference
19 and priority to grants-in-aid with respect to projects to 20 aid servicemen (as defined in section 217 (g)) seeking post-
21 graduate education as medical or dental practitioners or 22 training for administration of personal health services, dis-
23 ability benefits, rehabilitation services, and related services.
24 For the purposes of this subsection there shall be available 25 for the calendar year 1946 the sum of $10,000,000, for

1 the calendar year 1947 the sum of $15,000,000, and for
2 each calendar year thereafter an amount equal to 2 per
3 centum of the amount expended for benefits under this
4 title in the last preceding fiscal year. Such grants-in-aid,
5 in such amounts and for payment at such times as are 6 approved by the Surgeon General, shall be certified for 7 payment to the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall pay
8 them from the Account to the designated institutions or 9 agencies.

10 DEFINITIONS

11 SEC. 214. As used in this title—

12 (a) The term "personal health service benefits" in-
13 cludes general medical benefit, special medical benefit, gen-
14 eral dental benefit, special dental benefit, home-nursing bene-
15 fit, laboratory benefit, and hospitalization benefit.

16 (b) The term "general medical benefit" means services
17 furnished by a legally qualified physician or by a group of 18 such physicians, including all necessary services such as can 19 be furnished by a physician engaged in the general or family
20 practice of medicine, at the office, home, hospital, or else-
21 where, including preventive, diagnostic and therapeutic treat-
22 ment and care, and periodic physical examination.

23 (c) The term "special medical benefit" means neces-
24 sary services, requiring special skill or experience, furnished
25 at the office, home, hospital, or elsewhere by a legally quali-

1 fied physician who is a specialist or consultant with respect
2 to the class of service furnished, by a group of such physi-
3 cians, or by a group of physicians including such specialists
4 or consultants.

5 (d) The term "general dental benefit" means services
6 furnished by a legally qualified dentist or by a group of 7 such dentists, including all necessary dental services such as 8 can be furnished by a dentist engaged in the general practice
9 of dentistry (with or without the aid of an assistant or 10 hygienist under his direction) and including preventive, 11 diagnostic and therapeutic treatment, care and advice, and 12 periodic examination.

13 (e) The term "special dental benefit" means necessary
14 services, requiring special skill or experience, furnished at the 15 office, hospital, or elsewhere by a legally qualified dentist
16 (with or without the aid of an assistant, a hygienist, or 17 anesthetist under his direction) who is a specialist or con-
18 sultant with respect to the class of service furnished, by a
19 group of such dentists, or by a group of dentists, including 20 such specialist or consultants.

21 (f) The term "home-nursing benefit" means nursing
22 care of the sick furnished in the home by (1) a registered
23 professional nurse; or (2) a practical nurse who is legally
24 qualified by a State or, in the absence of State standards or 25 requirements, who is qualified with respect to standards estab-

1 lished by the Surgeon General after consultation with the
2 Advisory Council and with competent professional nursing
3 agencies, and who furnishes nursing care under the direction
4 or supervision of the State health agency, the health agency
5 of a political subdivision of a State, or an organization supply-6 ing and supervising the services of registered professional 7 nurses.

8 (g) The term "laboratory benefit" means such neces-
9 sary laboratory or related services, supplies, or commodities
10 as the Surgeon General may determine, including chemical,
11 bacteriological, pathological, diagnostic and therapeutic
12 X-ray, and related laboratory services, refractions, and other
13 ophthalmic services furnished by a legally qualified prac-
14 titioner other than a physician, physiotherapy, special appli-
15 ances prescribed by a physician, and eyeglasses prescribed by 16 a physician or other legally qualified practitioner: Provided,
17 That when any such services, supplies, or commodities are 18 provided to a hospitalized patient, or are provided by a
19 physician or dentist incidental to services furnished under 20 subsections (b), (c), (d), and (e) of this section, pay-
21 ment for such services, supplies, or commodities shall be
22 included in payments for hospitalization or for services
23 furnished under such subsections, respectively, as otherwise
24 provided in this title.

25 (h) The term "hospitalization benefit" means an

1 amount, as determined by the Surgeon General after con-
2 sultation with the Advisory Council: Not less than $3 and
3 not more than $7 for each day of hospitalization, not in 4 excess of thirty days, which an individual has had in a
5 period of hospitalization; and not less than $1.50 and not 6 more than $4.50 for each day of hospitalization in excess of 7 thirty in a period of hospitalization; and not less than $1.50
8 and not more than $3.50 for each day of care in an institution
9 for the care of the chronic sick. In lieu of such compensation,
10 the Surgeon General may enter into contracts with par-
11 ticipating hospitals for the payment of the reasonable cost
12 of hospital service at rates for each day of hospitalization
13 neither less than the minimum nor more than the maximum
14 applicable rates specified in this subsection, such payment
15 to be full reimbursement for the cost of essential hospital
16 services, including the use of ward or other least expensive
17 facilities compatible with the proper care of the patient:
18 Provided, That such payment may be included in a contract,
19 between the Surgeon General and a participating hospital,
20 for inclusive services of a participating hospital and its 21 staff and/or its attending staff, as provided in sections 203
22 and 205: Provided further, That such payment shall not 23 affect the right of participating hospitals to require pay-
24 ments from patients with respect to the additional cost of 25 more expensive facilities furnished for lack of ward facilities

1 or occupied at the request of the patient, or with respect to
2 services not included within a contract.
3 (i) The term "period of hospitalization" means a pe-
4 riod of one or more consecutive days of hospitalization.
5 (j) The term "day of hospitalization" means any day
6 for the whole of which an individual has been confined in a
7 participating hospital on the advice of a legally qualified
8 physician for the purpose of receiving necessary hospital
9 service: Provided, That, with respect to a day in which an 10 individual is admitted to or discharged from a hospital, such 11 term may, in accordance with regulations to be prescribed
12 by the Surgeon General, include a period of time of less
13 than a whole day.
14 (k) The term "participating hospital" means an insti-
15 tution providing all necessary and customary hospital serv-
16 ices, and found by the Surgeon General to afford professional 17 service, personnel, and equipment adequate to promote the 18 health and safety of individuals customarily hospitalized in 19 such institution and to have procedures for the making of 20 such reports and certifications as the Surgeon General may 21 from time to time require, to assure that hospitalization ben-
22 efit will be provided only to or on behalf of individuals en-
23 titled thereto: Provided, That with respect to inclusion in 24 the list of participating hospitals the Surgeon General may 25 accredit a hospital for limited varieties of cases and may

1 accredit an institution for the care of the chronic sick, taking 2 into account for the purpose of such limited accrediting, the 3 type and size of community which the institution serves,
4 the availability of other hospital facilities, and such other
5 matters as the Surgeon General may deem relevant.

6 (l) The term "dependent" means an unmarried child
7 (including a stepchild, adopted or foster child) of an in-
8 dividual, who is under the age of eighteen, or who is under 9 a disability which has continued for a period of not less than 10 six consecutive calendar months and is living with such 11 individual or receiving regular support from him; a wife of an 12 individual living with such individual or receiving regular 13 support from him; a husband who is under a disability which 14 has continued for a period of not less than six consecutive 15 calendar months, and is living with or receiving regular and 16 substantial support from such individual; and a parent who 17 is living with or receiving regular and substantial support
18 from such individual.

19 ELIGIBILITY

20 SEC. 215. (a) An individual shall be deemed to be 21 currently insured under this title if he (1) had during his 22 eligibility period been paid wages of not less than $150, or 23 (2) acquired not less than six quarters of coverage during 24 the first twelve of the last fourteen completed calendar quar-
25 ters immediately preceding the first day of a benefit year,

1 not counting among such completed quarters any quarter
2 in any part of which the individual was under a disability
3 which lasted six consecutive months or more.

4 (b) The term "eligibility period" means the first four
5 of the last six completed calendar quarters immediately pre-
6 ceding the first day of a benefit year.

7 (c) As used in this title, the term "quarter" and the 8 term "calendar quarter" mean a period of three calendar
9 months ending on March 31, June 30, September 30, or 10 December 31; and the term "quarter of coverage" means a
11 calendar quarter in which the individual has been paid not 12 less than $50 in wages. In any case where an individual 13 has been paid prior to 1946 in a calendar year $3,000 or 14 more in wages, or after 1945 in a calendar year $3,600
15 or more in wages, each quarter of such year following
16 his first quarter of coverage shall be deemed a quarter of 17 coverage. In any case where wages have been paid
18 pursuant to a ruling based on the National Labor Relations
19 Act or a labor relations act of any State, or under a compro-
20 mise settlement resulting from a dispute within the jurisdic-
21 tion of any such Act, such wages shall be deemed to have 22 been paid on the employer's normal dates of payment of 23 wages earned in the periods to which such wages apply.

24 (d) The term "benefit year" means a period of four
25 consecutive calendar quarters, as determined by the Board.

1 EFFECTIVE DATE

2 SEC. 216. The benefits provided under this title shall
3 become effective beginning April 1, 1947.

4 COVERAGE PROVISIONS AND DEFINITIONS

5 SEC. 217. When used in this title—

6 (a) The term "wages" means all remuneration for 7 employment, including the cash value of all remuneration
8 paid in any medium other than cash, and the sum paid to 9 an individual pursuant to an order based on the National 10 Labor Relations Act, or the labor relations act of any State
11 or under a compromise settlement resulting from a dispute
12 within the jurisdiction of any such Act, which sum if it
13 had been paid for services rendered during the period for 14 which reinstatement has been ordered would have con-
15 stituted remuneration for employment; except that such 16 term shall not include—

17 (1) That part of the remuneration which, after 18 remuneration equal to $3,600 has been paid to an 19 individual during any calendar year after 1945, is paid
20 to such individual during such calendar year;

21 (2) The amount of any payment made to, or on 22 behalf of, an employee under a plan or system estab-
23 lished by an employer which makes provision for his 24 employees generally or for a class or classes of his em-
25 ployees (including any amount paid by an employer

1 for insurance or annuities, or into a fund, to provide for
2 any such payment), on account of (A) retirement, or
3 (B) sickness or accident disability, or (C) medical and 4 hospitalization expenses in connection with sickness or
5 accident disability, or (D) death, provided the employee
6 (i) has not the option to receive, instead of provision for 7 such death benefit, any part of such payment or, if such 8 death benefit is insured, any part of the premiums (or 9 contributions to premiums) paid by his employer, and 10 (ii) has not the right, under the provisions of the plan
11 or system or policy of insurance providing for such 12 death benefit, to assign such benefit, or to receive a cash
13 consideration in lieu of such benefit either upon his with-
14 drawal from the plan or system providing for such 15 benefit or upon termination of such plan or system or 16 policy of insurance or of his employment with such 17 employer;
18 (3) The payment by an employer (without de-19 ductions from the remuneration of the employee) of any 20 social-insurance contributions imposed upon an employee;
21 (4) The value of services exchanged for other
22 services for which there is no payment other than the 23 exchange.
24 (b) The term "employment" means any service of what-
25 ever nature, performed after June 30, 1946, by an employee

1 for the person employing him, irrespective of the citizenship
2 or residence of either, (A) within the United States, (B)
3 under a contract of service which is entered into within the 4 United States, or (C) in connection with an American vessel
5 or civil aircraft during the performance of which the vessel
6 touches at a port in the United States, if the employee is 7 employed on and in connection with such vessel when out-
8 side the United States, except—

9 (1) Casual labor not in the course of the em-
10 ployer's trade or business;

11 (2) Service performed on or in connection with a 12 vessel not an American vessel by an employee, if the 13 employee is employed on and in connection with such 14 vessel when outside the United States;

15 (3) Service performed in the employ of the United 16 States Government, or of an instrumentality of the United 17 States which is wholly owned by the United States:
18 Provided, That service performed in the employ of the 19 Tennessee Valley Authority on an hourly basis shall 20 not come within this exception;

21 (4) Service performed in the employ of a State
22 or any political subdivision thereof, or any instru-
23 mentality of any one or more of the foregoing which is 24 wholly owned by one or more States or political sub-25 divisions;

1 (5) Service performed by a duly ordained or duly
2 commissioned or licensed minister of any church in the 3 regular exercise of his ministry and service performed
4 by regular members of religious orders in the exercise
5 of duties required by such orders;
6 (6) Service performed by an individual as an
7 employee or employee representative as defined in sec-
8 tion 1532 of the Internal Revenue Code;
9 (7) Service performed in any calendar quarter
10 in the employ of any organization exempt from income
11 tax under section 101 of the Internal Revenue Code; if—12 (A) the remuneration for such service does
13 not exceed $45; or
14 (B) such service is in connection with the 15 collection of dues or premiums for a fraternal bene-
16 ficiary society, order, or association, and is per-
17 formed away from the home office or is ritualistic
18 service in connection with any such society, order,
19 or association; or
20 (C) such service is performed by a student
21 who is enrolled and is regularly attending classes
22 at a school, college, or university;
23 (8) Service performed in the employ of a foreign 24 government (including service as a consular or other 25 officer or employee or a nondiplomatic representative);

1 (9) Service performed in the employ of an in-
2 strumentality wholly owned by a foreign government—
3 (A) If the service is of a character similar
4 to that performed in foreign countries by employees
5 of the United States Government or of an instru
6 mentality thereof; and
7 (B) If the Secretary of State shall certify to 8 the Board that the foreign government, with re-
9 spect to whose instrumentality and employees
10 thereof exemption is claimed, grants an equivalent
11 exemption with respect to similar service performed
12 in the foreign country by employees of the United
13 States Government and of instrumentalities thereof.
14 (c) For the purposes of this title, the term "em-
15 ployment" and the term "remuneration" includes the serv-
16 ices of a self-employed individual.
17 (d) If the services performed during one-half or more
18 of any pay period by an employee for the person employing 19 him constitute employment, all the services of such employee
20 for such period shall be deemed to be employment; but if 21 the services performed during more than one-half of any 22 such pay period by an employee for the person employing 23 him do not constitute employment, then none of the services
24 of such employee for such period shall be deemed to be 25 employment. As used in this subsection, the term "pay

1 period" means a period (of not more than thirty-one con-
2 secutive days) for which a payment of remuneration is
3 ordinarily made to the employee by the person employing
4 him. This subsection shall not be applicable with respect
5 to services performed in a pay period by an employee for 6 the person employing him, where any of such service is 7 excepted by paragraph (6) of subsection (b).

8 (e) The term "employee" includes (in addition to any 9 individual who is a servant under the law of master and 10 servant) any individual who performs service, of whatever 11 nature, for a person, unless the service is performed by the 12 individual in pursuit of his own independently established
13 business. The term "employee" also includes an officer of a 14 corporation.

15 (f) The term "American vessel" means any vessel doc-
16 umented or numbered under the laws of the United States;
17 and includes any vessel which is neither documented nor 18 numbered under the laws of the United States nor docu-
19 mented under the laws of any foreign country, if its crew
20 is employed solely by one or more citizens or residents of 21 the United States or corporations organized under the laws
22 of the United States or of any State.

23 (g) The term "serviceman" means a man or woman who 24 has performed active military or naval service in the Army
25 or Navy of the United States, the United States Marine

1 Corps, or the United States Coast Guard, or in any com-
2 ponent part of any of the foregoing, after September 7, 1939.
3 (h) The term "State" includes Alaska, Hawaii, and
4 the District of Columbia.

5 TITLE III—GENERAL PROVISIONS

6 SEPARABILITY

7 SEC. 301. If any provision of this Act, or the applica-
8 tion thereof to any person or circumstance, is held invalid
9 the remainder of the Act and the application of such provision
10 to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected 11 thereby.

1ST SESSION

H. R. 4730

To provide for a national health program.

By Mr. DINGELL

NOVEMBER 19, 1945

Referred to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce

[PUBLIC LAW 304—79TH CONGRESS]

[CHAPTER 33—2D SESSION]

[S. 380]

AN ACT

To declare a national policy on employment, production, and purchasing power, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SHORT TITLE

SECTION 1. This Act may be cited as the "Employment Act of 1946".

DECLARATION OF POLICY

SEC. 2. The Congress hereby declares that it is the continuing policy and responsibility of the Federal Government to use all practicable means consistent with its needs and obligations and other essential considerations of national policy, with the assistance and cooperation of industry, agriculture, labor, and State and local governments, to coordinate and utilize all its plans, functions, and resources for the purpose of creating and maintaining, in a manner calculated to foster and promote free competitive enterprise and the general welfare, conditions under which there will be afforded useful employment opportunities, including self-employment, for those able, willing, and seeking to work, and to promote maximum employment, production, and purchasing power.

ECONOMIC REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

SEC. 3. (a) The President shall transmit to the Congress within sixty days after the beginning of each regular session (commencing with the year 1947) an economic report (hereinafter called the "Economic Report") setting forth (1) the levels of employment, production, and purchasing power obtaining in the United States and such levels needed to carry out the policy declared in section 2; (2) current and foreseeable trends in the levels of employment, production, and purchasing power; (3) a review of the economic program of the Federal Government and a review of economic conditions affecting employment in the United States or any considerable portion thereof during the preceding year and of their effect upon employment, production, and purchasing power; and (4) a program for carrying out the policy declared in section 2, together with such recommendations for legislation as he may deem necessary or desirable.

(b) The President may transmit from time to time to the Congress reports supplementary to the Economic Report, each of which shall include such supplementary or revised recommendations as he may deem necessary or desirable to achieve the policy declared in section 2.

(c) The Economic Report, and all supplementary reports transmitted under subsection (b), shall, when transmitted to Congress, be referred to the joint committee created by section 5.

COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISERS TO THE PRESIDENT

SEC. 4. (a) There is hereby created in the Executive Office of the President a Council of Economic Advisers (hereinafter called the "Council"). The Council shall be composed of three members who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and each of whom shall be a person who, as a result of his training, experience, and attainments, is exceptionally qualified to analyze and interpret economic developments, to appraise programs and activities of the Government in the light of the policy declared in section 2, and to formulate and recommend national economic policy to promote employment, production, and purchasing power under free competitive enterprise. Each member of the Council shall receive compensation at the rate of $15,000 per annum. The President shall designate one of the members of the Council as chairman and one as vice chairman, who shall act as chairman in the absence of the chairman.

(b) The Council is authorized to employ, and fix the compensation of, such specialists and other experts as may be necessary for the carrying out of its functions under this Act, without regard to the civil-service laws and the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, and is authorized, subject to the civil-service laws, to employ such other officers and employees as may be necessary for carrying out its functions under this Act, and fix their compensation in accordance with the Classification Act of 1923, as amended.

(c) It shall be the duty and function of the Council—

(1) to assist and advise the President in the preparation of the Economic Report;

(2) to gather timely and authoritative information concerning economic developments and economic trends, both current and prospective, to analyze and interpret such information in the light of the policy declared in section 2 for the purpose of determining whether such developments and trends are interfering, or are likely to interfere, with the achievement of such policy, and to compile and submit to the President studies relating to such developments and trends;

(3) to appraise the various programs and activities of the Federal Government in the light of the policy declared in section 2 for the purpose of determining the extent to which such programs and activities are contributing, and the extent to which they are not contributing, to the achievement of such policy, and to make recommendations to the President with respect thereto;

(4) to develop and recommend to the President national economic policies to foster and promote free competitive enterprise, to avoid economic fluctuations or to diminish the effects thereof, and to maintain employment, production, and purchasing power;

(5) to make and furnish such studies, reports thereon, and recommendations with respect to matters of Federal economic policy and legislation as the President may request.

(d) The Council shall make an annual report to the President in December of each year.

(e) In exercising its powers, functions and duties under this Act—

(1) the Council may constitute such advisory committees and may consult with such representatives of industry, agriculture, labor, consumers, State and local governments, and other groups, as it deems advisable;

(2) the Council shall, to the fullest extent possible, utilize the services, facilities, and information (including statistical information) of other Government agencies as well as of private research agencies, in order that duplication of effort and expense may be avoided.

(f) To enable the Council to exercise its powers, functions, and duties under this Act, there are authorized to be appropriated (except for the salaries of the members and the salaries of officers and employees of the Council) such sums as may be necessary. For the salaries of the members and the salaries of officers and employees of the Council, there is authorized to be appropriated not exceeding $345,000 in the aggregate for each fiscal year.

JOINT COMMITTEE ON THE ECONOMIC REPORT

SEC. 5. (a) There is hereby established a Joint Committee on the Economic Report, to be composed of seven Members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and seven Members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The party representation on the joint committee shall as nearly as may be feasible reflect the relative membership of the majority and minority parties in the Senate and House of Representatives.

(b) It shall be the function of the joint committee—

(1) to make a continuing study of matters relating to the Economic Report;

(2) to study means of coordinating programs in order to further the policy of this Act; and

(3) as a guide to the several committees of the Congress dealing with legislation relating to the Economic Report, not later than May 1 of each year (beginning with the year 1947) to file a report with the Senate and the House of Representatives containing its findings and recommendations with respect to each of the main recommendations made by the President in the Economic Report, and from time to time to make such other reports and recommendations to the Senate and House of Representatives as it deems advisable.

(c) Vacancies in the membership of the joint committee shall not affect the power of the remaining members to execute the functions of the joint committee, and shall be filled in the same manner as in the case of the original selection. The joint committee shall select a chairman and a vice chairman from among its members.

(d) The joint committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such hearings as it deems advisable, and, within the limitations of its appropriations, the joint committee is empowered to appoint and fix the compensation of such experts, consultants, technicians, and clerical and stenographic assistants, to procure such printing and binding, and to make such expenditures, as it deems necessary and advisable. The cost of stenographic services to report hearings of the joint committee, or any subcommittee thereof, shall not exceed 25 cents per hundred words. The joint committee is authorized to utilize the services, information, and facilities of the departments and establishments of the Government, and also of private research agencies.

(e) There is hereby authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year, the sum of $50,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to carry out the provisions of this section, to be disbursed by the Secretary of the Senate on vouchers signed by the chairman or vice chairman.

People and Process in SOCIAL SECURITY

KARL DE SCHWEINITZ

KARL DE SCHWEINITZ is director of the Committee on Education and Social Security of the American Council on Education; former administrator and teacher in the field of social welfare; author of England's Road to Social Security, and other books.

PEOPLE AND PROCESS IN SOCIAL SECURITY will meet a need, long felt, for a book which goes beyond a description of programs to analyze how benefits and services promised by law are translated into reality through the day-by-day activities of the 75,000 men and women administering insurance and assistance in the United States. It is a penetrating study of what makes social security work. The emphasis is on what administrators and workers do and the kinds of skill and knowledge required to carry out the purposes of social security.

TEACHERS will want to use People and Process in Social Security to give the student a sense of government programs in action. It will be of value in a wide variety of courses in economics, sociology, political science, public administration, social work and law—all subjects that touch upon the broad field of social security.

ADMINISTRATORS in the public social services will use this book in the orientation of new people and the continued training of experienced workers. They will find that People and Process in Social Security will help them in setting long-range goals for staff development and in interpreting social security administration to the public.

Questions Explored

The study explores such questions as:

What is the nature of the process of social administration, common to all parts of social security, and what are the essential differences between the methods of insurance and assistance?

How does the attitude of the community toward unemployment, old-age, or disability, affect the work of the men and women who serve the individual seeking security against these contingencies?

What are the characteristic problems and difficulties in the administration of old-age and survivor's insurance, in unemployment insurance, and in public assistance, which give to each program its distinctive flavor?

In what way is operating experience in these social services incorporated into law? What constitutes minimum and optimum competence in the work of the interviewer who must interpret and apply the law to the individual? What knowledge and skill do the administrator, the lawyer, the social worker, the statistician employ? How does their work in government differ from that of their colleagues in private industry, in educational and in philanthropic organizations?

The Author's Approach

Evident throughout this exploration of social security in operation is the author's keen appreciation of the human factor—his respect for the integrity and spirit of independence of those for whom the program is designed, and his understanding of the day-by-day activities of those who have made social security administration a career.

Recommendations for Education

In examining the educational implications of social security, the final section of People and Process in Social Security makes several recommendations on such problems as:

Should undergraduate education be vocationalized or can it make its biggest contribution to administration within the tradition of the liberal arts?

What do administrators have a right to expect from the college graduate?

What is the nature of professional education and how does it differ from in-service training?

How does professionalism improve the public service and what are its dangers?

What modifications are called for in professional education if it is to make its biggest contribution to the public social services?

About the Author

Karl de Schweinitz brings to this study of social security the experience of thirty-five years in the public and private social services, as administrator, educator, and author. He was director of the Pennsylvania School of Social Work in the University of Pennsylvania; director of the Pennsylvania State Emergency Relief Administration, and the first Secretary of Assistance in Pennsylvania. For the last five years he has been engaged in intensive study of social security in the United States, first under the auspices of the Social Security Board in the Federal Security Agency and then as director of the Committee on Education and Social Security of the American Council on Education. Mr. de Schweinitz is the author of England's Road to Social Security from the Statute of Laborers in 1349 to the Beveridge Report in 1942.
